Albert Kruizenga [1873-1906]

Born in Ferrysburg on February 9, 1873, Albert was the son of Derek [Derk] Kruizenga. He lived on his parents' farm in Section 10 near the Village until just shortly before his death, when he moved into town. He and his wife, Frances Start, had three children. Frances, the daughter of Hilbrant [Hildebrandt] [Hilbrant] and Anna Dobb Start, was born in Spring Lake on September 25, 1872 and died there in October 1954. Albert died of Bright's Disease on June 19, 1906 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. One of their children was Anna, who was born in Ferrysburg on February 22, 1895 and died on August 12 the same year. Another daughter, Stena, was born on March 3, 1893 and married Alfred Ruiter. A son, Richard, was born on June 30, 1896. [Tribune obituary, June 22, 1906.]

George F. Kruizenga [1924-1999]

George Kruizenga joined Quality Pattern at 1555 Marion in Grand Haven in 1969. The son of Richard and Millie Kruizenga of Spring Lake, George was born October 24, 1924 and passed away in Grand Haven on October 5, 1999. He and his wife, Grace, resided at 927 Franklin.

John Kruizenga [1881-1954]

John Kruizenga was born in Spring Lake on January 23, 1881. He married Meta [May/Matie], the daughter of Herman and Mary Honholt. Meta was born on April 17, 1882, also in Spring Lake and passed away about October 15, 1965. Among their children, all natives of Michigan, were Richard James, born about 1904; Herman, who was born around 1907 and moved to Roosevelt Park in Muskegon; Stella, born on January 11,

1910; and Marvin, who was born around 1911 and remained in Spring Lake. John and Meta were still residing in Spring Lake in 1930, where John was a carpenter. He died on July 12, 1954. John and Meta were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Their daughter Stella died in Grand Haven on January 19, 2005. She worked for the Grand Haven Gas Company for 17 years, before being transferred to the company's general office in Coldwater. After retirement, Stella returned to Spring Lake and resided at 210 North Division. She was a member of Christ Community Church, where she also volunteered. [Tribune obituary, January 20, 2005.]

Richard Kruizenga [1896-1981]

Richard, the son of Albert and Frances Start Kruizenga, was born on June 30, 1896 and passed away in Grand Haven on August 13, 1981. He married Millie Braun about 1922. Millie lived from December 28, 1895 to December 9, 1979. Their children were a daughter, Eleanor, born about 1923, and a son, George, born on October 24, 1924. The family resided on Second Street in Ferrysburg in 1930 and later at 1326 Columbus and 714 Pennoyer in Grand Haven. Richard and Millie were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Richard James Kruizenga [1904-1986]

Born June 14, 1904 in Spring Lake, Richard was the son of John and May Honholt Kruizenga. Richard graduated from Grand Haven High School and in 1922 became associated with Bastian Blessing Company of Grand Haven, where he was promoted to assistant manager. He also was a building contractor in Spring Lake. Richard was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Metropolitan Club, Spring Lake Country Club, Grand Haven Stag Club, Citizens History Association, and the First Reformed Church.

On September 18, 1928 Richard married Kathryn, who was born June 13, 1904 in Spring Lake, the daughter of George and Adrianna Oggel Mulder. George Mulder owned a grocery store. Richard and Kathryn had three children: Dorothy Jean, born August 7, 1929, who married Gordon Boelens; Richard John, born September 25 1930 and later a resident of New York City; and Georgia May Van Weelden, born February 24, 1933. Richard died in Grand Haven on May 28, 1986 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Kathryn died in Spring Lake on March 11, 1996. [Citizens Historical Association, September 27, 1941, and Tribune obituary, May 29, 1986.]

Fred C. Kuhnle [1883-1977]

In 1929 Kuhnle-Winslow Company moved to Grand Haven from Chicago, where it had been in operation since 1914, and occupied a building on Harbor Avenue, near the Nat Robbins building at 1 South Harbor. Fred C. Kuhnle of Grand Rapids was one of the founders of the company, which started in Grand Haven to manufacture plumbing supplies and oil heaters with ten employees in 6,000 sq. ft. of floor space. In 1931 it merged with American Brass Novelty, later known as Michigan Brass Company, and began the manufacture of plumbers' brass goods. In 1944 Fred became associated with Grand Haven Harbor Industries. He was born in Indiana on January 20, 1883 and passed away in Grand Rapids on May 13, 1977. His wife, Louise, was born in 1885.

Klaas Kuiper [1841-1921]

Rev. Klaas Kuiper was pastor of the First Christian Reformed Church when it was moved from 400 Fulton to 418. Rev. Kuiper, who immigrated to America in 1891, is generally considered the father of the Christian school movement in the CRC. He married Martje [Maika] De Bruyn, who lived from 1848 to around August 25, 1924 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Klaas died on March 9, 1921 and was buried at Lake Forest. Two children were buried with their mother and father: Anton, who lived from December 4, 1882 to March 28, 1937, and Romke [Rolena/Meena], a daughter, who died on September 23, 1893 at the age of 24.

Werner Kullack [1896-1966]

In January 1953 Ajax Tool and Die of Muskegon moved to Grand Haven and occupied the former Wolverine Table Company building at 803 Taylor Avenue. Werner Kullack was general manager at the time and later became president of the company. In 1962 the firm changed its name to Automatic Spring Products Corp.

Werner resided on Valley City Street in Ferrysburg. He was born in Germany on August 21, 1896 and died in 1966. His wife, Ida O., was born in Illinois about 1898.

Henry Kuyers [1867-1935]

A farmer and stock raiser, Henry Kuyers owned 80 acres in Section 34 of Robinson Township. He settled in the area in 1910. His wife's name was Katie. One of their seven children died as an infant on September 13, 1914 and was buried at Olive Township Cemetery with other Kuyers. Henry was born in Michigan in October 1867. By 1900 Henry and Katie were residing in Iowa. He died in 1935. Katie lived from 1879 to 1946. Both were buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Holland.

Peter La Belle [Labelle, Labell] [1810-1894]

Born in Canada in 1810, Peter La Belle settled in Alpine Township [Kent County] as early as 1837. There he and two other men of French descent put up a mill, but all three were gone within two or three years. Peter appeared in the 1850 census for Ottawa Township [Grand Haven Township]. Two years later he was licensed to provide the first ferry service between Spring Lake and Grand Haven by crossing the Grand River at the end of Sawdust Road to the site where the Holiday Inn later was located. The fare was three cents in 1856, when he successfully petitioned to raise it to a nickel, with tickets for fifteen fares or more available at three cents each. Teams of horses were taken over the river on scows and pedestrians were transported in rowboats. Peter operated his ferry until 1867, when the first bridge was finished. He married Mary [Maria] Gerard on November 20, 1849 in Grand Haven. She was born around 1828 in Canada. They had eight children. Peter passed away in Mason County on September 18, 1894 and was buried at Pere Marquette Cemetery.

Burrel Wilford Ladd [1897-1975] and Charles Archibald Ladd [1870-1925]

Charles Ladd and his son Burrel Ladd owned Ladd & Son photography studio at 22 South Second Street from at least 1908 to 1915, and perhaps longer. They were residents of Muskegon, where Burrel was born on August 26, 1897. He died in Muskegon on June 17, 1975 and was buried at St. Mary's Cemetery. His father Charles lived from July 6, 1870 to June 24, 1925. Born in Herkimer, New York, Charles was buried at Oakwood Cemetery in Muskegon.

Charles "Carl" F. Ladewig [1839-1917]

Charles was born in Gruenberg, Prussia, on September 25, 1839 to Carl F. and Maria Christina Dobbert Ladewig. With his parents, brothers August F. and William F., and sister Charlotte, Charles sailed from Hamburg and arrived at Castle Garden, New York, on January 20, 1857, aboard the ship Johan Gutenberg. The family first settled in Lockport, New York before moving to Grand Haven Township in 1863.

Charles married Wilhelmenia Behm at her home in Grand Haven Township on February 12, 1863. Wilhelmenia was born at Johannesburg, New York on January 13, 1844. Following their marriage, the couple purchased a 160-acre farm in Section 15 of Grand Haven Township. Charles was Deacon at the newly founded German Lutheran Emanuel Church, which he helped organize in 1870. The Ladewigs' children, all born locally, were Anna, who was born December 4, 1863 and married William Tietz; Sarah, who was born about 1860 and married Max Glazat; Adolph, born about 1868; Carl H., born about 1870; Paul [Paulus] J., born about 1876; John [Johannes] F., born about 1879; Alfred H.; Henry W.; and Hattie. The family later moved to a farm in Georgetown Township. Wilhelmenia died on January 18, 1892 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Her husband died on January 19, 1917 in Grand Rapids, where he was buried.

Although a blacksmith by trade, Michael Laffin in 1877 managed the National Hotel, owned by Phillip Rosback. The hotel was located on the southeast corner of Columbus and Harbor. Born in New York in May 1841, Michael enlisted in Company A of the 23rd Michigan Infantry on July 19, 1862. He was mustered in with the rank of sergeant, was wounded at the Battle of Franklin, Tennessee on November 30, 1864, promoted to lieutenant in December. He was mustered out on June 28, 1865. He filed for a disability pension on March 12, 1880. He married Mary Brodrick, who was born in Canada on October 12, 1847. Michael died on February 15, 1913 in Valparaiso, Indiana. He and Mary had been in Indiana since at least 1900. Michael by then was a “keeper of rooming house,” as recorded in the 1900 Federal Census for Central, Indiana. In 1870 and 1880, the couple lived in Spring Lake, where Michael worked as a blacksmith. In 1922, Mary was residing in Minot, North Dakota. She died there on June 27, 1926, and was buried near her husband at Spring Lake Cemetery. They had one daughter, Catherine, who was born in Michigan about 1868.

Earl La Fave I [1928-1970]

On October 5, 1956, Earl La Fave married Diana, the daughter of Herbert and Emma Clark Fase of Grand Haven. She was born on March 5, 1929. Earl was born on December 21, 1928 and died on March 12, 1970. Diana passed away in Grand Haven on June 13, 2015. She and Earl were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They had two children, Earl II and Arthur. Before marrying Earl, Diana was the wife of Fay Parsons. They had three children: David, Gerri Lynn, and James. Fay lived from September 27, 1920 to December 4, 1983. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as were Earl and Diana.

Joseph La Framboise [1765-1809] and Magdalene [Madeline] Marcotte “Madame” La Framboise [1780-1846]

Madame La Framboise, as Magdalene Marcotte came to be known, was born in February 1780 [1779] at Fort St. Joseph, Berrien County. Her father, a French fur trader, was Jean Baptiste Marcotte, of French, German, and Scot heritage. Her mother was Marie Neskech [Nekesh/Timothee], the daughter of a French woman and Kewinaquot, “Returning Cloud,” an Ottawa chief, who were from a village near the mouth of Grand River. Madgalene’s father died when she was three years old, and she was raised in an Ottawa village on Crockery Creek near Nunica, not far from Fort Village. On July 4, 1796 [July 11, 1804], she married Joseph La Framboise at Eglise Catholique Paroisse de Saint Ignace in Michilimackinac. [Another source says they were married at Ste. Anne’s Church on Mackinac Island.] He was a successful and wealthy fur trader in charge of the Indian trade in western Michigan, working first for the British Fur Company and later for the American Fur Company. Joseph was born in Trois Rivières, Quebec on April 16, 1765. Magdalene’s Indian name was Shawwenoqua. [Battle for the Soul, Keith R. Widder, 1999, 50.]

Joseph started making annual fur trading trips to the Grand River as early as the summer of 1783 but made Michilimackinac his winter home. Among other posts in the Grand River Valley, he established one at Crockery Creek. In the fall of 1809, he started a trip to his usual wintering place. About half-way between Muskegon and Grand Haven the party pulled ashore to camp for the night. Nequat, a young Indian, was angry that Joseph refused to provide him with liquor. He stabbed [shot] and killed the fur trader, allegedly while Joseph was at prayer in his tent. Other Indians later captured the assassin and asked Magdalene to decide his fate. Her malice, she said, had passed and she forgave him. Nevertheless the assassin’s body subsequently was found with his own dagger protruding from his chest. Magdalene carried her husband’s body to the mouth of the Grand River and buried him somewhere in the vicinity.

After her husband’s death Madame La Framboise continued eastward along the Grand River to her deceased husband’s fur trading post at Ada. She assumed supervision of the 20 or more West Michigan trading posts that Joseph had managed, including one in Crockery Township. Like her husband, Madame La Framboise worked for John Jacob Astor’s American Fur Company and “at her own risk,” meaning she could sell pelts to other companies, as well.

Madame La Framboise adhered to her Catholic faith, but always dressed in full Indian costume. She was described as being “of commanding form, agreeable manners and excellent deportment; and highly esteemed by both whites and Indians.” She had a constant companion, her servant Angelique, who was with her at the time of Joseph’s murder and remained with her until Magdalene’s death. Robert Stuart, who was manager of the American Fur Company Mackinac at the time of her retirement, invited Rix Robinson to take charge of the Company's posts on the Grand, Kalamazoo, and Muskegon Rivers. Rix Robinson took over her trading posts in 1821, but he and Madame La Framboise worked together that year.

She retired to Mackinac Island, self-educated, acute in business affairs, and wealthy. Juliette Kinzie, a visitor to Mackinac Island in 1830, remembered Madam La Framboise as being tall and having a commanding appearance. According to Mrs. Kinzie, Joseph taught his wife to read and write. She could speak Ottawa, Ojibway, French, and English fluently. The retired fur trader took the time to teach local students basic subjects and religion. [Mackinac Island, p. 20.]

Joseph's and Magdalene's daughter, "Josette [Josephine], was born on Mackinac Island on September 24, 1795. On April 2, 1816, she married Captain Benjamin Kendrick Pierce [August 29, 1790-April 1, 1850], Commandant of Fort Mackinac and the brother of President Franklin Pierce. She died on Mackinac Island on November 24, 1820, leaving two children, Harriet [1818-1854] and Daniel [1819-1866]. She passed away after giving birth to her third child, Benjamin Langdon, who also died.

The La Framboises also had a son, Joseph Pierre La Framboise, who was born on Mackinac Island in 1805, educated in Montreal, and became a fur trader. He died in 1854 [1856] in West Newton, Minnesota. Magdalene died on April 4, 1846. Her home, which she bequeathed to Ste. Anne's Church, and the crypt beneath the altar, where she and her daughter were buried, can be seen on Mackinac Island. [In 2013 her remains and those of her daughter and grandchild were moved to a crypt in the church's museum.] When the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame was founded in Lansing in 1984, Madame Magdalene La Framboise was one of the first to be inducted. Peter Laidal [Laitel] [1866-1940]

A farmer with 80 acres in Section 11 of Crockery Township, Peter Laidal also raised livestock. Peter, who came to the area in 1910, lived from 1866 to 1940. His wife, Elizabeth, was born in 1871 and died in 1941. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, along with a son, Andrew, who died as an infant in 1895.

Arend Klaas Laman I [1833-1891]

Born in T'Zandt, The Netherlands, on January 10, 1833, Arend Klaas Laman in 1856 married Hendritje Ruiter in their hometown. Hendritje, the daughter of Imke [Emma] Jans Lanting and Tonnis Bartolds Ruiter, was born on October 10, 1831. With eight of their ten children, ranging in age from two to 25, the couple emigrated in steerage class from Rotterdam to New York and then traveled by oxcart to Grand Haven in 1878. They spent the next year building their home at 527 Monroe while living with nearby friends. Their two oldest sons joined them in Grand Haven in 1882. The Lamans completed the purchase of their homestead in 1887 for a total of $150. Their children were Emke, who lived from 1853 to 1941 and married Jacob Bronsema; Klaas, who was born in 1857, married Anna Uihorn, and died in 1933; Tonnis [Teunis], who lived from 1860 to 1944; John, who was born in 1862 and married Sadie Greer; Eda [Ida/Ada], who was born in 1866 and died in 1963; Arend II, who was born in 1869 and married Mattie Swarts in Grand Haven; Hendrika [Reka], who lived from 1871 to 1931; Pieter, who lived from 1873 to 1956 and was first married Dena Biereme and then Jessie Hyma Zaagman; and Bartold, who was born in 1876 and died in 1891. Arend I died of kidney disease on December 10, 1891, and Hendritje died many years later, on January 19, 1923.

Leonard L. Lamb [1927-1997]

Leonard Lamb was born on August 3, 1927. Before starting an estate appraisal business, he was manager of the Collections Department for Security First Bank [Old Kent/Fifth Third]. He and his wife, Jerry, moved from 820 Lake Avenue to 309 South Second Street, where Jerry continued to live after her husband's death. He died January 16, 1997 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Johan "John" Lampe [1879-1957]

Johan “John” Lampe I, who was born in Yugoslavia on October 8, 1879, passed away on November 19, 1957 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. He married Mary Frajan, who was born in the same country on December 7, 1884, died on July 4, 1950, and also was buried at Lake Forest. They and their three children immigrated to the United States in 1912. Before moving to Grand Haven around 1921, John was a copper miner in the Upper Peninsula. In 1922 John and Mary opened Lampe’s Grocery at 1452 Pennoyer. Mary ran the store, while John worked at Eagle Ottawa Leather.

A son, John Lampe II, was born in Yugoslavia on October 16, 1906. His wife, Edna Laura, was born on February 29, 1908 in Missouri and passed away in Grand Haven on April 21, 1994. John II died in Grand Haven on July 23, 1990. A second son, Paul Joseph Lampe I, was born in Yugoslavia on June 29, 1910. John’s and Mary’s two other sons were [Fred] R. Lampe, who was born in Michigan on May 15, 1913, passed away on June 20, 2003 in Grand Haven, and was buried at Lake Forest; and Mirko [Mirk] M., who was born in Michigan in 1916 and served in the Army during WWII. The family resided in Grand Haven Township. A daughter, Mary A. Lampe, who was born in Michigan about 1919, owned a neighborhood grocery store at 1452 Pennoyer Avenue in the early 1940s and into the 1950s.

Paul Joseph Lampe I [1910-1966]

Paul Lampe assumed management of Lampe’s Grocery at 1452 Pennoyer around 1935, and he operated Lampe’s Beechtree Inn next door at 207 South Beechtree Street from the early 1940s to December 1962. The inn later became known as the East End Tavern, owned by Archie Green. Paul ran the grocery store and Conoco gasoline station at or near the same address until 1965. His parents were Johan “John” and Mary Lampe. On May 1, 1937, in Spring Lake, Paul married Gladys, the daughter of Harry and Gertrude Eckelcamp Bolton of Spring Lake. Paul and Gladys had two sons, Paul II; a contractor of Grand Haven, and Ken, an attorney, who resided in Spring Lake. Paul I was born in Yugoslavia on June 29, 1910, passed away on October 25, 1966, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Gladys died on June 12, 2007. [Tribune obituary, June 13, 2007.]

Alfred E. Landon [Landen] [1834-1905]

Alfred Landon was an early resident of Crockery Township, where he settled on 80 acres in Section 26 and owned another 80 acres in Section 35 before 1860. By 1893 he was “watchman” for the City of Grand Haven. The son of Benjamin and Mary Caroline Deerdorff Landon, Alfred was born in August 1834 in Canada and died on February 12, 1905. His wife Lydia, also a native of Canada, was born on October 22, 1844. She passed away on August 26, 1929 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. The Landons moved to the United States in 1864.

Arza E. Landon [Landen] [1861-1889]

Arza Landon’s mother, Lucinda, the daughter of Arza and Isabel Mumy Bartholomew, was born in January 1844. On January 2, 1860 in Crockery Township, Lucinda married Almond [Almon] Landon, who was born about 1831. On September 10, 1861 in Nunica, Almond enlisted as quartermaster sergeant. Three weeks later, on October 2, he transferred to Company D of the 2nd Michigan Cavalry. He was promoted to full first sergeant on May 26 the next year. Almond died of disease at Hamburg, Tennessee on May 30, 1862 and was buried at Shiloh National Military Park. Their son, Arza, was born in Crockery Township on February 1, 1861. On April 7, 1865 Lucinda married Orange Jubb of Crockery. Arza lived with them. At the age of 20 Arza bought a half interest in William E. Gordon’s hardware business in Nunica and shortly after that became the sole proprietor. On May 4, 1884, in Crockery Township, Arza married Lizzie Lawrence. Lizzie, born in Nunica in February 1863, was the daughter of Sidney and Thankful Lawrence. Arza died on April 8, 1889, and by 1893 his widow held title to their farm in Section 24. On August 17, 1899, she married Earl Oscar Cilley in Muskegon. Divorced from Frances Angell [1866-1956], Earl lived from March 1865 to January 26, 1943. Lizzie died on December 3, 1943 in Bellingham, Washington and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Earl.

Dwight A. Lane [1866–1939]

Dwight, the son of Albert and Delia E. Andrews Lane, was born on June 3, 1866 on a farm near Hopkins, Allegan County. On August 6, 1889 he married Jennie Barnes, sister of James and John Barnes of Grand Haven. Jennie was born in Grand Haven on August 17, 1864. The couple resided at 120 South Second. Dwight was listed in the 1908 City Directory as a stereopticon operator. He also was credited with operating the first bookstore in Grand Haven from 1896 until around 1900. About that time, he sold the business, located at 129 Washington, to Charles Boyden II, who moved it to 222 Washington. Dwight managed the Reichardt Bookstore at 222 Washington for a number of years, too. Dwight and his wife moved to California, where he died on February 20, 1939. Jennie passed away in Los Angeles on June 5, 1941. Their daughter, Marian F. Lane, was born in Grand Haven on January 6, 1896 and died in Los Angeles on December 23, 1977.

Charles-Michel Mouet de Langlade [1729-1802]

Charles Langlade was born in May 1729 and baptized on the ninth of that month at Michilimackinac. His mother, an Ottawa Indian, was the sister of Chief Nissawakwat of L'Arbre Croche. [Our People, Our Journey, p. 7.] Charles became a fur trader and military officer. He was headquartered at Michilimackinac, a word of French origin, referring to a broad area spanning the Mackinac Straits and including both Mackinac

Island and a northern portion of the mainland. Langlade recruited Ottawas, Chippewas [Ojibiways], and Potawatomis, and led them to Fort Duquesne [Pittsburgh] in 1755 to help the French defeat the British army under General Braddock and George Washington, during the French and Indian War. Langlade told the Indians, “Brothers, the red coats threaten your lives and lands. The chief beyond the ocean has sent them to prepare for colonists. They will build roads, towns, and farms. They will frighten away the game and drive out the Indians. You will perish. The French do not want your lands, only your furs. We only want to trade with you. Come with me, help fight the red coats. There will be many scalps and prisoners for those who help the French.”

In return for his success, Charles in 1755 was given rights to trade for furs at “Gabagouache” [the mouth of Grand River] and elsewhere in Michigan. One of his posts was on the south bank of the Grand River near the north end of today’s Beechtree Street. In the Dictionary of Canadian Biography, Grand Haven historian Paul Trap wrote, “In October 1755 [Langlade] had been ordered by the commandant at Michilimackinac to establish a trading post at the mouth of the Grand River (Grand Haven, Mich.) and to use it to help maintain control of the Ottawas and Potawatomis along the western shore of Lake Michigan. Charles continued to do his winter trading at this site through 1790, having as many as 15 men working for him.” When the French surrendered to the English at the conclusion of the French and Indian War, Charles was instructed to ask all Indians in the Grand River Valley to report to Mackinac in person in order to take an oath of allegiance. The Ottawa Indians loaded their canoes and slipped down the river past Dewey Hill, resolute and sober faced, wrapped in their blankets. They paddled out of the mouth of the Grand River into Lake Michigan and headed north for Mackinac Island.”

Charles was married twice: to Charlotte Ambrosien Bourassa, a French woman whom he married in Montreal on August 12, 1754 and who lived from about 1738 to 1818, and to Nonnongana, whom Charles married about 1773, and who lived from about 1750 to 1835. Charles and Charlotte arrived at his post on the Grand River in the fall of 1755. Their daughter Charlotte was born at the Grand Haven trading post and baptized by Father Le Franc on January 29, 1756. Charles died in January 1802 in Green Bay, Wisconsin. They had two sons, Oscar and August A., and in the 1880s lived in a house built for mill workers on the corner of Park and Mason Streets that later was moved to 206 North Buchanan. Their son August who lived from 1885 to 1909, was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. After Louise died, Andrew married Augusta Johansson, also a native of Sweden, who lived from 1862 to 1945. They bought a farm on 144th Avenue in Section 12 of Spring Lake Township, where they raised crops and livestock and also reared their six children. Andrew died in 1925.

Charles Larson and his wife, Christina, owned the Log Cabin Club on Potawatamie Bayou. While residents of Chicago, they purchased the five-acre plot in Grand Haven Township for $500 in 1908, a site that later was given the address 15197 Lake Avenue. In 1910 Charles built a cabin on the site, and a year later he added to it, creating the first summer resort business on Potawatamie. It was called Lakeside Resort. Their specialty was chicken dinners, but they also catered and offered fishing, boat rentals, and picnic grounds. Charles was born in Sweden on January 5, 1869 and immigrated to the United States when he was 17. His future wife, Christina Lundquist [Ericson], was born in Sweden around 1867 and arrived in the United States in 1888. They were married in Chicago on January 6, 1890. In 1910 Charles was a farmer residing in Grand Haven Township, and in the early 1920s he was listed as a carpenter. A son, William "Will," in 1916 organized the first Marathon race in the area. It was a success, but WWI kept Will from repeating the contest. Will was born in Chicago on June 11, 1892. The Larsons also had a daughter, Ruth, born in Escanaba on March 30, 1900. Charles died on October 2, 1922 of chronic nephritis. Less than a year later, Christina sold the Grand Haven property to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wahlberg of Chicago. Will died in Chicago on July 21, 1941. Louise [Louisa] "Lisette" Constant Lasley [1812-1907]

Franklin Everett quoted a sketch by Rev. Ferry stating that the first fur trader in the area was Frenchman Pierre Constant, who in 1810 established a trading post for the British Fur Company on the south side of the Grand River, about two miles west of Lamont, another a short distance from the mouth of the Grand River, and a third on Muskegon Lake. After Pierre's death in 1828 the business was taken over by his oldest child, Lisette [Louise], who was born in Muskegon on August 15, 1812 and who had been acting as his clerk since she was 12. Her mother, an Indian, was named Popamansaouekoue. Lisette carried on her father's fur trading business for six more years but switched from British Fur to the American Fur Company, owned by John Jacob Astor and headquartered at Mackinac Island. She worked at least for a while with Rix Robinson and is on his 1830 Roster of Aliens. Lisette married William Lasley of Muskegon, whose mother was an Ojibway. William, who was born about 1800, established a trading post in 1846 at the east end of Muskegon Lake. Their son, Henry Lasley [Samuel Henry Lasley], born in Muskegon on November 21, 1840, became a prominent merchant in Muskegon, and died there on March 1, 1921. Their other children, as listed in the Federal Census of 1860 for Mackinac County, were Rachel, born about 1843, George, born on May 10, 1846, and Louisa, born about 1852. Lisette's occupation, according to the census, was "merchandizing." By 1869, Lisette was a widow and living with her son in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. She passed away there on September 13, 1907 and was buried at St. Thomas Aquinas Cemetery in Poygan, Wisconsin. Her son George had died the previous year on March 19 in Poygon. On May 12, 1942 he married Phyllis Isabel Styx in Richmond, Virginia. The daughter of William and Phyllis Budgick Styx of West Olive, she was born on October 26, 1921. Phyllis and Vernon resided at 305 Sherman in Grand Haven. Vernon passed away in Grand Haven on October 7, 2003. A graduate of Muskegon High School, he served with the U.S. Army during WWII.

Walter Louis. Le Boeuf [1892-1964]

The son of Eugene and Dora Le Boeuf, Walter was born in Muskegon on November 8, 1892. For a short time in the late 1920s he managed a clothing business called Liquidating Sales Company at 102 Washington. On June 2, 1922 in Negaunee, Marquette County he married Rosamond [Rose] Lorraine Senical. They resided at 639 Pennoyer. Walter died on April 21, 1964. Rosamond lived from November 25, 1895 to December 1979. They were buried at St. Mary's Cemetery in Muskegon.

Born in St. Kiral, Hungary on November 9, 1902, James Ledinsky came to this country in 1908 with his parents, a brother, and four sisters, first settling in Passaic, New Jersey. His father, Steven, was born in 1860 and his mother, Mary, was born in 1863. About 1906 the family moved to Section 5 of Robinson Township, where his father cleared a 40-acre farm and built a house. James played baseball with the Robinson Independents. He worked for seven years as a cabinetmaker, and from 1928 to 1929 he was employed at the Keller Tool Company, where he played baseball on the company team. After briefly operating a Roosevelt Auto Sales Company in Grand Haven in 1929, James moved to Chicago after the stock market crash that year. There he sold real estate and insurance. Upon returning to Grand Haven James went to work for Grand Haven Motor Company, which he bought from Jacob Kisosondi in 1937. During World War II he moved to Detroit, where he was production manager at a defense plant, but he returned to Grand Haven after the war and again opened a Packard dealership. In 1949 James built the structure on the southwest corner of Ferry and Fulton Streets [1050 Fulton], and he was recognized in 1952 for leading the country in Packard sales. He operated the dealership until 1957, when Packard stopped production.

James was elected alderman on February 19, 1951 and served two terms. As a member of the City Charter Commission in 1956 and 1957, he helped defeat the proposed City Charter on the grounds that it put too much authority in the hands of the new City manager form of government. In 1955 and 1956 he was president of Spring Lake Country Club. He worked for Don Rosso Olds-Buick in 1959 and for Redeker Ford from 1962 to 1975. James was elected to the Grand Haven Board of Power and Light from 1958 to 1962 and helped plan the new Sims plant. He was elected president of the Board in 1963 and served until his death. He also was a director of the Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

James married Clara Alderman on May 4, 1930. Clara was born in Manton, Wexford County on October 14, 1912 to Frank and Cora Edith Weston Alderman. James and Clara made their home at 1133 Columbus with two sons, Dale and James, and two daughters, Mrs. Howard Behm and Mrs. Stephen Roberts. Dale was born May 21, 1946, married Janice Lynn Bowmaster in Muskegon on June 22, 1974, and passed away on June 25, 2006. Clara also participated in many community activities, including the Grand Haven Woman's Club, where she was president in 1955 and named its Woman of the Year in 1989. She was a volunteer, board member, and vice president with the Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross. She also served as a member of the Board of Deacons of the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Haven, the Tri-Cities Girl Scout Council, and the Tri-Cities Drug Abuse Council, and she spent many years as a legal guardian for local elderly. James died on March 21, 1975. Clara passed away in Grand Haven on February 5, 2007 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. Floyd H. Lee [1879-1939]

Spring Lake resident Floyd Lee was born in 1879. He was employed in advertising. On June 30, 1903, he married Ida, daughter of Richard and Elize Trotter of Spring Lake. Ida was born in January 1878, graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1896, and became a teacher in the Spring Lake schools. After their marriage, the Lees resided in New Jersey, but vacationed locally for fifty years before returning to stay. A daughter Elizabeth married Cornelius Brongersma of Spring Lake. Floyd died in 1939. Ida lived from 1879 to 1981 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with her husband.

Born in Chicago on January 7, 1866, James was the son of James Longbottom and Sarah S. E. Gadsden Lee. James was a pioneer Midwest printer and founder of Schniedewend & Lee of Chicago, which manufactured paper cutters, printing industry equipment, and precision equipment for the machinery trade. At the age of 18, J. Edgar, as he came to be known, was associated with his father in business. He stopped in Grand Haven on October 3, 1902, on his way to look at a plant site in Muskegon. Instead, members of the Grand Haven Board of Trade convinced him that Grand Haven offered unbeatable features, such as easy access to rail and ship lines. On December 18 that year, he signed a contract to bring the Challenge Machinery Company to Grand Haven from Chicago. Schniedewend & Lee, which was destroyed by fire in 1887 and rebuilt, but the depression of 1893 brought further setback. On June 29, 1903 the owners opened a new factory at Fulton and Beechtree, later designated Plant No. 2 of the firm. The company at one time had three plants in the city and employed more than 200 people. On September 15, 1917 J. Edgar became its president and served as such for 41 years. He was City alderman in 1906 and 1907, president of the Board of Trade from 1906 to 1916, and president of the Chamber of Commerce from 1933 to 1935. He was active in the crippled children's program of the Rotary Club, and he was a director of the Grand Haven State Bank and a member of Blue Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, the Rotary Club Community Service Committee, Spring Lake Country Club, Masons, Shriners, and Presbyterian Church. J. Edgar was editor of the Printers' Album, a well-known house magazine published by Challenge Machinery. He completed a history of industries in the Tri Cities area up to 1900.

J. Edgar married Ida Estelle McKee, who lived from 1875 to 1929. They had two children, the youngest being a son, James Wesley, born on November 30, 1892 in Chicago. The other, Sara, was born in Chicago in September 1888. Ida passed away, and on May 5, 1934, J. Edgar married Sarah Henrietta Kiel, who was 55 at the time. The daughter of Albert and Lucy Kiel, she had attended Muskegon Business College and was a secretary at Challenge. The Lees lived at 321 Washington. Sarah died on April 3, 1958, just 17 days before her husband. He left a considerable amount of his estate to many local organizations, such as the Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross, which he had helped get underway in 1917. J. Edgar and Sarah were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Citizens Historical Association, September 13, 1941, Tribune articles March 1, 1932 and April 1958, and Tribune obituary, 1958.]

James Longbottom Lee [1839-1917]

Born July 19, 1839 in Yorkshire, England, James Lee in 1853 reached Le Claire, Iowa. His training was in printing, but the town had no printing shop, so he worked in a boat yard. In 1855 he worked for the Daily Iowa State Democrat in Davenport, Iowa. In 1856 he became publisher of The Express. He worked in St. Louis, Memphis, and, in 1860, in Denver, at the Denver Mountaineer. In 1862 he joined his father-in-law in the packing business at Dyersville, Iowa, but the firm failed. James continued in various printing positions. On November 1, 1870, he was in partnership with Paul Schniedewend. The firm, Schniedewend & Lee, an electrotyping business, was destroyed in the Chicago Fire of 1871. In October 1893 Paul Schniedewend withdrew from the firm and James, his son, James Edgar Lee, and James's son-in-law, Charles R. Shupe, organized the Challenge Machinery Company. The company re-located to Grand Haven in 1903.

On June 1 1861, James married Sarah S. E., daughter of Richard Gadsden of England and later of Dyersville, Iowa. Sarah was born in England in 1839. The Lees had five children: Fannie G., who was born in Illinois around 1863; James Edgar, who was born in Chicago on January 7, 1866; Lizzie A., who was born in Illinois about September 1869 and married Charles Shupe of Grand Haven; Laura Ann; and Ruth M., born in Illinois about 1872. In 1880 James and his family were residing in Jefferson, Cook County, Illinois, where he was classified as an engineer. By 1900 James moved with his wife to Pasadena, California. By 1910 his wife's name was Ann Eliza. Ann Eliza was born in Michigan about 1851. James died on September 10, 1917. He and Sarah were buried at Mountain View Cemetery in Pasadena. [Citizens Historical Association, September 13, 1941.]

James Wesley Lee [1892-1966]

Born on November 30, 1892 in Chicago, James was the son of James Edgar and Ida Estelle McKee Lee. He studied mechanical engineering at the Lewis Institute in Chicago, and then became associated with the Challenge Machinery Company as vice president and general manager. His inventions helped bring improvements to the company. James was a director of Peoples Bank & Trust. He was a Republican, a member of Blue Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, Kiwanis Club, YMCA, Grand Haven Stag Club, Citizens Historical Association, Spring Lake Country Club, and the Presbyterian Church.

On July 15, 1916, James married Hilma E. of Allegan, the daughter of Anna Nelson and John Swanty, a farmer. She lived from September 23, 1893 to September 10, 1990. Hilma served on the Grand Haven Board of Education from 1929 to 1945, including a one-year term as the Board's first woman president, and she was vice president of the Board from 1935 to 1945.

The couple had three children, including James Lawrence, who was born September 28, 1917 and graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology. James, a bomber pilot during WWII, was killed in action in January 1943. Lee Memorial Chapel at the entrance to Lake Forest Cemetery was built in his memory. Their daughter, Alice Elaine Lee, who was born August 26, 1919, married Robert C. Gould. Robert joined Challenge Machinery at the end of WWII. Another daughter was Sarah Gadsden Lee, born August 28, 1920. James died on August 3, 1966 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, where Hilma also was interred. [Citizens Historical Association, September 13, 1941.]

John Lee was born in England in 1831. He immigrated to Grand Rapids, where he put out the Labor Union from 1868 to 1869. That year he came to Spring Lake and, with the assistance of Aloys Bilz, established the Spring Lake Independent, a newspaper based in Spring Lake, from 1869 to 1876. He then moved to Grand Haven and published the Grand Haven Journal, which adhered to the policies of the Democratic Party. In May of that year he became a partner with Mr. Hitchcock and bought the Grand Haven News and started the News-Journal. In 1877 John bought Hitchcock's share, and in July 1881 he leased the business to Horrace Nichols and Whitman Benham, who changed the name of the paper to the Republican. A few months later, in October John took back the newspaper and reverted to the name News-Journal. In 1880 John and his wife resided on Second Street in Grand Haven. They moved to Grand Rapids and prior to 1890 John founded the West Side News. At the same time, he operated a job printing office at Front and Bridge Streets. In the spring of 1897, the Lees moved to Chicago.

John married Sophronia Lake. Born in Illinois about 1854, she died at home, 877 Jackson Boulevard in Chicago, on August 28, 1897. John died in Grand Rapids on December 20, 1912 and was buried at Garfield Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, August 29, 1897 and December 21, 1912.]

Roswell H. Lee [1826-1915]

A native of Ohio, Roswell Lee moved to Wisconsin where, on May 7, 1864, he enlisted as private in Company C of the 41st Wisconsin Infantry, was promoted to first lieutenant on June 9, 1864, and was discharged on September 23 of the same year. On the following April 16 he enlisted as captain with Company B of the 52nd Wisconsin Infantry. He was mustered out on July 28, 1865 and arrived in Spring Lake in 1866. Roswell owned a jewelry store in Spring Lake as early as 1869 before opening one on the northeast corner of Washington and Second Streets. He advertised in the Spring Lake Independent: "All work done in this line Done with neatness and dispatch and warranted." In Spring Lake, his shop was located in Messenger's Drug Store [Kitchel, page 93]. He was elected treasurer of the Village Council in 1870. Roswell was born in 1826 and died in 1915. He was buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Kent County. He married Lorinda [Lorilla/Lucy] E. Learned in Port Washington, Wisconsin on December 25, 1851. She lived from 1831 to 1912 and was buried at Oakhill. Their daughter Ettie, who was born in 1858 and died in 1908, also was buried at Oakhill.

John Alexander Leggat [Leggatt, Legget] [1832-1903]

Born in Wigtownshire, Scotland on November 30 [28], 1832, John Leggat arrived in the United States in 1834 with his parents and siblings. The family settled in Albany, New York., but John moved to Connecticut before coming to Grand Haven in 1856. [Lillie cited both 1840 and 1856.]

On May 6, 1857, John married Elizabeth [Sarah Elizabeth] Cooke in Adams County, Illinois, where he owned land. At the time of the 1860 Federal Census, he was listed as a farmer living in Honey Creek, Adams County. With him were his wife Sarah Leggat, 23 years old, John's 19-year-old brother William, Sarah's brother Samuel Cook[e], one year older than she, and three others, apparently not related to either of them. In 1870 John and Sarah were living in Grand Haven. In the same dwelling were his mother Margaret Leggat, his widowed brother Robert Leggat, and Robert's children: Jennie, Fannie, Willie, and [Ellen] Cornelia. By 1871 John owned a quartz mining operation in Butte, Montana. The mine extended under the city, causing extensive litigation. Five years later he and his brother Robert were living in Butte. Both were listed as miners. John was in Butte at the time of the 1900 Federal Census, still in the mining business. Sarah Leggat presumably died in 1870.

After the Civil War John had several business enterprises, including his real estate investments. Lillie wrote that the "Leggat Brothers of Grand Haven" leased a sawmill at Ottawa Center [Section 36, Crockery Township] from Benjamin Smith in 1860, and John ran a gristmill in the same decade. The wooded property along the road from downtown Grand Haven to Lake Forest Cemetery was a portion of the Leggat Addition added to the city around 1872. He had purchased the 30 acres from James C. Brayton in February 1870. Working with Robert Duncan and Galen Eastman, John in 1873 extended Second Street over the dunes and through the woods to the bluff overlooking Lake Michigan. Called Lake Avenue, the extension of Second Street was the first road cut through to the waterfront. The city agreed to reduce the steep grade on the Second Street hill between Clinton and Lafayette to make the new road more accessible. Between 1873 and 1875, he built a 10-room home at 520 Lake Avenue in Grand Haven. In 1875 he sold the house and some other lots in Leggat's Addition to his twin brother Alexander John Leggat [1832-1886], who lived in St. Louis.

John served as mayor of Grand Haven in 1874, 1875, and 1877. He and his brother Robert managed the Washington House at 12 Washington Street.

John formed a partnership with his brother Alexander and his brother-in-law James Gay Butler. James, born in Saugatuck on January 23, 1840, married Margaret Leggat in Grand Haven on October 15, 1868. Margaret was born in Albany on December 27, 1841. The partners formed the Leggat & Butler Tobacco Company, headquartered in St. Louis, Missouri. Its slogan was "Chew Gilt Edge Tobacco." James and Margaret moved to St. Louis, where he died on August 22, 1916, and she passed away on July 16 two years later.

John in 1876 married Claribel, daughter of Winfield and Emily Ament. She was born in Owosso on February 7, 1850. John's and Claribel's son Alexander was born in Owosso on December 22, 1876 and died on January 10, 1961 in Butte, Montana. John and Claribel must have returned to Grand Haven, because after their marriage Claribel became a teacher in the Grand Haven Public Schools. The Leggats also had a daughter Clara [Claribel], who was born in Butte on August 23, 1881. On September 3, 1881, following Clara's birth, Claribel died of blood poisoning and was buried at Mount Moriah Cemetery in Butte. Clara on January 6, 1910 married Maclane Couse in Butte. [Owosso Times, September 16, 1881.]

John was a member of the Masons. His parents were William [1801-1852] and Margaret Main Leggat. Margaret was born in Wigtownshire, Scotland on June 9, 1812, died in St. Louis on January 6, 1882, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. John's other brother, Roderick Leggat, was born in Albany, New York on June 14, 1839 and lived in Butte, Montana, where he died on March 15, 1920. John died on October 9 [8], 1903, in Butte. His Butte obituary credited him with serving as sutler with the 3rd Michigan Cavalry during the Civil War. A sutler was a civilian merchant who sold provisions and other wares to military personnel. Often addressed as "General," John was offered the position of territorial governor of Montana during President Grant's term but declined. John was buried with Claribel at Mount Moriah Cemetery. Leggat Street in Grand Haven was named for him. [Tribune obituary, October 9, 1903. Thanks to Karen Lowe for much of the detail regarding John Leggat and other members of the family.]

The brother of John Leggat, Robert was born March 16, 1835 in Albany, New York and eventually moved to Grand Haven. On April 14, 1861 in Grand Haven, he married Ellen Cornelia Avery, who was born in New York on August 2, 1841 and relocated to Grand Haven around 1846 with her parents, Edward Jones Avery and Eleanor Jane Murray Avery. The Leggats had four children, all born in Michigan: Jennie M. Leggat, born on April 1, 1862, Fannie Elizabeth Leggat, born on February 16, 1864; William Avery Leggat, born on February 5, 1866; and Ellen Cornelia Leggat, born on September 30, 1869. Ellen died in Grand Haven on October 1, 1869 and was buried in Lake Forest Cemetery. After her death, Robert joined his brother John in Butte, Montana and entered the quartz mining business. Robert died in 1906 in Wyoming. [For more information about the Leggat family, see John A. Leggat.]

Edith Garlick Lehman [1890-1917]

Edith, born on March 22, 1890, was the daughter of Daniel and Emma Garlick of Grand Haven. Edith married Walter Lehman I on August 12, 1908 in Grand Haven. The son of Louis and Alice Van Bemmelen Lehman, he was born in Grand Haven on July 28, 1886. The 1908 Durant Roll listed Edith as a member of the Grand River Bands of Indians, as were other members of her family. She resided at 221 Lafayette Street in Grand Haven with her mother, Emma Garlick.

Edith and Walter had two children: Kenneth Walter Garlick, who was born in Grand Haven on April 10, 1909, and Dorothy Louise, who was born in Grand Haven on January 21, 1917. The Lehman family resided at 729 Columbus Street in Grand Haven. Edith died on January 26, 1917 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

On May 23, 1919 in Grand Haven, Walter I married Edna M. Van Pelt, who was born in 1899. They were divorced on April 22, 1921. Walter I died on July 3, 1964. Walter II on February 12, 1927 married Frances Vander Noot in Grand Haven. Frances, born on August 7, 1893, was the daughter of Cornelius and Nellie Vander Noot of Grand Haven. Walter and Frances resided at 312 North Seventh Street. Walter worked as a tinsmith at a hardware store. Frances passed away on September 26, 1928, and Walter died on July 3, 1964 in Grand Haven. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Dorothy married Joseph Michael Crane [July 18, 1913-September 25, 1990]. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Dorothy passed away on December 28, 1996 in Elkhorn, Wisconsin and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest Cemetery in Grand Haven.

Joshua “Josh” Clarke Lehman [1869-1948]

Born in Markham, Ontario on December 10, 1869, Josh was the son of Jacob K. and Sarah Clarke Lehman. Jacob lived from 1830 to 1906, and Sarah was born in England in 1835 and died in 1920. Josh arrived in Grand Haven when he was 16 years old to learn the barber trade from his brother Louis at their shop located at 12 Washington. Two years later they established Lehman Barber Shop in the basement of the Cutler House, located on the southwest corner of Washington and Third Streets. Their shop, which included “The Only Bath Rooms in the City,” became one of the finest in the area. When the building was remodeled Josh moved to 209 Washington, where he was active until 1945. He sold his business to his nephew, Joseph Lehman, who operated a shop at 132 Washington.

An ardent believer in temperance, Josh was made an honorable member of the Woman’s Christian Temperance Union. A man who loved children and youth, he brought speakers to the area, and gained the support of civic organizations in establishing the first playground system in Grand Haven about 1925. As a youth Josh excelled in fancy skating and many youngsters thrilled to his antics and learned tricks from him. For ten years he was a parole officer and there were some in this vicinity who owed their rehabilitation to his guidance and his example of fine citizenship and moral living. He served with the Salvation Army. A man of modest means all his life, he believed that the best in life was gained from service to others. For 53 years he was superintendent of the First Methodist Church Sunday school. He was a member of the official board of the church for a number of years and gave generously to its financial support, and he belonged to the Men’s Brotherhood.

On September 25, 1887 in Grand Haven, Josh married Minnie Frances Thompson. She was born in Grand Haven on December 1, 1869 and died on April 30, 1934. The Lehmans resided at 112 North Second Street and 207 North Second before moving to 112 Franklin. At the latter address, the couple opened a guest house around 1920 that they called The Frances. Later, Josh and his daughter Ethel in the 1930s changed the name to Rock Garden Inn, and later they dropped the proper name entirely and just offered “furnished rooms.”

Josh and Minnie had two daughters, Ethel Sarah [Sara], who was born on September 14, 1888, and married Rev. Frank Day, and Marian. Marian was born in December 1889, and on August 16, 1912 in Grand Rapids married Ralph Ketchum of Lansing. The Ketchums moved to Miami, Florida. The Lehmans also had a son, Chester C., who was born on September 21, 1894, died on July 19, 1905, and was buried at Lake Forest. In 1930 Josh, Minnie, and young Frank were residing at 112 Franklin Street, with other family members. Josh and Minnie were divorced on September 30, 1925. In 1930 Minnie was still running The Frances at 112 Franklin, while Joshua had moved to 227 Howard Street and was living with other family members. He moved back to 112 Franklin Street after Minnie’s death.

Josh died on October 6, 1948 at his home on Franklin Street and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Chronicle article “Days of Shaving Mugs Recalled,” September 2, 1948, and Tribune obituary, October 7, 1948.]

Louis C. Lehman I [1856-1897]

Born July 4, 1856 in Altona, Ontario, Louis was the son of Jacob K. and Sarah Clarke Lehman. Jacob lived from 1830 to 1906, and Sarah was born in England in 1835 and died in 1920. Louis came to Grand Haven in 1881, went into barbering, and eventually was joined by his brother Josh, who arrived a few years later.

Louis was a member of the Maccabees and the Ideal Club. His active connection with the local baseball team made him known all over the state. On February 5, 1884 in Grand Haven, he married Alice, the daughter of John W. and Jacoba Van Bemlen [Van Bemmelen]. The Lehman's children included Frank, who lived from 1884 to 1966; Walter, who was born on July 28, 1886; Joseph J., who was born in 1891 and died in 1976; Louis II, who lived from August 31, 1896 to November 1978; Cora; and another daughter. Louis died at his home on Eighth Street near Washington on January 12, 1897. Alice then married Stephen Senn of Grand Haven. She was born in 1865, died in 1940, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Stephen. [Tribune obituary, January 12, 1897.]

Walter Lehman I [1886-1964]

Walter, the son of Louis and Alice Van Bemmelen Lehman, was born in Grand Haven on July 28, 1886. On August 12, 1908 in Grand Haven, he married Edith, the daughter of Daniel and Emma Speidel Garlick. Edith was born on March 22, 1890, died on January 26, 1917, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their son, Walter II [Walter K., Kenneth Walter], was born in Grand Haven in 1909. On May 23, 1919 Walter I married Edna M. Van Pelt in Grand Haven. In 1927, he married Frances Vander Noot in Grand Haven on February 12. Frances, born on August 7, 1893, was the daughter of Cornelius and Nellie Vander Noot of Grand Haven. She passed away on September 26, 1938. The Lehman's also had a daughter, Dorothy L. Walter was a sheet metal worker at a hardware store. The Lehman's resided at 729 Columbus. Walter died on July 3, 1964 and also was buried at Lake Forest.

Simon Lieffers [1857-1936]

Simon Lieffers was keeper of the bridge built over the Grand River at Eastmanville in 1917. He illuminated the bridge every night with a lantern. By 1900 he owned a general store in Eastmanville, where he and his family also resided. Simon was born in The Netherlands on December 5, 1857, immigrated to the United States at the age of seven, and became a naturalized citizen in 1890. His wife, Jennie, was a Michigan native, born about 1869. They were married in 1886. Their children, all born locally, included Gracie, born about 1886; Josephine, born on September 20, 1887; Harry, born about 1900; Peter, born about 1893; Eunice, born about 1895; Kate, born about 1898; Ruby, born about 1901; William, born about 1904; Jewel, born about 1907; Margarette, born about 1908; Clara, born about 1909; and Raymond, born about 1914. Ruby was a teacher in one of the district schools. By 1930 Simon, Jennie, and four of their children had moved to Grand Rapids. Simon passed away in Grand Rapids on February 13, 1936.

George Spence Leland [1816-1885]

George Spencer Leland, born in Role Valley, New York on April 3, 1816, was married twice. With his first wife Jane M., born in 1821 in New York, they had two children, George born in 1854 and Mary born in 1858. In 1870 George was a farmer in Oakland County, but by 1880 he had opened a physician's office in Grand Haven. He was married a second time to Harriet Elizabeth Perkins on March 3, 1874 in Rockwood, Wayne County. Harriet was born in 1843 in New York to Miner G. and Sallie B. Perkins of Grand Haven. They had a son, Ora Miner Leland, born in Grand Haven, on June 28, 1876. Ora became a civil engineer and a member of the faculty at Cornell University. He was a representative for the U.S. Government responsible for surveying the demarcation of the international boundary between Alaska and Canada in 1904-1911. Ora died on March 30, 1962 and was buried at Fort Snelling National Cemetery in Minneapolis, Minnesota. George died on February 27, 1885 and was buried at Brookins Cemetery in Oakland County. Carl Lemke owned a 20-acre dairy farm in Section 28 of Grand Haven Township, near the northwest corner of Robbins Road and Beechtree. Carl was born in Prussia on August 16, 1839. On February 20, 1870, in Grand Haven, he married Wilhelmina “Minna” [Mina], Ellmann. Also from Prussia, Minna was born in April 1848. They came to the United States about the time of their marriage. Their children, all born locally, were Amanda, born about 1873; Gustave, born on November 4, 1875; Anna, born about 1877; Minna, born about 1879; William Albert, born on July 24, 1880; Charles, born on May 16, 1882; Edward, born in March 1884; John, born on October 21, 1889; and Frank W., born on May 4, 1891. The family resided at 1202 Columbus. Carl died on March 31, 1930, and Minna passed away about January 22, 1934. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Gustave Lemke [1875-1953]

The son of Carl and Minna Ellmann Lemke, Gustave was born locally on November 4, 1875. On April 28, 1904 he married Millie Keuken in Grand Haven. Millie was born in Michigan about 1874. On April 27, 1919, again in Grand Haven, Gustave married Alline Hepner Petzold. Among Carl’s and Alline’s children was Raymond A., who was born on October 31, 1924 and died on December 22, 2006 in Grand Haven, Ray and his wife, Loretta, moved into 608 Clinton about 1957. The Lemkes also had two daughters, Francis, born about 1906, and Margaret, born about 1907. Gustave, who was a packer at Story & Clark, passed away about June 2, 1953 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Frank Lemke [1891-1985]

Frank W. was born in Grand Haven Township on May 4, 1891 to Carl and Minna Lemke. He married Augusta Petzold in Grand Rapids on June 14, 1919. Born in Russia on October 14, 1898, Augusta died on June 18, 1933 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Frank eventually took over the family dairy farm near the northwest corner of Robbins Road and Beechtree, before selling it and moving to 1229 Franklin with his second wife, Jessie Irene. Jessie lived from February 12, 1898 to July 1, 1990. Frank passed away on May 16, 1985. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John Lemon owned a barbershop at 211 North Seventh Street from at least 1914 into the 1920s. He and his wife, Elizabeth, resided at 720 Washington. Born in Canada in 1857, John died in 1925 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Elizabeth was born in Kentucky about 1861.

Klass [Klaas, Klaus, Claus] Leninga [Lenninga, Lennenga, Laninga, Luininga, Luinenga, Lanning] [1849- 1941]

Klass Leninga, a Grand Haven mason, was born in Groningen, The Netherlands on October 1, 1849 and immigrated to the United States when he was 17. On August 19, 1876 in Grand Haven, he married Lucy, the daughter of Derek and Swantje Groenevelt [Groeneveld] of Grand Haven. She was born in Grand Haven Township on April 27, 1853, died on January 19, 1920, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. The Leningas resided at 216 Elliott Street. Klass was an engineer, although his obituary reported he owned and operated a retail meat business in Grand Haven. At the time of 1920 Federal Census, taken in early January that year, Lucy still occupied the house on Elliott Street, but Klaas was not included. Living with her at that time were her daughter, Ida, and Ida’s husband, William Boomgaard [1892-1971], a Grand Haven jeweler and watch maker. Ida and William were divorced on September 30, 1938. Ida, who was born about 1888, married to Thomas Johnston in Grand Haven on August 30, 1941. Another daughter, Angie, who was born about 1892, married Robert J. Johnston of Grand Haven, and died about May 18, 1944. Klass and Lucy had another daughter, Ethel, who was born in 1885 and married Fred Schwontek [1885-1953] of Grand Haven and died about April 13, 1968. Henry Walker, whose deceased wife, Anna, was Lucy’s sister, boarded at the

Elliott Street house. Lucy, who was born April 27, 1853 in Grand Haven, died on January 19, 1920 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On February 10, 1920 in Grand Haven, Klass married Grietje "Katie" Ammaal Kamphuis, the widow of Gerrit Kamphuis [1844-1913]. Katie passed away two years after the wedding and was buried at Lake Forest. Klass died on January 7, 1941 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, January 8, 1941.]

Willard [William] H. Le Roy [1864- ?]

Willard Le Roy was born in March 1864. He opened a business at 123 Washington in Grand Haven in June 1906 and advertised himself as a "Dealer in Pianos." He also offered "Organs, Talking Machines and Records. A complete line of MUSICAL MERCHANDISE." Willard provided a piano tuning service and musical instrument repair. He married Jennie Deshon Malby in Defiance, Ohio on December 14, 1899. It was her second marriage. In Grand Haven, they lived at the same address as his business. Jennie was born in New York in December 1863. Willard came from Garrett, Indiana, where he had 15 years experience in pianos. In 1900 he was a piano salesman residing with his wife and children. By 1910 Willard, still in the piano business, was located in Benton Harbor, listed as married but living in a rooming house by himself. Jennie passed away in DeKalb, Illinois in 1930.

August Lessien [Lissien] [1833-1899]

Born in Prussia on April 29, 1833, August Lessien immigrated to the United States in 1857. He married Christine Bahre, who was born in Germany in 1840 and died in Grand Haven Township on February 15, 1923. They owned a 200-acre farm in Section 12 of Grand Haven Township. Among their children was Louisa [Louise], who was born in 1864 and married Martin Melcher of Grand Haven Township. Another daughter, Rosina, was born in 1867 and married Rudolph Moll of Grand Haven. A son, Theodore, was born on August 29, 1869, and another son, David, lived from 1871 to 1910. Christina Lessien who was born in 1881, married Phillip Fahling in Grand Haven on November 30, 1905, moved to Conklin Township, and died in 1963. By 1912 Theodore and his wife, Lena, were farming 120 acres in Section 18 of Robinson Township. Theodore died in 1954. August passed away on November 12, 1899. He and Theodore were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery.

Albert Roy Lett [1881-1970]

Albert Lett was born on May 26, 1881, worked as a furniture polisher at the Piano Factory in Grand Haven. His father's name was Elijah. On May 7, 1901 Albert married Jethro Henderson Weaver in Belding, Ionia County. She was born on August 19, 1879 in Greenville, Montcalm County. All family members were born in Michigan. Their children were Howard, born around 1903; Clancy, born about 1905; Leta, born about 1907; Harold [Harrold/Herold] A., who was born on April 6 [5], 1908; Merton, born in late 1909; and Arvin [Arven] M., born about 1911.

In 1910 the Lett family resided in Greenville and the family members then were listed as Mulatto. On his draft registration card, dated September 12, 1918, Albert listed himself as White. He was residing with his wife in a house at the corner of Albee and Slayton Streets in Grand Haven. He stated that he had lost the lower part of his left leg in an unexplained way. In the 1920 census the family was classified as Black and was residing at 1170 Slayton Street. Ten years later they were located at 1321 Franklin Street and listed as Indian. Jethro and her son Arvin continued to reside at the Franklin Street address in 1940, but Albert was not part of the household. In the 1940 census, mother and son were noted as being Negro. Jethro passed away in Chicago on December 16, 1946. Albert died on July 25, 1970 in Chicago, where he had been living since at least 1942. [Other Letts in West Michigan were clearly African American. It appears that Albert's father, Elijah Lett, was first cousin of Samuel Lett, an African American who served in the 102nd Michigan Colored Infantry during the Civil War. See Slaves Soldiers Citizens, pp. 267-28 for more information on the African American Letts.]

Harold [Harrold] A. Lett [1908-1990]

Harold, the son of Albert and Jethro Henderson Weaver Lett, was born in Grand Haven on April 6 [5], 1908. He moved with the rest of the family to Greenville, Montcalm County when he was two. In the 1910 census he and the rest of his family were listed as Mulatto, in 1920 they were Black, and in 1930 they were considered Indian. By the mid-1930s Harold had moved to Chicago, where he worked in a steel mill. The Federal Census of 1940 listed him as White.

Harold, noted as being a “Professional Boxer,” participated in Golden Gloves competition, and was the heavyweight champion of Michigan. Harold also boxed under the name of Ray Vegas and his nickname, Big Lett. His first match was against Ward Archer at the Muskegon Armory on April 20, 1928, and his final round was with Jack Kranz in Chicago on March 12, 1934. Over the six years of his professional career, his record was 12 wins and 9 losses. Harold cited Grand Haven as his hometown. He served in the Army as military policeman and retired from the Chicago Fire Department. Harold died in Chicago on December 23, 1989. His obituary noted that he was “survived by his companion, Cora Beal and her children of Chicago.” [Tribune obituary, June 6, 1990.]

Samuel Lett enlisted as private in Company G of the 102nd U.S. Colored Infantry in Grand Rapids on August 31, 1864. He was mustered out on September 30, 1865 in Charleston, South Carolina. Samuel, an African American, was born in Morgan County, Ohio in May 1839. He moved with his parents and siblings to Berrien County, where he was living in 1860. On April 2, 1863 in Kalamazoo, Samuel married Henrietta Taylor, who was born in Ohio about 1846. At the time of his enlistment, he was living in Tallmadge Township in Ottawa County, but by 1880 he had moved his wife and children to Bloomer in Montcalm County, where he was a farmer. The Letts’ children, all born in Michigan, were Rosanna, born about 1864; Bertrum, born about 1867; Fred, born about 1870; Alice, born about 1874; Lurinda, born about 1876; and Ira, born about 1882. On July 11, 1882, Samuel applied for an invalid’s Civil War pension. He died and was buried in Bloomer on February 24, 1903. On June 22, 1908, Henrietta applied for a widow’s Civil War pension. By 1927 she had moved to Ashland, Ohio. She died in Bloomer on October 14, 1932.

Samuel had a brother Joseph, who enlisted in Kalamazoo in Company H of the 102nd on January 14, 1864 and, like his brother, mustered out in Charleston, South Carolina on September 30, 1865. Joseph, who was born about 1847, also settled in Bloomer. [Another Samuel Lett enlisted in Company I of the 102nd Regiment in Berlin [Marne], Ottawa County on October 5, 1864. However, no additional information was uncovered about a second Samuel Lett old enough to serve during the Civil War. The two entries may pertain to the same person, despite the discrepancy in their ages and dates of enlistment. In all, ten men with the last name Lett and two with the name Letts served in the 102nd.]

James Lewis [1832-1897]

In 1871 James Lewis, Otto Gronberg, and John Bryce purchased the Iron Works from F. Spence and Archibald Brown. It was located on the northwest corner of First and Elliott Streets [Lot 85]. James was born in New York on December 20, 1832 and died on December 27, 1897. His wife Julia was born about 1838 in Michigan and died around July 30, 1893. James and Julia were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Milton M. Lewis [? - ?]

Milton Lewis was publisher of the Weekly Herald in Grand Haven in 1872. It evidently was separate from Crinis H. Du Bois’s Grand Haven Daily Herald, published at the same time. Milton also was noted as owner of the Spring Lake Independent, another local newspaper, published in that period, but John G. Lee was listed as owner of the Independent between 1869 and 1876.

Richard Lewis [1824-1902]

In the 1890s Richard Lewis was pastor of the Grand Haven Congregational Church. He and his wife, Margaret, lived at 312 South Fifth. Richard was born in Scotland on November 25, 1824, came with his family to the United States in 1872, and died on July 22, 1902. Margaret, also from Scotland, lived from August 1821 to about June 26, 1907 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. Their two daughters, both born in Canada, were Jannie K., born in 1862, and Marguerite "Maggie" A., born in September 1865 [1864].

Carol Lietzke [1941-1985]

Carol Lietzke, a Realtor, started with the J. L. Bolthouse Real Estate office and later joined the Re-Max organization. Her husband Gerald P. Lietzke worked for the City of Grand Haven. They resided at 1100 South Harbor Drive. Carol was born on July 9, 1941, died on December 16, 1985, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Charles, the son of Henry and Frances Williams Lilley, was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin in December 1865. He married Ella Belle Finley on August 11, 1891 in Grand Haven. Born in Buffalo, New York on November 13, 1869, she was the daughter of Mary Finley, who in 1878 married Thomas Scott of Grand Haven. Charles took his father's place at the American Express office in Grand Haven in 1887. died in Kalamazoo on 11, February 1967. She and Charles moved to Grand Rapids before 1900, where he continued working as an express agent. Charles passed away around September 18, 1952. He and Ella were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Charles and George Lilley were brothers.

Francis E. Lilley [1844-1923]

Born in Essex County, England on June 23, 1844, Francis was the son of Samuel and Helen Lucking Lilley. At the age of 11 Francis came to the United States with his parents, who left behind one son and two daughters. The family lived for a while in Milwaukee, then settled in Spring Lake in 1867, where Francis worked in the lumbering business. When the Village of Spring Lake was incorporated in 1869, Francis was elected marshal. In February 1874 he purchased Thomas Seymour's interest in a sawmill on the Grand River and the firm of Sisson & Lilley was formed with George Sisson as his partner. As the timber disappeared from the area, Lilley purchased mills on railroad lines so that the lumber could be hauled directly to the consumers.

Francis married Elizabeth Ballinger in Toronto, Canada in 1866. She was born in Canada in 1842. Their children included Helen [Hellen] R., who was born in Wisconsin about 1867, married William J. Shanks, and resided in Muskegon, and Maude M., born locally in 1868. Francis built and lived in the house at 319 East Savidge, and he also built the home at 325 East Savidge. Francis later moved to Grand Rapids, and in 1891 he lived at 430 Cherry Street. His wife died there on February 10, 1904 and was buried at Valley City Cemetery [later named Oakhill Cemetery] in Grand Rapids. Francis died in Muskegon at the home of his daughter Helen on March 13, 1923 and was buried with his wife at Valley City Cemetery. Maude died on June 2, 1942 and was buried at the same cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, December 16, 1891, January 8 and 10, 1897, and March 14, 1923.]

Henry Lilley [Lillie] [1839-1897]

Born in Essex County, England, March 20, 1839, Henry was the son of Samuel and Helen Lucking Lilley and the brother of Francis Lilley. Henry came to Montreal, Quebec, Canada when 15, then moved to Milwaukee, where he was employed as purchasing agent by the Northern Transportation Company, which operated a number of fine passenger and freight boats between Chicago and Ogdensburg, New York. Later Henry became the company's chief steward. In 1860 he went to Detroit and worked for the American Express Company's office there and in Grand Haven, a job he held for 27 years until he was incapacitated by rheumatism. In Grand Haven, Henry operated an office at the rear of Vanderveen's Drug Store as agent for the American Express Company from 1872 to 1887, when he lost the use of his legs. He married Frances G. "Fanny" Williams, who was born in New York and lived from February 22, 1847 to September 14, 1884. Their children included Charles E. Lilley, who was born about 1866. Henry and Frances had another son, George William Lilley, who was born in Michigan in 1869 and resided in Grand Haven. Henry, a Republican, in his later years resided at the City Hotel until January 8, 1897, when he died in his sleep. He and Frances were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, January 8, 1897.]

Samuel Lilley, who was born in England, lived from 1803 to December 16, 1891. He married Helen Lucking in Essex, England on August 17, 1827. Around 1855 Samuel and Helen immigrated to the United States, leaving behind one son and two daughters. Samuel became a naturalized citizen in 1865. He was an employee of the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee Railway for 16 years. Henry Lilley was his brother. The family lived for a while in Milwaukee, then settled in Spring Lake in 1867. Francis Lilley of Spring Lake was his son. Helen was born in England in 1803 and died on December 15, 1871.

Colon Columbus Lillie [1859-1942]

Colon C. Lillie was president of the Co-Operative Creamery in Coopersville. His farm was located in Section 5 of Tallmadge Township, probably the same place his parents had owned. In 1908 Colon claimed a total of 206 acres in Tallmadge and Wright Townships. From 1907 to 1908 Colon was a delegate to the Michigan Constitutional Convention for the 23rd District. The son of Joel B. and Sarah C. Augur Lillie, Colon was born in Tallmadge Township on January 6, 1859 and died in Muskegon on November 30, 1942. He married Julia A. Lawton in Coopersville on June 24, 1890. Julia was born in Michigan about 1861. She was the daughter of Albert and Mary L. Lawton. Walter Irving Lillie was Colon's brother.

Harold Irving Lillie [1888-1957]

Born in Grand Haven on May 6, 1888, Walter and Ella Lillie's oldest child, Harold started the ear-nose-throat department and was chief of staff at the famous Mayo Brothers Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. A graduate of Grand Haven High School in 1906, he was a member of the football team called the Grand Haven Independents. Harold was one of four sons of Walter I. Lillie, a Grand Haven attorney. The family lived at 200 Franklin. Prior to graduating from the University of Michigan in 1910, Lillie was a substitute Surfman at the U.S. Life Saving Station in Grand Haven. He was given credit for rescuing a young woman from the Channel who nearly drowned. After graduating with a Bachelor of Arts, Harold continued at the University of Michigan and was awarded a Doctor of Medicine degree in 1912. Like his brother Leo, Harold served in World War I as lieutenant.

On September 10, 1913 Harold married Oda Kittredge, who was born on May 17, 1889. They had two children, including John Canfield I, born January 31, 1915 in Ann Arbor. John married Eleanor Peschke on April 8, 1939, and they had five children, among them John Canfield Lillie II, born April 26, 1946. John I, a veterinarian, married Janice Richardson. John and Janice lived in Roseville, Minnesota, but summered regularly in Grand Haven. Harold died in 1957.

Born in Grand Haven on October 1, 1893, the youngest child of Walter E. and Ella Lillie, Hugh was the brother of Leo C. Lillie. Like Leo and his other brothers, Hugh graduated from Grand Haven High School and the University of Michigan. He was a World War I veteran. He moved to Kansas City, and later was named Senior United States Attorney for the Interstate Commerce Commission in Columbus, Ohio. On May 2, 1916, he married Florence Carpenter, who was born in March 1898 and died about February 1, 1967.

Hugh died on August 15, 1967 in Florida and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their children were Walter I., born about 1918; Owen Patrick, born about 1920; Maryellen, born about 1924; and Sybil, born about 1933.

Joel B. Lillie [1823-1893]

Around 1853 Joel B. and Sarah C. Augur Lillie moved from St. Lawrence, New York to a 40-acre farm in Section 5 of Tallmadge Township. Sarah was a sister of General Christopher Columbus Augur [1891-1898]. One of the Lillies' son, Walter Irving Lillie, was born in Tallmadge Township on October 9, 1856. Another son, Colon Columbus Lillie, was born in Tallmadge Township on January 6, 1859. The Lillies also had three daughters: Edith, born about 1854; Emma, born about 1862; and Anna, born about 1864. Joel was born in New York on May 16, 1825 and died in Coopersville on September 19, 1893. Sarah, also a New York native, lived from November 24, 1822 to November 5, 1879. In 1914 he shared law offices at 218½ Washington Street with his father and his brother Hugh. He was Grand Haven city attorney from 1915 to 1922. A life-long resident of Grand Haven, Leo was best known for his 1931 book Historic Grand Haven and Ottawa County, covering the early history of this area. He served in World War I as lieutenant and was active in the organization of the Charles Conklin Post of the American Legion. From 1937 to 1938 he presided over the Grand Haven Rotary Club. On December 31, 1914, he married Sybil E. Coughlin from Big Rapids. She died at age 92 on July 11, 1980 and was buried in Lake Forest Cemetery. Leo died of a heart attack at his home, 508 Sheldon Road, on June 11, 1949. [Tribune obituary, June 11, 1949.]

Walter Irving Lillie [1856-1921]

Born on a farm in Tallmadge Township on October 9, 1856, Walter was the son of Joel B. and Sarah C. Augur Lillie. Walter graduated from Michigan Agricultural College [MSU] in 1881, studied law under George A. Farr of Grand Haven, and was admitted to practice in 1884 by Judge Daniel J. Arnold. In 1884 he was elected circuit court commissioner, in 1886 and 1888 he was elected prosecuting attorney, and he was city attorney at various times. He opened his law office on the second floor of 218 Washington, where his sons, Leo and Hugh, joined him. In 1901 Walter was appointed to the post of assistant U.S. District Attorney, and from 1906 to 1913 he served as the last collector of customs for the Port of Grand Haven. He was a Republican and was affiliated with the United Workmen, the Maccabees, and the Elks. In the mid-1880s he was part owner of the Grand Haven Broom Company.

On September 28, 1886, Walter married Ella M. McGrath, who was born on May 26, 1861. The couple resided at 200 Franklin in Grand Haven. They had four sons, all born in Grand Haven: Harold I., born on May 6, 1888; Leo C., born on November 18, 1889; Walter Ivan, born in 1891; and Hugh E., born on October 1, 1893. Harold and Walter became well-known medical doctors, and Leo and Hugh became attorneys. The elder Lillie died in Grand Haven on May 20, 1921, and his wife died six years later on October 27, 1927. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries September 20, 1893 and May 20, 1921, and Tribune article, "Early GH Residents," November 2, 1984.]

Born in Grand Haven in 1891, Walter was the son of Ella McGrath and Walter I. Lillie. He graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1909 and in 1915 received his medical degree from the University of Michigan. Walter became a successful eye specialist at Mayo Clinic and in 1933 was appointed Head of the Department of Ophthalmology at Temple University in Philadelphia. Like his brothers Harold and Leo, he served in World War I and became a lieutenant in the Medical Reserve Corps. He married Opal Jones on August 30, 1916 in St. Johns, Clinton County. Opal was born in Michigan in 1891. Walter died about May 27, 1963 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, June 11, 1949.]

Robert Harry Lillyblad [1910-1970]

Russell Camfield started Camfield Manufacturing at 717 North Seventh Street in Grand Haven about 1938. On the management team with him were Robert Lillyblad and Lawrence Meyering. Robert was born in Minnesota on December 29, 1910. On October 26, 1934 in Red Wing he married Lucretia Bennett. Also from Minnesota, she was born on January 13, 1912. When they moved to the Grand Haven area, the couple at first lived in Spring Lake Township and then moved to Grand Haven. They had at least two sons: Robert Bruce Lillyblad, born on December 9, 1935, and Stephen Scott Lillyblad, born in February 1941. Bruce married Janice Arlene Zysk, who was born on April 2, 1936 and passed away in Hayward, Wisconsin on July 30, 2016. William Robertson Loutit [1825-1921]

Born in Scotland on October 21, 1825 at South Ronaldsay, one of the Orkney Islands, William was the son of James and Christina McKay Loutit. He immigrated to Grand Haven and became a citizen of the country in 1854. His first job in America was as captain of the schooner Heligoland, owned by Robert Howlett of Grand Haven. In 1871 Captain Loutit organized a crew of volunteer lifesavers that was led by Richard Connell. Their efforts saved some of the crew of the Ironsides when it went down on September 15, 1873, among many others. Captain Loutit was named superintendent of the 11th District [renumbered the 10th Coast Guard District in 1915] of the United States Life Saving Service when the Grand Haven station formally opened on May 1, 1877, and served as in that capacity until 1882, when Captain Nat Robbins IV took over. Captain Loutit was City alderman in 1896 and 1897.

Having succeeded in the lumber business, William in 1894 had the Duncan Robertson Company build a new propeller ship, the Pentland, named for the firth near William's boyhood home. The ship transported iron ore from the Upper Peninsula to the Spring Lake Iron Works.

In December 1862 William married Captain Robert Howlett's daughter, Ann Elizabeth, who was born in Grandville on March 12, 1838 and died on October 18, 1909. The Loutits had a son, William Howlett, called "Willie." In 1915 Loutit married Anna Elizabeth Hinkey, a widow and friend of Mrs. Derek Bakker [Baker] back in The Netherlands. Loutits' son was living in the large house, so they built a smaller home next to it and called their new residence Scot's Cottage [325 Washington]. The Loutits were members of the Presbyterian Church until 1907, when they moved their membership to the Congregational Church. William died in Grand Haven at age 95 on July 9, 1921. Anna, who was born in 1854, died in 1926 at age 72. William and Ann were interred in the Howlett-Loutit Mausoleum at Lake Forest Cemetery. William Robertson Loutit [1895-1961]

Born on July 12, 1895 in Grand Haven, William was the son of William H. Loutit. He studied literature at the University of Michigan, and he served as sergeant with the ambulance corps in France during WWI. In 1927 William was married briefly to Josephine Lange, who was born in 1907. After their divorce he moved to Chicago where he entered the banking business and by 1942 was a partner with Edward Carlson in the Carlson-Loutit Ford automobile dealership.

On August 17, 1945, William married Catherine Luce Middleton. Born on February 17, 1902 in Grand Rapids, she was the daughter of Morton and Julia Luce, who later relocated to Spring Lake. Catherine had previously been married to Lamar Middleton [1901-1969], but they were divorced in Levy, Florida in 1936. William and Catherine moved to Grand Haven after William's father died in 1948 and settled into the family home at 333 Washington. He assumed his father's place on the Board of Directors of the Keller Tool Company and took over the care of his mother. He spent much time carrying out his parents' wishes related to their estate. He served on the Grand Haven Planning Commission until December 1949, when he moved to Spring Lake to what had been the Savidge Estate at 303 North Park. In 1957 William established the Loutit Foundation, with Paul A. Johnson, E. Vincent Erickson, Harvey L. Scholten, and John H. Uhl as trustees. The Foundation's interest was "in providing financial assistance to organizations engaged in charitable health, educational religious and community welfare projects" and to "act as a stimulator and impetus to programs." By 1984 the Foundation had distributed grants in the amount of $6.9 million and had plans to distribute the remainder of the principle and income by 2007. The Loutit District Library was named for the Loutit family, as was the Loutit Science Hall at Grand Valley State University. William was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Spring Lake Country Club, Spring Lake Yacht Club, and Peninsular and University Clubs of Grand Rapids. William died of cancer on November 29, 1961 and Catherine passed away on June 15, 1962. William was interred in the Howlett-Loutit Mausoleum at Lake Forest Cemetery, where Catherine also was interred. They had no children. Catherine's nephew, Sandy Luce, inherited the estate. George Grant Lovell I [1813-1901]

George Lovell and his wife, Susan, settled in Mill Point [Spring Lake] in 1846. He was in the lumbering business, and he was among the first to plant fruit trees on a forty-acre tract in Section 14 of Spring Lake Township, stretching along the east side of Lake Avenue from Savidge to Lloyd's Bayou. His residence, since moved, was at 601 East Savidge. Along with Lemoyne M. S. Smith, Anna A. Smith, Lydia Norton, and Harriet J. Franklin, George helped organize the Spring Lake Presbyterian Church in 1853. He worked in the lumber business, and in 1860 leased one of the Hopkins Brothers' mills in Spring Lake. He was a justice of the peace and was elected supervisor of Mill Point in 1855-56.

George was born in Windham County, Vermont on October 6, 1813, the son of Donald [1784-1839] and Mary Shafter Lovell [1792-1855]. George moved from Vermont to Kalamazoo in 1832. From there he went to Ionia County where he was in the milling business for eight years, and then moved to Spring Lake. He and his wife, Susan A., had five children: Mary Ellen, who was born about 1843 and married John Thomson of Spring Lake; Charles J., who lived from November 20, 1848 to September 7, 1873 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery; Charles, born about 1850; Lewis S., born about 1852; George Donald; and Abby W. Susan was born in 1822, died in 1854, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. In 1866 George married Ellen W. Turner, the widow of Noah Perkins, whom she had married in 1853. Noah died while in the service during the Civil War. Ellen was born on March 3, 1827 and died August 23, 1897. She had at least two daughters from her marriage to Noah: Ella, who was born on October 13, 1853 and died on June 17, 1912, and May born about 1859. Both were raised in the Lovell household. Ellen and George had three children, all born in Michigan: George II, who was born on October 19, 1869 and died September 25, 1889; Edgar; and Ida May. George I died on April 17, 1901 and both he and his wife were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, as was his first wife, Susan.

On October 5, 1854 George bought a 38-acre parcel in Section 15 of Crockery Township and another parcel in Section 7 of Spring Lake Township. On November 1 the next year he purchased 55 acres in Section 12 of Spring Lake Township. Before 1864 George and a partner by the name of Lyman Hall bought large tracts of land in Spring Lake Township, including approximately 370 acres in Section 10, for the purpose of raising fruit.

Louis was born in Windham County, Vermont on November 15, 1816, the son of Donald [1784-1839] and Mary Shafter Lovell [1792-1855]. George Lovell of Spring Lake was his brother. Like George, Louis purchased acres of land in Spring Lake Township in the 1850s, including a 135-acre fruit farm on the west shore of Spring Lake [Section 10], which later became known as Lovell Park and also as Summer Land Park. In 1891 he subdivided the land and built several cottages for seasonal rental.

On July 14, 1842 Louis married Mary S. Thayer in Ionia. She was born in Windham County, Vermont on July 14, 1821. In 1857 Louis was elected judge of the Eighth Judicial District. Louis and Mary had two sons, Homer, who lived from 1843 to 1918, and Henry, who lived from 1848 to 1902, and one daughter, Mary, who lived from 1858 to 1949. Mary died on November 7, 1890 in Ionia. Louis passed away four years later, on March 30, in Stanton, Montcalm County. Both were buried at Highland Park Cemetery in Ionia. The three children managed the rental properties in Lovell Park after their father's death.

Born in Virginia in 1841, Horace Lowe was residing at the abandoned Wiley Water Works on Washington Street in Grand Haven when he died on July 16, 1921. In the 1920 census he was listed as 46 years old and working as a laborer at the Eagle Ottawa Tannery. His obituary stated that Horace "was over 80 years of age and had been employed by A. M. Cosgrove for many years. He lived alone in the Wiley Water Works building for years." Augustus Cosgrove, who owned a plumbing business, was an early manager of the Wiley Water Works, which closed about 1888. Horace, an African American, was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, July 18, 1921.]

Benjamin L. Lowell [1908-1989]

Ben L. Lowell was born on November 30, 1908 and died in Grand Haven on October 13, 1989. He started the Noble Company in 1946. In February 1967 the Company purchased the site at 614 Monroe for the manufacture of items for the tile, plumbing, heating, and do-it-yourself market. Noble had another facility in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. In the fall of 2003, the company's Grand Haven building was razed to make way for the GrandWater commercial development. Ben and his wife, Patricia S., resided at 1621 Gladys. The Lowell family also owned a cottage at 4 Edwards Avenue in Highland Park. Patricia lived from June 29, 1919 to June 10, 1997 and passed away in Grand Haven. Ben Tom Lowell, born on October 28, 1931, was their son.

Benjamin Thomas "Ben Tom" Lowell [1931-2000]

Ben Tom Lowell was born in Grand Haven on October 28, 1931. His parents were Benjamin L. and Patricia S. Lowell. After graduating from Grand Haven High School in 1949, Ben Tom married Louise Des Jardins. The couple moved to Bloomfield Hills, Oakland County, where Ben Tom died on August 21, 2000. He was an officer in the family's business, the Noble Company. Ben Tom and Louise had a son, Ben Trudeau Lowell, who was born on September 9, 1960 and died in Marathon, Florida on December 17, 2003. They also had a daughter Sarah, who moved to Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, and another son, Peter Lowell, who relocated to Nederland, Colorado. [Tribune obituary, December 24, 2003.]

Holden Crandall Lowing [1821-1900]

Holden Lowing was born in Ontario County, New York on March 19, 1821. He married Eleanor Chapin. Their farm was in Section 9 of Georgetown Township, where they raised 13 children. Eleanor was born in New York State on August 5, 1835 and died in Hudsonville in 1907. On August 28, 1885, Holden was appointed postmaster of the Georgetown post office. Holden passed away in Georgetown on March 29, 1900. He and Eleanor were buried at Georgetown Cemetery. Isaac Lowing and Stephen Lowing were his brothers.

Isaac Newton Lowing [1823-1905]

Stephen, who was born in Genessee County, New York, lived from January 27, 1823 to June 7, 1908. Jane was born in New York State on December 9, 1830 and died in Hudsonville on December 19, 1891. They were buried at Georgetown Township Cemetery. Holden Lowing and Stephen Lowing were his brothers.

Stephen Lampman Lowing [1817-1891]

Born on January 15, 1817, in Wyoming County, New York, Stephen Lowing walked to Grand Haven in 1836. He found employment in sawmills along his route and saved enough money to buy 80 acres in Section 2 of in Allendale Township. His land bordered the Grand River. He moved on to Georgetown Township in 1838, where he bought substantial acreage in Sections 2 and 3 and built a sawmill. Until he was about 50, he was a farmer and lumberman in Ottawa County and owned one of the largest estates in the county. He was sheriff for four years in the 1840s and supervisor of Georgetown for many years, and he also was a preacher. On March 24, 1852 he was appointed postmaster of Georgetown. He entered the Civil War on May 13, 1861 as first lieutenant of Company I of the 3rd Infantry, was promoted to captain the following October 28, and transferred to Company E. He was badly wounded in the hip at Fair Oaks, Virginia on May 31, 1862, an injury that caused him considerable suffering for the rest of his life. Stephen was discharged for disability on April 9, 1864. At the age of fifty he was admitted to the bar, and about the same time he moved to Grand Haven, where he opened a law office and served as prosecuting attorney from 1869 to 1875. Growing deafness compelled him to retire from the law in 1883, when he moved to Allendale.

Stephen married 18-year-old Ruth Madison in 1838. They had three surviving children: Martha L. Lowing [1841-1927]; Luke Lowing [1843-1922]; and Oscar Franklin Tobe Lowing [1847-1889]. On January 19, 1861, after he and Ruth were divorced, Stephen married Lydia Hunter. He married Emily Melissa Markham on March 26, 1870 in Jamestown Township. She was born in 1851. They had two daughters: Myrtie Loretta Lowing [1873-1943] and Emily Maretta Lowing [1875-1953]. Stephen died at his residence in Allendale on November 4, 1891 and was buried at Georgetown Cemetery, near his old home. On February 16, 1892, Emily applied for a widow's Civil War pension. She was 76 years old when she died on March 1, 1904 and also was buried at Georgetown Cemetery. Son Luke Lowing settled on 190 acres of land bordering the Grand River, a little south of Blendon Landing. Isaac Lowing was his brother. [Tribune obituary, November 5, 1891.]

Holden Lowing and Isaac Lowing were his brothers.

Charles Albert, the son of Lucius and Mary Burgess Lyman, was born in Carthage, New York on October 1, 1852. He moved with his parents to Spring Lake in 1867. Charles married Mary “Mollie” Kelly in Spring Lake on October 8, 1875. She was born in 1856 in Guelph, Ontario, Canada. Charles became a tugboat captain. The family resided on Howard Street. Charles and Mollie had twins, Herbert Lucius Lyman and Howard Charles Lyman, who were born in Grand Haven on September 12, 1877. The Lymans had another son, William “Willie,” who was born locally on May 17, 1876 and died on September 27, 1887. The Lymans moved to Milwaukee, where Mollie passed away about March 27, 1914. She was buried at Lake Forest with her son, Willie. Charles, on April 18, 1918, married Hilda Williams [August 12, 1871 to May 23, 1924] in Grand Haven. Charles died that year and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with other Lymans. Hilda also was buried there.

Herbert Lucius Lyman [1877-1953] and Howard Charles Lyman [1877-1923]

Twins Herbert and Howard Lyman formed a comedy team in the late 1890s and performed vaudeville acts for 15 years. Born in Grand Haven, they were the sons of Charles and Mary Kelley Lyman and the grandsons of Lucius Lyman. Charles and Mary were married in Spring Lake on October 8, 1875. Mary was born in Guelph, Ontario about 1854, and Charles was born in Carthage, New York around 1851. Mary’s sister, Catherine, married Cornelius Killeen of Grand Haven.

The twins first performed professionally in 1897 touring with the Holden Comedy Company, then headlined their debut musical comedy as writers and performers in 1898 in the play Money to Burn. The brothers wrote and performed six more original musical comedies nationwide before retiring from theater in early 1912. Both moved to Orlando, Florida and purchased two orange groves in Tampa in 1913 and worked as sales agents for the Armour Fertilizer Company, headquartered in Jacksonville. Howard had moved to Pinellas County and resided in Tampa at the time of his death but died in a diving accident on July 7, 1923 while vacationing with his wife and children in St. Petersburg. Howard and his first wife, Ethel, were divorced. Ethel was born in Illinois about 1884. On December 11, 1914 in Orange County, Florida, he married Emma Abbott. Emma was born in Waukesha, Wisconsin on July 19, 1882. In 1943 she died in a car accident in Florida. [Another Emma Abbott was born in Chicago in 1850 and became a famous stage actress. Apparently the two Emma Abbotts were occasionally confused. The actress died in 1891.]

On May 23, 1904 in Chicago, Herbert Lyman married Pattie [Patti] Louise Scott. She was born in 1884 and became an actress. In 1910 Herbert and Louise, as she was called, were living in Spring Lake with Mercy Buckingham, a widow who was born in England about 1855. Mercy and the four Lymans were listed as actors. Living next door were Howard and Emma. Later censuses found the Lymans in Florida. Pattie Louise died in 1952. The year after her death Herbert married Bertha King. Herbert continued in the business he established with his late brother as sales agents for Armour Fertilizer Company and, in 1939, for Trueman Fertilizer Company. Herbert died at Daytona Beach, Florida on July 3, 1953. Bertha died in Orlando on December 15, 1995.

Born in Windsor County, Vermont on August 5, 1821, Lucius Lyman was of English descent and a millwright by trade. He erected numerous machine works and around 1845 built the first printing machinery used in Manchester, New Hampshire. Soon afterward he was employed at the Ames Manufacturing Company in Cabotville, Massachusetts for three years. About 1849 Lucius moved to Jefferson County, New York, where he constructed a great variety of milling machinery. On September 20, 1861, in Watertown, New York, he enlisted as quartermaster sergeant with Company H of the 2nd New York Heavy Artillery. He was discharged from the army in May 10, 1862 due to disability. He remained in New York until 1867, when he came to Spring Lake. He built more mills than any other man in the state. One project, which took two years, was the erection of a large plant for the Diamond Match Company in the Upper Peninsula. He was a Republican and of anti-slavery conviction. Lucius was associated with Grand Army of the Republic [G.A.R.] of Spring Lake. He served on the Village Council in 1891 and 1892, and in 1893 he was elected village president.

On April 13, 1843, in Chelsea, Vermont, Lucius married Mary Burgess, a native of New York who lived from June 1826 to January 12, 1903. They had at least ten children, all born in New York. Two of them died in Spring Lake in 1870 of scarlet fever, but seven of them were living with their parents that year in Spring Lake: Charles Albert, a Great Lakes captain, who was born in New York State on October 1, 1852 and died in Spring Lake in 1918; Caroline Elizabeth, who was born on September 19, 1854 and died in Spring Lake on July 1, 1871; William Henry, born on November 28, 1856; Eliza Ann, who was born April 2, 1858 and married John H. Ghent, a prosperous druggist from Muskegon; Harriet "Hattie" Amelia, born April 12, 1860; and twins Clarence D. and Alonzo, born September 1, 1865. Another of their children, Malfort G., was born in New York on October 29, 1846, worked as an engineer in Rock Island, Illinois in the 1880s, and then settled in Tacoma, Washington, where in 1889 he owned a livery. In 1880 Lucius continued to live in Spring Lake with his wife and their daughter Eliza [Elizabeth], where he was still employed as a millwright. Lucius died on June 23, 1902. On July 26 that year Mary applied for a widow's Civil War pension and died about January 12 the next year. Lucius and Mary were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with six of their children: Charles, Caroline, William, Harriet, Clarence, and Alonzo. Elbert S. Lynn [1854-1933]

Elbert, the son of Walter and Anna Maria Sumner Lynn, was born in Lamont on March 24, 1854 and was raised in Tallmadge Township. In 1900 he was County treasurer and later Township supervisor. He joined Grand Haven State Bank [Old Kent/Fifth Third] upon its organization in 1902 and became its vice president in 1908. On May 12, 1880 in Lamont, he married Adelia "Delia" Cilley. Delia, the daughter of James and Marian Monroe Cilley of Coopersville, was born in Michigan on October 13, 1857. The Lynns' daughter Erma was born on March 10, 1892 and married John H. Reichardt of Grand Haven. Elbert and Delia lived at 518 Sheldon. Elbert was one of the original members of the Duncan Park Board of Trustees, established in 1913. He died on July 14, 1933 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Delia passed away on October 14, 1947 and was also buried at Lake Forest.

Walter Lynn [1824-1909]

Born in Orange County, Vermont, Walter Lynn came to Michigan with his parents not long after he was born in 1824. The family settled near Lamont, and Walter became a farmer in Tallmadge Township. Walter was 40 years old when he joined Company C of the 10th Michigan Cavalry during the Civil War. He moved to Grand Haven about 1904 to be with his son Elbert. His other children included Edwin, who was born about 1859 and moved to Oregon, and Mabel, who was born about 1862 and married Benona A. Blakeney of Grand Haven. On February 24, 1909 Walter died at the home of his son Elbert at 518 Sheldon and was buried near the family home in Lamont. [Tribune obituaries, February 24 and 25, 1909.]

John R. Lysaght [Lysaught] [1854-1910]

John was born in St. Joseph, Berrien County on January 7, 1854, the son of Captain Richard and Catherine Yore Lysaght. In 1880 John was living with his widowed mother in Berrien County, Catherine, who was born about 1820 in Ireland. Richard earned his title during service in the Civil War. He died in August 1872. John first went to sea in 1872 and served aboard a number of ships. In 1877 he went to the Black Hills [South Dakota] to try his hand at mining, but five years later he returned to the sea as mate aboard the scow Libbie Carter. In 1883 he joined the life saving crew at Muskegon as Surfman and transferred the next year to Big Point Sauble. In March 1885 he was promoted to keeper of the station. A year later he became keeper of the Racine Harbor Life Saving Station, and on July 19, 1888 he succeeded Captain Beauvais as commander of the Grand Haven Life Saving Station. He and his crew participated in a number of dramatic rescues. In the early 1900s John was vice president of the Grand Haven Basket Factory on Sixth Street, and about the same time he operated a cigar store at 129 Washington.

On April 6, 1885 John married Mary, the daughter of Ezekiah and Elizabeth Hammond Haney of Ludington. Mary was born in October 1862 [1866]. The Lysaghts' children, all born locally, included Agnes Clare, who lived from February 4, 1886 to October 15, 1979 and died in Oakland County; Alice Elizabeth, who was born on September 16, 1888 and married Albert J. Theiler of Grand Haven; John Paul., who was born in September 1890; Kathleen Mary [Mary Cataline], who was born August 1, 1894 and passed away in Grand Rapids on January 1, 1977; Jane Margaret, who was born on December 6, 1896 and died in Detroit on March 12, 1978; Morris [Maurice], born in January 1900; Harold, who was born on January 3, 1902 and died in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin in August 1974; Louise, born about 1906; and Joseph, who was born on November 27, 1906 and died in Los Angeles, California, on August 16, 1963. John died at the age of 56 at the station from "heart trouble" on May 16, 1910, only 12 days after resigning his post, but before anyone could be assigned to replace him. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Shortly after his death Mary and her dependent children moved to Detroit. [Tribune obituary, May 16, 1910.]

Miriam Wetmore Lyttle and her husband, Wilbur, managed the Ferrysburg Hotel for more than 30 years. They owned a large boathouse across the road from the hotel, near the foot of the wooden bridge that at one time provided access to the Village of Spring Lake and later became the site of Ferrysburg Park. The Lyttles also owned summer rental properties around Smith's Bayou. Miriam was born in Cincinnati, Ohio on November 25, 1876. On September 5, 1900 Miriam and Wilbur were married in Ferrysburg. He was born in Ferrysburg in July 1871, worked for Johnston Boiler, and died in 1953 in Grand Haven. They had five children. Their address in Ferrysburg was 201 Pine Street, formerly the site of Ferrysburg Hotel, which they managed for a number of years and now is the address for Pizza Hut. Miriam was born in Hillsboro, Ohio on November 25, 1876 and died in East Grand Rapids on September 11, 1953.

Helen Lucretia Brayton Macalister [1839-1898] and James Macallister [1840-1913]

On May 30, 1866, Helen Brayton married James Macalister in Grand Haven. Helen, born in 1839 in Aztalan, Wisconsin, was the daughter of James Colgrove and Julia Ann Barnard Brayton and James Pease Brayton's sister. By 1868 Helen and James had moved to Milwaukee, where James became superintendent of Schools. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland on April 26, 1840. In 1883 the family left Wisconsin for Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where James was named the first superintendent of that city's schools. After Helen's death in 1898, James remained in Philadelphia, living with his four daughters: Mary, Janet, Agnes, and Julia. He died on December 17, 1913 and was buried with Helen at West Laurel Hill Cemetery in Merion, Pennsylvania.

Charles McDonald was born on September 15, 1907 and died in Grand Haven on September 20, 1980. He married Ruby Triplett in Jackson, Mississippi in 1941. After the African American couple moved to Grand Haven in 1951, Ruby was employed by Royal Dry Cleaners at 104 Washington Street, and Charles worked as a furnace tender at Grand Haven Brass Foundry. Ruby was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church. The McDonalds resided at various times at 315 Madison, 406 North Third, and 309 Madison Streets. Their son, Charles II, drowned in the Grand River on July 11, 1957. The youngster, who contracted polio as a child, was born in Jackson, Mississippi on May 27, 1943. Another son, Jon [John] F., born on June 28, 1946, graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1965. Jon became a nationally recognized artist and Professor of Art at Kendall School of Art & Design in Grand Rapids. A daughter, Annie K., graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1963, married William Jacobs, and became provost of Wayne County Community College in Detroit. The McDonalds had a second daughter, Cora Lee, who married a Mr. Rhodes and moved to Grand Rapids. Ruby, who was born in Kosciusko, Mississippi on December 12, 1906, continued to live in the family home on Madison Street after her husband's death, but she died in Detroit on July 30, 1996 and was interred at Spring Lake Cemetery [Tribune obituary, July 12, 1957].

Norman Archibald MacDonald [1923-2000]

Norman, the son of Andrew N. and Mae MacDonald, was born in Pontiac on January 26, 1923. On October 10, 1945 Norman enlisted in the Army Air Corps. After his discharge and into the early 1950s, he managed Norman-Ross Music Store at 17 Washington and later at 201 Washington. He married Christa Helena Freund, who was born on March 19, 1925. They resided in Fruitport and had at least three children: a son, born on October 10, 1945, and two daughters, one born on April 1, 1947 and the other on September 23, 1949.

John, the son of Alexander and Ann Tough Macfie, was born on a farm in Clarenceville, Quebec on April 14, 1836. On May 29, 1861 he married Anne [Anna/Annie] Townsend, who was born on May 20, 1840 in Canada. John and Anne lived at 526 Lafayette in Grand Haven. Residing at the same address in the early 1900s were their son and daughter-in-law, Robert and Maud Macfie. John and Robert were in the lumber business together in Grand Haven under the name Macfie & Son in the 1890s. Robert was born on April 8, 1862. John moved to California around 1905. In 1916 Robert and Maud and their three children joined John in California. John's and Anne's other children were Gresham, born in Canada about 1861; Mary Agnes, born on September 28, 1863 and Helen, born on August 14, 1865. Helen died the next day. John passed away in Alhambra, Los Angeles County, California, on April 26, 1920. Anne also died in Alhambra in early fall, 1921. John and Anne were members of St. John's Episcopal Church in Grand Haven. In 1890 John built the cottage named Tangle Top in Highland Park. The cottage was inherited by Robert Macfie.

Robert Graham Macfie [1862-1946]

Robert and his father, John Macfie, were in the lumber business together in Grand Haven under the name Macfie & Son in the 1890s. Robert was born on April 8, 1862. He married Maud Boyden on August 3, 1892. Maud, born in Pennsylvania on August 19, 1868, was the daughter of Charles and Jerusha Mitchell Boyden of Grand Haven. Robert inherited Tangle Top, a cottage in Highland Park that his father built in 1890. In 1916 Robert and Maud moved to California with their three children and joined John Macfie, who had moved there around 1905. Their children were Boyden, born in Grand Haven on June 12, 1893; Elizabeth Anne, born in Grand Haven on August 25, 1895; and John Graham, born on February 23, 1898 in Missouri.

They also had a son David, who was born in Grand Haven on August 2, 1899 and died the next day. In Grand Haven the Macfies lived with Robert's parents, John and Anne Townsend Macfie, at 526 Lafayette. Maud owned Tangle Top cottage at 68 Beechwood Lane in Highland Park. Robert died in Santa Clara, California on September 18, 1946. Maud passed away, also in Santa Clara, on June 12, 1955.

Bernice Davis Maciejewski, a resident of Robinson Township, was born on February 14, 1922 and died on December 15, 1995. She started writing a history of the township, which was carried on by historian and fellow resident Olive Cleave and published in 1999 as Robinson Remembrances. On January 4, 1941 Bernice married Vincent, the son of John and Mary Miedzianowski Maciejewski of Robinson Township. Vincent was born in Evanston, Illinois on May 18, 1919. Vincent worked at Oldberg Manufacturing for 40 years and was a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Robinson Township. He and Bernice resided at 13703 Green. Their children were Vincent J. of Tampa, Florida; John of Eugene, Oregon; Charles of Whitehall; Mary Jo, who married a Mr. Vokal and resided in Maple Grove, Minnesota; Elizabeth, who married Rick Wilson and lived in Spring Lake; Marie, who married Eric Johnson and moved to Cape Coral, Florida; and Christine, who married Michael McCarthy of Grand Haven. Bernice and Vincent were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, February 23, 2006.]

John Maciejewski [Mackczewski] [1873-1950]

John and Mary Maciejewski were married in Poland in 1897. John immigrated to America in 1905 and his wife and a daughter followed three years later. After living in Chicago for a number of years, the family in 1923 moved to Robinson Township, where they purchased from Gus Metzler 120 acres in Sections 5 and 31, near the Grand River. One of their children, Vincent, was born about 1919 and married Bernice Davis. Their other children were Adam, born in Poland in 1902; Boleslaus, born in 1912; and Mary, born in 1917. Vincent, Boyle, and Mary were born in Illinois. John lived from 1873 to 1950 and Mary from 1877 to 1965.

William T. Mackay I [1918-2004]

William Mackay was appointed Civil Defense director for the City of Grand Haven in 1963, a position he held until 1988. He served on the Coast Guard Festival Board of Directors from 1968 to 1996. William was born in Linesville, Pennsylvania on February 23, 1918. He was the son of Byron and Mabel Beers Mackay. William married Helen Pritko on January 14, 1939 in Cleveland, Ohio. He served with the Michigan State Troops from 1942 to 1946 and was captain and company commander of local Company F of the 32nd Infantry Regiment. In 1982 he retired from Cooper Industries after 29 years of service in quality control. The Mackay children were William T. Mackay II and Janice S., who married Thomas Helms of St. Johns, Clinton County. William I died in Grand Haven on April 7, 2004 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, April 8, 2004.]

Donald Stuart Mackenzie [1924-2002]

The son of William and Marion Mackenzie, Donald was born in Evanston, Illinois on January 23, 1924. He grew up in Lake Forest, Illinois and attended Bradley University in Peoria. During WWII he served with the 109th Medical Battalion of the U.S. Army. For 25 years following the war, Donald worked for the American Meat Institute in Chicago as Director of Plant Operations. He moved to Grand Haven in 1974 and founded Econaway Abrasives Company, located at 747 Grant Street. He and his wife Patricia L. resided at 17345 West Spring Lake Road. She was born on November 28, 1932. Donald retired from Econaway in 1996, died in Grand Haven on November 3, 2002, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, November 5, 2002.]

Edward H. Macy [1801-1840]

Edward Macy landed in New York City on October 9, 1828, newly arrived from Buenos Aires. On the ship's manifest he was listed as "ship master" and 27 years old. Franklin Everett mentioned Edward Macy twice in his book Memorials of the Grand River Valley. In 1838, at the first meeting of the Ottawa County Board of supervisors, Edward was granted permission to operate a ferry across Black Lake [Lake Macatawa] for two years. About the same year, Edward owned approximately a half-section in Olive Township, on the south side of Pigeon Lake, an area another group, the Port Sheldon Land Company, was developing. A year or two earlier, Edward was part of the Black Lake Company, a group of investors who planned to develop the area around that body of water. Their project included setting up the town of Tuscarora, later changed to Superior. The plat, recorded on July 2, 1835, was situated on the north side of Black Lake. Plans showed 122 waterfront lots and 465 back lots. Edward, a ship's captain, was an investor and manager. A post office opened with the name Tuscarora on August 1, 1839 with Captain Macy as postmaster. Sand bars blocked the harbor and the post office closed on July 24, 1840, about the time Captain Macy was killed in Kalamazoo, according to Everett. The project failed after his death. He was born in 1801.

Brice D. Maddox [1914-1997]

Brice Maddox was born in Marion, Indiana on April 11, 1914. He graduated from Purdue University with a Bachelor Degree in Civil Engineering, and then earned a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of Chicago. Brice arrived in Grand Haven in 1951 to join Keller Tool Company and became vice president and general manager after the company was taken over by Gardner Denver. He and his wife, Janice B., had three children. Janice was born about 1914. They lived at 521 Lafayette and 10 Woodlawn Court.

Brice was president of the Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce and a member of Rotary and Stag Club. He was on the Grand Haven Charter Study Commission, the Grand Haven Board of Light and Power, and Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Brice chaired the Hospital Planning Committee. He and Jan retired to Maricopa, Arizona, where he died on October 7, 1997.

Walter H. Madsen [1920-2001]

Walter, the son of August Peter and Caroline Johnson Madsen, was born in Fergus Falls, Minnesota on August 23, 1920. The family moved to Chicago when Walter was 12. He graduated from Senn High School in that city. During WWII he served four years with the Army in the South Pacific Theater and was discharged with the rank of captain. He continued his service with the U.S. Army Reserves. After the war, Walter attended Chicago Teachers College for four years, and then spent one year at Superior State College in Wisconsin. He came to Grand Haven, where he was employed at Oldberg Manufacturing.

On September 29, 1956 Walter married Genevieve Wessel Nauta, who was born about 1918. Genevieve, the daughter of Abram and Lillian Wessel of Grand Haven, had previously been married to a Nauta. Eleven years after their marriage Walter completed his bachelor degree requirements and received a Michigan Teacher's Certificate. He then started teaching fifth and sixth grades at Nunica Elementary School, and two years later he began teaching math and science at Spring Lake Junior High School until his retirement in 1982. Walter was an active volunteer with the local Salvation Army, and Genevieve was office secretary for the organization.

Genevieve's children were James Nauta, who was born about 1944 and became a captain with the Salvation Army in Elmhurst, Illinois; Mary Nauta, who was born about 1947, married James Hoskin, and moved to Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where she held the rank of major with the Salvation Army; Thomas R. Nauta, who was born about 1948 and remained in Grand Haven; Kenneth J. Nauta, who was born about 1950 and also remained in Grand Haven; Judith A. Nauta, who was born about 1951, married Louis Davidson, and moved to Nashville, Tennessee; and Steven, who relocated to Fort Worth, Texas. Walter died on August 14, 2001 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Francis "Frank" Maggiore I [1932-2005]

A graduate of Grand Haven High School, Frank Maggiore served with the U.S. Navy from 1951 to 1959 as an aerial photographer, and was a general contractor for the next 25 years. On May 3, 1952, he married Fanny Rae Susterich [1931-2012] in Grand Haven. They had four children: Deborah Maggiore, John

Maggiore, Theresa Maggiore [1956-1998], and Frank Maggiore [1957-1978]. Frank and Fanny were divorced in Los Angeles, California in March 1975. Frank then married Valarie Kirklen. She was born on February 1, 1946 in California. Frank I died in Rancho Mirage, California on May 1, 2005 and was buried at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Cathedral City. His parents were John and Mary Maggiore of Grand Haven. [Tribune obituary, May 4, 2005.]

John Maggiore [1902-1973]

John Maggiore was born in Italy on February 5, 1902 and immigrated to the United States when he was 17. His wife, Mary, also a native of Italy, was born about 1905 and came to America in 1911. They were married about 1923. John worked as a molder at a local factory before he and Mary opened Sunnyside Grocery around 1953. The store, located at 17176 West Spring Lake in Spring Lake Road, closed around 1977. John passed away in Palm Desert, California on July 1, 1973. Among their children were Albert, born in Indiana about 1925; Joseph C., who was born in Michigan on February 9, 1926 and died in Los Angeles, California on December 17, 1972; Ann, who born about 1930, married Vincent Cobb, and moved to South Haven; and Frank, born in Grand Haven on November 21, 1932. The Maggiore family resided at 333 Elliott around 1930, and then moved to 1143 Washington

Michael Maher [Mahar, Mahur] [1844-1904]

Born in Ireland in 1844, Michael Maher settled in Grand Haven and married Ellen Collins. Ellen was born in Waverly, New York, on August 4, 1852. In the 1893 Directory, Michael was listed as “engineer.” They raised their family at 209 Clinton, where Ellen [Helen/Helena] continued to reside after her husband’s death on December 12, 1904. On November 29, 1915 in Grand Haven, she married John Richardson. Michael’s and Ellen’s children, all born in Grand Haven, were Mary Agnes, who was born on July 3, 1873 and married George William Honner in Grand Haven on January 8, 1896; William, who was born on June 11, 1875 and died in Detroit on March 9, 1965; Nellie, who was born November 4, 1876, married Jesse Albert Waterman in Grand Haven on October 26, 1905, and moved to Chicago; John, who was born about April 1879 and died on March 15, 1880; Henry, who was born January 30, 1881, became foreman at a chair factory, and died in Chicago on March 17, 1965; Margaret, who was born on March 6, 1885 and died in California on February 3, 1966; Thomas, who was born on June 2, 1891 and moved to Chicago; and Winifred K., who lived from February 14, 1883 to March 6, 1901. Michael was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Ellen, who died on November 27, 1932.

Thomas Mahan [Mahon] [1872-1969]

Tom, the son of John and Catherine Hart Mahon, started work on the Grand River by operating a pile driver owned by John Walsh. It was the only one of its kind in Grand Haven. Tiring of that job, he went to the Chicago waterfront, where he earned 75 cents for ten hours of work. While in Chicago, Tom drove pilings at the 1893 Columbian Exposition for the first Ferris Wheel ever erected. Tom returned to Grand Haven, where he became a member of Company F during the Spanish-American War. He was listed as a diver in the 1908 Directory, a pursuit he followed during World War I, as did his father in the British Navy. Tom was certified by the United States secretary of the Navy to dive anywhere in the United States. He worked for the Corps of Engineers and received his pilot and engineering license in 1908. In 1921 Tom built the Ramona with his partner, Charles Possion. After being moved from its construction site in sections, the boat was put together and sailed on Reeds Lake in Grand Rapids. Captain Mahon helped construct the first big bridge to cross the Grand River and also did test borings at Port Sheldon for the Consumers Power Plant. At age 82 he helped lay cable in the Holland harbor for the City of Holland, after an original contractor did not finish the job.

Tom was accused and convicted of “mutilating” Fred Turk Allison II of Nunica on April 14, 1914. The attack occurred when Tom found 19-year-old Fred with his wife, Leora. Tom was sentenced to one to ten years in Ionia Prison. At the time of the trial, the Mahans resided on Fourth Street in Grand Haven.

Tom, who was born on August 23, 1872 in New York City, died on July 1, 1969. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On September 25, 1899, he married Leora [Leo] Boot in Grand Haven. Leora was born in Michigan about 1881. They lived at 108 Elliott and later at 407 Fulton Street. They had a daughter, Grita [Juta/Zerta], who was born locally about 1905 and married David Atkinson of Amboy, Illinois; a son, John Thomas, [Thomas J.] who was born locally in 1900; and another son, Leo, who was born locally about 1908. Tom's father, John was born in Ireland in June 1856 and died about January 10, 1942, and his mother, Catherine, was born in England in May 1857 and died about November 25, 1915. They also were buried at Lake Forest.

George Matthew Maierhauser I [Mairhauser] [1892-1951]

George Maierhauser owned an 80-acre farm in Section 11 of Grand Haven Township in the early 1900s. In 1930 George was working at a service station in Grand Haven. He was born in Wisconsin on January 10, 1892. On July 16, 1921 in Grand Haven he married Ethel Engel, who was born in that city on March 3, 1899 and died in 1986. They had three children: Theresa, born about 1920; Mary A., born about 1923; George M. II, who was born on April 27, 1926 and died on May 17, 2015; and Phyllis J., who was born September 29, 1933 and passed away in Grand Haven on June 25, 2000. George died on August 22, 1951 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Ethel. [Tribune obituary, May 19, 2015.]

John Majerus [1871-1962]

Born on December 28, 1871 in Luxembourg, John Majerus was a resident of Grand Haven Township. In the early 1900s he bought from Peter Northouse [Nordhuis] 70 acres in Section 4, near Rosy Mound. In 1911 he and his wife, Margareth, donated three-quarters of an acre of the land for a new Rosy Mound School in Section 4 of Grand Haven Township, a move north from the school's former location in Section 9 at the southeast corner of Ferris and Lakeshore Drive. The earlier school had burned down in 1900. Their home was across Lakeshore Drive from the new school. John owned another 20 acres nearby. By 1930 he had sold the remainder of the larger piece to Albert Ohelmacher but retained ownership of the 20-acre parcel. The Majeruses were divorced before 1930. John moved to Alhambra, California, where he died on September 25, 1962.

Davis Nelson Mallery [@1876- ?]

In the early 1900s Davis Mallery was part owner of the Mallery and Hite Boat Livery [Marina] on Beach Road in Spring Lake Village. He was born about 1876 in Illinois. By 1920 he was a traveling salesman for a Grand Haven machinery company. Davis married Frances Hoffman in Jackson, Missouri on October 16, 1915. She was born in Howard County, Iowa on January 9, 1886, died in Grand Haven on March 10, 1922, and was buried at Union Cemetery in Livermore, Iowa.

Frederick A. Mansfield [1847-1916]

In 1887 the name of the military company headquartered at the Armory on Second Street was changed to "The Grand Haven Guards." It became known as Company F. Frederick Mansfield, one of the company's organizers, was elected captain and later major of the Second Michigan Infantry. He worked as an inspector for the Tax Department of the State of Michigan, but also was a civil engineer.

Frederick's father, Eben [Ebin/Ebenezer] Fessenden Mansfield, was born on May 8, 1809 in Oxford County, Maine and died in Grand Haven on December 19, 1869. His mother, Achsah [Axey/Aahsall], was born in Vermont about 1817. Eben and Achsah Smith were married in Will, Illinois on August 24, 1843. By 1850 Ebenezer, Achsah, Frederick, and another son, John, were living in Metomen, Wisconsin. John was two years younger than Frederick. At the time of the 1870 Federal Census, Frederick was living in Grand Haven. Living with him were his widowed mother and two younger brothers, both born in Wisconsin: Ebbin, who was born in 1854 and died in Grand Haven about December 19, 1869, and Charles, born in 1857. Achsah died in Grand Haven on November 24, 1870 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Eben.

In the 1880 Federal Census, Frederick was sharing his home on Pennoyer Street with his cousins Mary K. Mansfield and Herbert Mansfield and with his brother, Charles Mansfield, who was working as a sailor. Mary, the daughter of David [1813-1876] and Abigail Kimball Mansfield [1815-1859], was shown as divorced in the census. Her first husband was John L. Mansfield [1847-1937]. Whatever their relationship, Frederick Mansfield and Mary K. Mansfield were married on August 20, 1881, in Grand Haven. Mary was born in Lovell, Maine on June 6, 1850, died in Grand Haven on September 30, 1923, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Mary and her sister, Martha “Mattie” Rice, were the first managers of the Highland Park Hotel. Frederick and Mary resided at 107 South Second Street. Their daughter Martha J. “Mattie” Mansfield was born in Grand Haven on May 10, 1883 and married Richard L. Cook of that city. In 1900 Mary and her daughter Mattie were living 107 South Street, while Frederick was listed in the Federal Census of that year as residing at 221 Washington Street, in the home of Willard Sheldon. Fred was then employed as a clerk with the State of Michigan Tax Commission. Ten years later the Mansfields were living together at the house on Second Street. Mattie and her husband Richard were living with them. After her husband’s death, Mary continued to reside at 107 South Second.

Frederick was born in Fairwater, Wisconsin [Maine/Vermont] on November 8, 1847. He died in Grand Haven on May 10, 1916 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Herbert Mansfield, probably her son by her first marriage. Mary was a Unitarian but later became a Christian Scientist.

Hubert “Bert” C. Mansfield [1867-1921]

Bert Mansfield, a watchmaker and jeweler, owned one of the largest jewelry stores in Ottawa County. In 1888 he purchased the store from Roswell H. Lee, who had been in business in Grand Haven since 1872. Bert named his shop, located at 132 Washington, B. C. Mansfield & Company. He specialized in watch repair. The son of Mary K. Mansfield and the stepson of Frederick Mansfield, Bert was born in Wisconsin in September 1867 and died in 1921. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other Mansfields. On January 3, 1891 in Milwaukee, Bert married Clara Edna Bell. She was born in Wisconsin in October 1871. The daughter of Edwin and Louisa Buttrick Bell, she graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1888. After Bert’s death, she moved to Grand Rapids with their son, Herbert, who was born locally about 1907. Another son, Carlisle Edwin, was born on September 29, 1892 and died in September 1963 in Michigan. Carlisle married Mary A. Dickinson in Grand Rapids on February 8, 1911.

Bert was reported to have “the finest collection of Indian arrow heads and other relics in the city.” [Tribune, July 28, 1900.]

Meinardus “Maynard” Manting [Mantingh] I [1896-1956]

In 1946 Maynard Manting started the Manting Equipment Company at 119 South Fourth Street in Grand Haven as a distributor of Bastian Blessing store display fixtures. Prior to that, he had been an employee of Bastian Blessing. His sister, Sarah, married Louis Northouse of Grand Haven. Maynard, the son of Albert and Marie Lokker Manting, was born in Holland, Michigan on November 26, 1896. He married Katherine Van Lopik on July 26, 1928. The daughter of Peter and Cornelia Byl Van Lopik, she was born May 18, 1895 [1896] and died March 10, 1943. The Manting family lived at 508 South Seventh Street. Their sons, Peter G. and Maynard Manting II, continued the business after their father’s death on September 3, 1956. Katherine and Maynard were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Nathan Marble [1789-1868]

Nathan Marble may never have lived in Ottawa County, but on March 1, 1856 he purchased the southwest quarter-section [160 acres] of Section 9 of Grand Haven Township from Henry Pennoyer. On March 23, 1861, while living in New York State, he sold to the Township a one-acre parcel on the southeast corner of Ferris and Lakeshore Drive. After the school at this site burned down in 1900 a new one was constructed a mile or so north and named Rosy Mound School. The remainder of Nathan's quarter-section was in Henry Saul's name before 1876. As early as 1839 Nathan purchased 160 acres in southern Michigan. He was born in 1789 and died April 22, 1868. His wife, Adeline Worden, lived from 1802 to January 31, 1874.

Jerry Maring [1915-1998]

On May 1, 1956 Jerry Maring formed a partnership with Henry J. Freeze to purchase the building and equipment of Fred King's business, Metal Stamping Products, located at 530 Elm Street in Ferrysburg. Jerry was president and Henry was secretary-treasurer of the firm. Jerry and his wife, Mildred, resided in Muskegon. He was born on May 19, 1915 and died in Muskegon on October 31, 1998.

Paul F. Markoff [Markhoff] [1863-1955]

Paul Markoff was on the Board of Directors of the Spring State Bank when it first opened in 1914 and became its president. In the 1918 Directory he was listed as a furniture manufacturer in Spring Lake. He and Ida Cornelia Umstead were married in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, on May 8, 1884. Paul was born in Germany in September 1863, and Ida was born in Brighton, Pennsylvania on May 9, 1864. In 1900 they were residents of Grand Rapids. By 1910 they owned a 30-acre estate on the north end of Spring Lake [18881 Fruitport Road, Section 1, Spring Lake Township]. They called their property "Idalia." The estate was in the name of Josephine M. Markoff as late as 1971. The Markoffs had two sons: Paul Berton "Bert," born on June 19, 1885 in Ohio, and Clarence Paul, who was born in Ohio on June 24, 1887. Both sons became residents of Grand Rapids. On December 1, 1915 in Grand Haven, Paul Berton married Josephine Margaret, the daughter of Richard and Margaret Powell Bolt. Josephine was born on August 5, 1893 and passed away in Grand Rapids on February 24, 1975. Clarence married Elizabeth Kooiman in Grand Haven on February 9, 1920. Elizabeth, the daughter of John and Elizabeth Leenhouts Kooiman of Grand Haven, was born on June 24, 1895, died on June 24, 1965, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Clarence passed away about January 24, 1947. Paul died in 1955 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Ida, who had died ten years earlier.

Asa [Issa] Marod [1882-1945]

Asa Marod, was born in Syria in 1882, and his wife, Mary Albert Nyima, was born in the same country in 1885. They were married in Turkey in 1905. Asa's and Mary's children were Moses Marod, born in Madison County, Indiana on June 12, 1910; Edward A. Marod, born about 1912; Sophia A. Marod, who lived from August 14, 1913 to January 1982; Nicholas A. Marod, who lived from April 1, 1915 to April 11, 1993; and Rosie A. Marod, who was born about 1917. Asa ran a grocery store at 6-8 South Beechtree in the 1920s and lived at the same address. He passed away in 1945, and Mary died in 1961. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery

Moses [Mousa] Asa Marod [1910-1977]

Moses Marod, the son of Asa and Mary Marod, was born in Madison County, Indiana on June [May] 12, 1910. Moses worked as a grainer at Eagle Ottawa in 1930 and ten years later he was employed at Bastian Blessing. He and his wife, Helen Angeline Marod, resided at 1309 Grant Street. Moses passed away in Grand Haven on July 25, 1977 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his wife, parents, and other family members. Helen lived from 1911 to 1973.

Ernest Paul Mars [Markus] [1890-1959]

Ernest Mars opened Superior Products Company at 335 Fulton Street in Grand Haven in 1928. He was born in Germany on October 1, 1890 [1889] and immigrated to Chicago in 1909. Arriving with him in Grand Haven was his wife Ella, born in Germany on December 29, 1889, and their daughter Elizabeth, who was born in their native country just prior to immigrating to the United States. Ernest and Ella were married I New York on November 11, 1909. [In the marriage registration, her name was cited as Ida Mars, apparently a clerical error.] Ernest and Ella were divorced in Grand Haven on December 30, 1930. On October 10, 1931, Ernest married Hedwig Landgraf in New York. Hedwig was born about 1894. They lived in Grand Haven until at least 1935 but in 1940 were in Chicago. With them was 16-year John Mars, born in Germany about 1924. Ella and Elizabeth also resided in Chicago. Ella passed away in Long Beach, California in June 1972. He died in Chicago on May 12, 1959.

Albert “Bert” Martin [1883-1941]

Born in the Peach Plains area in December 1883, Bert Martin died at Middle Point, Ohio, around December 24, 1941 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His wife, Kittie, had died the year before. She was born about 1882. They had two sons: Walter of Spring Lake and Donald of Nunica. Bert spent most of his life in Grand Haven and in 1908 worked at a livery stable. He moved in 1933 to become foreman of the Maumee Asphalt Company in Bloomville, Ohio. [Tribune obituary, December 24, 1941.]

Benjamin Martin [1828-1889]

The son of John C. and Ann Moffatt Martin, Benjamin was born in Pennsylvania in 1828. Before 1864 he settled on a 47½ acre farm in Section 31 of Crockery Township, right on the north bank of the Grand River. Hiram Martin of Spring Lake Township was his brother. Benjamin died in 1889 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. His wife, Arvila [Arvilla] G., was born in New York State in 1838 and died in 1912. She also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. The Martins had seven children: Emma, born in 1854; Anna, born in 1855; Hiram, born in 1858; Wallace, born in 1860; Gilbert, who was born in 1863 and drowned in 1874; F. D., born in 1866; and Eber, born on February 17, 1870. On January 23, 1920 in Coopersville, Eber married Minnie L Green. She was born in 1880.

Charles Martin [Marten] [1802-1858]

Charles Martin worked as a boatman for Rix Robinson, according to the “Descriptive List of Aliens” the fur trader completed in 1830. Charles was noted as being a “Half-Breed.” He was born on August 10, 1802 on Mackinac Island and died in St. Ignace on July 1, 1858. His baptismal record, dated June 30, 1804 in Michilimackinac, gave his father’s name as Antoine Martin and his mother as being a “Sauteux woman,” a reference to the Saulteux tribe of the Chippewa nation. Charles married Mary Ann, [last name unknown], an Indian, on July 6, 1830 in Michilimackinac. The 1850 census for Michilimackinac showed Charles working as a fisherman. With him were four children, all born in Michigan: La Rose, born about 1834; Mary Ann, born about 1836; Gabel [female], born about 1838; and Delia, born about 1845. Charles’s wife was not included in the census and may have died.

Edward Martin [1872-1961]

Born on Beaver Island of pioneer parents, Edward Martin went to work shortly after his father drowned and then he continued in night school to advance himself in his chosen profession. He came to Grand Haven in 1908 on the ship Manistique, which was renamed the Milwaukee and sank in a storm on Lake Michigan in 1929. Captain Martin was master for the Grand Trunk Ferry Lines and was serving on the Madison before his retirement in 1938. He moved to Grand Haven from Milwaukee, and on December 17, 1918 in Grand Haven, he married Sarah Beverly Wynne. The next year they purchased the house at 215 Lafayette. Sarah, who was born in January 1868, died on December 25, 1947 and Edward, who was born on October 2, 1872, died on August 8, 1962. The couple was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. At the time of Edward’s death, he was living with his daughter Alice and her husband, Gunnard Oslund, who had obtained title to the house on Lafayette. Subsequently the home was occupied by a granddaughter of the Martins, Beverly MacLeod, and Beverly’s husband, Kenneth.

George Martin [Marlin] [1849- ?]

George Martin, an African American, was born in Mississippi [Michigan] about 1849. He became a barber in Grand Haven. On February 24, 1875 in Grand Haven, he married Sarah Miller. Sarah was born in Tennessee about 1854. They had a son, William, who was born about 1877 in Michigan. In 1880 the family resided on Madison Street. Sarah was a laundry lady. They do not reappear in later censuses for Ottawa County.

Henry Martin [? - ?]

Henry Martin was captain of the steamer Empire in 1851, which normally operated between Grand Rapids and Grand Haven. On July 4 of that year Henry picked up passengers at Ottawa Point [Ferrysburg] and Mill Point [Spring Lake] and took them for a cruise up to Fruitport and back for a “subscription” of twenty-five cents or less. The money raised was used to purchase books for the school library in Grand Haven [Lillie, p. 241]. In 1853 he bought the Gilbert brothers’ warehouse on Water Street [Harbor Drive] in Grand Haven and put Dwight Cutler in charge. In 1856 Henry purchased an 80-acre fruit farm in Section 25 of Spring Lake Township. Captain Martin was born in Ohio, as was his wife.

Henry Martin, an African American, resided on a farm in Section 10 of Spring Lake Township as early as 1850. Classified that year as a laborer, Henry was born in Kentucky around 1817. Living in 1850 with Henry and his wife, Catherine [Catharine], were Isaak Smith, also a laborer, born in New Jersey about 1822; Sabrine Smith, born in Indiana about 1822; Tommas Smith, born in Illinois about 1844; Amanda Smith, born in Michigan about 1848; and Dugglas Smith, born in Michigan about October 1849. The relationship among the Smiths was not specified in the early census. The Martins were neighbors of Hezekiah Smith, as were so many of the Black residents. Catherine, listed as Mulatto in the 1860 census, was born in Pennsylvania about 1832, although her death records put her birth year at 1826. The 1860 census showed the Martins had three children living with them: Lucinda J., born in Virginia about 1854; Frederick D.F., born locally about 1857; and Jefferson B., who was born locally on June 17, 1858 and died in Ferrysburg on April 19, 1875. By 1870 Catherine was widowed and still living in Spring Lake Township with her children Lucinda, Edward [probably the child referred to as Frederick in the previous census], and Jefferson. Also part of the household in 1870 were four more children, all born locally since the last census: Mary, born about 1863; Martha, born about 1866; and Jane, born about 1868; and a son, Henry, born about 1869. In 1880 Catherine was living in Ferrysburg and sharing her home with her son Frederick, and two children that weren’t included in previous censuses: Fredrika, born about 1863, and Bertie, born about 1866. Both were born locally. Frederick was working in a sawmill at that time. Catherine died in Spring Lake Township on December 11, 1880. None of the Smiths living with the Martins in 1850 and none of Henry’s children appear in Ottawa County censuses after 1880.

Hiram Martin [1836-1920]

Born on May 17, 1836 in Canton, Ohio, Hiram was the son of John C. and Ann Moffatt Martin. Hiram took over 40 acres of the family 80-acre farm in Section 25 of Spring Lake Township. The remaining 40 acres were sold to other parties. On May 14, 1873 Hiram married Emily [Emma] Deremo in Ottawa County. Emily, a native of De Kalb, New York and the daughter of Earl and Permilia Curtis Deremo, lived from September 12, 1851 to January 5, 1935. She was listed as a musician in the 1918 Directory. The Martin home was at the corner of Boom Road and 144th Avenue. Hiram died on April 9, 1920 and was buried with his wife at Spring Lake Cemetery. Their children, all born in Spring Lake, were Elmer, who was born September 22, 1873 and died in 1892; Arthur, who lived from April 7, 1878 to 1956; Stewart, who was born on November 27, 1879 and died on April 25, 1927; Idella “Della” M., who was born on March 18, 1883, married William Merz of Crockery Township, and died September 21, 1931; Lila, who was born November 13, 1886 and died April 29, 1968; and Emma, who was born on September 12, 1889, married Arthur Llewellyn Chittenden, and died February 20, 1970. Hiram’s brother Benjamin, born in 1828 in Pennsylvania, settled in Section 31 of Crockery Township. Benjamin died in 1889.

Reuben Martin [1834-1908]

Reuben Martin owned a 30-acre farm in Section 24 of Spring Lake Township, where he settled in 1854. He was born July 24, 1834 and died on December 18, 1908. His wife, Nancy, was born on December 29, 1843 and died on May 22, 1920. Husband and wife were both born in Ohio and buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Stewart Martin [1879-1927]

Born on November 29, 1879 in Spring Lake Township, Stewart Martin was a farmer with 40 acres in Section 25. His parents were Hiram and Emily Deremo Martin. Stewart died on April 25, 1927 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Bertha Hilton Mason [1875-1945]

In 1928 Bertha and Clyde Mason paid Alvin and Carlotta Ewing $2,250 for a wooded lot in an area of second homes called the Wilderness, a few miles south of Grand Haven. In the mid-1930s Bertha built a large, two-story frame cottage on the site. The cottage has the address 12745 Lakeshore Drive. Born on February 19, 1875 in Branch County, Bertha married Clyde Shelton Mason in Coldwater on October 28, 1900. He was born on October 23, 1873 and worked as an inspector for the "Bureau of Air Craft Production," as he wrote on his WWI draft registration. He died on April 3, 1929 and was buried at Oak Grove Cemetery in Owosso, Shiawassee County. Bertha, a teacher, resumed her career in education after his death, becoming principal at several Grand Rapids schools. She retired in 1941, died in December 1945, and was buried at Rosedale Memorial Park in Tallmadge Township.

Frank Edgar Mason [1891-1958]

Frank Mason managed the Central States Gas Utilities office, located at 134 Washington, during the 1920s and 1930s. Prior to that he had worked for gas companies in Fort Madison, Iowa and Lake, Illinois. He and his wife, Ida, resided at 513 Woodlawn. On October 3, 1917 he married Ida Domke. She was born in 1893 in Indiana and died on April 11, 1987. Their children were Mary, born about 1923, and Donald, born about 1927. Frank was born in Libertyville, Illinois on April 21, 1891. Frank passed away around December 20, 1958. He and Ida were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

J. W. Mason [? - ?]

In 1873 Mason joined Edward P. Ferry and others to form the "Michigan Bunch" in Utah and enter the silver mining business.

Richard Mason [? - ?]

Richard Mason arrived in Spring Lake subsequent to the 1837 rebellion in Canada. With Jabez Barber he helped Colonel Norton complete a sawmill at Nortonville. In 1844 he and Barber built a sawmill at Mill Point, which burned down in 1859. Richard purchased 160 acres in Section 1 of Spring Lake Township on June 8, 1848, which was one of several acquisitions he made throughout Michigan. His wife Ellen died on September 30, 1846 at the age of 34 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John Mastenbroek [Mastenbrook, Mastenbrock] [1828-1907]

Born in February 1828 in The Netherlands, John Mastenbroek on December 22, 1863 enlisted as private in Company K of the 1st Michigan Engineers. He was mustered out on September 22, 1865. John, who arrived in Grand Haven Township in 1853, raised fruit. He served as township supervisor from 1876 to 1879. His wife, Minnie, was born in The Netherlands about 1824. Their daughter Katherine was born in Michigan on February 10, 1867 and died on August 2, 1887. After Minnie died, John married Louise, who was born in Illinois in December 1861. They had a daughter, Cecilia, who was born in June 1896. John died in 1907 and was buried at Merrill Township Cemetery in Newaygo County.

Abraham Mastenbrook [Mastenbrook] [1833-1904]

Born and schooled in The Netherlands, Abraham Mastenbrook arrived in Philadelphia in May 1853. After six months he moved to Eastmanville. An experienced horticulturist, he worked on a 90-acre fruit farm in Section 12, eight miles southeast. of Grand Haven. At the age of 30 he enlisted as private in Company K of the 1st Michigan Engineers and Mechanics. Although his complete service record was not located, his unit was under Sherman's command and participated in the famous March to the Sea, and in the battles of Atlanta, Chattanooga, Columbia, and Savannah. Abraham, a Democrat, was highway commissioner for the county and member of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Congregational Church at Eastmanville, and Champlain Post, No. 29 at Grand Rapids.

In 1861 Abraham married Ellie [Nell/Nellie] Vandermade. They had ten children, including Paul Mastenbrook, born in Eastmanville on October 26, 1863. Ellie was born in The Netherlands in September 1836, came to the United States in 1850, and died on February 27, 1903. Abraham lived from October 1883 to March 15, 1904. [Portrait & Biographical Record of Muskegon and Ottawa Counties, p. 573.]

The son of Paul and Caroline Moll Mastenbrook, Frank was born on May 20, 1895 in Grand Haven. On April 21, 1917 he enlisted in Company F of Grand Haven, which merged with Company L of the 126th Infantry during WWI. Frank was wounded in the Allied Oise-Aisne offensive in France on August 28, 1918. On August 26, 1922, he married Florence Isabella Kieft in Grand Haven. Florence was born about 1903. They lived at 1351 Waverly and later at 708 South Friant Street. With his brother Fred, he owned the Mastenbrook Brothers Service Station at the northwest corner of Beechtree and Waverly [495 South Beechtree]. Frank died in Grand Haven on July 8, 1983. Florence was born May 11, 1902 and died in Grand Haven on October 29, 1990. They had three sons: Arlan, Warren, and Jack. Jack, who was born in Grand Haven on February 10, 1927, married Demaris "Dee" Fuller in Muskegon in 1953 and died in Petoskey on April 27, 2014.

Fredrich "Fred" Paul Mastenbrook [1900-1989]

Fred, the son of Paul and Caroline Moll Mastenbrook was born on July 23, 1900 in Grand Haven. With his brother Fred, he owned the Mastenbrook Brothers Service Station at the northwest corner of Beechtree and Waverly [495 South Beechtree]. He married Mildred Anna Grubham in Grand Haven on December 5, 1925. She was born in Ohio on March 14, 1905, died on April 2, 1928, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On October 31, 1936, Fred married Fern Kamphuis. Fern, born on February 6, 1912, was the daughter of Gerrit and Louis Wuennecke Kamphuis of Grand Haven. Fred and Fern resided at 1909 Grant. Fern was born in February 1912. Fred died in Grand Haven on January 3, 1989 and was buried at Lake Forest. Fern passed away on March 6, 2017 and was buried near her husband. [Tribune obituary, March 11, 2017.]

Paul H. Mastenbrook I [Mastenbrook, Mastenbroek] [1863-1940]

On July 25, 1894, Paul Mastenbrook married Caroline H. Moll in Grand Haven. Paul and his wife owned a 110-acre farm in Section 12 of Grand Haven Township. He was born in Eastmanville on October 20, 1863, the son of Abraham and Ellie Vandermade Mastenbrook, and died on December 5, 1940. One of their children, Paul H. II, was born on August 15, 1893 and died in Grand Haven on September 17, 1974. Other children were Edward, who lived from May 20, 1895 to July 8, 1983; Arthur L., who was born about 1905; and Harold M., born around 1916.

Edgar Lee Masters [1868-1950]

After visiting the Grand Haven area for several years, world-famous poet Edgar Lee Masters in the summer of 1916 rented a cottage on Belle Point in Spring Lake, adjacent to the Pines Resort. Edgar, who had a law practice in Chicago, the next year bought a twelve-acre farm on Spring Lake, about a half-mile from Arbutus Banks [18067 Fruitport Road]. The farm included a fruit tree orchard. He stayed at Arbutus Banks, a summer hotel, during the updating of his farm. The poet sold his summer home in 1920. He wrote several poems about the Grand River, Grand Haven, and the lumbering industry, including "Toward the Gulf," "Sweet Clover," "In the Garden at the Dawn Hour," and "Lost Orchard." These poems were written while the author sat on a bench near the shore of Spring Lake. Another poem, "Grand River Marshes," contained this verse:

But all is quiet on the river now
As when the snow lay windless in the wood,
And the last Indian stood
And looked to find the broken bough
That told the path under the snow.
All is as silent as the spiral lights
Of purple and of gold that from the marshes rise
Like the wings of swarming dragon flies
Far up toward Eastmanville, where the enclosing skies
Quiver with heat; as silent as the flights
Of the crow like smoke from shops against the glare
Of dunes and purple air,
There where Grand Haven against the sand hill lies.

Reportedly, Masters' original manuscript of Spoon River Anthology was given to Conrad "Connie" Thornquist, the husband of Claude Hopkins's step-daughter, Helen Moon. Connie and Helen also had a summer home on Spring Lake.

On June 21, 1898 Edgar married Helen Mary Jenkins in Chicago. She was born in Chicago on August 5, 1874. They had three children. After their divorce, he married Ellen Coyne in 1926. She lived from May 18, 1899 to April 8, 1997 and was buried at Oakland Cemetery. Edgar was born in Garnett, Kansas, on August 3, 1868 and died on March 5, 1950 in Rydal, Pennsylvania. He, too, was buried at Oakland Cemetery in Petersburg, Illinois.

Stillman H. Matthews [1863-1908]

Coming to Grand Haven from Maine in 1868, Thomas A. Matthews worked as a ship's carpenter and millwright. Born about 1837 in Maine, he was employed by the Robinson & Company Shipyard in Grand Haven. His wife, Margaret, was born about 1841 in Nova Scotia. Their son, Stillman H., who was born in September 1863 in Maine, died in Grand Haven on September 9, 1908 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On April 10, 1889 in Grand Haven, Stillman married Agnes May Friant. By 1900 they were residing in Muskegon, where Stillman had been located since at least 1887, working as a traveling salesman. The daughter of George and Cynthia Pease Friant, Agnes was born in Grand Haven, lived from April 1860 to August 1925, and was buried with Stillman.

Wallace Bruce Matthews I [1904-2000]

Born on May 29, 1904, Bruce Matthews was raised on the family farm near Hastings, Barry County. Over the period of his long and productive life, Bruce designed and renovated more than 100 golf courses. He earned both national and state recognition for developing challenging but playable courses. He was quoted as saying, "The easiest thing to do is build a tough hole. To build a course people enjoy is another story." Bruce graduated in 1925 from Michigan Agricultural College [MSU] with a degree in landscape architecture. He started his golf career in Florida, but was unable to find a suitable, permanent position. He returned to Michigan and was hired in 1930 as grounds superintendent at the Green Ridge Country Club. He remained at the Club in various management positions for the duration of the depression, relying partly on income from slot machines [legal at that time] to balance the books.

After leaving Green Ridge, Bruce became a full-time golf course architect. Among his other course designs in West Michigan were Kaufman Golf Club in Grand Rapids and West Ottawa Golf Club near Holland. W. Bruce Matthews & Son was formed in 1961 and remained operative until 1979. That year Bruce and his son Jerry formed Matthews & Associates P.C. The firm had remodeled and designed more than 200 courses by 1993, the same year Bruce was inducted into the Michigan Golf Hall of Fame.

Bruce purchased from Gerald Arkema of Grand Haven a 235-acre site in Grand Haven Township. Using 175 of the available acres, in 1964 he opened the 18-hole Grand Haven Golf Club. He also platted and sold building sites along Timberdunes Drive, which divides the golf course. His son, Wally, took over the management two years later and continued in that capacity until the family sold the course to John Rooney of Stillwater, Oklahoma in 1998. Among his other activities, Bruce established the Turfgrass Foundation at Michigan State University, and he helped launch a golf shop management curriculum at Ferris State.

Bruce married Doris Sprague of Woodland, Barry County in 1928. In addition to Jerry, Bruce and Doris, had another son, Wallace “Wally” Bruce II, who was born on March 23, 1929, a daughter, Kathryn, who married Raymond McDermid, a Canadian; Marilyn, who married Charles Magee; and Gerald, who married Gail Kidnee. Doris was born on April 2, 1903 and died on March 15, 1998. Bruce died on September 28, 2000 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. [Personal correspondence with W. Bruce Matthews III.]

Wallace Bruce Matthews II [1929-2010]

The son of Wallace and Doris Matthews, Wally was born on March 23, 1929 and raised in Comstock Park, Kent County. Like his father, Wally became interested in golfing and golf courses. After earning a bachelor degree in restaurant management, he worked in the banking industry, in various restaurants, and as manager of Spring Meadows Country Club in Linden, Genesee County. He left that position in 1965 to become manager for the newly opened Grand Haven Golf Club in Lincoln Street in Grand Haven Township. The older Matthews designed and eventually purchased the Grand Haven Golf Club.

Wally married Carolyn L. Clark on March 29, 1951 in Comstock Park. Carolyn, the daughter of L. Earl and Marguerite M. Gilliland Clark, was born in Flint on March 16, 1930. A registered nurse, Carolyn died on July 10, 2001 in Grand Haven. Wally and Carolyn had one son, Wallace Bruce Matthews III, and two daughters, Susan Matthews and Shelley, who married Dennis Westrate. After Carolyn’s death, Wally married Mary Ann Wesley of Eaton Rapids, Eaton County. The couple settled in Eaton Rapids in 2005. Wally volunteered annually to prepare chicken dinners for the enlisted men during Coast Guard Festival. He was a member of the Grand Haven American Legion Post. Wally passed away in Grand Haven on April 29, 2010. [Chronicle obituary, May 29, 2010.]

Born on December 13, 1942 in Black River Falls, Wisconsin, Betty was the daughter of Audley and Virginia Grutsch Mattson. She graduated from Grand Valley State University in 1976 with a Bachelor Degree in Environmental Science. She went on to earn a Master of Education Degree from the same institution in 1990. Betty, who was deeply concerned about the environment and animal rights, was a frequent contributor to the Grand Haven Tribune’s opinion page. She passed away in Grand Haven on October 11, 2004. She was buried at Oak Grove Cemetery in Tomah, Wisconsin. [Tribune obituary, October 12, 2004.]

Charles Sebastian Maurer I [1852-1928]

Charles Maurer started Maurer Glove Company in Grand Haven in December 1907. The factory was located at 1003 Fulton in Grand Haven, and he and his wife, Mary, resided at 532 Washington. They had a son, Charles Maurer II, who was born on September 14, 1890. Charles I was born in Reading, Pennsylvania on May 24, 1852 and died in Grand Haven on December 26, 1928. Mary passed away about November 10, 1945. She and Charles were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Charles Sebastian Maurer II [1890-1982]

Charles Maurer II, born in Grand Haven on September 14, 1890, was associated with his father’s glove business, Maurer Glove Company. His parents were Charles and Mary Maurer I. On September 3, 1919, Charles II married Louise Harrison, who went by the name “Smiley.” They lived at 707 Columbus. By the mid-1950s Charles II lived on Emmet Street. Charles and Smiley had a son, Charles Maurer III, who lived from January 8, 1928 to May 15, 1998. Charles II died on January 29, 1982. Smiley lived from October 16, 1896 to August 21, 1985. She and her husband were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Orren [Orin] Gregg Maxfield [1843-1929]

On June 11, 1870, Orren Maxfield married Elzora Rudd of Eastmanville. For more than 30 years, the couple operated hotels in Grand Rapids, Eastmanville, and Coopersville, where they were living in 1880 and remained for the remainder of their lives. Their lodging establishment in Coopersville was called Maxfield House. Orren was born in Clinton County, New York on June 3, 1843. Between August 27, 1862 and June 20, 1865, he served as private with Company B of the 5th Michigan Calvary. The Maxfields had three children, all born locally: Warren Albert Maxfield, who was born on November 10, 1871 and died on July 31, 1917 in Hudsonville; Hattie E. Maxfield, who was born on October 28, 1873; and Gertie C. Maxfield, who was born about 1877, married Frank Comstock on February 15, 1900, divorced him on August 19, 1908, and passed away in 1967. Elzora lived from March 30, 1849 to May 1, 1933. They were buried at Maplewood Cemetery in Lamont. [Coopersville Observer article “Gregg Maxfield Civil War Vet Dies Saturday,” January 25, 1929.]

Frederick H. May [1826-1908]

Fred May was manager of the Grand Haven Railway Company from its inception in 1878 into the 1880s. He resided in Allegan with his wife, Rachel M. He was born on March 22, 1826 on the Isle of Man, England, and she was born in Illinois around 1840. Fred immigrated to the United States in 1841. He passed away in New Jersey on May 19, 1908. They had four children.

Duncan McAlpine [1868-1914]

Born in Dundee, Scotland on February 4, 1868, Duncan McAlpine immigrated to Toronto, Canada with his parents the next year. He was schooled there and received his medical education at the University of Toronto and the University of Edinburgh in Dublin. Duncan arrived in Grand Haven about 12 years after beginning his practice in Lake City, Missaukee County in 1894. He became one of the most expert physicians and surgeons in the state. Many thought he should relocate to a larger city, but he replied, “Grand Haven suits me.”

Duncan married Grace Bahr of Chicago on September 1, 1899. Grace was born in Indiana in July 1875. They resided at 109 South Fifth and his office was on the second floor of 222 Washington. Duncan was a member of the Masons, Elks, Modern Woodman, Maccabees of the World, German Arbeiter Verein, Eagles, Ben Hur, Foresters, and Modern Samaritans. He passed away on January 3, 1914 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Donald “Sandy” McBeath [1938-1994]

Born on March 3, 1938, Sandy McBeath died on April 25, 1994. An employee of the Michigan Parks Service, he also was active with the Tri-Cities Historical Museum and served as its president. His wife Mary Jane also was a volunteer with the museum.

George W. McBride [1845-1929]

Born in Coshocton, Coshocton County, Ohio in September 1845, George McBride spent his boyhood in Deerfield, Lenawee County. It was there on March 4, 1862 that he enlisted as private in Company H of the 15th Michigan Infantry, which was involved in the battles of Shiloh and Corinth and Sherman’s March to the Sea. George was promoted to first sergeant and then second lieutenant on November 1, 1864. He was discharged on August 14, 1865. After the war he resumed his education to become a lawyer.

In 1873 George married Martha “Mattie” Eunice [Ella] Hendry of Angola, Indiana, where she was born on February 22, 1850. She was the daughter of Alonson W. and Louisa Gale Hendry. In the same year as his marriage, George was admitted to the bar. The couple came to Grand Haven where George opened a law office, working first with Healy C. Akeley and later with Peter Danhof. George was mayor of Grand Haven in 1869, and he was collector of customs from 1889 to 1893. In 1876 he was elected prosecuting attorney and held that position for ten years, during which time he cleaned up some of the worst criminal gangs in Michigan. In 1879 George was made first lieutenant of Company F, which later met at the Armory on Second Street, and in 1888 he was on the first Board of Trustees of Akeley Institute, which opened that year.

George came to realize that the lumbering interests in the area were dying, so he, Dudley O. Watson, and other community leaders used their own financial resources to travel around the region with the goal of attracting manufacturing concerns to Grand Haven and to boost the development of local industry. They called the organization the Grand Haven Board of Trade, and the first company they brought here was the Story & Clark Piano Company, which soon employed over 600 men and became a major industry in Grand Haven. Challenge Machinery Company and Fountain Specialty [Bastian Blessing] followed and made Grand Haven a thriving industrial city. In 1888 the McBrides built one of the earliest cottages in Highland Park [52 Beechwood Lane], and from 1896 to 1906 they managed Highland Park Hotel. After becoming blind, George continued to participate in local activities and was one of the first in the area to own a radio. The McBrides resided at 332 Franklin Street, next to the Sherman Boyce home at 326. George had moved the large, two-story frame home from 107 South Fourth. He died early in 1929 and was buried at Circle Hill Cemetery in Angola, Indiana. On March 25 that year his wife Martha applied for a widow's Civil War pension.

Thomas McBride married Mary Fallen. For a time, they resided in Grand Haven with their children: Margaret, born about 1875; James Cairn, born in Grand Haven on March 8, 1876 [1875]; Bessie, born about 1880; Mary, born in Grand Haven on January 25, 1884; and Elizabeth, who was born in Muskegon on November 18, 1889 and died the same day. Thomas, a sailor, was born in Minnesota about 1856, and Mary was born about the same year in Michigan. Thomas and Mary had moved from Grand Haven by 1900. Later in life, their son James changed his name to J. C. "Bud" Mars and became a stunt pilot. In 1910 he was the first man to pilot a plane over Hawaii, and the next year he gave Hirohito, the future emperor of Japan, his first airplane ride. Bud died on July 25, 1944 in Los Angeles. [Tribune article, "GH native gives Hirohito first plane ride," October 29, 2014.]

George Eldridge McCabe [1878-1952]

George McCabe, a printer, lived at 15 North Ferry in Grand Haven in 1908. He was still a resident of Grand Haven when he sailed from Liverpool to New York in 1918. He was born on January 19, 1878 in Iowa [Minnesota]. He married Echo [Ecks/Ethel] in Floyd, Iowa on March 11, 1899. She was born in Iowa on July 15, 1881. They had three children, the first two born in Iowa: Clarence, born in May 1900, Quelton, born in 1903, and Echo, who was born in Michigan in 1912 and died in 1961. In 1900 the couple was living in Charles City, Iowa, where George worked in the printing business. In 1910 George was still a printer living in Grand Haven at 1312 Columbus with his wife and two sons. By 1920 the family was living in Chicago. At that time George was in advertising. In 1930 he, Echo the wife, and Echo the daughter were in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; he was still in advertising. George passed away in Napa, California on May 26, 1952. Echo the mother died on June 4, 1963 in Alameda, California.

Almon Watson McCall [1905-1970]

Born January 29, 1905 in Ithaca, Gratiot County, Almon McCall came to Grand Haven after his father, Ernest James McCall, in 1927 purchased the Grand Haven Tribune with a partner, Felix M. Church. The younger McCall graduated from school in Mt. Pleasant and went to Central Michigan University. He got his journalism degree from Northwestern University. On November 28, 1944 in Crystal Falls, he married Jean Trahair. They had two daughters. They lived at 17735 Oakwood Drive in Spring Lake. The sisters were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. In 1940 the family resided at 507 South Seventh Street. [Tribune obituary, August 1, 1984.]

Thomas McCambridge I [1855-1931]

Thomas McCambridge was born in December 21, 1855 in Chicago, Illinois and came to Grand Haven as a boy. In 1880 he was living with his parents on Madison Street and working as a sailor. His first work experience was on board early lumber carriers, and his first command was the Charles A. Street. He served as mate and master on many of the steamers that sailed Lake Michigan, but his longest command was the steamer Pentland, an ore carrier. He was the first captain of the steamer, which was launched from the Johnston Bros. Shipyard in the fall of 1893. Many Grand Haven youths began life afloat under his tutelage. In 1880 Thomas’s widowed mother, Catherine Newsome McCambridge, was living with the family in Grand Haven. Catherine was born in Ireland in 1826 and died on June 7, 1884. Thomas’s sister, Catherine, married Joseph W. Kibbler of Grand Haven. Born on April 17, 1868, Catherine died under the name McCambridge on August 29, 1927. He also had a brother, William, who was born in Illinois on January 4, 1864 and died on December 7, 1933.

Thomas married Philomena Lachance on January 8, 1890 in Muskegon. She sometimes was referred to as Mary. Their children were Joseph Stewart McCambridge, who lived from June 12, 1891 to April 24, 1920, Thomas Alphonse McCambridge, who was born on September 9, 1899 and passed away on September 30, 1946, and James Frances McCambridge, who was born on December 12, 1901 and like his father was a sailor; he died on June 17, 1947. Like his father, James was a sailor. Philimine was born in Canada July 17, 1866 and died on June 28, 1906.

On December 1, 1906 in Grand Haven, Thomas married Mathilde “Mamie” Elizabeth Kamhout, the daughter of Marinus and Mary Jane Tourville Kamhout. Mamie was born in Grand Haven on February 11, 1886. The McCambridges lived at 306 South Second Street in Grand Haven. Thomas died on May 31, 1931 Mamie died on February 9, 1863. Thomas and Mary and their sons were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as were his mother Catherine, Philimina, Mamie, William, his sister Catherine, and Thomas’s father, Robert McCambridge, who lived from May 15, 1821 to September 22, 1879.

Charles J. McCarthy [1857-1923]

Patrick McCarthy was born in Henningford, Canada on March 12, 1850. He maintained a 349-acre farm in Sections 33 and 34 of Grand Haven Township, where he and his father Timothy McCarthy settled in 1864, and they owned 49 acres in Section 4 of Olive Township. Some of their land included an Indian burial site along the Lake Michigan shoreline, which became the site of a Boy Scout camp and later part of Kirk Park. Patrick was born in Canada on March 12, 1850 [1844/1830]. He married Bella Gordon, who was born in Scotland about 1870 and immigrated to the United States in 1892. Their one child, Boyd, who was born in Michigan about 1907. In 1900 Patrick and his father, Timothy McCarthy [McCarty] were living in the same house. Timothy was born in Ireland in January 1812. Bella's father, Boyd Gordon, was born in Scotland about 1840. He was residing with his daughter and son-in-law in 1930. He died in Grand Haven on May 25 that year and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Paul McCaull [McCaul, McColl] [1840-1914]

Born in Dunbarton, Scotland on September 20, 1840, Paul McColl came to Grand Haven in 1867 to work for the Robertson & Company Shipyard. He was a woodworker and ironworker. A single man, he remained in the area until at least 1880, working as a ship's carpenter. He passed away in Cleveland, Montana on April 10, 1914.

William McCausland [? - ?]

In 1847 William McCausland replaced Nehemiah Merritt as lighthouse keeper when the beacon was at the foot of the bluff near 900 Harbor. Nehemiah was the first person to be appointed to the position. William left the post in 1849 when George Torrey took over.

Asa [Asahel, Ashel, Assa] Robert McCay [McCoy] [1862-1943]

A native of Canada, Asa McCay was born on August 23, 1862 and moved to Grand Haven in 1887. He owned a harness shop on Washington Street in Grand Haven and specialized in manufacturing trunks and valises, but he also advertised rubber stamps, gasoline lamps, and New Home sewing machines. On August 14, 1894, he married Bessie Christmas in Grand Haven. The daughter of Charles and Caroline Searle Christmas of Grand Haven, Bessie was born on March 30, 1874. Asa continued to operate his harness shop as late as 1900. He and Bessie moved to Detroit before 1910. Asa at that time worked in an automobile factory as trimmer. He and Bessie were divorced on March 25, 1911. In 1920 Asa was living in Detroit with his second wife, Jennie, who was born in Canada about 1870 and immigrated to the United States when she was 25. Asa continued to work as a trimmer in an automobile factory. He died in Detroit on February 6, 1943. Fanny, the name of his wife when he died, lived from 1882 to 1947. Both were buried at Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia.

Robert McCay [McKay] [1842-1915]

Robert and Jeanette [Janet] McCay moved from Ontario, Canada to Spring Lake in 1866, the year they were married. Robert was employed by his friend and early Grand Haven settler, Zenas Winsor. Both Robert and Janet were born in Canada in 1842. In 1880 they were still located in Spring Lake, where Robert worked as a grocer. The family moved to Stanton, Montcalm County in 1885, after the family home burned down. He and Jeanette had at least three children: Zenas Winsor McCay, who was born in Canada [Spring Lake] on September 26, 1871 [1868/1869]; Arthur McCay, born in Michigan about 1870; and Mae [Mary] C. McCay, who was born in Ottawa County in 1876 and passed away in 1910. Zenas became a cartoonist known as Winsor McCay. Robert died in 1914. Jeanette lived from March 14, 1837 to November 22, 1927. Both were buried at Vinewood Cemetery in Edmore, Montcalm County.

Zenas Winsor McCay [McKay] [1869-1934]

Born on September 26, 1869 in Spring Lake [Canada], Winsor McCay was named after Zenas [Zenos] G. Winsor, an early Grand Haven settler who owned a storage, forwarding, and commission business. Winsor's parents, Robert and Janet [Jeanette] Murray McKay were from Ontario, Canada, and in 1866 settled in Spring Lake, where Robert was employed by Zenas. In 1883 the young man enrolled in Cleary School of Penmanship in Ypsilanti with other Spring Lake men, including John Shoemaker. The curriculum included drawing. Winsor eventually dropped the name Zenas and went solely by his middle name, Winsor. He also changed the “k” in his last name to “c.” He was best known for his comic strips, especially “Little Nemo in Slumberland,” which first appeared once a week in the New York Herald in 1905, ran for the next nine years, was syndicated throughout the U.S. and Europe, and then had a short revival between 1924 and 1926. He was considered one of the finest draftsmen who ever worked in comic art. The strip was the first to be honored with an exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. He also was a circus poster painter, billboard painter, vaudeville performer, and editorial cartoonist. One of his finest achievements, created in 1913, was “Gertie the Dinosaur,” which was the first animated cartoon to give life to its subject. He took his creation to the vaudeville stage and appeared with W. C. Fields and Houdini.

While living and working in Cincinnati, Ohio, Winsor married Maude Lenore [Leonore] Dufour in Campbell County, Kentucky on August 26, 1891. Maude was born in Litchfield, Ohio about 1873. They had at least two children, both born in Ohio: Robert W., born in June 1896 and Marion E., born in August 1897. Winsor died on July 26, 1934 and was buried at the Cemetery of the Evergreens in Brooklyn, New York. Maude passed away on September 27, 1949 and also was buried at Evergreens.

He was born in Scotland on March 7, 1900, arrived in the United States in 1912, and died in Zephyr Hills, Florida on July 14, 1981. On July [June] 20, 1921 in Kent County, he married Annabelle Dunn. She was born in Michigan about 1900. Their son, Robert II, lived from 1922 to 2012. In the late 1920s the family resided above their business at 115 Washington and later at 107½ South First Street. Robert and Annabelle were divorced in Kent County on August 20, 1937. On June 21, 1941 in Rockford, he married Ella H. Kuehs. She lived from 1902 to 1997.

Jay McCluer [McClure] [1832-1908]

Born in Cattaraugus County, New York on February 19, 1832, Jay McCluer came to Grand Haven in 1836 with his parents, lived in Grand Rapids for many years, and returned to Grand Haven in 1872. His father was Orange McClure, a native of Vermont, who died in Marne, Ottawa County, on December 26, 1868 at the age of 80. Jay married Nancy Ludlow Marsh on May 16, 1852, in Cattaraugus County. The daughter of William and Harriet Marsh, she was born in Pennsylvania on February 16, 1833. Nancy died on February 19, 1885 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. On September 17 of the same year, Jay married Genevieve Perkins, who was born in Canandaigua, New York, in March 1831.

On August 22, 1862 Jay enlisted as private in Company H of the 6th Michigan Cavalry as a substitute for Hunter Savidge, but was discharged for disability on April 6 the next year. In return for his service, McCluer received from Savidge a house and five lots of lake front property on Barber Street, two of the lots west of Division Street and three east of Division. The house originally had been the Savidge home but was moved to 305 Barber. The McCluers lived in it until Jay built a new home for his family at 301 Barber. That home was occupied by one of his descendants, Betty Moore, until her death in the fall of 1997. Jay also owned the former W. H. Bell & Company mill at this site.

Jay and Nancy had four children: Melvin, who was born around 1852 in New York State; Flora A., who was born in New York on April 4, 1856, married George McMaster in 1876, and lived in Spring Lake; Marshall H., born on April 28, 1859; and Mary M., who was born about 1862. Another daughter, also named Flora, died as an infant in 1856 in Spring Lake.

Jay built the steam yacht Maude Lillie, and in 1881 he constructed another one to operate on the Grand River. He and his sons built and operated the Lizzie Walsh, a passenger boat which serviced cottages and resorts on Spring Lake. Jay had a grist mill on the northeast corner of Barber and Division Streets. McCluer and Nancy lived at 301 Barber Street in Spring Lake and owned several other parcels in the Village. Jay died in Spring Lake in 1908.

Marshall Henry McCluer [1859-1928]

Born in Ada on April 28, 1859, Marshall arrived in Spring Lake with his parents, Jay and Nancy McCluer, in 1872. Both a ship captain and an engineer, he was employed for many years by area sawmills and on local boats. For a number of years, he ran the Lizzie Walsh, a small steamer he built, which sailed between Spring Lake, Grand Haven, and Fruitport. The steamer ceased operation when the interurban became popular. In 1891 he built a "horseless carriage." A 1912 advertisement read, "M. H. McCluer is now to be found at Klaus Katt's shop Ferrysburg prepared to do all kinds of automobile and gasoline boat repairs and rebuilds."

Marshall's first wife was Emma [Anna] Finch, whom he married in Spring Lake on November 12, 1881. Emma was born in Spring Lake in 1865 and died there on March 19, 1887. The next year, on December 3, Marshall married Catherine "Kitty" Mundell [Mundelle] in Spring Lake. She was born on January 18, 1864 in Gault, Canada and lived until February 8, 1936. Marshall and Emma had two daughters. One was Essie, who was born in November 1882 and married Kenneth Perry. The second daughter, Lilly, who was born on December 1, 1884 and married William Pellegrom of Grand Haven. Marshall and Kitty had one daughter, Jessamine, who was born in June 1896 and married William Weavers of Spring Lake. Marshall and Kitty lived at 305 Barber Street. Marshall died on July 1, 1928 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, as were Kitty and other family members.

Orange McCluer [McClure] [1836-1919]

Orange McCluer was born on February 25, 1836 in New York. On May 13, 1861 he went to Grand Rapids to enlist as private in Company K of the 3rd Michigan Infantry and Company F of the 5th Michigan Infantry. He was mustered out on July 5, 1865. Orange, who was a wagon maker, died on May 8, 1919 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. His wife, Delia A., was born around 1840 in Vermont. They had a daughter, Lucy, who was born about 1868. The three McCluers were living in Greenville, Montcalm County in 1880.

Frank [Francis] G. McCoe [McCooey, McCarey] [1830-1895]

Frank McCoe was listed in the 1860 and 1880 Federal Censuses and in an 1873 business directory as a blacksmith residing in Ferrysburg. Later he had a boat-building business in Ferrysburg. Frank was born in New York around 1830 and died on May 21, 1895. His wife Harriet was born in Vermont on July 4, 1835. He and Harriet had at least one child, a daughter Jessie [Harriet], who on September 4, 1886 married Charles Edgar Price in Grand Haven. Charles, 40 years old, was from Georgetown, District of Columbia. Jessie was born in Albany, New York about 1847. She previously had been married to a Mr Woodley. In 1910 Harriet [Jessie] was listed as 79 years old, widowed, and living in Spring Lake in 1910. She died on May 31, 1919 in Spring Lake.

Peter McCourt [1847-1883]

Born in Scotland in March 1847, Peter McCourt came to Grand Haven from Appleton, Wisconsin and worked for the Stearns Manufacturing Company. He was made foreman in 1881. McCourt was the inventor of a noiseless pulley, and he owned a patent on it with George L. Stearns, owner of the company bearing his name. Peter evidently returned to Appleton, where he died on May 14, 1883.

Isaac McCoy [1784-1846]

Reverend Isaac McCoy was credited with establishing the first government mission for the Ottawa Indians on the Grand River in 1826, near the site soon to be known as Grand Rapids and close to trading posts run by Rix Robinson and Louis Campau. Noonday was chief of the Ottawas at the time the mission was started. In December 1822 Isaac had opened the Carey Mission, serving Potawatomis along the St. Joseph River near Niles, and prior to that, in 1820, he started a mission in Fort Wayne. The Treaty of Chicago in 1821 provided the Indians with a section of land on Grand River in the future Grand Rapids and another section on the St. Joseph River for an Indian mission. The treaty also provided government payment of $1,000 per year for 15 years to finance the missions. The school on the St. Joseph, called the Carey Mission, ultimately was located a mile from the St. Joseph River and near the town of Niles. After Rev. McCoy retired, Leonard Slater ran the Grand Rapids Mission. As enrollment in the Carey Mission declined, Isaac came to favor removal of the Potawatomis to Kansas.

Isaac was born in Fayette County, Pennsylvania on June 13, 1784, married Christiana Polls in 1803, and was ordained a Baptist minister in 1810. Christiana lived from November 12, 1787 to August 12, 1850. She died in Kansas City, Missouri. Isaac's first assignment was with the Miami Indians in Indiana, and for the next 20 years he lived with various tribes. He died in Louisville, Kentucky on June 21, 1846.

Ingrid McCracken wrote the text for a 1976 book titled The Beginnings of Grand Haven, Robert Deephouse added 34 full-page line drawings and numerous thumbnail sketches, and Burton Brooks edited the book. She was a teacher at Central School. On July 30, 1938, Ingrid married Robert McCracken in Detroit. Robert was a laboratory technician at Construction Aggregates in Ferrysburg. They resided at 519 Sheldon Road. Born on October 16, 1913 in Muskegon, Ingrid died on April 12, 1999 in Grand Haven. Robert, the son of John and Anna Bolhuis McCracken, lived from November 22, 1912 to March 5, 2002. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They had one daughter, Karen Lynn McCracken, who lived from 1939 to 2016.

Ruby was born on February 24, 1907 and passed away on October 17, 1993 in Grand Haven. She lived at 520 Taylor Street. Her sister, Elizabeth M. McCracken, resided at the same address. Elizabeth lived from December 22, 1908 to January 10, 1992. Both Ruby and Elizabeth graduated from Grand Haven High School.

Born on November 14, 1892 in Hesperia, Oceana/Newaygo County, Fred McCrea attended Muskegon schools and became a reporter for the Muskegon Chronicle. After attending normal school, he coached football at Mount Vernon High School in Ohio. In 1921 William Loutit and Nat Robbins encouraged him to come to Grand Haven as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and three years later Fred started working in real estate. He was instrumental in transforming East Highland Park from sand dunes into a wooded residential area that took 25 years to become a reality. Fred developed the first subdivision on Grand Avenue in the late 1920s. One of the streets in that area was named Gladys, in honor of his wife. Similarly, in the same area, Doris Avenue was named for a daughter, Jane Court for another daughter, and McCrea Court for the family. Doris, who was born in 1918, married George H. Schember. Jane married Paul Parks of Grand Haven. It was Fred's idea to build a movie theater at 28 Washington, but financial difficulties during the Great Depression caused him to sell his interest to the Harry L. Sanford Syndicate of Grand Rapids. In the 1920s Fred's real estate office was located at 100 Washington. At that time, he and Gladys resided in Spring Lake. By 1932 Fred's home and office were located at 322 Grand Avenue. He continued in the real estate business up to his death, which occurred following surgery at Grand Haven Municipal Hospital on April 6, 1959. Gladys was born on November 23, 1892 and died in Grand Haven on July 31, 1983. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Lloyd Edward McLaughlin [1909-1997]

Lloyd McLaughlin came to the Grand Haven area in 1938 to teach English at the high school. He became a teacher at Ferry School in Grand Haven, and in 1943 succeeded Laura Wuennecke as principal there. He remained a teaching principal for nine years, and later was named fulltime principal, giving him a total of 22 years in that position at Ferry. Lloyd was instrumental in starting the library at Ferry School. When two elementary schools were opened on Pennoyer and Park Streets, “Jack and Jill: in 1953 and “Dick and Jane” in 1957, Lloyd was put in charge of them also. He served on the Loutit District Library Board of Directors for 15 years and chaired the board for part of that time. He also was on the Salvation Army Advisory Board, and he was a 45-year member of Kiwanis Club, serving as president of the Grand Haven Chapter and as lieutenant governor of Michigan’s District 11.

He was born in Illinois on October 30, 1909 and died in Grand Haven on November 27, 1997. He married Marjorie Elizabeth Smith. Marjorie, a native of Michigan, was born on June 16, 1912 and passed away in a Fruitport nursing home on August 3, 2000. They had three children: Janet, born in 1939, Sharon in 1942, and Larry in 1944. In 1940 the family resided on Columbus Street and later at 921 Sheldon Road. Lloyd and Marjorie attended United Methodist Church of the Dunes

William Goodsell McLaughlin [1810-1871]

Born in Ireland about 1810, William McLaughlin appeared in the Federal Census of 1860 as a resident of Ottawa, the name of the area before Grand Haven became a city. He worked as a currier, someone who works with leather. With him were his wife Mary, also a native of Ireland, where she was born about 1802, and three daughters and a son: Ellen McLaughlin, born about 1839; Isabelle [Isabella] McLaughlin, born in New Brunswick, Canada [Maine] in 1841; Mary McLaughlin, born about 1843; and Franklin McLaughlin, born about 1845. The three sisters were born in Massachusetts, but their brother was born in Maine, where the family was living in 1850. Ellen was a dressmaker while Mary was a teacher. Mary the mother died in Grand Haven on July 3, 1864 and was buried at St. Andrews Catholic Church Cemetery in Grand Rapids. William died on September 18, 1871 and also was buried at St. Andrews. Isabella passed away on November 13, 1867 in Chicago.

Hugh McLean [McClean] [1826-1882]

A native of Glasgow, Scotland, where he was born in October 1826, Hugh McLean immigrated to Livingston County, New York, in 1829. In 1846 he moved to Saginaw, and six years later he went to Lake Superior, where he married Harriet Kocher [Coacher] in 1854. Harriet, the daughter of Thomas and Anna Butler Kocher, was born in Pennsylvania on August 15, 1830. The couple came to Spring Lake in 1860 and settled on 63 acres in Section 23, bordering Lloyd’s Bayou. Hugh went into the lumber and fruit-growing businesses. Mordecai [Mortimer,] one of their children, was born in Pennsylvania [Spring Lake] on June 30, 1854. Other children, all born in Spring Lake, were Norman William who was born in Michigan on September 11, 1859 and died in Spring Lake on January 14, 1903 [1902]; Robert Fulton, who was born on April 6, 1861 and died in Spring Lake on November 15, 1929; and Arcola, who was born July 28, 1866, married Will Rowan [1859-1932], died in Muskegon Heights in 1951, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Hugh died in Grand Rapids on July 4, 1882 and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Harriet passed away on February 2, 1917 and was buried near her husband.

Mordecai [Mortimer] “Mort” M. McLean [McClean] [1854-1929]

Mort, the son of Hugh and Harriet Kocher McLean, was born June 30, 1854 in Pennsylvania. He owned and operated a harness shop and general store west of Buckley’s Hardware Store, which was located at 214 West. Savidge Street in Spring Lake. Mort expanded his business by adding dry goods and furnishings. On December 27, 1875 he married Hulda McMaster in Spring Lake. She helped run the store. Hulda was born in Canada about 1850 and died on May 19, 1893 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Mort then married Lucretia Brongeresma in Spring Lake on June 29, 1905. Mort died on January 9, 1929. He and Hulda had at least two daughters, both born in Michigan: Versa, who was born around 1878, and Armila, born on October 30, 1884. Lucretia, the daughter of Cornelius and Jantje Visser Brongersma, lived from May 26, 1869 and died on July 30, 1951. A native of Spring Lake, Lucretia was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Neil [Neal] McMillan [McMillin] [1845-1916]

Born in Ireland in August 1845, Neil McMillan came to Grand Haven from Picton, Ontario as an employee of the Grand Trunk Railway. In 1870 he was working as railroad brakeman in Cleveland, Ohio. Ten years later he was dock foreman in Grand Haven, where he resided with his family. His wife, Mary Chambers Johnston, also a native of Ireland, lived from October 13, 1847 to August 6, 1903 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Three years later, on May 2, Neil married Elizabeth Gridley in Chicago. She was born about 1858 in Massachusetts. Neil served as a member of the Grand Haven School Board and as its president, but in 1907 resigned before the end of his term. About 1900, in partnership with Herman Nyland, he purchased a confectionery from David Wright and added ice cream products. One of the McMillans' daughters, Mate [Martha], was made proprietor of the new McMillan & Nyland Ice Cream Parlor at 101 Washington Street. Neil and his family resided at 215 Howard as early as 1880 and as late as 1910, when he was working as a freight handler for the railroad. A daughter, Elizabeth J., was born in March 1868 in Canada and married Herman Nyland of Grand Haven; another daughter, Mary M. "Mate," was born in Michigan on March 11, 1873 and married James W. Oakes, well-known Grand Haven Realtor; a son, William Neal, was born in Michigan in 1875, married Gertrude M. Squier of Grand Haven, moved to Glendale, California, and died in 1946; a third daughter, Fannie Louise, was born in Michigan in June 1877 and married John Leonard De Glopper, also of Grand Haven. Neil died about August 22, 1916. [Tribune obituaries, August 7 and August 8, 1903.]

Eleanor Griffin McNett [1850-1935] and De Forrest McNett [1826-1916]

Eleanor was born in Grand Haven on September 8, 1850, the daughter of Henry and Rachel Eastman Griffin. She lived in the family home at 301 Franklin Street, which was erected in 1844, and attended the first school in Grand Haven, when Mary A. White was the teacher. She graduated from Elmira College in New York and taught in Grand Rapids and Milwaukee schools, and at a school for Native Americans in Arizona. Eleanor was known as a good speaker and some of her articles were published in magazines.

Eleanor married De Forrest McNett on February 24, 1892 in Grand Haven. The son of Samuel F. and Sally Hutchins McNett [McNitt] and the brother of Dr. Jacob McNett, one of the earliest physicians in Grand Haven, De Forrest was from Sodus Point, New York. His father Samuel was a native of Massachusetts and served as captain in the war of 1812. De Forrest, first a carpenter and later a boat builder, was born in 1826 and died in 1916. His first wife, Jane Wood McNett, died in 1882 at the age of 54. Eleanor and De Forrest resided in Sodus until at least 1910. They moved to Grand Haven before 1915, the year Eleanor started her two-year term as president of the Grand Haven Woman's Club. She was a charter member of the Grand Haven Women's Club, which was founded in 1891.

Eleanor was the first Executive secretary of the Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross. She served in that capacity from 1917 until she suffered a nervous breakdown about 1933 and retired. She was completely blind the last year of her life. Some of her scrapbooks were donated to the archives of Loutit District Library. In her will, she stipulated that her house at 315 Franklin Street and four adjoining lots were to be used for a museum. The legacy room, as specified in the will, was to contain antiques and pictures from the Griffin Family. The building was occupied by the Girl Scouts in 1941 and named the Griffin-McNett House. Eleanor died on December 3, 1935 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. [Tribune obituary, December 3, 1935.]

Born in Jefferson County, New York on February 25 [January 20], 1816, Jacob was the son of Samuel F. and Sally Hutchins McNett [McNitt]. Samuel was a native of Massachusetts and served as captain in the war of 1812. Jacob was the oldest of ten children. He graduated in 1845 from Geneva College, studied medicine with two prominent New York physicians, and began to practice in New York. He arrived at Nortonville on the steamer Pontiac in 1857 and continued on to Grand Haven that December. Jacob was invited to replace Dr. Stephen Munroe, who needed to temporarily leave Grand Haven. Jacob served the area from Muskegon to Port Sheldon and east to Nunica at a time when there were no railroads, no bridges, and poor roads or no roads at all. On January 1, 1863 he enlisted as second assistant surgeon in the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters, commanded by Colonel DeLand in the Army of the Potomac. Later Jacob took charge of the Fort Wayne hospital. He resigned from the service on April 9, 1864.

After the war Jacob was appointed surgeon of the Navajo Indian agency in Arizona where he remained nine months. In 1883 Michigan Governor Josiah Begole appointed him physician at the State Prison at Ionia, where he remained for two years. He served as city physician for several terms and was a pension examiner in the Grand Haven District for about eight years. Jacob retired in 1892. He was a member of the Masons and the Democratic party. He married Louise E. Hunter of Huron, New York in 1846. They had two sons, William and Frank, who moved west, and two other sons who died young. The McNetts resided at 300 Franklin Street in a house built in 1858. Louise was born on December 7, 1838 and died on July 12, 1870. On August 11, 1894, Jacob married Eva Caroline Swarts in Grand Haven. Jacob died in Muskegon on February 10, 1899 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Louise and their two sons. Eva had two sons with her in Aitkin, Minnesota in 1920: Jacob McNett, born about 1902, and William McNett, born about 1905. On March 8, 1899 and on October 16, 1916 Eva applied for a widow's Civil War pension. Born in Michigan about 1871, she passed away in Minnesota on June 15, 1941. Jacob and De Forrest McNett were brothers. [Tribune obituary, February 2, 1899.]

Charles L. McVicar [1826- ?]

Born in New York in 1826, Charles McVicar married Elizabeth Crandall in Ludington in 1874. A native of Cooperstown, New York, she was born in 1839. Charles was appointed manager of the Spring Lake House beginning in 1878. They remained in Spring Lake until at least 1880. Elizabeth died in Wellsville, New York on March 22, 1889.

Lewis Stephen Mead [1901-1992]

Born in Homer, Calhoun County on December 11, 1901 to Lewis and Lillian Mead, Stephen graduated from high school in his hometown and from Western Michigan College [WMU] in Kalamazoo. He received his master degree from the University of Michigan in 1938 and did some graduate work at Michigan State University and Northwestern University. He married Delia "Dee" McAllister on June 25, 1924. They had a daughter Marilyn J. and a son, John Lewis "Jack," a pilot who was born in 1929 and lost his life on September 5, 1950 during the Korean War. Marilyn was born on April 22, 1925, graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1943, and died in Muskegon on June 15, 1999.

After becoming a teacher of industrial arts for the Grand Haven School system in 1924, Stephen was appointed junior high principal in 1928. He received his pilot's license in 1946.

When in 1953 a new high school was built on Cutler Street in Grand Haven, seventh and eighth grades moved into the old high school on Seventh Street, and ninth grade was added. Stephen continued as principal of the junior high and in 1959 was appointed assistant superintendent of the Grand Haven Schools. He organized the Haven Foundation, was secretary-treasurer of Michigan Elementary principals Association, president of Michigan Secondary School Principal Association, the Michigan Education Association for 42 years, the National Education Association, West Michigan Children's Center, West Michigan Mental Health Clinic, Kiwanis Club, Grand Haven Airport Board, United Methodist Church of the Dunes, where he was a church school teacher and lay leader. Steve retired from the school system in 1966.

Stephen and Dee lived for many years at 427 Grant in Grand Haven. In his youth, Stephen learned how to repair watches and use them as a medium of exchange for other goods. In retirement he was able to renew his fascination with timepieces and began building mantel clocks and grandfather clocks to sell and to be used as gifts for relatives. In 1968 the City of Grand Haven gave him permission to cut up a fallen cherry tree. He used the 700 board feet of lumber for his clocks and other woodworking projects. Stephen died on August 12, 1992 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, where his son Jack also had been buried on June 21, 1951. Dee was born in Michigan on June 20, 1905 and passed away in Holland, Michigan on July 22, 2006. [Tribune obituary, August 21, 1992.]

William Mead was born in New York on July 15, 1872 and died on July 31, 1930. He married Dean Van Den Berg in Grand Haven on September 28, 1897. The daughter of Robert G. and Johanna Hoffman Van Den Berg, she was born on September 6, 1874 [1876], passed away on June 29, 1946, and was buried with William at Lake Forest Cemetery. In 1900 William and Dean were living in Chicago, but by 1908 he was operating Mead's Electrical Supply Establishment at 22 Washington Street in space he shared with Lou Northouse. He and Dean resided at 423 Howard Street at that time, but by 1915 they had moved to Waterford, New York, and in 1930 he was superintendent of an electrical contracting business in Wilmington, Delaware. After her husband's death, Dean moved back to Grand Haven and lived at 526 Slayton. They had a son, Edward F. Mead, who was born about 1899.

Russell David Meengs [1939-2016]

In December 1982 and Lynn and Russ Meengs bought the building and business at 120-122 Washington Street, and in June 1983, renamed it the Office Supply Center. Bill and Carol Williams were the previous owners of the business, which they named Williams Office Supply. In 2001 the Meengs closed the and sold the property to Great Harvest Bread Company. Russ's slogan was, "We don't sell broccoli."

Russ was born in Grand Rapids on June 21, 1939 to John and Ruth Meengs. He and Lynn were married in late 1963. Russ's first career was in the banking business, both in Grand Rapids and Grand Haven. Russ died of esophageal cancer on July 16, 2015. [Tribune obituary, July 20, 2015.]

Ernest T. Meerman [1913-2002]

A lifetime resident of Coopersville, Ernest Meerman was born on November 1, 1913 on a farm he later owned. He married Nellie Frances Gunneman, also of Coopersville, on June 16, 1936. The couple was deeply involved with the Coopersville Reformed Church [founded in 1854] and its overseas and domestic missions. Ernie, a carpenter and contractor, built three houses on the family's 220-acre farm. Living in one of them was their son Stephen, who married Sue Hovingh. Stephen lived from June 9, 1950 to July 21, 2007. Nellie was a teacher before her marriage to Ernest. The fall's tall, blue silos, just south of I-96 exit at Eastmanville, continue were landmarks well into the 21st century. Nellie died on May 7, 2000, and Ernie passed away on January 24, 2007. They and their son are buried at Coopersville-Polkton Cemetery.

Albert M. Meerzo [1892-1959]

Albert Meerzo and his wife resided at 609 Washington Street in 1928. Albert owned the Oriental Sweet Shop at the same address. Within a year or two he moved his shop to 12 Washington Street, where he also offered sandwiches, meals, and refreshments. On September 26, 1927 Al married Flora Ballantine in Grand Haven. By 1936 they were living in Muskegon with their son, also named Albert. The elder Albert was born in Arabia in 1892, died in Muskegon on May 28, 1959, and was buried at Mona View Cemetery in Muskegon. Flora was born in Little Rock, Arkansas on August 18, 1905 and died in Dunedin, Florida on October 5, 1994. She, too, was buried at Mona View Cemetery. The younger Albert was born about 1929. Albert and Flora also had a daughter, Faycell [Faisal], who was born on December 4, 1932.

William A. Meier [1915-2005]

William Meier owned and operated Meier's Floor Coverings at 201-203 Washington. When he opened in the mid-1950s, he expanded the business to occupy the entire main floor. William closed the business in 1968. He was born on May 8, 1915 in Wyandotte, Wayne County, the son of Henry and Johanna Lange Meier. He graduated from Michigan State College [MSU] with a degree in business administration. During WWII he served with the Sixth Cavalry Mechanized Reconnaissance Squadron as headquarters commander with the rank of captain.

William came to Grand Haven in 1946. In 1968 he joined North Ottawa Community Hospital as purchasing agent. He retired from that position in 1982. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, and served on that organization's Boy Scout Committee, School Board, Board of Trustees, and Building Committee. He was a member of the American Legion since 1948 and acted as captain of the local National Guard during its reorganization and activation in 1946 to 1947. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and served on its Board of Directors from 1961 to 1964. He was appointed to the Ottawa County Selective Service Board in 1966 and chaired it until 1976, the year the Board was de-activated. He also served on the Board of the Ottawa County Red Cross. From 1981 to 1993 he was a Hospice volunteer.

William married Elizabeth "Betty" Vyn, the daughter of Clarence and Barbara Baker Vyn of Grand Haven. William's and Elizabeth's children were William Vyn Meier of Carlsbad, California, and Mark "Nick" Meier of Plainwell, Allegan County. Betty and William resided at 1809 Gladys. William died in Plainwell on January 9, 2005. Born on July 4, 1919, Betty was the first child delivered at Elizabeth Hatton Hospital [114 South Fifth Street]. Raised in Detroit, she graduated from Michigan State University. She served as a nurse's aide with the American Red Cross during WWII. She moved to Grand Haven after the war and became a physical therapist at the North Ottawa Community Hospital, a post she held for 23 years. Betty died on September 1, 2007. [Tribune obituaries, January 11, 2005 and September 14, 2007.]

Joseph Thomas Meilinger I [1861-1940]

Joseph Thomas Meilinger, who was born in Germany on December 21, 1861, married Martina Metz in Chicago on July 21, 1887. Martina lived from 1866 to 1926. Joseph established a chain of highly successful meat outlets [Meilinger Meat Markets] in the Chicago area, and he was part owner of the Tiffin, a movie theater on Chicago's North Avenue. Like many movie houses of that day, the Tiffin boasted a Wurlitzer organ.

On September 28, 1908 Joseph acquired 18 acres of lakefront property in Section 8, a few miles south of Grand Haven, adjacent to an area known as the Wilderness. Their land was given the name Meilinger's Gap because of the open, relatively flat sandy dunes that once provided access for nearby fruit growers to load their produce on boats. The Meilingers enjoyed a rustic, red summer house that was built on a flat area east of the dunes, surrounded by raspberry bushes and other growth natural to the woods. The structure fell into decay and had to be razed. Wilderness Trail required an easement over the southeast corner of the Meilinger lot to complete its path from Lakeshore Drive to the cottages. In 1956 three Grand Rapids families by the name of Whittier, Tuthill, and Gillett purchased a portion of the land from Meilinger's estate. Joseph passed away in Chicago on October 20, 1940.

The Meilingers' eldest child, John Francis Meilinger, was born in Chicago on February 12, 1899 and married Kathryn Reget. She was born on July 10, 1894. John was a meat cutter and by 1940 owned a butcher shop in Grand Haven on Seventh Street. He and Kathryn resided at 111½ Seventh. Kathryn died in Muskegon in November 1985, and John I passed away, also in Muskegon, on October 20, 1990.

John's and Kathryn's first child, John Francis Meilinger II, married Lenore Helen Niemaszyk in Pinal County, Arizona on January 20, 1945. He was with the Army Air Force at the time. Lenore lived from January 19, 1925 to March 5, 2002. She died in Chicago on March 25, 2002. John II became a meat cutter in Muskegon and later manager of Meat Department of Treasure Island Foods in Chicago.

A second son, Herman Joseph Meilinger, was born in Chicago on December 23, 1924, married Betty Jane Maurer in Grand Haven on July 16, 1947, worked as a machinist at Miller Industries, retired from Cooper Industries, and died on September 13, 2012 in Grand Haven. They resided at 1025 Park Avenue. Their son, Herman J. Meilinger II, graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1966 and opened his own company, H. J. Meilinger Associates, in Grand Rapids. Another son, Christopher, attained the rank of major as a medical officer with the U.S. Army and was stationed at Fort Sam Houston in Texas.

John and Kathryn also had a daughter Marilyn, who was born on August 16, 1928 and married Ransom Willis Everett II in Grand Haven on August 26, 1950. Ransom, who served with the U.S. Army during WWII, lived from February 12, 1923 to October 8, 2005 and was buried at Holy Cross Cemetery in Grand Rapids. Marilyn died on May 11, 2003 and also was buried at Holy Cross.

Arno "Andrew" Meinel [1885-1971]

Arno "Andrew," the son of Reinhardt Wilhelm and Karolina Emma Schneidenbach Meinel, was born in Austin, Texas on March 20, 1885. Not long after his birth the family moved to Robinson Township. Andrew on November 10, 1909 married Eliza "Anna" Aimer Thayer of Spring Lake. Anna, the daughter of William and Ella Wills Aimer, was born in Delta, Ontario, Canada on May 28, 1885. She migrated to Spring Lake in 1903 to live with her aunt and uncle, Eliza and Charles Hyde. For a while she was housekeeper for one of the area's early physicians, Dr. Cyril Brown. She had divorced her first husband, Lester Thayer, on November 9, 1909.

Andrew and Anna had several children, including Elizabeth Verona, who died a month after her birth on May 3, 1910. Andrew, Anna, and Elizabeth were included in the 1910 Federal Census as residents of Tallmadge Township. The Meinel's other children were Gerald Andrew, who was born on February 16, 1912 and died in Grand Haven on September 4, 1996; Arnold Floyd, who was born on February 20, 1913, married Clara Snyder, and died February 27, 2001 in Muskegon; Richard Wayne, who was born on June 11, 1915; Alberta Marie, who was born in Ferrysburg on January 25, 1918; Herbert, who was born in Ferrysburg on January 19, 1920; Myrtle Irene., who was born in Crockery Township on December 16, 1923; and Raymond Henry, who was born in Nunica on June 1, 1926 and lived 13 months. Gerald, Arnold, and Richard were born in Honor, Benzie County, where Andrew earned his living as a farmer. After a deep freeze in the spring of 1916, Andrew and his family moved into a house at the corner of Slayton and Albee Streets in Grand Haven. He worked at various places, including the William Ferry Hotel in downtown Grand Haven and the Eagle Ottawa Leather Company.

Just before his ninth birthday, Herbert was killed in an automobile accident on December 22, 1928, while his father was driving. Shortly afterward, Andrew left home permanently, and Anna subsequently divorced him. Andrew and Anna were counted in the household count for the 1930 Federal Census as residents of Crockery Township, two months after Andrew was charged with desertion. After Andrew's departure, Anna supported her large family by running a boarding house in Nunica for workers at the pickle factory. Unable to pay her real estate taxes that were in arrears, Anna was evicted from the house in Nunica and moved to Grand Haven, where again she operated a boarding house, this one at 101 North Seventh Street. She next lived at 615 North Seventh, again as the matron of a boarding house, even while she worked at a variety of other jobs. She lived in Grand Haven at 533½ Jackson in the mid-1950s and then moved to 504 Elliott. Andrew and Anna were divorced on April 22, 1944. A few weeks later, on May 6, Andrew married Idalene Dinehart Snow in Hart, Oceana County.

Anna died in Grand Haven on January 27, 1974 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. Andrew passed away, also in Grand Haven, on January 9, 1971. He was buried at a cemetery in Hesperia.

Otto Meinel [1886-1967]

Otto, who was born on May 26, 1886 in Texas, was the son of Reinhardt Wilhelm and Karolina Schneidenbach Meinel, later of Crockery. On March 20, 1913, Otto married Emma Marie Brown, who was born in Michigan and lived from 1884 to 1960. Otto and Emma lived on the family farm at 12763 West Cone Street [Sections 20 and 21 of Crockery Township], but Otto died in Kalamazoo County on October 3, 1967. The Meinels had three daughters: Dorothea, born on January 12, 1914, Aleonore Marie, born on January 3, 1915, and Roslyn Erna, born on April 14, 1925 in Grand Haven.

Reinhardt Wilhelm “William” Meinel [Minel] [1853-1910]

A native of UnterSachsenberg, Sachsen [now Germany], where he was born on August 27, 1853 [1851/1858], Reinhardt Wilhelm Meinel married Karolina Emma Schneidenbach in Sachsen on June 29, 1878. Karolina, often referred to as Emma, was born in Leipzig, Sachsen, on August 25, 1853. Reinhardt generally went by the name of William. The Meinels immigrated to the United States in 1884, going first to Texas, then settling for a few years in Section 33 of Robinson Township, and finally moving to an 80-acre farm in Sections 20 and 21 of Crockery Township.

The Meinels had six children: Emma Ida, who was born in Sachsen on October 4, 1878; Alfred Reinhart, who was born in Sachsen on January 20, 1882, about 1909 married Georgia Anna Miller [1890-1945], and died in Hillsboro, Oregon, on February 11, 1951; Arno Andrew, who was born in Austin, Texas on March 20, 1885 and married Anna Thayer of Spring Lake; Otto, who was born on May 26, 1886 in Texas and married Emma Marie Brown; Libbie [Lizzie], who was born in Robinson Township on February 18, 1889, married Frank R. Merkins about 1916, and died in Tallmadge Township on October 24, 1958; and Wilhelm “William” II, who was born in Robinson Township on February 9, 1891 and died in Grand Haven on March 18, 1958. William II, who served with the military during WWI, was buried at Nunica Cemetery. He married Permelie B. Douck, who was born in September 1892 and died on September 28, 1970. William I died on June 29, 1910. Emma died in Crockery Township on October 9, 1926. She and Reinhardt were buried at Nunica Cemetery.

Emma Ida’s first husband was Adrian Ver Berkmoes of Grand Haven, followed by Howard Bailey, also of Grand Haven.

Ernest [Ernst] J. Melcher [1850-1920]

Ernest Melcher had an 80-acre farm in Section 2 of Grand Haven Township by 1880 and into the 1900s. Ernest, the son of Fred and Augusta Melcher, was born in New York on June 1, 1850 and died in Grand Haven Township on January 25, 1920. He married Augusta [Auguste] Strahsburg [Strassburg], also a native of New York. She lived from 1854 to November 30, 1911. Both were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Their children, all born locally, were Mary, who was born in 1879, on December 28, 1905 in Grand Haven married John Topp II, and died in 1963; Wilhelm [William] Edward, who was born on July 4 [21], 1881; Anna, who was born on September 8, 1885; Emma, born about 1888; Alice, born about 1888; and John Ernest, born on March 11, 1899.

Johann Friedrich “Fred” Melcher [1825-1903]

By 1880 Friedrich and Augusta Bahr Melcher were owners of a 40-acre farm in Section 2 of Grand Haven Township. Fred was born in Prussia [Germany] on May 2, 1825 and came to the United States in 1843. On August 10, 1847 in Tonawanda, New York, he married Augusta Glasenapp. She was born in Prussia about 1825. A son, Ernest J., was born in New York on June 1, 1850. Another son, Martin Friedrich, was born about 1861, also in New York, and Friedrich passed away in Ionia on August 15, 1903. Augusta died in Ottawa County on May 17, 1898.

The son of Friedrich and Augusta Glasenapp Melcher, Martin was born in New York State about 1861. He married Louisa A. Lessien [Lissien] in Grand Haven on February 2, 1888. Louisa [Louise] was the daughter of August and Christina Bahre Lessien. In 1900 Martin and Louisa were residing in Ionia with their five children, and Martin was employed as a pattern maker. By 1910 the couple and their children were living in Grand Rapids, where Martin continued to work as a pattern maker. He also worked in Muskegon for the Chicago and West Michigan Railway as a pattern maker but apparently never lived there. Martin died in Grand Rapids in 1928 and was buried at Greenwood Cemetery. Louisa passed away in 1946 and was buried at the same cemetery.

William [Wilhelm] Edward Melcher [1881-1951]

William Melcher owned an auto repair shop at 201 Columbus in the late 1920s and into the 1930s. Prior to that he was working as a machinist at the Panhard Motor Company, located at 1301 Fulton Street. He and his wife, Gertrude, had several children, all born locally, including Angeline, born about 1912; William, born about 1914; Marie, born about November 1916; and Gertrude, who was born around December 1918 and married Russell J. Burghorn of Grand Haven. The son of Ernest and Augusta Strahsburg Melcher, William was born on July 4 [21], 1881, died around March 19, 1951, and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Gertrude the mother was born about 1893 in Illinois, died around August 18, 1959, and also was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. In 1920 the family lived at 1404 Pennoyer. Eight years later they resided at 301 North De Spelder, and by 1930 their home was in Grand Haven Township.

A. M. Mendelsohn [Mendelson] [? - ?]

In 1897 Mendelsohn, was general manager in America for the Plate Glass Company and Atlas Works of Amsterdam, The Netherlands. The company had a warehouse on Water Street [Harbor Drive], near Government Pond, adjacent to American Brass Novelty Company. The warehouse was listed with the name American Mirror and Glass Beveling Company in the 1897 Ogle Atlas. Mendelsohn had offices in Grand Haven and Grand Rapids. Mendelsohn's wife Ida died in Chicago on July 28, 1904 at the age of 58. There is no evidence that the Mendelsohns ever lived in Grand Haven, and there is scant indication that the Plate Glass Company actually opened here.

Carl Alexander Mercer [1833-1915]

Born in Vienna, Canada on July 5, 1833, Carl Mercer was working as a sailor and ship's joiner in Grand Rapids in 1874. By 1880 he was living in Grand Haven, still working as a ship's carpenter. He married Ellen Springstein of Hamilton, Canada in 1856. She was born in Canada in March 1835. They had two sons, including Walter Fitzroy Mercer, who was born on March 31, 1856 in Canada, married Mary J. Danhof, and died in Grand Rapids on May 12, 1925. In 1904 Carl was residing in Traverse City and working as a carpenter. A year later a second son, Angus Ross Mercer [1858-1935], was living with him. A third son, Robert Lincoln Mercer, was born in 1868 and died in infancy. Helen died in Traverse City on April 14, 1908. Carl the father passed away on September 15, 1915 in Coos County, Oregon.

Alexander A. Mergener [1915-1983]

Born on August 14, 1915, Alexander Mergener owned the Tri-County Realty Office, located at 221 North Third Street in Grand Haven. He was a resident of Crockery Township when he died on November 17, 1983. Prior to that he resided at the same address as his business.

A native of Heidelberg, Germany, where he was born on October 19, 1868, Nicholas Mergener came to America when he was 12. His first job was with the Spring Lake Iron Company in Fruitport. In a ceremony held on April 12, 1899 at the German Church in Grand Haven [St. Paul's United Church of Christ] he married Mary Louise Klintworth of Crockery, who was born on May 16, 1878. The couple lived out of state for a few years, then returned to the area and settled in Section 2 of Crockery Township. Nicholas delivered milk, and then drove a lumber delivery cart for the Christman Lumber Company for many years. Later he was employed by the Anderson-Bolling Company in Spring Lake, where he retired at age 80. He and his wife lived for several years in the early 1900s in a cottage east of the Spring Lake Hotel, where Nicholas was overseer. She ran a lunchroom and ice cream parlor at 224 West Savidge Street during the summers from 1909 to 1913. In 1912 the couple built a home at 207 Prospect. The Mergeners had a daughter named Adeline, who was born in Illinois about 1901 and married Frederick Koats of Grand Haven. Nicholas died on March 16, 1961, and Mary passed away on July 16, 1965. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

[Nicolaus] Joseph Mergener [1827-1898]

Joseph Mergener farmed and raised stock on his 20 acres in Section 4 of Crockery Township. He and his wife, Mary, and their children came to Ottawa County in 1881. Joseph was born in Prussia on November 10, 1827, died in Spring Lake on March 19, 1898, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Mary was born in Germany in March 1834, died in 1915, and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. They had a son, Bernard P., who was born in May 1865, died in 1922, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery; a daughter, Barbara, born in October 1870; a second son, John, born about 1871; a third son, Mathias, who was born on January 5, 1875, died in 1936, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery; and a fourth son, Nicholas, who was born in 1876, died six years later, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. The children were born in Germany. [Note: Ottawa County Death Records list Joseph as N. Mergener].

Thomas Merrill [1824-1886]

Thomas Merrill was born in Vermont in 1824. His parents moved to Washtenaw County in 1835, and Thomas relocated to Grand Rapids when he was 20. By 1849 he was foreman of William Ferry's sawmill in Ferrysburg, a position he held for ten years. In November 1859 he became proprietor of the Ferrysburg Hotel, replacing a Mr. Hill. In 1865 Thomas took over the mail, express, and stage route between Ferrysburg and Muskegon. The first improved road between Muskegon and Ferrysburg was cleared in 1858 but wasn't used extensively until 1860. The stage line consisted of 60 horses and five to ten three-seated, spring-cushioned, open wagons called buckboards that could carry up to five passengers and a driver. When the railroad line covering the same route was completed in 1880, the stage line ceased operation.

In 1846 Thomas married Jane Teeple, sister of Aletta Teeple, the second wife of Henry Pennoyer. The daughter of Peter and Sarah Losey Teeple, who had moved from Plymouth to Cascade Township in Kent County in late 1836, Jane was born on January 30, 1826. Thomas and Jane first settled in Grand Haven, but by 1859 had moved to Ferrysburg. In 1870 they were still in Ferrysburg, where Thomas now operated a livery stable and the stagecoach line and William Flanders managed the Ferrysburg Hotel. William was married to Harriet "Hattie" Merrill, Thomas's and Jane's daughter. By 1880 William was working for his father-in-law at the Muskegon livery; he and Hattie were living in Muskegon. John Pennoyer took over management of the hotel in Ferrysburg.

Jane died in Ferrysburg on August 8, 1872. In the 1880 Federal Census, Thomas's age was given as 45 rather than 56. He had married Esther Emily Waldron, who was born in New York about 1840. Thomas continued as owner of a livery stable in Muskegon at that time. Both Jane and Esther had had children with Thomas. He died in Muskegon on December 29, 1886 and was buried at Evergreen Cemetery. Esther assumed management of the livery. She passed away in 1924 and also was buried at Evergreen.

Mason Russell Merritt [1830-1908]

Born in Monroe County, New York, on May 7, 1830, Mason moved to Girard, Branch County, with his parents, David and Epha [Eva] Cast Merritt. Mason then settled in Olive Township in 1864, where he was a farmer and a blacksmith. On August 7, 1862 he enlisted as private in Company H, 19th Michigan Infantry. He was wounded at the Battle of Fort Donaldson and Spring Hill, and, after he was taken prisoner at Brentwood, Tennessee, he was sent to Libby Prison in Richmond, Virginia. Although his wounds and status as prisoner were not verified in his service records, Mason was discharged for disability on June 22, 1863. In Olive Township, Wood served as justice of the peace, constable, and deputy sheriff. On April 5, 1854 he married Elizabeth H. Harvey, who was born in New York on October 20, 1835. They had three sons and three daughters. The Merritts bought a 40-acre farm in Section 12 of Olive Township on December 3, 1878. Mason was a member of the A. C. Van Raalte Post of the G.A.R. in Holland. He died on December 28, 1908 and was buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Holland. On January 13, 1909 Elizabeth applied for a widow's Civil War pension. Forty years earlier Mason had applied for a disability pension. Elizabeth died in 1914 and also was buried at Pilgrim Home.

Nehemiah Merritt [1804-1858]

Nehemiah Merritt was the first lighthouse keeper assigned to Grand Haven. He served from 1839 to 1847, when the beacon was at the foot of the bluff [900 Harbor]. He was replaced by William Hauckland as lighthouse keeper. Nehemiah arrived in Grand Haven in June 1836 and appears in the 1840 census for "Ottaway," Oceana County. He was born in 1804, died in Oshkosh, Wisconsin on December 11, 1858, and was buried at Peace Lutheran Cemetery in that city. His wife, Eliza, lived from March 1, 1805 to June 5, 1882 and was buried at the same cemetery. They had three sons. [Grand Haven News obituary, December 22, 1858.]

Verona [Veronia] Clark Merryman [1889-1960]

Born on December 22, 1889 in Spring Lake, Verona was the daughter of Robert and Susanna Doddington Clark. Verona was listed as a teacher, residing in Spring Lake, in the Federal Census of 1910, and was teaching at the Peach Plains one-room schoolhouse in 1919. On December 26, 1921 she married Horace Merryman in Ottawa County. He and his first wife, Bertha, were married in Grand Rapids in 1890 and divorced in Kalamazoo in 1908. In 1930, as residents of Spring Lake, Verona and Horace had two adopted children: Ruth, born about 1923, and Cresence, born about 1926. Horace, a minister, was born in Nevada, Indiana on April 13, 1866 and died in Spring Lake on November 7, 1949. Verona died in Spring Lake on March 11, 1960. She was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Gertrude Otley Mersbach [1898-1998] and Clarence Milward Mersbach [1895-1966]

The daughter of Benjamin and Clara Otley of Chicago, Gertrude was born on October 30, 1898. Benjamin was the brother of Thomas Otley I, well-known summer resident and tennis enthusiast in Highland Park. On October 21, 1922, Gertrude married Clarence Mersbach in Chicago. After her husband's death on June 29, 1966, Gertrude became a year-round resident of Highland Park in a cottage was located at 60 Poplar Ridge. She was born on October 3, 1898 in Chicago and died in Grand Haven on March 15, 1998. Both she and Clarence were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Clarence was born in Chicago on March 30, 1895.

Robert B. Mersereau [1929-2005]

Robert Mersereau married Muriel Jacobson in Grand Haven on June 13, 1953. He was born in Indianapolis, Indiana on March 14, 1929, the son of Robert M. and Josephine Mersereau. Bob resided in Dowagiac before moving to Grand Haven. He received Bachelor and Master Degrees in Business from the University of Michigan and served as an auditor with the United States Air Force. He later was employed by Seidman & Seidman, Old Kent Bank, and Union Bank in Grand Rapids. Bob was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Haven and volunteered for a number of organizations, including Tri-Cities Historical Museum, Wedgwood Christian Services, and Boy Scouts. He was a member of Sigma Phi Fraternity, University of Michigan Club of Grand Rapids, Round Table, and Scottish Rite. Muriel, the daughter of Alvin and Edna Jacobson, was born in Grand Haven on April 25, 1929. The Mersereaus' children were Robert of Grand Haven; Mary, who married Ernie Adler and moved to Midland; and Elizabeth, who married Tim

Griffin and settled in Grand Rapids. Bob passed away in Reno, Nevada on March 24, 2005. Muriel passed away in Grand Haven on December 6, 2021. [Tribune obituaries, March 28, 2005 and December 8, 2021.]

Bannister A. Merwin [1916-1971]

Bannister, a Michigan native, was born on May 19, 1916, the son of Clyde and Mildred Blow Merwin. Bannister spent most of his early years in Mayville, Tuscola County, and graduated from Central Michigan University in 1941. He came from a musical family and could play a variety of instruments. In 1944 he became band director at Grand Haven High School, replacing Everett Kisenger. During his third year as director of music, Bannister organized the first Band Parents Organization and along with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Terrill bought the first set of band uniforms for the students. The Grand Haven High School yearbook for 1968 was dedicated to Merwin. On November 19, 1941 in Dearborn, he married Esther May Clark. The daughter of Jesse and Mary Gorsline Clark of Mt. Pleasant, Isabella County, she was born on August 19, 1919. The Bannisters lived at 212 Sherman and later at 120 Prospect. They had a son, David, who moved to Muskegon. Bannister in 1970 married Jean Liakowski Minuth. After 26 years in Grand Haven, he moved to Mattawan to teach music. He died in a school accident on May 5, 1971 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Esther, who continued residing at 120 Prospect, died in Grand Haven on December 7, 2009. Jean was born on May 3, 1919 and died in Henrico, Virginia on March 26, 1999. [Tribune obituary, December 10, 2009.]

Johannes “John” Merz [1838-1891]

John Merz and his wife ran a 70-acre farm in Section 19 of Crockery Township. John, who was born in 1838 in Wurttemberg, Germany, died on July 21, 1891. He crossed the Atlantic aboard the New York and arrived in New York City on June 5, 1865. He married Caroline Henley in Grand Rapids on August 18, 1868. Caroline was born in Germany in November 1842. She continued to operate the farm after her husband's death. Three of their children were born in Grand Haven: Anton J. on November 21, 1869; Caroline C. on March 2, 1871; and Louis in July 1872. The last four were born in Crockery Township: John on June 22, 1874; Charles on April 16, 1880; William on April 1, 1882; and Mary Agnes on December 24, 1884. The oldest daughter, Delia, was born on April 17, 1864 in Wurttemberg, indicating that the vows John and Caroline exchanged in Grand Rapids may have been a reaffirmation, or John may have been previously married. Delia married Peter Brady on November 23, 1887 in Spring Lake. Some years later she and George Barden were married. Delia died in Grand Haven on October 5, 1936. Of the other Merz children, Anton died in Milwaukee on June 13, 1920; Clara married Charles H. Wiley in Grand Haven on June 16, 1895; Louis married Bibiana Weis on June 12, 1900 in Milwaukee; Charles drowned in Bruce Bayou, Spring Lake, on April 24, 1897; and Mary Agnes married Frederick Zellar.

John, the son of Johannes and Caroline Henley Merz, was born in Crockery Township on June 22, 1874. On June 20, 1900 he married Elizabeth Schneider, who was born in Milwaukee on August 10, 1880. She died in Milwaukee on March 17, 1911. Their daughter Elizabeth married Claude Voss of Spring Lake. On February 18, 1922 John married Margaret Garga in Milwaukee. She was born in Austria-Hungary on April 11, 1880. In 1930 John was a molder in a Milwaukee steel company. He died on November 7, 1963 in Spring Lake and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Margaret passed away in Spring Lake on June 2, 1960.

Lloyd, the son of William and Della Martin Merz of Crockery Township, opened Lloyd's Welding at 901 West Savidge in 1962. He specialized in production welding. On October 29, 1938 he married Viola Mae Watson in Spring Lake. She lived from February 16, 1920 to January 9, 1940 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Carl married Geraldine Pierce in Spring Lake on August 29, 1941. Carl was born on August 8, 1912 and died in Spring Lake on July 23, 1986. Geraldine lived from 1913 to 1976. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Wilfred J. Merz [1915-1985]

Wilfred was born in Crockery Township on October 12, 1915, the son of William and Della Merz, who owned a farm on the banks of the Grand River. Wilfred married Ruth M. Chittenden on August 10, 1937 in Spring Lake. Wilfred retired from his job as equipment operator at AP Parts in 1973. He served on the Spring Lake School Board for nine years ending in 1968, and he served as president of the Ottawa Trailblazers Chapter 45. He also belonged to the Nortonville Gospel Chapel. He and Ruth had three sons: Roger, who lived in Boca Raton, Florida; and Wayne and Bruce, both of whom lived in Grand Haven. Wilfred died in Grand Haven on January 7, 1985 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Ruth lived from September 15, 1918 to January 22, 2005. [Tribune obituary, January 9, 1985.]

William Merz [1882-1952]

William, the son of Johannes and Caroline Henley Merz, was born in Crockery Township on April 1, 1882. On March 21, 1906, in Grand Haven, he married Idella “Della,” the daughter of Hiram and Emma Deremo Martin. Della was born on March 18, 1883 in Spring Lake. She and William owned a 53-acre farm in Sections 30 and 31 of Crockery Township, bordering the north banks of the Grand River. Della passed away on September 21, 1931, and William died in June 1952. They had six children, including Lloyd, who was born on August 8, 1912, and Wilfred, who was born on October 12, 1915.

Merritt Chester Messinger [1834-1904]

A native of Vermont, where he was born on September 19, 1834, Merritt Messinger came to Spring Lake in 1855 to work in the sawmills. From 1869 on he was a saw filer, and he was employed by the Monroe, Boyce, & Company Mill in Spring Lake in 1873. In 1860 he married Mary Jane “Jennie” Barge, who was born in Ohio in 1845. Their children, all natives of Michigan, were May M., born about 1861; George, born about 1862; and Hattie, born about 1865. Merritt died in Chicago on January 31, 1904. Jennie died in 1903.

A native of Hartland, Vermont, where he was born on August 18, 1838, Ormond Messinger arrived in Spring Lake in 1854. He worked for a short time in Natchez, Mississippi in 1870, but otherwise spent his adult life in Spring Lake, first working in the sawmills and then, in 1868, working in a drug store as a silent partner with Henry W. Cleveland at 107 South Division Street, later the site of the Bilz home. Eventually Ormond bought out Cleveland’s share, moved the business to a building on Savidge, and took on William Hummer as a partner. In 1875 he sold out to his partner and opened a furniture store at the corner of State and Jackson Streets. Two years later he sold his furniture inventory to Henry Cliff and the building to Stephan Bingham, and at the same time, with the help of a Mr. Jones, he bought out William Hummer and moved the business to 208 West Savidge Street, where he operated a stationery and drug store business. Jones died, leaving Ormond as sole owner and operator of the business.

Ormond married Cynthia Frances Reed on April 1, 1862. She died three years later, leaving him with one child. The next year Ormond married Julia R. Reed, Cynthia’s sister. Julia was born in Ohio in April 1847. Ormond had nine children. One of his daughters, Edith, was born in 1865 and married Charles Wilde of Spring Lake; Cynthia was her mother. Julia was the mother of his other children. Ormond served on the Village Council for several terms. He died on July 16, 1898. Following his death, Ormond’s two sons, Garry and Clifford, ran the drug store for a few years before selling to Felix Perl in 1905. Garry was born in January 1875 and Clifford in September 1883.

Garry Mesler [1938-2019]

Born in Saginaw on March 3, 1938, Garry Mesler earned a Master Degree in Industrial Engineering before being commissioned as second lieutenant in the United States Army. After his discharge from the Army in 1969, he taught Industrial Engineering at Central Michigan University for 33 years. He married Jean Fisher in Mt. Pleasant on November 22, 1972. The daughter of Nelson and Anne Fisher Glerum, she was born in Grand Haven on October 9, 1939, graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1957, and worked as a media

Henry Middlemist [Middlemast] [1811-1873]

Following the unsuccessful Mackenzie Rebellion in Canada, Henry Middlemist in 1838 came to Grand Haven by way of Buffalo, New York, with his wife, Dorothy Dods and their daughter Agnes. Both of them were born in Berwickshire, Scotland, he on October 22, 1811 and she two years later. Shortly after their arrival, Jabez Barber hired Henry to manage the Barber Boarding House on the northeast corner of Barber and Cutler Streets in Spring Lake, which provided housing and meals for mill workers. In the early 1850s Henry purchased the Washington House at 12 Washington in Grand Haven from Chase Edgerly and Charles Osgood. After he sold the hotel the next year to Clark Albee, Henry bought the Barber Boarding House and renamed it the Middlemist Hotel. In Grand Haven the Middlemists' home was on Franklin Street. The Middlemists also raised fruit. Henry continued to run the hotel until at least December 1865, but he died in Detroit on June 5, 1873. Dorothy passed away in Port Huron on November 23, 1910. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Agnes, who was born on April 24, 1838, and Sarah, who was born in Spring Lake on July 4, 1840, were two of their five children. Sarah married William Henry Drake of Spring Lake and Chicago. They also had three sons: Joseph, who was born about 1842 and moved to Minneapolis, Minnesota; John, born about 1845; and William, who was born about 1848 and also relocated to Minneapolis. John served with the Michigan 13th Light Artillery during the Civil War. He enlisted as private in Detroit on November 10, 1863 and was mustered out in Jackson on July 1, 1865. By 1870 John was living in Chicago. On June 18, 1867, Agnes married John McFadzean [1838-1891] of Mill Point [Spring Lake]. They moved to Jackson, Jackson County, where Agnes passed away on May 13 1899.

In 1870 Edith was residing in Chester Township with her parents, Henry and Mary Miller, along with a brother, Monroe, and a sister, Martha. After becoming blind, Edith continued to participate in local activities and was one of the first in the area to own a radio. On March 29, 1884 she married George Wesley Truax I, who was born in 1853, also in Ontario, and died in Illinois in 1900. By 1900 Edith was living in Harvey, Illinois as a widow. Residing with her was a son, George Wesley II, who was born in Spring Lake on September 5, 1888. Edith was residing with George II and his wife in Harvey, Illinois in 1920. She died there on September 25, 1928 and was buried at Washington Memory Gardens in Homewood, Illinois with her husband.

Elmer L. Miller [1915-1990]

A Grand Haven native, Elmer Miller was born on July 7, 1915. By 1948 he owned Miller’s Friendly Nie Service Station at 1452 Washington. Later he worked as a stringer at Story & Clark. Elmer died in Grand Haven on December 26, 1990. He and his wife, Marie O., resided at 1533 Pennoyer. Marie was deputy treasurer for Ottawa County. She lived from November 30, 1918 to April 30, 2004 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband.

George W. Miller [1844-1909]

Born in Eastmanville in December 1844 [1845], George was the son of Captain Henry “Harry” and Elizabeth Realy Miller. David Miller, also a captain, was George’s brother. For three years, beginning in 1866, George was a partner with George E. Hubbard, a pioneer Grand Haven hardware merchant. In 1869, George and his brother-in-law, John Stark, opened a hardware store on Washington Street [approximately 200-202]. Among the products he carried were wood-burning stoves, notably the Crown Jewel brand, and ship supplies. George raised celery and was a leader in the Presbyterian Church. In 1891 George formed a partnership with Andrew J. Emlaw and operated the area’s first electric light plant in a building on the southwest corner of Water Street [Harbor Drive] and Clinton. George’s wife, Ellen “Nellie” Morse, was the sister of Sarah Morse, who married John Stark. In the 1908 Directory, George was listed as a farmer and a resident of 520 Franklin Street, where he and Ellen had lived for many years. He died on May 28, 1909. Ellen lived from March 1847 [1848] to 1912 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband.

Henry “Harry” Miller [Muller] I [1811-1876]

Born in 1811 [1806] in Lubeck, Germany [Ireland], Harry Miller was known for selling “Osgood’s Chologogue,” a bottled remedy for the ague. Its contents were not recorded, but it was reported to be effective and worth the $1.50 it cost. From 1818 to 1832 he sailed the ocean. While in Detroit in the mid-1830s he married Elizabeth Realy. By 1837 they were living in Eastmanville. That was the year he and his future brother-in-law Daniel Realy obtained through preemption from the federal government 175 acres on the Grand River. Transfer of title actually took place on November 10, 1841. [Realy later sold this acreage and more to Ottawa County for $6,000. The county used the land for a poor farm/infirmity]. The 1893 Conger and Potts Compendium related that William Shirley Hammond and Lucy Houghton were married at the Miller home on July 26, 1840. By 1850 Harry and his wife Elizabeth had moved from Eastmanville to Spring Lake. He was employed by Barber & Mason Sawmill as captain of the schooners Commodore Perry and Porcupine, carrying cargoes of lumber out of Spring Lake. He also was skipper of the schooner Caroline, the brig Enterprise, and the screw-driven Ottawa, built by Ferry & Sons in Ferrysburg. Henry Griffin, an early settler, recalled that "Capt. Harry Miller, while sailing the brig Manhattan, came into our harbor in 1833. He says a miserable looking craft from Buffalo lay against the bank, in charge of a man named White. When asked how he dare come around the lakes in that thing, he replied, 'Oh she is a better ship than Columbus had to cross the ocean in.'" ["Early Life in Grand Haven and Ottawa County," Tribune, September 1891] Captain Miller was at the helm of the St. Joseph when that craft brought to Grand Haven 42 of Rix Robinson's family in 1835. The captain ended his sailing career by purchasing the schooner Ocean and sailing her until his retirement in 1859. Harry was appointed lighthouse keeper in 1861 and served in that capacity until 1875. At that time, he and his family resided in Grand Haven. He often went by the nickname "Bluff."

Captain Harry's and Elizabeth's children included Mary, who was born in Detroit on May 14, 1836 [1835]. Mary was married twice, first to George Osgood, who died in 1871, and then to Isaac Hull Sanford of Grand Haven. Harry's and Elizabeth's other children were David, born on March 1, 1837; Henry "Harry" II, who lived from September 14, 1838 to February 14, 1844 and was the first to be interred at Eastmanville Cemetery on Church Street; Daniel, born in November 1843; George W., a Grand Haven hardware merchant who was born in Eastmanville in December 1844; John, born in 1845; and James, who was born about 1848 and died on April 18, 1862. All their children were born in Michigan. Elizabeth died on April 6, 1858, at the age of 42 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Harry died in Spring Lake on May 11, 1876 and was buried next to Elizabeth, son James, and daughter Mary. [Harry's wife's name is given as Dorothea in the 1850 census.]

Harry married again before 1860. His second wife, Mary E. Daniels, also from Germany [New York], was born on May 14, 1836, died in 1916, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. According to historian David Seibold in Grand Haven: In the Path of Destiny, Mary acted as lighthouse keeper between 1872 and 1874 while her husband was ill [p. 305]. Officially, Harry was given credit for those years. Living with Harry and Mary in Spring Lake in 1860 were his sons John and James. Also residing in the Miller home were Sarah Miller, born about November 1859. Besides Sarah, Harry and Mary had a son, Harry II, born on May 1, 1861. The 1870 census for the Miller household included the young Harry. In 1880 Mary was back in Spring Lake. Living with her then were Sarah and another son, Edward Miller, who was born about July 1872 and became a sailor.

Harry Miller II [1861-1906]

The son of Captain Harry and Mary Miller, Harry II was born on May 1, 1861. Harry II started a broom-making business in Spring Lake in the early 1890s and ran it until his death by apoplexy on April 10, 1906.

Jeremiah "Jerry" Miller [Muller] [1800- 1894]

Jeremiah "Jerry" Miller appeared in Northwest Ottawa County for the first time in the 1870 census, when he was working as a laborer in the City of Grand Haven. He was born into slavery in Tennessee [Kentucky] in 1800 [1807, 1810], according to his death certificate. His wife, Kate, died in Grand Haven on June 12, 1867 at age 50. With Jerry in 1870 were Sarah Miller, born in Tennessee about 1853; Charles Miller, born in Tennessee about 1856 [1858]; Anna Miller, born in Michigan about 1864; and another Anna Miller, born in Michigan about 1866. Presumably they were his children, but relationships were not specified in the 1870 census. All of the Millers were classified as Mulattoes in that census. By 1880 Jeremiah was a farmer in Spring Lake Township. Living with him then were his son, William, born in Mississippi about 1863, and the younger Anna, who was part of the Miller household in 1870. The family in 1880 was listed as Black. In the same census son Charles also was a farmer in Spring Lake Township. Charles's wife, Mary A., was born in Michigan about 1861. Charles was classified as Black in the 1880 census and Mary as Mulatto. They were not found in the area after 1880.

The Grand Haven newspaper reported in the summer of 1894 that Jerry Miller was dying at his home in Grand Rapids. It also reported that he was born in Africa and that his wife and four children had been sold as slaves "down south." [Tribune, August 14, 1894.] When he passed away on August 8, 1894, his age was given as 94. His son William in October 1905 was arrested for resisting an officer. According to a newspaper report he had been gone many years and recently returned to Grand Rapids. [Tribune articles, October 16 and October 18, 1905.]

John Miller became a marine engineer. On September 24, 1867 in Grand Rapids, he married Mary "Molly" Isabelle, the daughter of George and Mary Shannessy Dixon of Spring Lake. Molly was born in Illinois [Cleveland, Ohio] about 1848. She and John settled in Montague, Muskegon County, where John worked as an engineer. John, the son of Captain Harry and Elizabeth Miller [Muller] was born locally in 1848. During the Civil War he served with Battery C of the First Michigan Light Artillery from 1861 to June 21, 1865. John and Molly had four daughters, Lulu Frances, who was born on July 10, 1872, became a librarian at Hackley Library in Muskegon, and died in Chicago on September 25, 1945; Daisy, born about 1870, Frances, born about 1876, and Mary, born about 1878. In 1880 the family was residing in Montague. Daisy became teacher in the Muskegon schools. John, who was born in 1845, died in 1905 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Molly died in 1931 and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

John C. Miller II [1914-1998]

John was born in Chicago on January 2, 1914, the son of John and Anna Detloff Miller. Young John married Freida Johnson of Grand Haven on August 16, 1941. They lived at 16685 De Witt Lane in Spring Lake. John owned and operated the Miller-Smith Corp. at 601 West Savidge in Spring Lake, which started in 1946. George Smith was his partner. Miller was a member of the United Methodist Church of the Dunes in Grand Haven, charter member and president of Spring Lake Rotary and first recipient of the Paul Harris award given by that club, member of the Spring Lake County Club, member of the Elks Lodge, president of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce, and president and commodore of the Spring Lake Yacht Club. John also was the first male president of the Spring Lake Schools Parent Teacher Association, and he was chairman of Spring Lake's Centennial observation in 1969. He and his wife had three sons: Jack, David, and Dan.

Robert A. and Ruth Fagan Miller founded R. A. Miller Industries in 1950. Originally located on West Savidge in Spring Lake, the firm moved to 1525 Marion in Grand Haven in 1956 and then, twenty years later, into a new building at 14500 168th Avenue in Grand Haven Township. The daughter of James and Florence Kline Fagan, Ruth was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania on December 4, 1915. She and Robert were married in Muskegon on November 26, 1936. She was a member of Spring Lake Country Club, Muskegon Century Club, and St. Petersburg Yacht Club in Florida. Ruth died on July 4, 2002.

Robert, the son of Victor and Libbe Piche Miller, was born in Lake Linden, Houghton County, on November 10, 1914. He moved to Muskegon, where he graduated from high school in 1934. After WWII Robert and Ruth moved to Grand Haven, where Robert was employed by the Camfield Manufacturing Company. The Millers were members of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Their children were Judie Cook of Vero Beach, Florida; Janet, who married John Rohrs and moved to Norton Shores; Mary, who married James Dolan of Grand Haven; and Rochelle Engel of Grand Haven. Robert died on January 17, 2005 in Grand Haven. He and Ruth were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, July 6, 2002 and January 18, 2005.]

Thomas “Kahgee” Miller [1844-1864]

Thomas Miller, whose Indian name was Kahgee, enlisted in Company K of the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters in Northport, Leelanau County, on June 13, 1863. He carried the rank of sergeant. Thomas was reported by his unit as a deserter on June 6, 1865, but in fact he had died in his hometown of Omena, Leelanau County, on October 15 the previous year. Before his first battle, the young soldier had become seriously ill with lung disease. He was sent home on convalescent leave. Due to the confusion of war and inadequate communication, neither his hospital in Philadelphia nor his unit knew of his demise. [Czopek.] He was buried at Omena Presbyterian Church Cemetery. At an unspecified time, he reportedly visited Grand Rapids to find his parents, who were said to have lived on Grand River.

Edwin [Edward] L. Milliman [1833-1914]

Edwin Milliman was born in New York State on October 9, 1833. On March 23, 1864 he enlisted as private in the Company E of the 96th New York Infantry. He was discharged on February 18, 1865. He applied for an invalid's Civil War pension on September 1, 1894. Edwin married Anna Coughlin, who was born on May 11, 1846, also in New York. Anna, applied for a widow's pension on July 27, 1914. Edwin and Anna and their 11-year-old daughter, Sarell [Emma Cyrelle], resided in Van Buren, New York in 1875, but by 1880 the family had moved to Grand Haven. Edwin, who worked as an engineer, died in Grand Haven on July 16, 1914 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Anna died in Grand Rapids on February 16, 1915. In the 1880 Federal Census for Grand Haven, their daughter's name was listed as Emma. She died in Grand Haven on May 7, 1881 of diphtheria and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Herbert G. Milliman [1864-1937]

Herbert Milliman owned and was president of the Milliman Manufacturing Company, located at the corner of Howard and Water [Harbor] in Grand Haven, in the same building as American Brass Novelty. His company, which started manufacturing in March 1907, produced doors, moldings, and cabinets, and did general millwork. Herbert, the son of Elisha and Mary Ann Barker Milliman, was born in August 1864 on a farm in Sheldon, Illinois. Prior to coming to Grand Haven in the early 1900s, Herbert spent 15 years in business in Chicago. On August 7, 1885 he married Belle E. Miller, who was born in Danville, Illinois in January 1864. They had at least two sons, Herman Elisha, who was born in Columbus, Nebraska on December 8, 1886 and died in Chicago on October 18, 1934, and Raymond P., who was born in Crete, Illinois on February 5, 1893 and died in 1963. All four were living in the family residence at 122 Franklin in 1908 and were still in the area two years later. By 1930 Herbert and Belle had moved to Grand Rapids. Herbert passed away in La Grange, Illinois on December 2, 1937. Belle died on August 30, 1955 in Grand Rapids. [Tribune obituary, November 22, 1963.]

Herman Elisha Milliman [1886-1934]

The son of Herbert and Belle Miller Milliman, originally of Illinois and later of Grand Haven, Herman was born on December 8, 1886 in Columbus, Nebraska, passed away in Chicago on October 18, 1934, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. He was listed in the 1908 Directory as a manufacturer. Herman's wife, Marion, was born in Illinois about 1888.

Raymond P. Milliman, who was born in Crete, Illinois on February 5, 1893, passed away in Spring Lake on November 21, 1963. He was the son of Herbert and Belle Miller Milliman, originally of Illinois and later of Grand Haven. Raymond married Genevieve La Sage in Chicago on February 9, 1914. Ray and his wife moved to Grand Rapids in 1923 but returned to Spring Lake in 1938 and resided at 405 Barber Court. Ray, who was district distributor for Texaco Oil, retired in 1956. The Milliman children were Herold, born about 1915; Junior, born about 1916; and Nelda, born about March 1910. The two boys were born in Illinois, the girl in Michigan.

Daniel's brother Ira [Arie] in 1870 was working as a clerk in a dry goods store, where Daniel also was employed or possibly owned the business. The Mulls resided in Spoonville, Crockery Township.

Edward W. F. Moll [1864-1946]

Edward, the son of Bernard and Eliza Moll, was born in Tonawanda, New York in 1865 and came to Grand Haven when he was three. Both parents were born in Germany. Edward's first job was packing fishnets. Later he was associated with Joseph Godhardt, a blind Grand Haven junk dealer, in gathering rags and junk in exchange for small household wares. Edward was also employed at the Kilbourn Barrel Factory for 19 years. He then purchased a shoe store at 109 Seventh Street, and became associated with the People's Mercantile Company, owned by Tony and William Baker. Edward was treasurer of the Mercantile Company. The shoe store was in operation for more than 40 years. Edward's sons were associated in the business with him. He was instrumental in getting Gustave "Gus" Cohrs to come to Grand Haven as athletic director of Grand Haven High School. Edward was a member of the Board of Education for 35 years and president in 1917. He also served on the City Council and the Local Welfare Board, and he was trustee of Hatton Hospital. On October 23, 1889 in Grand Haven, he married Francina [Fransena] "Sena" Fisher, the daughter of Abraham and Johanna Fisher. The Molls lived at 314 North Fifth Street. Edward died in 1946 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his wife, who lived from 1865 to about July 26, 1921.

Hubertus Moll [Mull] [1853-1915]

The son of Arie and Adrianna Moll, Hubertus in 1890 owned a meat market in Grand Rapids and three years later he was a confectioner in that city. In 1900 he was still living in Grand Rapids with his wife Lizabeth and working at that time as a "Tea and Coffee Agent." Lizabeth was born in 1857 and died in 1917. Before Hubertus and his family moved to Grand Rapids, he and his brother Arie owned the Mull Brothers Meat Market at 230 Washington Street. The devastating fire of October 1, 1889 was reported to have started in their store. Hubertus was born in 1853 in The Netherlands, died in 1927, and was buried at Fairplains Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

Pieter [Peter] Moll [Mull] [1842-1922]

The son of Arie and Adrianna Moll, Peter in 1900 was living in Grand Rapids with his wife, Mary, and working as a butcher. Mary was born in August 1857 and died in 1927. Peter and Mary had a son, Arie, born in Grand Haven on July 5, 1877. Peter may have been in business with his brothers Arie and Hubertus Mull when they operated the Mull Brothers Meat Market at 230 Washington Street before it was destroyed by the great fire of October 1, 1889. In 1863 he worked as a sawyer in one of the local lumber mills. Peter was born in The Netherlands on March 12, 1842 and died in Grand Haven on February 19, 1922.

Charles Clarence Molson [Moulson] I [1893-1952]

Born in Spring Lake on February 4, 1893, Charles was the son of Ephraim and Adelia Molson of Spring Lake. The African American family moved to Madison Street in Grand Haven in the early years of the twentieth century. Charles conducted services for the Israel Baptist Church from his home. Charles married Ella Leona Patterson in Grand Rapids on December 16, 1909. Leona, as she preferred to be called, was born around 1890 in Michigan. Among their children was Edith Juanita Molson, who was born in Grand Haven on January 3, 1923, married Clarence Gilbert Smith, and died in Grand Rapids on December 30, 1971. Other children were Clarence, born about 1911; Ida, born about 1912; Louise, born about 1914; Leona, born about 1915; Charles II, born about 1917; and Adelbert, born about 1919. The children were all born locally. At various times Charles was a barber, a cook for the Grand Trunk Railway section hands, a truck driver for a local coal yard, and watchman for Nathaniel Robbins. In 1910 he was working as a dock worker and residing at 408 Elliott Street with Leona. Grant and Mary Ann Gardner, another African American family, lived next door at 410 Elliott. Grant Gardner, born in Virginia about 1875, and Mary Ann Gardner, born in Michigan about 1868, were married around 1903. Grant worked at Challenge Machinery. Also in the house was Caroline Taylor, Mary Ann's mother, who was born in New York about 1835. Caroline was Black and widowed. The Gardners do not appear in subsequent censuses for Ottawa County.

By 1918 Charles and Leona had moved to 415 North Seventh Street. In 1928 Charles was a truck driver for Nat Robbins's coal business, and he and Leona were still living in the house on North Seventh. They were divorced in Ottawa County on November 30. On May 9, 1929 Charles married Linda Abner in Grand haven. Linda was born in Alabama on December 24, 1895. The couple resided at 415 North Seventh. By the late 1930s Charles and Linda were living in Chicago, where Charles was caretaker for Phi Sigma Delta fraternity and Linda was cook. Charles died in Muskegon on August 21, 1952 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Linda died in Chicago in May 1980.

On November 7, 1863 Ephraim Molson enlisted in the 31st U.S. Colored Infantry [also cited as the 31st New York Regiment]. He served with Companies B and E and had the rank of corporal when he was mustered out. As early as 1891 Ephraim operated a barbershop in Spring Lake. His first wife, Victoria, was born in Pennsylvania about 1835. Around 1875 he married Adelia [Delia] E. Conner, who was born in Canada on May 2, 1853, came to the United States in 1854, and was raised in South Haven. Ephraim, who was born in Columbia, Pennsylvania on January 18, 1832, had previously owned barbershops in Chicago and Clyde, Oakland County before opening his shop in Spring Lake. Ephraim's and Adelia's children were Emma V., who was born in [Watervliet], Berrien County, on August 7, 1877 and married Richard Thompson in Spring Lake; William B., who was born in Clyde on July 3, 1879 [1877/1878], Fanny, who was born in Grandville in 1881, married Robert Graves of Grand Haven, and later married a Mr. Stevens of Ferrysburg; Harry [Henry] who was born in Richland, Kalamazoo County, in 1886; Nellie, who was born in Grand Haven in 1891 and died on June 1, 1891 at the age of two months and three days; and Charles Clarence, who was born in Spring Lake on February 4, 1893. Richard Thompson, Emma's husband and the son of Leonard and Mary Bennett Thompson, was born in 1874. Ephraim was one of several local representatives to an Equal Rights convention that met in Grand Rapids on April 10 and 11, 1894. By 1900 he was working as a barber in Hubbard, Ohio and living alone. Adelia, Harry, and Charles remained in Grand Haven. In 1910 Ephraim, Adelia, and Harry were living at 621 Monroe Street in Grand Haven. Ephraim continued barbering. Harry died of tuberculosis at his parents' home on April 28, 1910, one day after the census enumerator had visited them. Ten years later Ephraim was retired, and he and Adelia were still residing at 621 Monroe Street. Adelia continued living there after Ephraim's death on February 24, 1923. He was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. On December 7, 1894 Ephraim filed for a Civil War disability pension, and on June 15, 1923 Adelia filed for a widow's pension. She married Henry Dickerson in 1933, died on January 14, 1949, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, February 26, 1923 and January 15, 1949.]

In 1950 Walter Kirkland "Kirk" Bloeser, who worked for Bill, bought the business and renamed it Kirk's Camera Supply. Harold Bretschneider, who later opened his own studio, studied under Mosher. On January 24, 1923 in Muskegon, Bill married Florence H. Skow. In 1930 William, Florence, and their daughter Alice Irene resided in Muskegon. By 1932 they were living at 524 Lake Avenue in Grand Haven. Later they moved to Spring Lake Township. Florence was born in Michigan about 1895, and Alice was born around 1925. The Moshers also had a son William, who was born about 1931. William the father died in Grand Haven on September 5, 1950.

Chester Moss married Phoebe Sweezy [1805-1857]. They lived in Youngstown, New York most of their married lives. Though neither of them made their home in Ottawa County, three of their daughters married men from the Grand Haven area: Ellen, born in 1840, married James Barnes [Barns] of Grand Haven; Mary Jane, who was born on March 6, 1842, married Samuel Eames of Ferrysburg; and Melissa married Nathan Bannister White of Grand Haven. Another daughter, Caroline "Carrie," became a teacher and remained unmarried. She was born on September 18, 1843. The sisters were born in Youngstown. In the 1870 Federal Census, Melissa [listed as Lizzie] and Carrie were living in Grand Haven with their sister Ellen "Nellie" and brother-in-law James Barnes. Melissa and Carrie were teachers. A few years after Phoebe's death, Chester moved to Grand Rapids, bringing at least four daughters with him. Other Moss children remained in New York. Chester died in Grand Rapids in 1865 and was buried at Greenwood Cemetery.

Caroline "Carrie" Moss [1843-1916]

The daughter of Chester [1804-1865] and Phoebe Sweezy [1806-1857] Moss, Carrie was born in Youngstown, New York on September 18, 1843. In 1870 she was living with her sister and brother-in-law,

Mary and James Barnes, in Grand Haven and working as a teacher, the profession she followed until retirement. She later became a Christian Scientist practitioner/healer. She lived with her widowed sister Mary Eames at 418 Franklin Street. Before joining her sister, Carrie resided at 226 Franklin. Carrie died of heat stroke in Grand Haven on July 30, 1916 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. See Chester H. Moss for more information about the family.

Samuel Mountford [Montford] [1837-1911]

Born in Burslem, England on August 23, 1837, Samuel Montford immigrated to the United States in 1848 and settled with his parents in La Grange, Wisconsin. On August 18, 1861 he enlisted as private in the 5th Wisconsin Light Artillery, was wounded at the Battle of Stone's River [Tennessee], and was mustered out on November 14, 1864. In 1868 he moved to Georgetown Township and became a farmer, and nine years later he relocated to an 80-acre farm in Section 5 of Olive Township. He was elected justice of the peace in 1887 and again in 1891, and in the early 1890s he became postmaster in the town of West Olive, where he had moved in 1891. He also owned a grocery store in West Olive. On April 6, 1858 he married Sarah A. Westbury, who was born in Rochester, New York and passed away in West Olive on September 15, 1872. Two of their three sons moved to Chicago and the third to North Dakota. They were all born in Wisconsin. On March 22, 1877 Samuel married Eliza Brown Brooks, the widow of Charles C. Brooks. Eliza was born in Michigan on February 21, 1836 and died in Chicago on December 28, 1897. Apparently Samuel married again, this time to Gertrude Roll of Ottawa County. Samuel was a member of the William Thirkettle Post No. 388, G.A.R., in Allendale. He died about June 12, 1911 at the Soldier's Home in Grand Rapids and was buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Holland. [Tribune obituary, December 30, 1897.]

Samuel Curtis Mower [1842-1885]

Samuel Mower was born in Boston, Massachusetts on March 29, 1842. He enlisted as sergeant in Company K of the 4th Wisconsin Cavalry on May 17, 1861 while living in Chilton, Wisconsin. He was promoted to second lieutenant on December 26, 1862, to first lieutenant on March 2, 1864, and to captain on September 24, 1864. He was transferred to Company F about ten months before being mustered out on May 28, 1866. In Grand Haven Samuel was made captain of Company F, 126th Michigan Infantry, in 1880 and served for four years in that capacity. He married Clara Mae Burton [Benton] in Milwaukee on June 1, 1870. She was born in Illinois in 1850, the daughter of William M. and Charlotte Burton. Samuel died in Milwaukee on April 10, 1885. Clara applied for a Civil War widow's pension on July 12, 1890. Their sons, both born in Michigan, were Harrison C., born about 1875, and Samuel W., born in August 1876. Clara married George Angel [Angell] of Grand Haven on January 19, 1891. By 1910 she was widowed again and living in Detroit.

Erhard Mueller [Muller] [1877-1957]

Around 1930 Erhard and Lena [Leni, Lina] Muller owned a 40-acre farm in Section 5 of Robinson Township. They called their place Waldheim [Woods Home] and resided on the land in a one-story frame home. Both were natives of Germany, where Erhard was born on May 13, 1877 and Lena on May 25, 1873. They were married in 1899, came to the United States five years later, and became naturalized citizens in 1911. By 1920 they were residing in Chicago, where Erhard worked as custodian in an apartment building. Ten years later they were in Robinson Township. Lena died on June 10, 1954 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Erhard passed away on May 18, 1957 and was buried with Lena.

Teunis William Muilenberg [1864-1941]

From 1898 to 1908 Teunis Muilenberg was pastor at the First Reformed Church in Grand Haven. He married Sena Powell Van Zanten in Grand Rapids on February 6, 1907. Sena, the daughter of John and Kate Vett Powell, was born in 1874 and previously had been married to Charles Van Zanten I, who had died of smallpox on January 20, 1903. One of their children Alice, was born in Grand Haven on May 10, 1899. In 1935 in Holland, she married Henry Veld. The Muilenbergs moved to Holland, where Teunis continued his career as pastor. He was born in Pella, Iowa on June 15, 1864 and passed away in Holland on October 28, 1941. Sena died in Holland on February 18, 1958. [Tribune article, "Focus on People," May 3, 1999.]

After William Ganoe's death in 1888, Captain John Muir purchased and piloted the steamer W. H. Barrett, the last boat to ply the river between Grand Haven and Grand Rapids. The Barrett was built by William's father, Jesse Ganoe & Son of Grand Rapids, and launched in June 1875. The sidewheeler, measuring 37' long and 24' wide, was destroyed by fire while docked in her home city in November 1894. It was sparks from the Barrett that started a sawdust fire, leading to the destruction of much of Spring Lake on May 11, 1893. John was born in 1830 and arrived in Grand Rapids with his parents in 1852. He died on December 8, 1916. He married Jean Davidson on September 19, 1853. She was born in Canada in November 1830 and died in 1911. They were residents of Kent County as early as 1860. Both were buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Kent County.

Anne [1834-1883] and Derkje Mulder [1834-1905]

Anne Mulder and his wife, Derkje Dyk, were married in The Netherlands in 1858, where they both were born in 1834. They immigrated to Holland, Michigan in 1867 and arrived in Spring Lake two years later. Their children born in The Netherlands were Kate, who lived from 1858 to 1925; John, born about 1861; George J., born on February 24, 1864; and Allie [Ella], born about 1866. Their locally born children were Cora, who lived from 1867 to 1942; Mary, born about 1871; and Cornelius, born around 1874. Ella, Cora, and Mary apparently did not marry and shared a home on Savidge Street. Kate and Cora were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. After working in the sawmills, Anne, a carpenter, became a merchant in 1875. After his death in 1883 his wife and two sons, John and George, ran the business with their mother as Mrs. Anne Mulder & Sons. Their grocery, dry goods, and feed store was lost in the fire of 1893, but they rebuilt on the same site, at 104 West Savidge. Derkje died on April 15, 1905 and was buried near her husband at Spring Lake Cemetery. Around 1930 the store name was changed to Mulder Bros. & Sons Hardware at 108 West Savidge. The Mulders were charter members of the First Dutch Reformed Church in Spring Lake. In the 1940s Jacob Braak, who ran a bakery, bought the building, raised the roof, and added apartments upstairs. [Tribune "Years Events for 1899."]

Anson George Mulder [1899-1964]

The son of Spring Lake natives George and Adriana Mulder, Anson was born on July 30, 1899. Anson and his father operated a grocery store at 108 West Savidge called Mulder Bros. & Sons. In 1930 Anson was unmarried and residing with his parents on Savidge Street. He married Ruth E. Westerhouse in Flint on June 21, 1933. They resided at 311 East Exchange. Anson died in Spring Lake on January 1, 1964.

Cornelius D. Mulder [1874-1939]

Born in Spring Lake on February 22, 1874, Cornelius was the son of Anne and Derkje Dyk Mulder. He had four older sisters, Mary, Ella, Kate, and Cora, and two older brothers, George and John. Educated in Spring Lake Schools, Cornelius graduated from Hope College in 1899 and later from the University of Michigan Medical School. He began his practice in New Era, Oceana County, and returned to Spring Lake where he practiced medicine for the next 36 years. He was the only physician in the village and surrounding area at a time when there were few automobiles. During the terrible influenza epidemic following WWI, he hired a chauffeur so he could nap between calls.

Cornelius was a member of Hatton Hospital [North Ottawa Community Hospital] from its beginning, a member of the Michigan Homeopathic Society, director and original stockholder of the Spring Lake State Bank for eight years, member of the Ottawa County Medical Association, on the staff of Hackley Hospital in Muskegon; trustee of Hope College and Western Theological Seminary, and member of the Spring Lake School Board for 22 years and at one time its president. He continued to practice even after stricken with a deadly malady. His residence was located at 223 East Savidge, once the home of Dr. Cyril Brown. Cornelius died on June 9, 1939 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. His wife, Harriet, was born in Nottinghamshire, England, on May 16, 1880 and died in Spring Lake on February 16, 1961. They were married on August 8, 1905. Harriet was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Cornelius.

George J. Mulder [1864-1939]

Born in The Netherlands on February 24, 1864, George was the son of Anne and Derkje Dyk Mulder. He had four older sisters, Mary, Ella, Kate, and Cora, and two brothers, Cornelius and John. His family immigrated to the United States in 1867. About 1890 George married Adriana [Jennie] Oggel, who was born in Michigan on August 4, 1865. Their children, all born locally, included Cornelius, born in March 1893; Della, who was born October 8, 1894 and died in June 1981; Adrian, born in November 1896; Anson [Algernon], born on July 30, 1899; Elizabeth Gertrude, who was born on August 17, 1901 and died on January 26, 1934; and Kathryn, who was born June 13, 1904 and married Richard Kruizenga of Spring Lake. George and his brother John ran a business started by their father. After the father's death in 1883 John and George operated the business as Mrs. Anne Mulder & Sons. Their grocery and feed store was lost in the fire of 1893, but they rebuilt on the same site, at 104 West Savidge. Derkje Mulder died on April 15, 1905 and was buried near her husband at Spring Lake Cemetery. In the 1920s the store name was moved to 108 West Savidge as Mulder Bros. & Sons Hardware. Adrianna passed away on January 2, 1934. George died March 22, 1939 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with his wife and other family members.

Born in The Netherlands on September 3, 1860 [1861], John was the son of Anne and Derkje Dyk Mulder. He had four older sisters, Mary, Ella, Kate, and Cora, and two brothers, Cornelius and George. John and his brother George ran a business started by their father. After the father's death in 1883 John and George operated the business as Mrs. Anne Mulder & Sons. Their grocery and feed store was lost in the fire of 1893, but they rebuilt on the same site, at 104 West Savidge. In the 1920s the store name was moved to 108 West Savidge as Mulder Bros. & Sons Hardware. John married Margaret "Maggie" Dobb in Spring Lake on June 30, 1892. They resided on Savidge Street. Margaret was born in Spring Lake on October 25, 1868 and married John around 1892. Their daughter Gertrude was born about 1903 and Esther about 1909. John died on November 18, 1942 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Margaret died on February 6, 1948 and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Born in Holland, Michigan on January 3, 1893, John Mulder started clerking in a drugstore at age 17. He received his pharmacist's license from Ferris Institute [Ferris State University] and came to Grand Haven in 1916 as a partner with Doede J. Du Saar in the Square Drug Store at Seventh and Fulton [635 Fulton]. Doede was from Port Huron. On January 11, 1917 in Zeeland, he married Fanny Tien in Zeeland. Also in 1917 he bought out his partner and purchased the Thieleman Drug Store. After operating both drugstores for ten years, he sold the "Squares" to John Voss. In 1918 he bought the drug store on the southwest corner of Washington and Second [136 Washington] from Jacob Vander Veen and his son, Claude. John, Fannie, and a son lived at 610 Sheldon around 1920. By 1930 the family was residing at 619 Lake Avenue. Their children, all born locally, were John, born about 1928; Marjory M., born about 1921; and Charlotte, born about 1925. John, the father, retired in 1952 after 35 years in the drugstore business, which he sold to Robert Steiner. John was on the Board of Education for 11 years and a charter member of Board of Public Works. In 1921 and 1922 he served as alderman on the Grand Haven City Council. John died in 1961. Fannie was born on October 20, 1893 and died in Grand Haven on December 10, 1992. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Klaas Mulder [Moulder] [1847-1928]

In the early 1900s Klaas Mulder and his family resided on a farm at 540 Colfax Street in Grand Haven. They raised livestock and crops. He had worked as a farmer in Groningen, The Netherlands, where he was born on November 2, 1847, but was classified as Laborer in the 1910 census. His wife, Nellie, also a native of Groningen, was born about 1862. They immigrated to Grand Haven with their eight children aboard the S.S. Rotterdam on September 19, 1901. The children were all born in Groningen: Harm, about 1885; Anje [Anna], about 1888; Helen, about 1899; Grace, about 1890; Alex, about 1895; Albert, about 1891; and George and Jennie. Klaas died in East Grand Rapids on December 26, 1928 and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery.

Lambertus [Lambert, Lammert] J. Mulder [1852-1938]

Lambertus Mulder was born in The Netherlands on June 17, 1852. He married Elizabeth Van Woerven, who was born in 1854, also in The Netherlands. The couple immigrated to the United States in 1872 and lived at 612 Columbus in Grand Haven. Lambertus, a tailor by trade, owned a shop at 19-25 North Third, just north of Carnegie Library, where he also offered dry cleaning and pressing. Their children were John G., who was born in The Netherlands around 1872 and joined his father in the tailoring business; Alice [Ella], who was born on January 17, 1874 and married Wilford W. Dake of Grand Haven; Richard, who was born about 1877 and operated and inspected mechanical cranes; and Henry, who was born about 1879 and went into the commercial fishing business. The three younger children were born locally. Lambertus was an elder at the Second Reformed Church. He died in Grand Haven on July 2, 1938, a year after Elizabeth passed away. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Sophia Smith Mulder, who was born in Bradford, Pennsylvania on March 17, 1871 and died on July 26, 1961, was known as the “lady who stopped the train.” She came to Grand Haven when she was 5 years old and married John G. Mulder in Grand Haven on June 25, 1896. John, the son of Lambertus and Elizabeth Van Woerven, was born in The Netherlands around 1872. He worked with his father in the tailoring and drycleaning business at 19-25 North Third. Sophia and John lived at 622 Columbus in Grand Haven. For 65 years she waved to trainmen from her home at the Columbus Street crossing. On her 80th birthday the train stopped and one of the trainmen jumped out to present Sophia with a large hydrangea plant as a thank you. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. John died on January 2, 1943 and also was buried at Lake Forest. Gerrit John Muller [1877-1945]

Gerrit Muller was proprietor of a tobacco store at 113 North Seventh in Grand Haven in the early 1900s, where he also manufactured cigars. On March 1, 1899 he married Janna “Jennie” B. Kammeraad in Grand Haven. They lived at 1110 [1108] Franklin. Jennie was born on March 18, 1877 in Grand Haven and Gerrit on June 15, 1877 in one of the Antilles Islands, a possession of The Netherlands. Jennie died in Los Angeles, California on December 3, 1945 and was buried at Glen Haven Memorial Park in Los Angeles County. Gerrit passed away 14 years later and was buried in the same cemetery.

Hugh, the son of John and Julia Mulligan, was born in Grand Haven on October 7, 1876. He married Anna Stroub in Grand Haven on September 6, 1904. Anna was born in Michigan in 1877. The Mulligans had a daughter Virginia, who was born in Michigan November 1, 1905 and died in Florida on February 13, 1976. In the early 1900s the family lived on Pennoyer near Sheldon Road. By the 1930s Hugh and his family resided at 535 Slayton. He was inspector of boilers with the U. S. Steamboat Inspection Office in Grand Haven in 1932, and he served on the Board of Public Works from 1935 to 1957. Hugh, who retired as lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard, died on March 2, 1964 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Anna passed away around August 6, 1958 and also was buried at Lake Forest.

John Mulligan I [1843-1911]

In the 1893 Compendium John Mulligan was listed as a sailor. By the late 1800s he and his wife had settled on a parcel of land east of the dune known as Five Mile Hill, where they lived in a farmhouse. John, an Irish Catholic, was a tugboat owner. He was described as a “very Irish, very tall man with a big nose,” who wore a Prince Edward coat to church on Sundays. In November 12, 1868 he married Julia Court [McCourt] in Dundalk, Ireland. They had several children, including Annie, who was born in England about 1870; John II, born about 1874; James L., born about 1875; Hugh P., born on October 7, 1876; Mary I., born about 1878; Owen, born in November 1883; Henry J., born in July 1885; Lizzie, born in December 1887; and Julia W., who was born in December 1889 and married Joseph A. De May in Grand Haven on April 22, 1919. All the children except Annie were born in Grand Haven. Most of them eventually moved from the area. One son, Hugh, remained in Grand Haven. In 1908 the City of Grand Haven purchased for $100.65 a piece of land 229’ by 165’, part of an area which now known as Mulligan’s Hollow. The Mulligans moved the two-story portion of their house to a lot on the west side of Leggat [417 Leggat], the third structure north of Sherman Avenue, where it remains today. A native of Ireland, John was born in June 1843 and died on February 13, 1911. Julia, also from Ireland, lived from May 13, 1850 to March 30, 1917. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Chronicle article “Family History Clears Up Mystery,” June 26, 1984.]

Dexter I. Munro [1896-1971]

Dexter and Wilma Munro owned and managed Lakeview Court, offering tourist accommodations at 501 Pine Street in Ferrysburg starting in the mid- to late 1930s. They were still in the business as late as 1954. The Lakeview Motel was still advertising its rooms in 1971. Dexter had been a car salesman in Port Huron before opening the motel. Dexter and Wilma Ter Haar were married in Detroit on June 4, 1947. Wilma taught nursing at Grand Haven High School in 1951. In 1956 she was working as a nurse at Grand Haven Municipal Hospital. Two years later she had the same job but had moved to Fruitport. By 1970 they were retired and living in Pompano Beach, Florida. Dexter was born in Michigan on May 26, 1896. His first wife, Beatrix [Beatrice] May Gardner, died in Port Huron on February 23, 1941 at the age of 42. Dexter passed away at Pompano Beach on September 24, 1971. Wilma was born in Jamestown, Ottawa County, on April 30, 1915 and died in Florida on December 20, 2008. Both were buried at Forest Lawn Memorial Gardens North in Pompano Beach.

Leonard Munroe [1872-1935]

Born in Parma, New York, on March 28, 1872, Leonard was the son of James Edward [1849-1917] and Lydia Thompson [1848-1929] Munroe. He married Frances Silvers in Clarence, Calhoun County, on February 12, 1894. By 1915 they had moved from Clarence to 235 Franklin Street [15 South Third Street], a house owned by Leonard’s uncle Stephen L. Munroe. When Stephen died in 1919, Leonard inherited the house. Sometime between 1920 and 1925 he sold the house to Colonel George Olsen. Olsen moved the house to 301 Sherman Avenue, where it still stands. Leonard died in Albion on May 25, 1935. Frances, who was born in Michigan on February 14, 1870 passed away on November 26, 1957. The couple was buried at Riverside Cemetery in Albion. They had one son, Harry W. Munroe, who was born in 1906 and may have died young. His name did not appear with Leonard and Frances in the 1920 Federal Census for Grand Haven.

Stephen Munroe [Monroe] II [1813-1890]

Stephen, born in Parma, Monroe County, New York on June 28, 1813, was the second of seven children born to Stephen and Susan Hicks Munroe. Around 1843 young Stephen started his study of medicine, and within a few years he received a medical degree from Bellevue Hospital Medical School in New York City. He moved to Jackson, Michigan in 1834, went to Albion in 1840, and continued to Grand Haven in 1850. He bought considerable acreage in Spring Lake Township in the spring of 1849 and more early the next year, totaling more than 200 acres in the six-year period. He also purchased property in the City of Grand Haven. Initially, he roomed at the Washington House in downtown Grand Haven. He and Isaac Harris also bought a considerable amount of land in Robinson Township, and in 1865 he bought from Chief Payquotuch acreage at Battle Point in Crockery Township. Fort Village, an Indian settlement, was located on Battle Point. In 1867 the doctor built a sawmill at the north end of Jackson Street in Spring Lake. His nephew, Stephen L. Munroe, took part ownership of the mill the next year. In 1871 Dr. Munroe was named director of the First National Bank of Grand Haven.

By 1850 the doctor had opened an office in Griffin's Drug Store at 29 Washington Street. Later he purchased a house at 21 Washington as his residence and another building at 23 Washington for his office. Michigan Medical History noted: "Dr. Monroe was a pioneer in the practice of medicine in Ottawa County. He traveled up and down the lake shore on foot, on horseback, or in a canoe, suffering hunger and fatigue in his long tedious trips. A shrewd energetic man, he has been successful, such as he will be."

Stephen married Orpha Raymond Cobb on December 20, 1855 in Grand Haven. A native of Stowe, Vermont, Orpha was born on January 2, 1829, the daughter of Seth and Abigail Barnes Cobb. After the death of her mother in 1839, Orpha lived with Nathan and Aurelia Thomas in Stowe. Two years after their wedding, Stephen and Orpha moved from Grand Haven to Albion so the doctor could devote more time to his lumbering and other business enterprises and attend to his wife, who was an invalid. How Orpha found her way to Grand Haven remains a mystery, although her Barnes cousins, twins John and James Barnes, may have played a part. She did not seem to be related to the Cobb or Raymond families that lived in the Grand Haven area. Orpha passed away in Albion on July 21, 1858 and was interred in the Munroe vault at Riverside Cemetery in Albion. About the same time Stephen left Grand Haven in 1857, his replacement, Dr. Jacob McNett, and his wife Louise arrived. Stephen resumed his medical practice in Grand Haven around 1860, and an 1864 atlas showed he continued to have a presence in Grand Haven, working as "Phys. & Surgeon." He and Dr. McNett were the only medical doctors in early Grand Haven.

Stephen returned to Grand Haven following his wife's death. He was listed in the 1860 Federal Census for Grand Haven as a physician. Living with him then were his nieces Betty [Betsy] Louisa Munroe and Sarah Cordelia Munroe, as well as Healy Ackley, a 24-year-old attorney, newly arrived in Grand Haven, who soon would become one of its major figures. Betty was 21, and Sarah was two years younger. The 1870 Federal Census continued to show him as a Grand Haven resident. In the house with him at that time were his niece Sarah, now divorced from Nelson Howlett, and younger sisters, Emma Louisa Munroe, age 17, and Julia Lydia Munroe, 16 years old. The two girls also were counted on the same date in 1870 as students attending school in Albion, living in the home of Reverend Andrew Fitch [1815-1887] and his family. In 1871 Stephen was named director of the First National Bank of Grand Haven. He is referred to as "Doctor" in most of the letters. Between 1871 and 1880 he left Grand Haven to make his home in Albion, although in 1883 he was listed as a physician in Battle Creek, although he was not a resident there.

By 1880, Stephen was back in Albion. Sarah, now divorced from Nelson Howlett, was living with him again. In 1883 he was listed as a physician in Battle Creek, although he was not a resident there. That year or the next, the doctor moved west. He died of "Bright's Disease" in Los Angeles, California on December 28, 1890 and was buried at Riverside Cemetery in Albion.

Stephen Leonard Munroe [Monroe] [1847-1919]

The son of Leonard and Amarilla Munroe, Stephen was born in Parma, New York on February 11, 1847. He remained with his parents until 1865, but in 1868 he formed a partnership with John Thomson to take over the sawmill at the foot of Jackson Street in Mill Point that his uncle had built the previous year. The firm, known as Munroe, Thomson Lumber Company, manufactured shingles, lath, and pickets. Spring Lake resident Warner Vos also invested in the business. After the mill burned down in 1872, Sherman H. Boyce bought out Thomson's interest. He and Stephen rebuilt the mill and changed the name of the firm to Munroe, Boyce & Company. The company had two 812-ton barges built, the Mary H. Boyce in 1887 and the Mary A. McGregor the next year. Apparently the firm shut down permanently about that time. Stephen also had lumbering interests in association with Israel Harris.

At the time of the 1870 Federal Census, young Stephen was living, probably temporarily, in South Haven, where he was listed as “Lumberman.” In 1880 Stephen, again classified as lumberman in the federal census of that year, was rooming at the Rideout House in Spring Lake. He soon moved to Grand Haven to occupy the house at 238 Franklin Street [15 South Third Street] that his uncle owned and had lived in.

In 1885 Stephen and Grand Rapids resident Harvey Taft bought Day, Colton & Co. in Grand Rapids from Lorenzo Day and Alva Colton. The company produced wooden and chain pumps. The new owners renamed their business Peoples Pump Works, and in late 1889 they applied for a patent for an industrial pump. The company’s success, if any, was short lived. It disappeared before 1900. Despite running a business in Grand Rapids, Stephen continued to reside in Grand Haven. Shortly after 1885, he and local resident William H. Loutit organized and operated the Grand Haven Gas Works Company. Known also as the Grand Haven Gas Light Company, the business office was located at 129 Washington Street, and its plant was on the southeast corner of Water and Lafayette Streets. Munroe and Loutit sold the utility to W.E. Moss & Company of Detroit in 1907. The company, today known as Michigan Gas Utilities, continues to serve the residents of Grand Haven and other communities in southern Michigan.

In 1895 Stephen Munroe organized the Grand Haven Street Railway Company. Other organizers were George W. Jenner, Sherman H. Boyce, Andrew J. Emlaw, and George B. Parks. Cars ran from downtown Grand Haven along Water Street [now Harbor Avenue] to Highland Park. One of the stops was at a building near the south pier, erected by the company for dances and other events. Called Munroe Pavilion, the complex included bath houses, where visitors could change into their swimwear, as well as an entertainment and dance hall. The company also built a wooden deck, parallel to the south pier, to enhance people’s enjoyment of the water.

Munroe’s street railway company was bought by the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven & Muskegon Railway Company and became known informally as the Interurban. The new company used electric power to provide transportation between Grand Rapids, Fruitport, Muskegon, Spring Lake, and Grand Haven.

Stephen Leonard Munroe died of a cerebral hemorrhage in Grand Haven on October 21, 1919. He, too, was buried at Riverside Cemetery in Albion. His will stipulated that his estate was to be divided among his surviving sisters, nieces, and nephews. Orpha and Marian each received $50, because “they are otherwise well provided for.” His house on Franklin Street was bequeathed to his nephew Leonard Munroe, who resided in Grand Haven a short time before returning to Albion. Leonard, the son of Stephen’s brother James Edward Munroe, sold the home to Colonel George Olsen, who moved it to its present location, 301 Sherman Avenue. The Benevolent Protective Order of Elks erected their club house on the vacant lot in the mid-1920s.

At the time of his death, Stephen owned more than 35 acres on the south side of the Grand River near its mouth. The City of Grand Haven purchased the majority of this property from his estate for $1,000 on October 14, 1920, and on December 20 the city sold 22 acres of it to the State of Michigan. The acreage is now known as Grand Haven State Park.

Born on February 11, 1847 in Parma, New York, Stephen was the son of Leonard [1814-1901] and Amarilla Wheeler [1818-1904] Munroe and the nephew of Dr. Stephen Munroe of Grand Haven. The young Stephen moved to Michigan between 1865 and 1870, the year he was included in the federal census as a resident of South Haven and working as a “Lumberman.” In 1880 Stephen, still classified as a lumberman, was rooming at the Rideout House in Spring Lake, but he soon moved to Grand Haven. A house located on the corner of Franklin and Third Streets [15 South Third] was built before 1864 by John W. Hopkins. Following John’s death on February 1, 1883, Dr. Munroe bought the property. After the doctor moved permanently to California, young Stephen took possession and was living there when the house was partially damaged in the fire of October 1, 1889. He repaired the home and was still living there as late as 1908. In the mid-1920s new owners moved the house to 301 Sherman Street. In 1915, Stephen was renting accommodations at 134 Washington.

Stephen was an entrepreneur, and in 1868 he and John Thomson became partners in the Munroe, Thomson & Company lumber firm. They built a sawmill in Mill Point [Spring Lake] at the foot of Jackson Street in 1867, which burned down in 1872. Sherman Boyce bought out John Thomson's shares. He and Stephen changed the name to Munroe, Boyce & Co. Nelson Howlett joined the firm in 1882. Stephen had other lumbering interests and was associated with Israel Harris.

In addition to lumber, Stephen's manufactured shingles, lath, and pickets. In the mid-1880s he and Grand Rapids resident Harvey Taft purchased the People's Pump Works in Grand Rapids. In late 1889 the partners applied for a patent for an industrial pump. By 1900 the company was closed. Stephen was one of the founders of the Grand Haven Street Railway Company on April 30, 1895. Other organizers were George W. Jenner, Sherman H. Boyce, Andrew J. Emlaw, and George B. Parks. Stephen and William H. Loutit purchased the Grand Haven Gas Works at 129 Washington sometime after 1885 and continued to operate it. Stephen owned more than 35 acres on the south side of the Grand River near its mouth. The City of Grand Haven purchased the majority of this property for $1,000 on October 14, 1920, and then on December 20 the city sold 22 acres to the State of Michigan to be used as a state park. Stephen also had lumbering interests and was associated with Israel Harris.

Stephen's sister, Sarah Cordelia Munroe, was Nelson Howlett's first wife. Stephen died of a cerebral hemorrhage in Grand Haven on October 21, 1919. He was buried at Riverside Cemetery in Albion, Calhoun County. Stephen was a Mason and a member of the Elks.

Thomas F. Murphy [? - ?]

Born in Ireland, Thomas Murphy arrived in this country as a young boy. He learned the ship's carpenter trade, which he entered in 1854. After living in Chicago for many years, he came to Grand Haven in 1880. By 1882 he had built "several ships" in Grand Haven. [History of Ottawa County.]

Albert Musk [1841-1925]

Albert Musk moved to Spring Lake from The Netherlands in 1882 and became an employee of the Village. About 1870 Albert married Verzia [Foke/Foske] Smit, who was born in The Netherlands in August 1841. They had at least four children, including Maggie, who was born in The Netherlands in 1879. In 1910, Albert was a janitor in a Spring Lake school. He was born on June 16, 1841 in The Netherlands and died on April 16, 1925 at the age of 83. [Tribune obituary, April 17, 1925.]

Born in Polkton Township on July 9, 1881, Courtland Muzzal opened a photography studio at the corner of Franklin and Second Streets in Grand Haven in 1905. His advertisement in the 1905 County Weekly read, "WE MAKE ANYTHING IN THE PORTRAIT LINE. From the Smallest Locket Picture to Life Size Enlargements and our work is always up to date." He provided many of the half-tone pictures included in the Grand Haven Tribune souvenir edition of April 1907. He married Edna M. Martin in Lake County, Indiana, on May 25, 1903. By 1920 Courtland and his family were residing in Island County, Washington. Edna was born in Indiana about 1882. Courtland died in Everett, Washington on May 11, 1958. His parents were Edwin W. and Estella Murray Muzzal. Harry Muzzal was his cousin.

Harold "Harry" Alfred Muzzal [Muzzall] [1881-1956]

Harry Muzzal in 1910 was a dentist in Coopersville but by 1920 was working as a cashier at a Coopersville bank. The 1930 Federal Census listed him as a dentist once again. He also ran a fire insurance business. The son of Alfred C. and Julia Murray Muzzal, Harry was born in Coopersville on January 16, 1881 and died on May 2, 1956. He married Hazel B. Curtiss in Paris Township, Kent County, on November 19, 1913. She was born in Minnesota on April 21, 1891 and passed away on January 17, 1974. She and Harry were buried at Coopersville Cemetery. Courtland Muzzal was his cousin.

Dorothy Mahlebashian Myers [1924-2008]

Known as the Popcorn Lady and the Crib Lady, Dorothy Myers operated a popcorn stand at the Barn Skating Rink [215 South Harbor] before purchasing a lot just east of the Dee Lite Restaurant, where she built the Corn Crib in 1950 [38 Washington]. She ran the stand until selling the business in 1993. Dorothy grew up in Grand Rapids, where her parents, John and Stella Mahlebashian sold popcorn from a horse-drawn wagon and later from a truck. On July 13, 1946 in Grand Rapids, she married Carroll Leonard Myers, who had been stationed in Grand Haven while with the Coast Guard. He was president of Mitronics by the late 1970s. Dorothy was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church and sang for 60 years with the choir. She and Carroll had a daughter Robin and a son Kevin, both of Grand Haven. The family resided at 320 Columbus and then at 103 Lafayette. Later Dorothy lived at 939 Woodlawn. Born on December 19, 1924, she died on July 11, 2008. Carroll, who was born in New Haven Township, Minnesota, lived from February 18, 1922 to February 25, 1985. He was buried at Grandview Memorial Gardens in Rochester, Minnesota.

Isaac [Isaak] C. Myers [Meyers] [1836-1894]

On March 4, 1865 in Charlotte, Eaton County, Isaac Myers enlisted in Company H of the 10th Michigan Cavalry as private. He was mustered out on November 11, 1865 and subsequently settled on 10 acres in Section 26 of Grand Haven Township. He was born in 1836, died about January 26, 1894, and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. He married Susan [Susannah] M. Spindle [Sprindler], who was born in Ohio around 1842. She applied for a widow's Civil War pension on February 10, 1894. Among Isaac's and Susan's children was William Henry Meyers. He was born in Grand Haven on June 28, 1884 and married Berthan Grose in his hometown on September 2, 1911. Isaac's and Susan's daughter Edna was born in Agnew in 1886 and married Thomas Koetsier in Grand Haven on February 18, 1902.

Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Nelson [Nels] Neels [Niels] [1842-1910]

In the 1893 Compendium, Nelson Niels [Neels] was shown as living on a 40-acre farm in Section 3 of Olive Township, where he settled, according to his obituary, around 1880, although he doesn’t appear in the Federal Census of that year for any location. [A Nelson Neale, born about 1843 in Alabama, was living in Milam, Texas at the time of the 1870 Federal Census; he was living with an African American family and working as a farm laborer.] During the Civil War, he served with Company F of the 2nd Kansas Infantry from 1861 to 1865. [His unit was renamed the 83rd Colored Infantry (New) on December 13, 1864.] Nelson was born in Kentucky [Arkansas/Alabama] about August 1842 [1844, 1846, 1848]. According to the censuses of 1900 and 1910, Nelson remained on his farm in Olive Township, continuing to work as a farmer. An article that appeared in the Tribune the day after Nelson’s death noted that he was sometimes known as Nelson Cooper. Nelson Cooper appeared in the 1880 Federal Census for West Olive as a 34-year-old single man who worked as a farmer. In any event, Nelson died at Hackley Hospital in Muskegon on August 24, 1910. His obituary stated his only relative was a sister who lived in New Orleans. He was buried in the G.A.R. plot at Lake Forest Cemetery under the name Neels with other Civil War veterans; his gravestone was undated. [Tribune obituaries, August 24, 1910, August 25, 1910, and August 28, 1910.]

Jane Alice Neil [1875-1932]

Born in Grand Haven on October 17, 1875, Jane Alice Neil was the daughter of John and Bridget Neil. She attended local schools and was a member of St. John’s Episcopal Church. She graduated with Grand Haven High School class of 1893 and went on to the University of Michigan, where she graduated with a degree in education in 1896. By 1910 she was a teacher in the Chicago public schools. She joined the faculty of the Jesse Spaulding School for Crippled Children and in Chicago in 1914 was named principal of the school. She ultimately became superintendent of the School District. During her 34 years as Spaulding, she helped further public awareness of the physically handicapped. An article in a 1921 issue of Illinois voter applauded her efforts: “. . . [U]nder the direction of Miss Jane Neil’s sympathetic imagination and energy, [the school]

continued to meet the needs of Chicago's handicapped children." Jane died on October 29, 1932 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members. Jane A. Neil Elementary School in Chicago was named in her honor. Another article [The Michigan Alumnus, Vol 39] said, "Miss Neil was an excellent speaker and her eloquence in the interests of under-privileged children has been the means of bringing about valuable legislation in the many states in which she has spoken. She and President Franklin D. Roosevelt became friends through their common interest in infantile paralysis and were given honorary offices in Rotary International. She told Rotarians, "You can accomplish anything if you care not who gets the credit." More than twenty years after her death, Jane A. Neil Elementary School in Chicago was named in her honor. Spaulding School closed permanently in 2004.

John W. Neil [Neal, O'Neil, O'Neal] I [1835-1910]

Born in Ontario, Canada in 1835, John Neil came to Detroit in 1859 to learn the ship building business. He arrived in Grand Haven in 1867 with a group of Welsh and Scottish shipbuilders. He, Thomas Kirby, and John Callister established Mechanics' Dry Dock and Shipyard in Grand Haven. Mechanics' Dry Dock produced many of the great steamers manufactured in local shipyards. John was listed as a ship's carpenter in the 1892 Business Compendium. During the Civil War, John served with the Navy in the ship building yards. On May 18, 1857 in Berlin [Marne] he married Bridget Alice Walsh [Roche] of Grand Haven. She was born in Ireland in 1841 and immigrated to the United States when she was six. At the time of their marriage, Bridget was listed as 24 years old and John as 25; both gave Walker, Kent County as their home. By the time of the 1900 Federal Census, John was living in Wyoming, Kent County, working as a ship's carpenter. Bridget was not with him at the time. They had two daughters: Mary, who was born about 1873, and Jane Alice, who was born on October 17, 1875, and two sons, including John W. II, who lived from October 31, 1878 to about November 3, 1934.

John II at the time of 1900 Federal Census was living with the John and Catherine Farnham family in Chicago. The Farnhams had been residents of Grand Haven until 1895, when they moved to Chicago. The younger John Neil was working as a clerk. At the time of the 1910 Federal Census, Bridget, Jane, Mary, and John II were living in Chicago, where Jane was a teacher. John I died on April 26, 1910 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. The census, taken a few days before John I died, listed Bridget as married, but her husband was not included in the count. At that time, John II owned a millinery store. Also living with Bridget in 1910 was 23-year-old Henry W. Buswell II of Grand Haven. Henry was employed as a foreman for an electric company. Bridget died in Chicago on April 30, 1927 and was buried at Lake Forest with her husband. John II also was buried in the family plot.

Albert John Neitring I [Neitering] [1887-1973]

Albert, the son of Henry and Henrietta Regelin Neitring, was born in Grand Haven Township on August 6, 1887 and died in the same city on April 2, 1973. Albert quit school after the fourth grade to help run the family farm, located at the northeast corner of Buchanan Street and U.S. 31 in Section 15 of Grand Haven Township. He worked at Challenge Machinery in the early 1900s. By the 1930s he was owner of A. J. Neitring & Sons Excavating and Coal Yards, which were located at 315 North Sixth Street. In the late 1940s he sold the business to his son and worked for the Wyant and Cannon Foundry in Muskegon.

In 1912, Albert married Angie, the daughter of Henry and Gertrude Boyink Roossien. Angie was born in Grand Haven on November 7, 1892. They lived at 315 North Sixth Street with their children, including Henry Albert, who was born February 26, 1913 and married Emily, the daughter of Henry and Cordelia Kolberg. Emily lived from November 8, 1914 to April 17, 1957 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Henry A. died in Grand Haven on March 15, 1997. Albert and Angie also had a daughter, Harriet Louise, who was born on September 4, 1914, married Kenneth Wayne Garter on April 9, 1937, and died on March 14, 1993 in Grand Haven. After Kenneth's death on May 11, 1946, Harriet married Theodore J. Musial II on February 19, 1949. Theodore was born on November 15, 1911 and died on May 10, 1981. Another daughter, Gertrude Marion, was born on July 21, 1916 and married Paul Kosch on May 6, 1938. Gertrude passed away on January 3, 1996 in Muskegon and Paul, who was born on May 256, 1916, died on August

2, 2005. A third daughter, Dorothy Ruth, was born on September 13, 1918. On April 21, 1937 she married Charles Irvin Blackmer who was born in Nunica on September 21, 1918 and died on October 15, 1965. Dorothy passed away on December 27, 1944 in Grand Haven. Another daughter, Bernice Lillian, who was born on August 12, 1920 in Spring Lake, died on April 9, 2005 in Grand Haven. She married Joseph Michael on September 5, 1936. Joseph, who was born on February 15, 1918, died on March 26, 1987. A fifth daughter, Mildred Angie, was born on November 6, 1922 and married Archie Veryl Green. Their sixth and last daughter, Arlene Mae, was born on May 2, 1927 and married Ralph “Hank” De Young of Grand Haven. A son, Albert Jay, was born on July 27, 1931. All the children except Bernice were born in Grand Haven. Angie passed away in Spring Lake on February 14, 1962.

Albert Jay Neitring II [1931-1998]

The son of Albert and Angie Roossien Neitring I, Albert was born in Grand Haven on July 27, 1931. Albert II operated heavy equipment for the City of Grand Haven, and before that he spent 17 years with Neitring’s Coal Dock. Albert II married Lorraine Lyons on March 10, 1951. Albert II died in Grand Haven on August 18, 1998.

Cornelius Van Raalte Neitring [Neitering, Nieiterink] [1819-1899]

Cornelius Neitring was known for his travels in life and in death. He was born in Drenthe, The Netherlands on August 31, 1819. At age 28 he departed his homeland for the United States and began earning a living as a fisherman on the Fox Islands near Beaver Island. On November 10, 1857 he married Aaltje Westrink Aldering in Holland. [Aaltje’s maiden name was Westrink, so apparently she had been married previously to a Mr. Aldering] Three years later the couple settled in Grand Haven, where they raised their four children: Gerrit, born about 1858; Henry, born about 1861; Albert, born about 1868; and Marie [Mary], who was born in 1882, married Karl Podein of Grand Haven, and died in 1962. After Aaltje’s death at the age of 60 on August 31, 1886 and in failing health himself, Cornelius was unable to live independently. In 1894 he was admitted to the Ottawa County Poor Farm. He died there of diabetes on New Year’s Day in 1899 at age 78 and was interred at the farm. When the weather improved, members of Cornelius’s family had his body exhumed, transported to Grand Haven, and buried in the cemetery on land that now is known as Central Park. Cornelius would not rest for long. Fearing health problems and general discomfort with the proximity of the cemetery to town, the City Council in 1900 ordered friends and family of the deceased to take personal responsibility in removing all loved ones to the new Lake Forest Cemetery. Gerrit, Henry, Albert, and Mary dutifully disinterred their father for yet a third burial. [Tribune article “Focus on People,” August 3, 1998 and anecdote by Marjorie Viveen in Our People Their Stories, 2014.]

Henry Gerrit Neitring I [1863-1900]

Henry Neitring I was treasurer of Grand Haven Township when he died of bronchitis on April 14, 1900. Born in 1863 to Cornelius and Aaltje Aldering Neitering, he married Henrietta Regelin in Grand Haven on October 3, 1883. She was the daughter of John and Maria Regelin of Grand Haven Township. The Neitrings had eight children, including Albert John, who was born in Grand Haven Township on August 6, 1887, and Henry II, who was born in Grand Haven Township on March 15, 1888. The family farm was located in Section 15 of Grand Haven Township. The barn remained visible at the northeast corner of U.S. 31 and Buchanan into the 21st century. In 1908 Henrietta resided at 526 Lafayette. Later she married Silas Harvey of Grand Haven. Henry was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Henrietta was born “on the sea” on April 4, 1865 and died on January 24, 1949.

Henry Gerrit Neitring [Neitering] II [1889-1951]

Born in Grand Haven Township on March 15, 1889, Henry was the son of Henry and Henrietta Regelin Neitring. About 1925 Henry II established one of the largest coal yards on the east shore of Lake Michigan. Named Neitring’s Coal Dock, it started at 205 Fulton, where he and his family also resided. The yards were moved to City Island [Harbor Island], with the address 1125 North Third. Henry started out making deliveries with a horse and wagon. He also established a coal yard in Holland, which he sold about 1945.

Henry was associated with John Kuiper of Ferrysburg as owner of the NK Cartage Company of Muskegon, one of the largest freight companies in West Michigan. In 1945 he turned over the operation of the coal dock to his son Henry III and a son-in-law, Leo J. Ebel, and retired from active management of the Cartage Company. Leo had been managing the Holland office.

On March 25, 1908 Henry married Magdalena “Maggie” Rue [Rugh] of Grand Haven Township. She was born in Michigan in November 1889. The Neitrings resided at 205 Fulton and later at 420 North First Street. Henry and Maggie had several children, including Harriet, born about 1909; Dorothy, who was born about 1911 and married Leo J. Ebel [June 7, 1907-March 1980]; Henry III, born on September 12, 1912; and Dolores, born about 1927. On March 8, 1915, Henry enlisted in Company F of Grand Haven, which merged with Company L of the 126th Infantry during WWI. He held the rank of sergeant. He was wounded in action on July 31, 1918. After the war Henry returned to Grand Haven and started his coal business. He became a member of the Harbor Commission, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Gideons. Henry was one of the founders of Gospel Hall, he aided the Youth for Christ movement, and he gave financial support to numerous church organizations. Henry died of a heart attack on April 4, 1951 in Grand Haven and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune article, July 8, 1952.]

Henry H. Neitring [Neitering] III [1912-1978]

Born in Grand Haven on September 12, 1912, to Henry and Maggie Rue Neitring, young Henry attended the local high school and Howell Business School in Muskegon. After graduation he joined his father’s business, and in 1945 he took over its management. Henry was a member of Kiwanis, the Spring Lake Country Club, Eagles, and Elks. In 1964 he entered into a partnership with W. Bruce Matthews, Leo Ebel, and James Bussard to start the Grand Haven Golf Club. Henry married Dorothy Roberts. The Neitrings had a daughter Diana. The family lived at 205 Fulton Street. Henry died on July 1, 1978 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune “Kiwanis Biography,” April 8, 1954.]

Joseph Ahmad Nejem [1885-1970]

Born in Aitha, Syria, on March 2, 1888 [1885], Joe Nejem moved to Grand Haven in 1901. Twenty-four years later, he became a naturalized citizen. Joe owned the J. A. Nejem Candy and Tobacco Store at 12-14 Washington in downtown Grand Haven and operated the Airdome Theater from 1912 to 1915 at the same address. He lived alone a few doors west, above what was at one time Thieleman’s Saloon [6 Washington]. He died in Grand Haven on June 1, 1970. His body was returned to Beirut, Lebanon for burial.

Charles B. Nelson [1928-2012]

Chuck Nelson was born on July 25, 1928 in Grand Haven. He was the son of Carl and Kathryn Martin Nelson. After serving with the Army during the Korean War, Chuck married Marie Leona Potter in Muskegon on April 28, 1962. Chuck on May 30, 1947 started the Pronto Pup business with his uncle, John Montgomery, a Spring Lake doctor. Chuck, then 19 years old and a recent graduate of Grand Haven High School, ran the stand until his uncle left the area a few years later, and he then took over complete ownership and management, opening each summer season thereafter. Chuck had a son, Carl, and two stepchildren: Sindee, who married Joe Maxwell, and James Starnes of Palm Desert, California. Chuck died in Grand Haven on March 11, 2012.

Olaf Nelson [1865-1941]

Olaf Nelson came to Grand Haven with the Story & Clark Piano Company when it moved here from Chicago, and he was Sounding-Board Department foreman when the company was making three to four pianos a day. At the same time Olaf was a fireman. He was elected to City Council in 1925 and served four years as Elder of the Presbyterian Church. Olaf lived from October 1, 1865 to April 4, 1941 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His wife, Melvina “Nina,” was born in Sweden about 1870. From the early 1900s to at least 1940 they resided at 500 Lake Avenue.

Sherrill Perrine Nelson [1898-1964]

Born in Oil City, Pennsylvania on January 29, 1898, Sherrill Nelson married Mabel Lundberg in Grand Rapids on July 2, 1923. She lived from December 17, 1898 to May 14, 1952 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Sherrill then married Jane Pellegrom on August 28, 1954. Not long after the wedding, the couple opened Sherrill House, a resort hotel, at 1026 South Harbor Drive. Prior to that enterprise, Sherrill had worked as a sanitary engineer in Grand Haven. He and Mabel resided at 526 Lafayette Street. Sherrill died in Grand Haven on October 3, 1964 and was buried at Lake Forest.

Theodore J. Nelson [1854-1933]

Theodore Nelson was a farmer and raised fruit on 20 acres in Section 24 of Spring Lake Township. He settled in the area in 1907. His wife's name, George Ella, was listed in the 1918 Directory as Geo-ella. Theodore was born in Illinois around 1854, and his wife was born in New Hampshire two years later. She passed away in 1918, and Theodore died in Spring Lake in 1933. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

William R. Nelson [1840-1865]

A Grand Haven Tribune article of May 2, 1913 listed 13 Black Civil War veterans who had enlisted for the service while residing in Ottawa County. William R. Nelson was among those cited, although William R. Nelson was listed on page 126 of the 1882 History of Ottawa County as having lost his life in the war at Orangeburg, South Carolina on June 30, 1865. Twenty-three years old when he enlisted in Detroit on November 2, 1863, William's military records show he was assigned to Company D of the 1st Michigan Colored Infantry [later called 102nd Michigan Colored Infantry] and mustered out in Orangeburg, South Carolina on June 30, 1865.

John N. Nelthorp [Nellthorpe] [1828-1900]

John Nelthorp, born in England on May 9, 1828, settled in Section 14 of Crockery Township in 1879, where he opened a restaurant, poolroom, and confectionery. He also was a mason. John served as private with Company K of the 3rd Michigan Infantry from August 6, 1862 to September 19, 1863, when he was discharged for disability. John died of cancer on March 19, 1900 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. On April 2, 1900 his wife, Jane B., applied for a widow's Civil War pension. She was born in Scotland in October 1823 and died on November 10, 1905. She, too, was buried at Nunica Cemetery. They had four children, all born in Michigan: Ida, Frank, Hattie, and Fred, who was born in March 1869.

Stephen Karl Nemeth [Nameth] [1882-1947]

Stephen Nemeth was born in Pressburg, Hungary [Austria] on September 15, 1882. He operated the Gildner Hotel [2 Washington Street] from 1900 to 1947 but changed the name to the William M. Ferry Hotel in 1934, in honor of the city's 100th anniversary. On February 14, 1929, Stephen married Selma Bahr Melnotte, who had a daughter, Evelyn Melnotte Carlson, born in Michigan about 1916. Selma, the daughter of Charles and Lena Bahr of Grand Haven, was born in Michigan in February 1892. In 1930 Evelyn was residing in Grand Haven with her uncle and aunt, Fred and Catherine Fink. Stephen passed away in 1947.

Jacob Nemire [1839-1913]

In the 1893 Compendium Jacob Nemire was listed as a dealer in marl [rich soil], but by 1908 he worked in a meat market. Jacob, who was born in The Netherlands in August 1839, had several wives. His first wife, Clara, died in Grand Haven on May 10, 1868, not quite 25 years old. Next he married Sarah Gosling, who died November 30, 1882 at the age of 40. Jacob and Sarah had a daughter, Alice Maud, who was born in Grand Haven on August 23, 1881. Alice became a teacher and married Edward Houston.

On December 24, 1883 in Grand Haven, Jacob married for the third time. His bride, Julia Britton Morehouse, was born in Grandville, Kent County on November 24, 1835 and died in Grand Haven on August 11, 1885. She lived with her sister Lavina Warts in Grand Haven in 1860. Julia was listed as a widow in the census of that year. She married Horace A. Morehouse in Grand Haven on October 5, 1854. Julia moved with Lavina and Lavina's children to Ypsilanti sometime before 1880.

Margaret [Marguerite], Jacob's fourth wife, was born in Kentucky in May 1846 and passed around August 16, 1935. Margaret and Jacob lived at 627 Washington. Jacob died on March 11, 1913 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his four wives and other family members.

Henry Ludwig Nessen [1866-1943]

In 1920, Henry Nessen was a salesman at a general store in Empire, Leelanau County. By the mid-1920s he owned a clothing and shoe store at 1119 Washington Street. He and his wife, Louise, resided at 1407 Columbus with their two children, Marion, who was born about 1907, and Ward, who was born about 1910 in Empire. By 1930 the Nessens had moved to Durham, South Carolina. Henry died in Grand Traverse County on March 21, 1943. He was born in Sweden in 1866 and came to the United States the next year.

Otto Christian Jacob Neuchterlein [Nuechterlein] [1875-1946]

In the mid-1920s, Otto Neuchterlein and his wife, Lena, purchased Khardomah Lodge from the sisters Mary and Susan Yerkes. The Neuchterleins continued to run it as a lodge for visitors. Unfortunately, the depression and falling revenues led to foreclosure of the property, and in 1937 the bank sold it to Jennie Smith and her husband. In 1910 Otto was a "collector" for a Grand Rapids brewery, in 1918 he worked as a watchman at a Grand Rapids bank, in 1921 he was a clerk at a department store. He married Lena Royers [Rogers] in Grand Rapids on June 8, 1921. Born on January 18, 1875 in Frankenmuth, Otto died on January 5, 1946 and was buried at Rosedale Memorial Park in Tallmadge Township. Lena lived from 1877 to 1937 and also was buried at Rosedale.

Gordon D. Neuman [1936-2006]

Gordon Neuman was born on June 29, 1936. He and his wife Susan purchased the real estate at 18 Washington about 2000. They tore down the existing building and constructed a new one to house Pavilion Wharf and Grill, which opened a few years later. The owners lived in an upstairs apartment. Gordon Neuman died on November 23, 2006, but his wife continued to operate the business and to reside in the upstairs apartment.

Fleda Augusta Nevins [1900-1989]

Born in Kalamazoo on June 19, 1900, Fleda Nevins graduated from Kalamazoo High School in 1919, attended Hillsdale College from 1925 to 1926. After teaching two years of junior high school science courses at Croswell, Sanilac County, Fleda graduated from Western Michigan University in 1927 and moved to Grand Haven to teach general science at Central School for the next 38 years. In 1953 she was appointed director of Educational Measurements, and she developed educational tools for student testing during her final 12 years of teaching. From 1943 to 1945 she was president of the Grand Haven Teacher's Club, and from 1953 to 1954 she was chairwoman of the Public Relations Committee of the Michigan Department of Classroom Teachers. She earned a master degree from the University of Michigan in 1942.

Fleda retired from the Grand Haven Area Public Schools on June 11, 1965. The next year she wrote an unpublished history of Ottawa County Normal School, which trained teachers between 1906 and 1919. She was active in the Red Cross blood bank, Tuesday Musicale, Grand Haven Woman's Club, First Presbyterian Church Women's Circle, Board of Deacons from 1967 to 1970, and chaired the Community Council Committee. Fleda also was a member of Pi Lambda Theta and editor of its newsletter from 1961 to 1968. She was a Girl Scout leader from 1927 to 1934. In addition, she was a member of the Triangle Business and Professional Women's Club from 1934 to 1941 and served as president for two years. She died in Grand Haven on December 9, 1989. [Tribune articles, "Devoted Local Teacher," May 20, 1965, and "Scrapbook Record of Town's Concern," April 2, 1967.]

John Henry Newcomb [1811-1892]

John was born on May 29, 1811, in Westford, New York, the son of James Smith and Jane C. Van Vleck Newcomb. James lived from 1773 to 1848, while Jane was born in Bronx, New York, on March 5, 1783, and died in Spring Lake on January 26, 1862. As a young man John moved to western New York, and in 1837 made his way to Muskegon. He sustained a serious injury at a sawmill he had built. He left the area for a short time, and on June 1, 1841 came to Spring Lake, where he built the first mill, this one for Barber & Mason, which he operated for the owners until 1842. He was among the first early settlers to plant fruit trees.

John also was credited with building the first permanent home in Spring Lake in 1841 on the southeast corner of Park and Barber Streets [310-312 North Park Street]. He spent the years 1842 to 1848 selling lumber for Barber & Mason in Chicago, earning a $1.50 a day.

John was married in Chicago on March 16 1848 to Frances Sinclair of that city, and they arrived in Spring Lake not long afterward. Frances was born in New York on September 23, 1824 and died on April 10, 1896. In January 1859 John opened a general store, which he operated until 1868. After that he worked in real estate and insurance. He was collector of Internal Revenue for a time, and also served as a justice of the peace. He was a Spring Lake School Board director in the 1860s. John was a trustee of the Spring Lake Presbyterian Church from June 5, 1861 until his death on March 23, 1892 and was church treasurer during much of that period. The Newcombs had one child, Lydia, born in 1850. Frances was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with other family members, including her husband's mother, Jane and possibly a sister-in-law, Catherine J., who died on March 24, 1873 at the age of 63. [Tribune obituary, March 23, 1892.]

Lydia Jane Newcomb [Comings] [1849-1946]

The only surviving child of John and Frances Newcomb, Lydia Newcomb was born in Spring Lake on July 25, 1850 and went into the field of education. Following graduation from Lucinda Hinsdale Stone's Seminary in Kalamazoo, she taught at Ravenswood Public School in Chicago between 1876 and 1885. From 1895 to 1898 Lydia held the rank of Professor at the Moravian Seminary and College for Young Women at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. She returned to Spring Lake where, in January 1886, she was one of the organizers of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union in the Village and lectured on the subject throughout the country. After 1899 she gave talks on physical culture [physical education] and similar subjects, but in 1900 she was teaching in Grand Rapids. Lydia was co-founder of the Organic School of Organic Education in Fairhope, Alabama and president of its Board of Trustees. She was founder and president of the Baldwin County, Alabama, Historical Society.

Lydia was the author of several books, including Muscular Exercises for Health and Grace, 1893; Industrial and Vocational Education, 1915; and, Brief History of Baldwin County, the story of the Utopian community of Fairhope, Alabama, 1928. She was included in Women's Who's Who of America, for 1914-15.

On August 27, 1902, Lydia married Samuel Huntington Comings, a widower, who lived from August 4, 1839 to December 24, 1907. It was her first and his third marriage. He was the author of several books, two of them published posthumously, one of which was edited by Lydia. In 1900 Samuel was a blueberry grower in St. Joseph, Berrien County. He was born in Greensboro, Vermont and died in Fairhope. Lydia passed away in 1946.

Orlando W. Newell [1833-1899]

Spring Lake physician Orlando Newell was born in Pennsylvania on May 30, 1833, the son of Jacob and Betsy Newell. Jacob was born in New Hampshire in 1807 and Betsy was from New York, where she was born in 1810. Orlando was living in Henry County, Illinois in 1880, but his medical practice was well established in Spring Lake by the early 1890s. His residence, featured in the 1893 Directory and called "Bay View Home," was located at 319 East Savidge. His wife Rebecca was born around 1837 in New York. They had a child, Grant, born in Illinois in 1864. They were still living in Illinois in 1870, where Orlando maintained a physician's office. Orlando died on July 23, 1899.

Horrace G. Nichols [1850–1932]

In 1881 Horrace Nichols formed a partnership with Guy Weber and bought the Grand Haven Daily Herald from the estate of Willard S. Benham, who had lost his life the previous October when the Alpena sank in Lake Michigan. Nichols and Weber sold out in a few months to Kedzie and Kedzie. Horrace purchased the Grand Haven Tribune in 1891 for $1,500 and was its publisher and editor for many years. During his ownership the Tribune building on Washington Street was constructed in 1902. In 1881 Horrace served as alderman of Grand Haven’s Fourth Ward. Horrace retired in 1915 and sold the newspaper to his son Horace “Harry” G. Nichols II and Kingsbury Scott. For the next three years Horrace and his wife lived on a farm in Donners Grove, Illinois. About 1919 they returned to Grand Haven and resided at 600 Lake Avenue.

On June [July] 6, 1872 in Grand Haven, Horrace married Sophia F. Smith, the daughter of John and Christina Smith, early Grand Haven settlers. They were members of the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Haven. Horrace and Sophie first lived on the second floor of 120 Washington, above the newspaper’s office. Horrace, who was born in Allegan in October 1850 [1851], died November 23, 1892. His uncle, Henry S. Clubb, published the Ottawa Clarion, which first appeared in 1857. Another uncle, Don C. Henderson, publisher of the Allegan Journal, hired Horrace to work with him. Sophia, who was born in Mecklenburg, Germany, lived from August 23, 1855 [1856] to December 30, 1932. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. A son, also named Horace, was born on September 13, 1873. He altered his father’s first name and spelled it with one “r.” He was referred to as “Harry.” Horrace and Sophie also had a daughter, Maud Myrtle, who was born in October 1875, married Samuel Chambers of Grand Haven, and moved to Seattle, Washington and then to Los Angeles, California.

Horace “Harry” Stevens Nichols [1873-1939]

In 1915 Horace II took over management of the Grand Haven Daily Tribune from his father, Horrace Nichols. Kingsbury Scott was young Horace’s partner. Harry married Julia, the daughter of Adrian and Johanna Bentley Van Tol. Julia lived from 1875 to 1916. Nichols and Scott sold the newspaper to E. J. McCall and Felix Church in February 1927. Harry was born in Michigan on September 13, 1873 and died on March 16, 1939. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members.

In the 1920s Ed and Mae Norris lived in a boarding house at Bass River. Ed worked as dredgeman at the nearby gravel pits. Construction Materials Company in Ferrysburg owned the gravel pits and the boarding house. Mae managed the boarding house and cooked and cleaned for twenty to thirty boarders who also worked at the gravel dig. Mae later took a job as cook at Yellow Jacket on M-45, a place owned by Myrtle Littrell, Ed's sister. In 1931 the Norrises purchased a farm on M-45. In the same decade they traded the farm for Schmedtgan's Roadhouse in Section 1 of Grand Haven Township. The Roadhouse, then owned by Molenkamp, was located near Potawatomie Bayou in Grand Haven Township [14990 Mercury Drive]. They changed the name to Potawatomie Tavern. After fire destroyed the tavern in 1937, the Norrises rebuilt and operated the tavern until 1947, when they renamed their business Holiday Inn Restaurant. Mae learned the cooking business at the Bass River boarding house and furthered her culinary skills in the kitchen of Hotel Gildner in Grand Haven, where she worked for nine years. She also had experience at the Fiesta Café [625 Washington] and Charlie's Lunch [515 North Seventh]. In 1969 the Norrises sold the business to Vernon and Charlotte Austin of Ravenna.

Mae Farley was a native of Springfield, Missouri, where she was born on May 18, 1902. There she met her husband, Edward Norris, and they were married in Springfield on July 12, 1920. They came to the Grand Haven area the next year and took up residency at the boarding house. Mae died in Grand Haven on July 3, 1984. Ed lived from November 18, 1891 [1893] to September 7, 1978. Myrtle Littrell [Bronkhorst] was credited with starting the Yellow Jacket Inn on Lake Michigan Drive [M-45] in the mid-1930s. Ed and Mae had two adopted children, Budd of Kalamazoo and Maureen, who married Fred Leach of Coopersville. Ed served with the Marines during WWI, and he played baseball with a Grand Haven semi-professional team. [Tribune article, "Mr. and Mrs. Norris honored Sunday," July 10, 1970 and Tribune obituary, July 5, 1984.]

Born in Washtenaw County in 1830, John Norris lived in Kent County before moving to Grand Haven in 1869. He worked for the Friant & Hall Sawmill as engineer for seven years. Carolina was born in Wayne County, New York, on April 7, 1835, the daughter of Cornelius V. and Hulda Hatch Morrison Friant and the sister of George W. and Thomas Friant, early Ottawa County pioneers. Cornelius and Hulda were married in Wayne County in 1827 and were settled in Kent County by 1837. James and Carolina had one child, Lydia Estelle, who survived childhood. Lydia was born about 1854 in Michigan. James died on October 5, 1900. Carolina died in Grand Rapids on June 5, 1928.

Henrietta S. North [1855-1937]

Henrietta North owned a 40-acre farm in Section 14 of Spring Lake Township, where she raised fruit in addition to small crops. She arrived in the Spring Lake area in 1898 but was gone by the mid-1910s and in 1930 she was residing with her son-in-law and daughter, Marcus A. and Winifred B. Coykendall, in Grand Rapids. Winifred was born about 1883 in Michigan. Her mother, Henrietta, was born in Michigan on September 25, 1855. Her husband, Therman, was born in The Netherlands in April 1852. A farmer, Therman came to the United States in 1872. Henrietta passed away on April 28, 1937 in Grand Rapids.

John Dubois North [1833-1909]

According to Pioneer Collections, Dr. John North was James and John Barnes's uncle. He arrived in the area in 1858, when he treated cases of meningitis in the "Rosamound" [Rosy Mound] area. He didn't stay long because "the climate did not agree with his health," he wrote. On January 4, 1864 he enlisted as an unassigned private with the 1st Michigan Light Artillery, but there was no further record of his military experience. After the Civil War he opened a medical practice in Jackson, Jackson County, where he resided with his wife Ada and their two children. John was born in Kingston, New York March 16, 1833. On April 5, 1875 he married Emily Antoinette Lombard in Jackson. She was born on August 8, 1837 in Washtenaw County and died in Jackson on June 29, 1904. She was buried at Woodland Cemetery in Jackson. John died in Jackson on April 30, 1909 and was buried at Lodi Cemetery in Saline, Washtenaw County.

Albert Cornelius Northouse [1853-1908]

Born in Grand Haven Township in January 1853, Albert was the son of Cornelis and Effie Vanmaren Northouse [Noordhuis]. On August 21, 1883 in Grand Haven, Albert married Ella Jane Wilcox. She was born in 1858 and died on May 28, 1897. They had two children, Alfred Albert Northouse, born on December 27, 1886, and Pearl May Northouse. Pearl was born in Grand Haven on July 31, 1891, married William H. Zeitow in Grand Haven on December 17, 1910, divorced him ten years later, and died under the name Pearl Parker in Holland on January 10, 1983.

Albert and his brother Peter owned 55 acres of lake front property in Section 5, and Albert had another 30 acres across Lakeshore Drive in Section 4, originally part of his brother's holdings. Albert, a well-known horticulturist, raised honeybees. The Grand Haven Tribune of July 3, 1900 noted that "Albert Northouse, the veteran bee man of Rosy Mound, says there will be an unprecedented amount of honey this year. The bees have been fairly in clover all spring." On another occasion a newspaper article noted he was looking into starting a skunk farm in Spring Lake Township with an unnamed partner [Jackson Citizen, October 17, 1899]. Albert was clerk of inspectors for the Grand Haven Township School Board, County Inspector in 1881, and township clerk from 1887 to 1895. He was director of School District #2 for Rosy Mound from 1898 until his death, and for about ten years he held the post of justice of the peace. He died on April 15, 1908.

Alfred Arthur Northouse [1886-1957]

Alfred, the son of Albert and Ella Wilcox Northouse, was born in Grand Haven on December 27, 1886. In 1906 or earlier, Alfred started a skunk farm, or possibly he assumed responsibility for the skunk business his father and an unnamed partner owned in Spring Lake Township. In 1910, Alfred was doing odd jobs as a farm laborer in Washtenaw County. On March 12, 1912, he married Maud Dauhof [Dayhuff] in Steuben County, Indiana. She was born on April 9, 1888 in Steuben. By 1920 Alfred and Maude were living in Angola, Steuben County, with their three children. Maud passed away on June 22, 1938 in Garrett, Indiana. Alfred died in Jacksonville, Florida on October 9, 1957.

Cornelis [Cornelius] A. Northouse [Nordhuis, Noordhuis] [1816-1882]

Born in The Netherlands on December 11, 1816, Cornelis Nordhuis settled on 120 acres in Section 4 of Grand Haven Township. He also owned 66 acres in Section 5. Cornelis came to America aboard the Katherine Jackson, which arrived in New York on May 17, 1848, after a 41-day journey. Passengers then took a steamboat to Albany, a canal boat to Buffalo, a steamboat to Chicago, and then a sailboat to Holland, where Cornelis evidently spent some time. On April 1, 1850, he bought 40 acres in Allegan County.

Cornelis married Altje “Effie” Vanmaren in Grand Haven on June 13, 1852. She was born in The Netherlands about 1825 and passed away in 1879. On their 120-acre plot in Section 4 of Grand Haven Township, the Nordhuises cultivated sugar maples, with about 50 to 75 large trees near the south base of Rosy Mound. Around 1876 Cornelis built a two-story, frame home across the road from today’s Rosy Mound School, which later became the home of the Steele family. Eventually the house was razed. A son, Albert, was born around 1853 in Michigan and became a fruit grower. Another son, Peter, was born in 1855. Albert remained in the family home after his parents’ deaths, and Peter lived nearby. Cornelis was an active member of the First Christian Reformed Church of Grand Haven. He died on August 17, 1882 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Between 1880 and 1900, the Nordhuis surname was changed to Northouse.

Harm Northouse [Noordhuis, Nordhuis] [1827-1899]

Harm Northouse was born in The Netherlands on November 2, 1827 and died in Grand Haven on July 2, 1899. After his death, his widow, Luiktje “Lucy,” remained in the family home at 401 Lafayette, which she shared with her son, Louis. Lou, a plumber, had an office at 22 Washington in the early 1900s. Lucy, a native of The Netherlands, lived from November 6, 1832 to June 14, 1914. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. Harm and Lucy had six other children beside Lou, including Ylko, who lived from May 30, 1856 to February 21, 1886, and Jante, who was born on December 25, 1868 and died on November 29, 1879. Ylko and Jantje were buried at Lake Forest, too.

John Nordhouse [Noordhuis, Nordhuis] [1870-1961]

John Nordhouse worked as personal secretary to three different members of the president’s cabinet during the administrations of Grover Cleveland, William McKinley, and Theodore Roosevelt. John, the son of Harm and Luiktje Nordhouse, was born in Grand Haven in February 1870 [1871]. He died in Nyack, New Jersey on July 21, 1961. John left Grand Haven at age 19 and worked and resided in the eastern United States the majority of his life. He married Hannah Loella Skinner in Washington, D.C. on March 25, 1895. They had at least one son, Sterling Morton, who was born in Washington, D.C. on November 4, 1897 and died in Nyack on December 22, 1985. Hannah was born in Canada in November 1875 and died in Clarkstown, New York on October 20, 1937. [Tribune, “GH native worked in 3 U.S. president’s Cabinets,” Kevin Collier, March 3, 2014.]

Louis Northouse [Nordhouse] [1876-1956]

In the early 1900s Lou Northouse had a heating and plumbing business at 22 Washington Street. He resided at 401 Lafayette with his mother, Lucy, the widow of Harm Northouse. On February 2, 1911, in Holland, Michigan, Lou married Sara, daughter of Albert and Marie Loker Manting [Mantingh]. Sara was born on February 2, 1886 in Allegan County and died at her home at 410 Wallace on May 10, 1940. Maynard Manting of Grand Haven was her brother. Lou and Sara had a son, George Louis Nordhouse, who married Rebecca Shane and resided in Spring Lake. The family resided at 410 Wallace and attended the Second Reformed Church. Lou was born on September 14, 1876 and passed away around July 2, 1956. He was buried at Lake Forests Cemetery. His parents were Harm and Lucy Northouse.

Peter C. Northouse [Nordhuis] [1855-1920]

By 1900 or earlier, the spelling of Nordhuis had changed to Northouse. Peter, the son of Cornelis and Effie Nordhuis, was born in Grand Haven Township in September 1855 [1857]. He inherited 90 of the original 120 acres owned by his mother and father in Section 4. There he planted 50 to 75 sugar maple trees near the base of the south side of Rosy Mound. In the early 1900s he sold the 90 acres to John Majerus. Majerus, in turn, in 1911 donated three-quarters of an acre of the land as the site for a new school called Rosy Mound. In addition, Peter and his brother Albert owned 55 acres of lake front property in Section 5. Peter became an insurance agent and a notary public, and he also dealt in real estate. His office, called Western Michigan Realty Company, was at 9 Washington, and he lived at 424 Slayton with his wife, Jessie. In 1912 he advertised "Resort Property a Specialty." Potawatomi Lake Resort, a subdivision dating to at least 1897 that was intended to attract buyers interested in hunting, fishing, and bathing [swimming]. [Potawatomi was then called a lake.] Peter and Jamies Bignell advertised building sites on Potawatomi Lake Resort. The lots ranged from 66-feet by 200-feet on Millhouse to 100-feet by 200-feet on Potawatomi. Prices varied from $75 a lot to $350 for five-acre parcels. They claimed the five and ten acre lots would make "fine poultry and fruit farms."

Peter was township clerk from 1887 to 1895 and also clerk of the Board of school inspectors. Around 1900 he was a director of Rosy Mound School. Peter and his brother Albert owned jointly the acreage that had belonged to Cornelis and he owned an additional 20 acres across Lakeshore Drive in Section 4.

On June 2, 1880 in Muskegon, Peter married Jessie Danhof. He died on December 23, 1920 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Jessie, who lived from September 23, 1862 [1864] to February 12, 1924. The Northouses' children, all born locally, included Cora, born about 1881; Tracy, born on March 3, 1883; Agnes, born in August 1887; and Alberta, born in March 1893. Jessie was born in The Netherlands and immigrated to the United States in 1873.

Edward Northrup [? - ?]

In 1885 Edward Northrup bought a newspaper business in Grand Haven and published his first issue in spring that year under the name Evening Venture. As early as 1876 Edward was publisher of the Coopersville Courier. His brothers were in the newspaper business with him. They sold their business to Charles R. Esler in 1887. The name of the Evening Venture eventually was changed to The Evening Tribune and then to The Grand Haven Daily Tribune.

John Nortier served as supervisor of Grand Haven Township from 1996-2004. Before that he was township trustee for 12 years and clerk for four years. John, the son of Pieter and Johanna Van Hoorn Nortier, was born in Grand Rapids on October 16, 1927. On March 4, 1955 he married Margaret Heyboer in Grand Rapids. Their children were Sandra of Quincy, Massachusetts, and Jane of Ann Arbor. John and Margaret resided at 13083 Lakeshore Drive. John served in the Navy from 1946 to 1947. He graduated with a bachelor degree from Western Michigan University and completed requirements for a master degree at the University of Michigan. In Grand Haven, he taught U.S. history, civics, and social studies until his retirement in 1986. Margaret and John attended Trinity Reformed Church. John died on September 3, 2009 and was buried at Grand Haven Township Lakeshore Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, September 4, 2009.]

Amos "Colonel" Norton [1789-1861]

Amos, the son of David Norton, was born in Hampshire City, Massachusetts on September 15, 1789. Amos settled in Spring Lake Township subsequent to the 1837 rebellion in Canada, where he had moved from Sangerfield, New York. In association with Jabez Barber, he built a sawmill at what later became known as Nortonville, four miles up Grand River from Grand Haven. In 1844 he planted a fruit orchard there. A post office was authorized for the small town on January 5, 1846, and Amos was named postmaster. The office closed on March 22, 1859. Norton's mill burned down in 1854 and was rebuilt the next year. Norton Township, then a part of Ottawa County, was named for him. In 1852 he was elected County supervisor. Amos chaired the organizational meeting of the Ottawa County Agricultural Society, held at Steele's Landing [Lamont] in 1856. Amos's wife, Lydia Barton, was born in Hampshire City, Massachusetts, on April 24, 1793. She died in Nortonville on April 5, 1866. Amos also died in Nortonville on November 19, 1861, about five months after his son, George.

Born in 1813 in Sangerfield, New York, George Norton died on July 11, 1861. He was the son of Amos and Lydia Barton Norton. Together the father and son formed the A. & G. L. Norton Sawmill in Nortonville. The mill burned down, but the father and son had it rebuilt. George was elected sheriff of Ottawa County in 1851. He first married Caroline Ferrier in Toronto, Canada in 1837. She was born in England about December 20, 1818 and died on March 7 [17], 1853 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. They had at least five children, all born locally: Clarise, born about 1841; Mortimer, born about 1842; Lucy H., born about 1846; Almira, born about 1848; and Walter, born about May 1850. George and his second wife, Maryette, had at least two children. Maryette was from Ohio, where she was born in 1835.

Jelmer Nuismer [1862-1947]

A native of Ontinwedde, The Netherlands, where he was born on February 2, 1862, Jelmer Nuismer arrived in Spring Lake in the early 1880s. He married Elizabeth Boelens, also a native of Ontinewedde. Elizabeth, who lived from 1859 to 1936, arrived in Spring Lake about the same time as Jelmer. Their home was located at 306 Visser Street. Jelmer owned and farmed an island in the Grand River, which he also used as pasture for cows and horses. He got to the island on his personal ferryboat. The Nuismers had six children. One of them, Anna, was born on September 10, 1889 and married Henry Zuidema of Spring Lake. Another was Joseph, who was born in Spring Lake on January 12, 1895. Jelmer died on May 10, 1947 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, as was Elizabeth.

Joseph J. Nuismer [1895-1966]

The son of Jelmer and Elizabeth Boelens Nuismer, Joseph was born in Spring Lake on January 12, 1895 [1893]. In 1930 he was employed as a blacksmith at Johnston Boiler. On April 19 [10], 1917 he married Henrietta Tona Pippel, the daughter of Anthony Pippel I of Grand Haven. Henrietta was born in Grand Haven on May 8, 1894 and died on May 4, 1974. Their children were Joseph Anthony, who was born on March 2, 1918 in Spring Lake, married Ruth Louise Olsen, and died in Petoskey on January 20, 1995; Cornelia Elizabeth; Vivian Tona, who was born in Grand Haven on October 24, 1921 and became deputy county clerk of Ottawa County; and Norman Jack. The Nuismer family resided at 902 Elliott. Joseph died in Grand Haven on April 27, 1977 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Henrietta.

Glen Vernon Nygren [1922-2005]

Glen, the son of Henning Harold and Maude Peterson Nygren, was born in Pontiac on October 27, 1922. After their father's death in 1945, Glen and his brother Henning Leigh Nygren ran the family business, Ottawa Steel. They were co-owners of the business. Glen served with the Army Air Corps during WWII, and in 1948 graduated from Purdue University. His first wife, Mary E., was born on October 29, 1925, passed away in West Olive on November 18, 2002 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. He married Mary K. Van Slooten on November 27, 1976. Glen belonged to the Grand Haven Presbyterian Church, and was a member of the Spring Lake Country Club, Elks Club, and American Legion Post 28 in Grand Haven. His children included Karin Poret of Mesa, Arizona; Kim, who married Mike Montgomery of Norton Shores; Erik of Grand Haven; and Matt of Ada. Glen also had a stepdaughter, Carol King of Holland, Michigan, and two stepsons, Jeffrey and Jerry King, both of Fennville. Glen died on March 4, 2005. [Tribune obituary, March 5, 2005.]

Henning Harold Nygren [1890-1944]

Henning Harold Nygren was born in Askesta, Sweden on May 24, 1890, the son of Erik and Sofia Larson Nygren. He was educated in the public schools of Sweden and became an apprentice in the pattern and tool trade. At the suggestion of Henning's father, Henning came to America from Bergen, Norway, landing in New York on November 17, 1911. On September 30, 1916 in Muskegon, he married Maude Peterson, who was born in Michigan about 1892. A son, Henning [Harold] Leigh Nygren, was born in Michigan on October 14, 1917, and Glen Vernon Nygren was born in Pontiac on October 22, 1922. In 1918 Henning was working in Muskegon as a toolmaker.

Henning and his family settled in Grand Rapids, where he was employed by Grand Rapids Showcase and other companies. In 1922 he established the Detroit Piston Ring Manufacturing Company and moved the business to Grand Haven in June 1928, when he changed the company name to Ottawa Steel Products. About the same time the Nygrens bought a residence at 519 South Seventh Street. Henning returned to Sweden, but when World War II started, he came back to America and again was employed by numerous factories as a tool and die craftsman. Located at 745 Woodlawn, the company during World War II manufactured parts for hydraulic wing controls for heavy airplane bombers, navy guns, and Army trucks. Henning was an avid hunter, a member of the Elks, Masons, Spring Lake Country Club, Peninsula Club, and Grand Haven Stag Club. H. Leigh Nygren ran Ottawa Steel from the time of his father's death about May 16, 1944 until his retirement in April 1962. H. Leigh Nygren and his brother Glen became co-owners of Ottawa Steel and ran the business after their father's death. Henning was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

H. Leigh Nygren was born in Muskegon on October 14, 1917, the son of Henning Harold and Maude Peterson Nygren. The young Nygren served in the Air Force in the Supply Department from 1942 to 1945. Leigh and his brother Glen ran the family business, Ottawa Steel, from the time of their father's death in 1945 until Leigh's retirement in April 1962, when he moved to Arizona. He married Vivian Frieda Emma Hetzel in Edmonton, Canada on October 16, 1944. She was born in Grand Rapids on March 28, 1917. They resided at 1710 Hillcrest in Grand Haven. They had a son Steven Leigh Nygren, who lived from 1947 to 2001, and a daughter Susan Flora Nygren, who was born in 1947, married Robert Velsin, and died in 2014. [According to the family genealogy, Steven and Susan were born about two weeks apart.] Leigh died in Tucson, Arizona on December 19, 1995. Vivian passed away in Tucson on January 29, 2007 at the age of 89. Henning was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Arend John Nyland [Nylon] I [1828-1898]

Born on October 9, 1828 and schooled in Eibergen, The Netherlands, Arend Nyland came to America at the age of 18, landing in Baltimore, Maryland and proceeding by stage and canal to Buffalo where an older brother, Henry, was working in a tannery. Arend served a seven-year apprenticeship there. Leather he had tanned took the gold medal at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876. He worked for a number of tanneries throughout Michigan, including Kalamazoo, Breedsville, the Wallin Tannery at Saugatuck, and in 1863 he was foreman at the Albee Tannery at Grand Haven. After the Albee Tannery was destroyed by fire in 1865, Arend went into the tannery business in Grand Rapids with two partners. When the uninsured business was destroyed by fire, he returned to Albee's employ and soon after accepted a position as superintendent for the Herman Zohrlaut Leather Company at Milwaukee. Seven years later he moved to Holland, Michigan, where he was superintendent of the Cappon and Bertsch Leather Company for fourteen years. Upon settling in the Grand Haven area, he and his oldest son, Cornelius, purchased the interest of Frederick Metz in the Metz Leather Company. During that year they changed the name to Grand Haven Leather Company with an authorized capital of $100,000 and Arend was made president. The company tanned sole, harness and saddlery leather, and eventually added shoe leather. The plant was closed down within a year and sold to Eagle Tanning Company of Whitehall and Chicago. It reopened under the name of Ottawa Leather Company. Arend also served on the Grand Haven City Council in 1895 and 1896.

On June 22, 1851, in Buffalo, New York, Arend married Dena Schouwenaar, who was born at Kruningen, Netherlands on August 2, 1831, the daughter of a Dutch engineer and dike contractor. Of their seven children, all except Herman were born in Michigan, including Jennie, who was born in January 1858 and died June 16, 1934; Cornelius, born on April 23, 1860; Arend John II, born on January 17, 1866; Herman, born in Milwaukee in February 1872; and Minnie, who died July 1, 1929. The family resided at 1205 Fulton Avenue. Arend died in Grand Haven on November 21, 1898 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Dena died of a paralytic stroke at her home 1208 Washington Street on January 22, 1908 and also was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, January 24, 1908.]

Arend John Nyland II [1866-1940]

The son of Arend and Dena Schouwenaar Nyland, Arend II was born in Grand Haven on January 17, 1866. He was educated in area schools and eventually became the superintendent of the Grand Haven School System. Both Cornelius and Arend John II served their apprenticeship under their father while he was in Holland, Michigan. Like his father, Arend II was alderman for the City of Grand Haven, serving in 1897 and 1898, and he was elected mayor in 1908. Arend II died on August 8, 1940. His wife Minnie lived from February 18, 1868 to June 28, 1929. Their children were Arend John III, born in July 1886; Daisy M., who was born in July 1887 and married Cornelius "Case" J. Ver Brugge of Grand Haven; Dena N. who was born on November 29, 1888 and died on September 10, 1929; Jennie D., born in May 1890; Albert, born in December 1891; Ruth Cornelia, who was born about 1892 and died on September 21, 1904; Minnie E., who was born in November 1894; Edward J., born in September 1896; and Madeline M., born in May 1899. Arend died August 8, 1940 and buried in the family plot at Lake Forest Cemetery, where his wife also was interred.

Cornelius Nyland [1860-1923]

Cornelius Nyland was born in Holland Township on April 23, 1860. In March 1887 Cornelius and his father, Arend John Nyland I, purchased the interest of Frederick Metz in the Metz Leather Company, reorganizing it under the name to Grand Haven Leather Company with an authorized capital of $100,000. Arend I was president and manager, and Cornelius was foreman of the currier and finishing department. They were well-established in harness and saddlery leather and in the 1890s added shoe leather. Cornelius succeeded his father as president and manager after the older Nyland's death in 1898. Because of the cost of changing over equipment for shoe leather production, the panicky times of the 1890s, the slump in the market, and tightening of financial conditions all over; a meeting of the stockholders was held. At that meeting, Nelson R. Howlett was elected president and placed in charge of fiscal affairs for the purpose of liquidating the company. The plant was closed down within a year and was sold to Eagle Tanning Company of Whitehall and Chicago, which reopened it under the name of Ottawa Leather Company. Arend J. Nyland II was placed in charge as superintendent. Cornelius was interested in lumbering and also took up fox farming.

He married Maria Van Patten in Holland on October 13, 1882. Mary lived from May 9, 1862 to November 29, 1913. The family resided at 1200 Washington. Among their children were Dena, who died November 28, 1887, about three months beyond her fifth birthday; Jannetje "Jennie" W., who was born on August 5, 1884 and married George T. vanden Berg of Grand Haven; Mary Martha, who was born on January 17, 1888 and married John J. Gleason; Arthur J., born on February 5, 1890; Dorothy, who married Nelson Van Tol and moved to Birmingham, Alabama; Ruth C., who lived from September 1, 1892 to September 21, 1904, and Dorothy Lenora, who was born on December 11, 1902. Cornelius died on January 11, 1923. The Nylands were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members. [Tribune obituary, January 11, 1923.]

Esther Dean Nyland [1899-1997]

Born on January 1, 1899 to Herman Z. and Elizabeth McMillan Nyland, Esther Dean graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1916, and went on to earn a bachelor degree and in 1922 a master degree from the University of Michigan. After receiving her master degree, she did post-graduate work at Columbia University. Before coming to Grand Haven in 1947, she taught school at the Old Hickory Powder Plant near Nashville, Tennessee toward the end of World War I, at Mount Clemons, Macomb County, and at Paw Paw, Van Buren County. She was a long-time English teacher in the Grand Haven school system, and she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Gamma Phi Beta. Later she did post-graduate work at Columbia University. Esther Dean organized history clubs in Grand Haven Junior High School, and she gave an “Old Timer’s” coffee each year to commemorate Grand Haven’s birthday on November 2. Old Timers also was the name of a radio program she hosted, interviewing prominent citizens to hear about their earliest memories. She was one of the founders of the Tri-Cities Area Historical Society, and she also belonged to the Free Bed Guild and the League of Women Voters. She retired from teaching in 1964. She was baptized in the First Presbyterian Church in Grand Haven and remained a member all her life. In 1936 Esther Dean wrote a book titled 100 Years, combining a century of church activities with early Grand Haven history. She died in Grand Haven on November 21, 1997 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Herman Z. Nyland I [1871-1943]

Born in Milwaukee on February 14, 1871, Herman was the son of Arend and Dena Schouwenaar Nyland. Herman became road agent for the Grand Haven Leather Company after it was incorporated in 1885. In 1887, he was in charge of Dake Engine Company, which was located on the corner of Seventh and Monroe Streets. On February 20, 1888 he enlisted as corporal in Company F, 2nd Michigan Regiment, and he enlisted for another three-year term in 1891. He left the outfit with the rank of sergeant, under Captain Baltus Pellegrom, in February 1894.

On October 6, 1895 Herman married Elizabeth McMillan in Grand Haven. She was born in Canada in March 1868. She was the daughter of Neil [Neal] McMillan. The Nylands lived at 121 Lafayette in Grand Haven. Around 1900 Herman went into partnership with Neal McMillan and opened the McMillan & Nyland Ice Cream and Confectionery Store at 100 Washington with McMillans’ daughter, Mate, in charge. Esther Dean, born on January 1, 1899, was the Nylands’ daughter and their son, Herman Z. II, was born in Grand Haven on December 19, 1906 and died in Contra Costa, California on April 23, 1996. Other children were Neal McMillan Nyland, who was born in Milwaukee on August 30, 1896 and moved to Detroit, and William Aaron, who was born about 1905 and relocated to New York City. Elizabeth and Herman I were members of the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Haven, where she taught Sunday School for 27 years, served on the Executive Committee of the Ladies Social Society, and was president of the Missionary Society. Elizabeth taught at an elementary school located at 513 Jackson Street, and she served on the Grand Haven School Board in the mid-1910s. Herman I died on July 26, 1943 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Elizabeth passed away about December 11, 1950 and also was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, May 1, 1996.]

Cornelius [Cornelis] Adrianus Nyson [Nijssen, Nyssen] I [1835-1896]

Cornelius Nyson was born in The Netherlands on February 13, 1835 and arrived in Grand Haven in 1848. On August 3, 1867 in Grand Haven, he married Anje de Bruin, Born in Groningen, The Netherlands, on January 14, 1850, she gave birth to Jan Kornelis Nyssen on May 15, 1869 and died on the following October 2, several weeks after the new-born son had passed away. Not long after Anje’s death, Cornelius married Marthe [Martha] Meyer, who was born in The Netherlands in 1845. He and Martha had eight children, all born locally, including William I, who was born in August 1860; Cornelius II, who was born in 1862 and died on September 18, 1884; and Jennie, born in February 1879. After Martha’s death on December 21, 1885, Cornelius married Cornelia Van Hall on November 3, 1886 in Grand Haven. They resided at 606 Fulton. Cornelia was born in The Netherlands in November 1840 and passed away around August 2, 1916. Cornelius, a carpenter, was listed in the 1893 Compendium as a “millwright.” He and Cornelia continued living at 606 Fulton, where she remained after her husband’s death. Cornelius’s father, Adriannus Nyson, a Grand Haven lumberman, lived from 1805 to January 6, 1896. Cornelius’s mother, Wilmina, was born about 1814 in The Netherlands. Cornelius died on November 4, 1896 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Cornelia. [Tribune obituary, November 4, 1896.]

William M. Nyson [Nyssen] I [1860-1949]

William Nyson, the son of Cornelius and Martha Meyer Nyson, was born in Grand Haven in August 1860. He operated a laundry in Muskegon for two years and was proprietor of the Kempf House in the same city for two more years. William opened the Grand Haven Steam Laundry in 1893 at 12 Washington, the first steam laundry in the city. He offered pickup and delivery with his horse and cart. By 1908 he was working for the Challenge Machinery Company. He and his wife Barbara lived on Elliott Street around 1900 and later moved to 221 North Third. They were married in 1887. Their son, William II, who also worked at Challenge, was born November 5, 1889 and died in January 1963. William I died in Muskegon Heights on February 4, 1949, and Barbara, who was born in Michigan in May 1868, passed away on January 17, 1950. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was their son William II.

Dustin C. Oakes [1853-1903]

A native of St. Joseph, Berrien County, where he was born on June 19, 1853, Dustin was the son of David and Mary S. Oakes II. He graduated from Michigan Agricultural College [MSU] in East Lansing. At the time of his death, Dustin was cashier at the National Bank of Grand Haven, forerunner of Grand Haven State Bank [Fifth Third], a position he had held for about three years. Prior to coming to Grand Haven, Dustin was in the banking business in Coopersville for about 10 years, and before that he was in Shelby, Oceana County. Dustin married Lenora "Nora" Kelly in Ionia on December 27, 1876. She was born in Michigan about 1860. They were still residing in Lyons, Ionia County, in 1880. Their children were Ruby, born in 1882 and died in the State of Washington; Archie, born in 1884 and died in 1919 in Flint; and Stanley, who lived from 1888 to 1976. Dustin died on September 26, 1903. Lenora was born in 1859 and died on June 22, 1910. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband and other family members. [Tribune obituaries September 26, 28, and 29 1903.]

Edwin Charles Oakes [1899-1974]

Edwin, the son of Harry and Jane Oakes, was born in Grand Haven on December 22, 1899. His wife, Helen, was born on November 17 the same year. By 1920 the couple was residing in Detroit. They had a daughter, Ruth, who was born around 1929. In 1930 Edwin was living in Kalamazoo and had a job as salesman of school supplies. Edwin died in Berea, Kentucky on July 17, 1974. Helen died in the same place on April 14, 1984.

Harry J. Oakes I [1860-1919]

In the 1893 Compendium Harry Oakes was listed as a "Marl Dealer." Marl was a form of fertilizer, or rich soil. A few years later he joined Dake Engine Company. By 1908 he was listed as a mechanic and deputy oil inspector. In a 1912 newspaper he advertised that he was a "Buyer and dealer in Copper, brass And Old rubber. ALSO Inside and Outside Auto Tires. Highest Prices Paid." A few years later he was an insurance agent for the Prudential Company. Harry was born in Manchester, England in September 1860 and died on March 31, 1919. He came to the United States in 1879. His mother's name was Harriet. On November 15, 1883, in Grand Haven, Harry married Jane Luikens of Grand Haven. She lived from June 16, 1863 to March 3, 1937. They moved into a home at 121 Howard Street in 1907 and ten years later were at 417 Leggat. Prior to that they lived in a house across the street. Harry and Jane also had lived previously at 304 Columbus [approximate number], which was lost in the fire of 1889. By the 1920s Jane Oakes and a son, Edwin Charles Oakes, born on July 22, 1899, had moved to 219 Columbus. Other sons were James W., born on October 21, 1884, and Harry II, born on October 17, 1890. Harry I and Jane also had a daughter Louise, who died young, and another daughter, Sarah L., who was born on September 23, 1887. Harry and Jane were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Elizabeth Kirkland of Grand Haven was his aunt.

James was born in Grand Haven on October 21, 1884, the son of Harry J. and Jane Oakes. James started a real estate and insurance business in 1903 with James E. Scott as his partner. In January 1907 he went into partnership with Henry J. Boer to form the Grand Haven Realty Company. In 1927 James bought the Studebaker dealership, located at 9-11 South Second Street, from the Charles E. Soule family. In April 1933 he merged with Beers Motor Company at 12 Franklin Street, owned by Orville Beers, and the combined operation offered Dodge, Plymouth, Packard, and Rockne automobiles, as well as Studebakers. He also owned Auto Fill, a Standard Oil service station at 20 North Third Street, with John Van Schelven as the attendant. James retired from the automobile business to devote his full time to real estate and insurance. Originally located at 228 Washington in downtown Grand Haven, the Oakes office moved to 234 Washington in 1974, one year after the property was vacated by the McLellan store. After James retired in 1954, John Van Schelven managed the real estate office until 1978. Oakes's nephew, Jim Oakes, also was associated with the business.

James married Mary M. "Mate" McMillan in Grand Haven on October 21, 1909. Mate, the daughter of Neal [Niel] and Elizabeth McMillan, was born on March 11, 1873. When a young woman, Mate worked as an operator for the fledgling telephone company, and later she worked at her father's ice cream store at 101 Washington. Later she was an active member of the Grand Haven Woman's Club and served as its president from 1920 to 1930. James and Mate were residing at 314 Second Street as early as 1920 and sometime after 1930 they moved to 803 Lake Avenue. He was a director of the Chamber of Commerce and active on the Board of Commerce and Industry that helped bring new industries to Grand Haven. James also served as secretary of the Spring Lake Country Club, and he and Mate were members of the First Presbyterian Church. Jim owned several downtown buildings. In partnership with Bruno Peter, he also owned much of the unimproved residential property along Sheldon Road, south of Taylor Street. Jim and Mate had a daughter, Inez. Jim died on August 12, 1954 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery on August 14. Mary died on February 24, 1965 in Grand Haven and was buried near her husband.

James, nephew of James W. Oakes, was born in Grand Haven on December 9, 1914. After graduating from Grand Haven High School in 1932 he attended the University of Michigan and then worked with his uncle in the insurance and real estate business. During WWII he was a major in the Air Corps. Between 1959 and 1962 James was elected to four consecutive terms as president of Spring Lake Village. Jim was a charter member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, treasurer of the Spring Lake Yacht Club, Exalted Ruler of the Grand Haven Elks' Club, and member of the American Legion. He attended St. Mary's Catholic Church. On September 9, 1942 in San Antonio, he married Margaret, the daughter of William and Elsie Johnson Buckley of Spring Lake. Jim and Margaret in 1953 bought a home at 217 North Buchanan. Margaret in 1977 retired from her job as a buyer for Country House in Grand Haven. She was born on June 2, 1918 and passed away on August 16, 1997 in Florida. The Oakeses had a daughter Miki [Mary], who married Larry Carter and moved to California, and a son Michael Timothy, who resided in Marco Island, Florida. James died on June 14, 1997 at Marco Island. [Tribune obituary, June 17, 1997.]

Julia Beaulieu Oakes [Oaks] [1813-1910]

One-half Ojibwa, Julia Oakes was counted in the 1836 Census of Ottawa and Ojibwa Indians. Enumerated with her were three children: Sophia, age 12; Eliza, 11; and David, 7. They were members of the Grand River Bands of Indians. Julia, the daughter of Bazil [Bazile] Budon Beaulieu, was born at Lac du Flambeau, Wisconsin in 1813. Bazil, a French-Canadian who lived from 1783 to 1838, was a trader for the North West Company at Lac du Flambeau, Wisconsin, and later became a trader and then a clerk for the American Fur Company, still at Lac du Flambeau. Julia's mother, Ogenawgeeshegoquay "Respected Sky Woman," was the daughter of an Ojibwa chief named Waubishgaughauge "White Crow [Raven]." Bazil sent five of his children, including Julia, to William Ferry's Mission School on Mackinac Island. Julia married Charles Henry Oakes on July 29, 1831 in Michilmackinac. He had received a license to trade furs in the vicinity of Lac du Flambeau [Torch Lake], Wisconsin on August 1, 1825 and remained in the area for at least four years as a fur trader. On May 1, 1839 Charles took title to 160 acres in Section 13 and another 160 acres in Section 19 of Blenden Township, probably for fur trapping purposes. [Battle for the Soul, Keith R. Widder, 1999, 6.]

Charles previously had married an Ojibwa woman, Teegaushau, in 1822; Sophia and Eliza were their daughters. David was Julia's and Charles's son. Julia and Charles by the late 1830s had a home in Grandville, and they appeared in the 1850 Federal Census as residents of La Pointe, Wisconsin. With them were three children: David, now 20 years old; Jane, 9 years old; and Charles W., 4. Charles the father was working for the American Fur Company in La Pointe. Julia and Charles in 1860 resided in St. Paul, where Charles worked in the banking business. In the household were George H. Oakes, born in Wisconsin about 1834; Jane, shown as the same age in the census but actually much younger; and Charles, born about 1846. The three children were born in Wisconsin but by 1870 they were residing in Sauk Rapids, Minnesota. Charles was noted as being a retired banker. In 1870 they were living with Julia's daughter Sophia, Sophia's husband, Jeremiah Russell, and their four children. In the census Julia was classified as a combination of White and Indian, as were Sophia and her children. The 1895 state census classified Julia as White. A native of Vermont, Charles lived from July 17, 1803 to 1879 and was buried Oakland Cemetery in St. Paul, Minnesota. Julia passed away in Davidson, Tennessee on May 25, 1910, where she had been living with her daughter, Jane, and her son-in-law, Edward. Jane who was born on January 24, 1841 in La Pointe, Wisconsin, died on December 2, 1931 in Evanston, Illinois under the name Jane Bazett-Jones. She was buried at Oakland Cemetery in St. Paul, Minnesota. Her husband was Rev. Edward A. Bazett-Jones.

Stanley B. Oakes [1888-1976]

Stanley Oakes was a conductor on the "dummy" line that provided transportation from downtown to Highland Park. He was the son of Dustin and Lenora Oakes and was born in Grand Haven on June 6, 1888. On September 2, 1916 in Grand Haven, he married Helen A., the daughter of Daniel and Anna Angel Andrews. Helen was born in Grand Haven about 1881. Stanley and his family were residing there by 1930. Stanley sold life insurance at that time. They had a son Daniel, and two daughters, Julia and Cynthia. Stanley died in St. Louis, Missouri, in August 1976.

Mildred Marion Oatley [1900-1981]

Born in Mesick, Wexford County, on July 2, 1900, Mildred Oatley graduated from Albion College in 1924 and was a teacher at Grand Haven Junior High School by 1940. In 1940, she was lodging at 20 South Fifth Street. She died in Mesick on May 3, 1981 and was buried at Antioch Cemetery.

Adrian [Adrien] O'Beck [Obeck] II [1846-1932]

Adrian O'Beck was born on a farm in The Netherlands in May 1846 [1845] and came to Grand Haven in 1849. He was the son of Adrian and Cornelia Mieras O'Beck. His first job was selling fish, and eventually he had his own commercial fishing business. Other members of the O'Beck family who were part of the business were his sons: Adrian, Martin [Martine], and Roy. Adrian II was born about 1846 and began fishing from a sailboat when he was 17. With Henry Fase, John Ball, and Cornelis Van Zanten, Adrian operated a commercial fishing business out of Grand Haven called O'Beck & Company. One of their fishing tugs was the Pear and another was the C. A. Meister. The O'Becks were reputed to be the first local fishermen to install a gasoline motor in a fishing boat. Adrian retired in 1905 and died on March 20, 1932.

On January 18, 1867 Adrian married Johanna De Glopper in Buffalo, New York. The sister of Martinus De Glopper, she was born in The Netherlands on November 19, 1842 and died in Grand Haven on March 20, 1909. Adrian and Johanna arrived in America with their parents in 1849 and not long afterward settled in Buffalo and later in Grand Haven. The O'Becks lived at 421 Clinton. Their children were Cornelia, who lived from April 1868 to 1938, married Christopher Fetz, and had a second husband, Alexander Kaatz, whom she married on April 3, 1920 in Grand Haven; Jacob, born in May 1870 and died in 1922; Anna, who lived from September 5, 1872 [1874] to 1960; Adrian III, who was born in August 1875 [1873] and died in 1941, leaving his widow, Eleanor May; Roy Lawrence, who was born on March 23, 1878 and died in 1949, and whose wife, Marie, was born in Michigan around 1885; an infant son, John, who was born and died in 1880; Jeanette "Nettie," who lived from November 1881 to 1942 and married James W. Cheesman about June 30, 1906; James, who was born on October 5, 1883 and worked as a machinist at Keller Tool; Martin, who was born on June 27, 1884; and Marie Lucille, who was born May 23, 1888 and died in May 1879. Johanna, her husband, and their children were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Anna O’Beck [1872-1960]

While teaching at Rosy Mound School, Anna O’Beck, recalled that she walked the four miles to and from school from her home in Grand Haven each class day. The daughter of Adrian and Johanna De Gloppe O’Beck, Anna was born on September 5, 1872 [1874]. In 1940, she was living at the family home at 421 Clinton Street with her brother Roy and sister Marie. Anna died on January 3, 1960 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Jacob O’Beck [1870-1922]

Like his father Adrian, Jacob O’Beck was captain of a fishing tug in Grand Haven. He was born in Grand Haven in 1870 and died in a Muskegon Hospital on May 25, 1922. Jacob also served as mate on the Crosby Transportation Company steamer the E.G. Crosby. In the years prior to his death he worked with his brothers, Roy and Martin, in operating the fishing tug Johanna, named for their mother. [Tribune obituary, May 26, 1922.]

Martin O’Beck [1884-1951]

Martin was the son of Captain Adrian and Johanna O’Beck. He was born in Grand Haven on June 27, 1884, died on May 4, 1951 in Grand Rapids, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. He had a brother, Roy, who was born about 1878, and two sisters, Anna and Marie, all of Grand Haven. About 1910 Martin and Roy, built the tug Marie, and in 1914 they built one of the first steel tugboats in the area, the 42-foot Johanna. In 1971 the tug became the last commercial vessel to fish out of Grand Haven.

Martin married Evalina Zimmer on November 20, 1905. They lived first at 521 Grant Street and later at 312 South Fourth Street. Evalina, who was born in Spring Lake on July 28, 1881, died in Ferrysburg on April 7, 1954. She was the daughter of Matthias and Katharina Spinner Zimmer. The O’Becks had one son and one daughter, Marjorie Louise, who lived her entire life, from June 21, 1911 to October 24, 1999, in Grand Haven. She married George A. Barnard of Grand Haven, who died in 1979. Their son, Adrian, born on December 17, 1922 moved to California, where he died on April 10, 1997. Young Adrian married Jeanne Fochtman on April 2, 1942. Marjorie Louise was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Constance “Connie” Hybarger Obits [1933-2009] and Wallace Ward Obits [1927-2020]

Constance Hybarger was born in Ohio on March 10, 1933. By 1951 she was a student living in Muskegon with her parents. On June 24, 1955 she married Wallace Obits in Muskegon. He was born in Fremont, Newaygo County, on September 5, 1927. They had three children: Diane Lee Obits, who was born on August 11, 1956 and married Charles Eichhorst of Grand Rapids; Alan Wallace Obits, who was born in July 1958; and Brian Ward Obits, who was born in October 1961. Alan and Brian remained in Spring Lake.

Connie was an artist. In 1976, she told a Muskegon Chronicle reporter, “I love to experiment with floating shapes. I get this free feeling by putting down colors first. I work out of the unconscious, just keep working ‘till I come to a stopping point. It’s a sort of communion with the canvas.” Her works were exhibited and sold throughout Michigan. She was a founding member of the Lakeland Artists and the Gallery Uptown. Connie died of colon cancer on April 28, 2009.

Wallace graduated from the University of Michigan School of Engineering, and he attended classes at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He settled in Muskegon around 1953 and worked for Continental Motors [later called Teledyne] for 37 years. He retired as Director of Engineering and passed away in Spring Lake on May 29, 2020.

Hugh O’Brien [O’Brian] [Hugh “Bud” Krampe] [1925-2016]

In 1942 Hugh John Krampe, his wife Edith Lillian, and their sons resided at Arbutus Banks in Spring Lake, next at 115 Barber Court, and finally at 316 South Fifth in Grand Haven, before moving away permanently. One of their sons, Hugh Charles Krampe, worked at Camfield’s one summer and helped make wooden trays. He also caddied at Spring Lake Country Club and worked at a local gas station. The other Krampe son, Donald, attended school in Grand Haven. Young Hugh moved to California, where he became known as Hugh O'Brien, best known for playing the role of Wyatt Earp in the television series of that name that ran from 1955 to 1961. He was born in Rochester, New York, on April 19, 1925 [1923], served with the U.S. Marines during WWII, and died in California on September 5, 2016.

Hugh John Krampe was born in Ohio on June 4, 1890 and died in Alameda, California on June 30, 1958, and Edith lived from June 18, 1895 to December 26, 1949. Like her husband, she died in California.

Jeremiah "Jerry" O'Brien [1854-1905]

Born in Wisconsin on August 29, 1854, Jeremiah O'Brien resided at 127 Clinton with his wife Anna "Annie." Their children were Elizabeth "Lizzie," a nurse, who was born in January 1885; William, who was born in Grand Haven in February 1887 and worked at the glove factory; and Mamie, who was born in November 1888 and worked at a "bean factory." Jeremiah, a sailor, died on July 19, 1905, but his family continued to live at 127 Clinton. Anna was born in Ireland in May 1862.

Joseph W. O'Brien [1860-1926]

Born in Chicago on October 11, 1860 [1859], Joseph was the son of John O'Brien. His mother's family name was Donovan. Joseph came to Grand Haven in 1871, presumably with his parents, and later joined the law firm of Healy C. Akeley at the corner of Washington and Second Streets. In 1886 he became state agent and adjuster for the Phenix Insurance Company of Brooklyn, New York. Seven years later he was an agent for the Home Insurance Company, and in the early 1900s he was named president of Grand Haven State Bank, then located at 218 Washington Street. About that time he had a financial interest in the Heap-O'Brien Mining Company, with William Heap as his partner. Joseph served as mayor in 1886, 1900, and 1901, and he was chairman of the first Ottawa County Red Cross Chapter, organized in Grand Haven in the fall of 1909. He married Mary Elizabeth Gillen on November 26, 1884 in Grand Haven. She was born in Racine, Wisconsin on September 18, 1862. In the early 1900s the O'Briens resided at 534 Clinton, but in 1915 they purchased the Boyden House at Fifth and Lafayette Streets. About 13 years after Joseph's death on May 4, 1926, Mary moved to Grand Rapids. She died on May 22, 1945 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. They had three children: Joseph Parnell O'Brien [1886-1967]; Eugene Gladstone O'Brien [1887-1955]; and Marguerite Irene O'Brien [1889-1940]. Margaret served overseas as an army YMCA worker during WWI.

Richard H. O'Brien [1910-1981]

In the 1920s Dick O'Brien operated a sign painting business at 19 South Third Street, where he also resided with his widowed mother, Jenny. By 1930 Dick was managing a jewelry store in Grand Haven. Jenny was born in Michigan on November 9, 1889 and died in Grand Haven on May 8, 1982. Dick was born on December 5, 1910 and died in Ferrysburg on October 11, 1981.

Daniel O'Connell [1826-1891]

See Daniel O. Connell.

James O'Connell [1842-1932]

James O'Connell was born in West Meath, Ireland on May 22, 1842 and settled with his family in Wisconsin when he was three [seven]. He dealt in brass and ironware, wrought iron pipe, pumps, rubber goods, and other items at a store located at the corner of First and Franklin Streets [29 Franklin], where he and his wife, Kate, also lived. James was still in business in 1908. He was working in Whitehall when the Civil War began and on August 21, 1862 enlisted as private in Company F of the 5th Michigan Cavalry, raised by Noah Ferry. He later served under Phillip Sheridan and George A. Custer until the end of the Civil War. James was close to Ferry at Gettysburg when the latter was killed by Confederate shots. He was mustered out on June 22, 1865. After the war, during a stopover in Grand Haven, he literally bumped into Heber Squier, who offered him a job as engineer on one of his tugboats. James eventually earned his engineer's license and served on several vessels, including Snoek and New Era.

The Muskegon Chronicle provided a story about James's decision to settle in Grand Haven after the Civil War: "Mr. O'Connell was visiting at the farm of his brother Bernard O'Connell in Montague Township [Muskegon County]. He decided to go to Chicago to look for work and took the train to Grand Haven, intending to cross the lake. While awaiting the sailing of his boat that night, he set out on a stroll up the main street of the town, then unlighted. He had not gone far when he bumped smack into a portly citizen, who demanded to know, in not too pleasant a humor, 'Why don't you look where you're going?' 'Why don't you blow a whistle?' was Mr. O'Connell's retort. 'Well, where are you going?' the man asked. 'I'm going to Chicago to look for a job,' said Mr. O'Connell. 'I'll give you a job,' his new acquaintance replied; and Mr. O'Connell went to work for Capt. Heber Squires, then a prominent figure in the business life of Grand Haven."

James married Kate [Catherine] Kearnan in 1869. Kate was born in Ireland in March 1853. Their children, both born in Michigan, were Susan, born in August 1871; William, who was born in December 1875 and moved to Detroit; and Chester A., who was born on February 22, 1883. James was the area's last surviving Civil War veteran when he died on March 14, 1932 and had been an early member of the Weatherwax G.A.R. Post. He also belonged to the Odd Fellows and Elks. James was a member of the Unitarian Church until its dissolution. Kate lived from 1849 to 1922. She and her husband were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Chronicle obituary, 1932.]

Bill was born on March 10, 1928 to William E. and Henrietta Grosnick O'Dwyer in Chicago, Illinois. He married Patricia Carmody in 1950. She was born January 18, 1928 and passed away on October 17, 1995. They resided at 414 Howard Street in Grand Haven. Bill was a graduate of Carl Schurz High School in Chicago and Marquette University in Milwaukee. He served with the Army Air Corps during WWII. Bill moved to Grand Haven in 1974 and retired from the Internal Revenue Service in 1984. He was active with St. Patrick's Catholic Church, the Tri-Cities Historical Museum, the American Legion, the YMCA, and the Genealogical Society. The O'Dwyers had seven children: Catherine Noonan, Elizabeth Des Noyer, Sister Margaret O'Dwyer, William O'Dwyer, Mary Bridget Kiddy, James C. O'Dwyer, and Patrick O'Dwyer. Bill, who died in Grand Haven on November 16, 2002, was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, November 18, 2002.]

Engelbert Christiaan Oggel [1841-1910]

Engelbert Christiaan Oggel was pastor of the First Reformed Church in Grand Haven from 1872 to 1876. He was born in Axel, The Netherlands, on September 28, 1841, the son of Johannes Pieter and Adriana de Pree Oggel. Following his father's death in February 1856, Engelbert immigrated to the United States with the encouragement of his older brother, Professor Pieter J. Oggel [1829-1869] of Hope College. Engelbert attended Holland Academy and Rutgers University, where he graduated in 1863. He next studied for the ministry and in 1866 was ordained pastor of the First Reformed Church in North Holland, Ottawa County. He left that position three years later, the same year his brother died, to become treasurer of Hope College and editor of a religious newspaper called The Hope, which his brother had begun. Oggel left two years later and became minister at the Reformed Church in Graftschap. It was in June the next year that he came to Grand Haven. On August 8, 1872, just prior to his arrival in Grand Haven, Engelbert married Elizabeth, daughter of Aldert Plugger of Holland. Engelbert next took the pastorate at the First Presbyterian Church in Kankakee, Illinois. He died on November 6, 1910 in Grand Rapids. Elizabeth lived from February 11, 1854

Charles Orchardson [1836- 1918] and Lurissa Jane Norton Orchardson [1841-1917]

Born on June 10, 1836 in Edinburgh, Scotland, Charles Orchardson by 1860 was working on the Rick Phillips farm in Madison Township, Lake County, Ohio as a laborer. He married Lurissa Jane Norton on March 2, 1861 in Madison Township. Born in Madison in May 1841, she lived on a neighboring farm. The Orchardsons' daughter Louise Bernice Orchardson was born in Scotland on June 12, 1864 and married David Lorimer. She and her parents immigrated to the United States two years later. By 1870 Charles and Lurissa owned approximately 60 acres in Section 13 of Spring Lake Township, where they resided and grew fruit. Apparently, Charles also had a studio. The smaller parcel became known as the Krueger Place. Louise's sister, Flora Mabel Orchardson, was born on September 16, 1872. In 1880 the family of four was still in Spring Lake. Living with them then was Charles's widowed sister Mary Williamson and another Scotsman, David Lorimer. Flora married Len Patterson. She and Len resided on what came to be known as the Lorimer Resort.

Charles, a graduate of the Royal Scottish Academy of Art and Architecture, once claimed he circled the globe twice, graduated from the Royal Scottish Academy of Art and Architecture. In America, he was well-known as a portrait, genre, and landscape painter. He became a resident of California prior to 1900 and was consistently noted in the censuses as being an "artist" or "portrait painter." He is likely the artist that painted the four portraits hanging in Spring Lake District Library: one of Hunter Savidge, another of his wife Sarah, the third of their son George, and the fourth of George's siblings, William and Esther. In 1910, forty of Charles's works were exhibited at the Hamburger Department Store in Los Angeles. His brother, William Quiller Orchardson, who remained in Scotland, became an artist of note and is the better known of the two. Charles considered himself a clairvoyant.

In 1889 he ran on the Socialist ticket for mayor of Chicago but lost badly. Lurissa divorced him not long after the election. In 1897 she was the owner of the fruit farm in Spring Lake Township. She was residing as a widow in Spokane, Washington in 1905, but she died in Spring Lake on February 16, 1917 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Charles died in Los Angeles, California, on July 15, 1918. His handwritten will specified that Flora and Louise should receive $5.00 each upon his death, and the remainder of his estate, including his "Bank account, Oil Paintings, Whaling stock, & e'ct." was bequeathed to Josephine Pollock of Los Angeles. He also named Josephine as executor of his estate. Born in Wisconsin about 1878, Josephine in 1910 was living with her mother in Los Angeles and working as a waitress. The will, dated September 22, 1910, was submitted to Probate Court in Los Angeles in July 1918.

James Wilson Orr I [1840-1912]

James Orr and his family resided in Pontiac in 1880 but had moved to Grand Haven by 1890. James in 1892 was secretary of American Mirror and Glass Beveling Company, located near the intersection of Water [Harbor Drive] and Howard Streets. The next year he was an agent for the Detroit & Milwaukee Railway, or possibly he held both positions simultaneously. He was born in Scotland on July 19, 1840 and died in Pontiac on April 19, 1912. During the Civil War, James served from July 1861 to December 1863 as a private in the 36th Illinois Infantry under the name John Wilson. He re-enlisted in the same unit in January 1864 and served until October, 1865, still under his alias. James married Isabelle [Isabella] Spence, also a native of Scotland, where she was born about 1842. They had at least two children: Mary Elizabeth Orr, who was born about 1871 and married William F. Harbeck of Grand Haven, and John Wilson Orr II, who was born on September 24, 1875. On August 4, 1890 in Detroit, James married Eleanor J. Christian, who was born about 1846 in New York State and died in Pontiac on January 19, 1915.

James Wilson Orr II [1875-1935]

In 1900 James Orr was living in Grand Rapids, where he worked as a bookkeeper. By 1910 he was in Grand Haven, working for Nathaniel Robbins as an accountant and residing with his sister, Mary, the wife of William F. Harbeck, who resided at 538 Lafayette. James married Gertrude Baker in Muskegon on July 7, 1921. They resided at 539 Pennoyer. She was born in Muskegon on July 19, 1879, died on October 31, 1941, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with James. He was born in Pontiac on September 24, 1875 and passed away on December 3, 1935.

Born in November 1829 in Rockingham County, New Hampshire, George was the son of Hiram and Eliza Edgerly Osgood. His father, an attorney, died on November 29, 1840, and his mother lived from April 6, 1803 to September 14, 1857. They both died in Grandville and were buried there. Another early arrival in the area was Chase Edgerly, Eliza's brother, who was born in Rockingham, New Hampshire on December 18, 1811. Chase Edgerly and George Osgood were the "Edgerly & Osgood" Lillie referred to as proprietors of the Washington House in Grand Haven [12 Washington], which they were operating by 1850. George was listed as Barkeeper in the 1850 census and, like his partner, was residing at the hotel. Also residing there at that time was his mother, Eliza Osgood, and his wife's sister, Mary Brown. In 1852 Chase and George sold the business to Clark Albee. Chase returned to the Grand Rapids area, where he died on December 9, 1854.

By 1858 George was proprietor of Mill Point Hall in Spring Lake. On November 24, 1861, not long after the start of the Civil War, he became quartermaster sergeant of the 3rd Michigan Cavalry. George was promoted to first lieutenant and quartermaster on December 13, 1862 and was mustered out on October 31, 1864. George was listed as a grocer in Spring Lake in the 1860 Federal Census and a saloon keeper in Grand Haven in the 1870 census.

George married Mary D. Miller. Mary, the daughter of Captain Harry and Elizabeth Miller, was born in Detroit on May 14, 1836 [1835], died in 1916 [1915], and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with her parents. George died on November 3, 1871 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His widow, three years later, on September 30, married Isaac Hull Sanford of Grand Haven. About June 21, 1911 Mary applied for a widow's Civil War pension, citing George Osgood's service. George and Mary had a daughter Eliza "Lizzie," who married John Wiles of Grand Haven. Lizzie was born in Spring Lake in April 1858.

J. S. Osgood [1837-1923]

J.S. Osgood was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886. Although not confirmed, this may be James Smalley Osgood. Born on April 11, 1837, he served with Company A of the Provost Guards, Michigan Infantry, during the Civil War. In 1867, James married Susan Steward, who was born in Michigan in March 1842. They lived in St. Johns, Clinton County, where James was a produce merchant. Susan died in July 1909. James passed away on January 9, 1923 while at Clarke Memorial Home in Grand Rapids, where he had been living since at least 1920. Both were buried at Mount Rest Cemetery in St. Johns.

George Osipoff [1923-1991]

Born on July 14, 1923 in Detroit, George Osipoff founded Grand Haven Pattern at 1555 Marion Street in October 1955, which he sold to Carl Fred Kleist in June three years later. George then became District superintendent for the Grand Haven Board of Light and Power. His home was at 14896 Bignell in Grand Haven Township. George married Gloria Dorothy Prahin in Grand Haven on August 24, 1946. She was born in Muskegon Heights about 1926. George died in Grand Haven on December 3, 1991 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Roberta Truax Oslund [1928-2014]

Roberta Truax was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota on December 26, 1928 and married Dr. Richard Oslund on December 26, 1956. Roberta painted in oils, acrylics and watercolor. She participated in opening and operating several West Michigan Art Galleries, including the Muskegon Art Gallery and the Gallery Upstairs at 208 Washington Street in Grand Haven, where Elizabeth Olsen was co-owner. Roberta was president Muskegon Fine Arts Guild. Roberta was a member of First Congregational Church UCC and former member of Community United Methodist Church. She spent winters in Green Valley, Arizona for over 15 years. She and Richard had two sons, Jeff Oslund of Boyne City and Brett Oslund of Muskegon, and a daughter, Wendy Oslund Morrow, who lived in New Hampshire. Roberta passed away on August 20, 2014. Richard lived from 1929 to 2020.

William Osner I [1859-1942]

Born on May 2, 1859 in Ethenheim, Germany, William Osner immigrated to Chicago, where he manufactured shoes. He arrived in the Grand Haven area in 1904 and soon bought property on the south side of Stearns Bayou in Section 6 of Robinson Township. By 1915 he owned 40 acres, and within the next 15 years acquired an additional 45 acres from Dr. Winfield Hall, his neighbor to the west. He married Phoebe Fritz. She was born in New York State on January 8, 1864 and died in Robinson Township on November 28, 1930. The Osners moved to Grand Haven around 1909. Among their children was Sophia, born about 1898. Her salary as a sixth grade teacher at Central School in 1919 was set by the School Board at $800 a year. She died in 1925. Other children were William II, who was born on April 14, 1901, and a daughter, Pauline, who died about the same time as her mother. William passed away in Grand Haven on February 14, 1942 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his wife. Osner Drive, along the south side of Stearns Bayou, was named for the family.

William Osner II [1901-1977]

The son of William and Phoebe Osner, young William was born in Chicago on April 14, 1901 and moved to the Grand Haven area with his parents in 1904. He was employed by the Ottawa County Road Commission for 35 years and was manager when he died on October 3, 1977 while on a hunting trip with his family in Wyoming. William's wife, Suzanne Kosch, was born on June 18, 1919 in Chicago. Suzanne was the daughter of Andrew and Anna Potucek Kosch of Robinson Township. Suzanne and William were married in Grand Haven on March 6 [4], 1937. Suzanne, who ran a Christmas tree farm after her husband's death, died on October 6, 1985. They had two daughters, Phoebe Shutler, who lived in New York, and Susan Larson, who remained in Grand Haven. One son, William Osner III, moved to New Jersey.

Benjamin F. Otley [1871-1934]

Born in Buffalo, New York on April 9, 1871, Benjamin was the son of Samuel and Matilda Otley, who in the mid-1870s lived in Grand Haven. Benjamin apparently was the first member of the family to be attracted to Highland Park, but his younger brother Thomas wasn't far behind. He married Clara Buth in Milwaukee on December 29, 1897. She was born in Milwaukee on December 4, 1874 and died in Wilmette, Illinois on November 25, 1941, seven years after her husband's death on April 5, 1934. Benjamin and Clara had a daughter they named Gertrude Clarese. The Otleys owned the cottage on Lot 40, Lovers Lane in Highland Park in the early 1900s, where Gertrude enjoyed many summers. After she and Clarence Mersbach were married, they bought the cottage and named it The Gertrude. Thomas Otley was Benjamin's brother.

Samuel Otley [1844-1907]

Samuel and Matilda Cox Otley were residents of Grand Haven long enough for two of their children to be born there in the mid-1870s: James, who was born on 1874 and died 7 days later, and Matilda, also known as Lizzie, who was born on October 24, 1875 and died the following September 24. The family relocated to Chicago, but returned to Grand Haven sometime after 1900, where Samuel Otley died in 1907. Among the Otleys surviving children were Benjamin and Thomas. Benjamin, born on April 9, 1871 in Buffalo, New York. Thomas was born on August 7, 1880 on a Lake Michigan steamer as the boat was entering Grand Haven Harbor. Samuel was born in England on August 17, 1844 and died in Grand Haven on August 26, 1907. Matilda, also a native of England, was born on October 16, 1844 and died in Chicago on February 22, 1927.

Thomas Fryer Otley I [1880-1938]

Thomas F. Otley was born on August 7, 1880 on a Lake Michigan steamer as the boat came into Grand Haven harbor from Chicago. His parents, Samuel and Matilda Cox Otley, had been residents of Grand Haven, long enough for two of their children to be born there in the mid-1870s. The family relocated to Chicago and moved back to the port city after 1900, where Samuel died on August 26, 1907. Thomas, who became a salesman for a paint company and by 1920 owned a paint manufacturing business, continued to live in Chicago. He visited Highland Park every summer and formed the Highland Park Tennis Association in 1920, because he loved the game and the youth that played it. Leon Hamburger and Eldred G. Bentley assisted in organizing the club. The organization functioned for 32 years under Thomas's leadership. The Highland Park Cottage Association added the Highland Park Tennis Club in 1922, nestling the two courts between dunes. Highland Park Junior tournaments were played here starting in 1926 and lasting to 1937. The tournaments drew top players from the United States and were played according to rules of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, which sanctioned the tournaments. Each year Thomas donated the coveted Otley Cup to the tourney champion. A paint manufacturer, he married Freda [Frieda] B. Miller of Grand Rapids on September 17, 1909. Thomas F. Otley II, born on August 19, 1916, was their son, and they had a daughter, Virginia, who was born in Chicago on January 28, 1914, married a Mr Lundberg, and died in Grand Haven on March 21, 1996. Thomas died January 27, 1938 at his home in Chicago. Freda was born about 1886 and resided at 407 Lake Avenue after her husband's death. Benjamin Otley was Thomas's brother.

Thomas Fryer Otley II [1916-2000]

Thomas F. Otley, once a resident of Grand Haven, died in Palm Coast, Florida on September 15, 2000. He was born on August 19, 1916, the son of Thomas and Freda Miller Otley I. The Otley cottage was located at 1407 Lake Avenue in Highland Park. Not long before his death Thomas was honored by the Highland Park Tennis Association, which inaugurated the Otley Memorial Tennis Tournament. Thomas Otley I was one of the founders of the Highland Park Tennis Club. Thomas II was a member of the Elks and Masonic Lodges. He and his wife, Darlene, had two sons: James, who lived in Brighton, Livingston County, and Thomas F. Otley III, who was born on June 27, 1938.

Also known as the 16th Michigan Infantry, Amos's unit was the first company of sharpshooters attached to the regiment. He was discharged on October 2, 1862. After the war he farmed 40 acres in Section 23 of Robinson Township. Amos died on April 8, 1887. An undated monument noting his Civil War service was erected in Robinson Township Cemetery. In 1846 he married Mary Elizabeth Parmer. She applied for a widow's Civil War pension on June 8, 1887. Mary was born in Canada in 1827 and died in 1894. Eli, born in Michigan in 1860, was their son. Their other children were Enos, Lucy, Adeline, Elizabeth [Elisabeth], and William. William, who was born on May 22, 1855 in Dennison, Polkton Township, married Mary Roxine Toogood, and lived in Coopersville. Elizabeth was born in Michigan about 1868.

Damon Wells Parish [1854-1934]

Wells Parish farmed 100 acres in Sections 16 and 17 Allendale Township, and eventually added 10 more in Allendale Center. By 1918 he owned 250 acres in Allendale Township. His major land holdings and residence continued under the name Spring Hill Farm. Wells, the son of Amos and Valerie Waite Parish, was born in Polkton Township on August 1, 1854. On May 14, 1879, in Allendale, he married Harriet Stevens [Stephens], a native of New York. Hattie's parents, Ransom and Maria Smead Stevens, settled in Allendale Township in 1867. Harriet was born in New York about 1857.

Wells and his family later resided on the ten acres in Allendale Centre, where he opened a sawmill business, while at the same time running a feed mill. In April 1892, with Frank A. Parker of Allendale Township as a partner, Wells built a new sawmill, which had a capacity of twelve thousand feet daily. Wells was active in the formation and management of the Allendale Creamery Company, formed in 1893. Wells and Hattie had eleven children. Wells passed away in 1934 and was buried at Allendale Cemetery.

Eli, the son of Amos and Mary E. Parish, was born on August 18, 1860 Michigan. On August 15, 1889 in Grand Rapids Eli married Mary E., the daughter of Samuel and Belvia Goodrich. The Parishes settled on a 40-acre farm in Section 23 of Robinson Township. They had several children, all born in Michigan, including Belvia F., who was born in September 1890 and married Chester Fellows; Anna M., born in October 1892; and Sidney, born in June 1895. Mary, who was from Illinois, lived from 1863 to November 25, 1897. Eli passed away in Grand Rapids on July 10, 1919. Both were buried at Robinson Township Cemetery.

Enos Parish [Parrish] [1827-1902]

Enos Parrish, who was born July 25, 1827 in Vermont, migrated to Washtenaw County but was a resident of Ottawa County by 1860, settling first in Polkton Township. His first military service was during the Mexican American War, 1846-1848. On December 31, 1863 he enlisted in Battery E of the 1st Michigan Light Artillery as private. He served until July 30, 1865. After the war he accumulated 240 acres in Sections 8 and 17 of Allendale Township, some of it later taken over by his son, Wells, who was born in Polkton Township on August 1, 1854. The Parishes called their home Spring Hill Farm. Enos was married twice. First he married Valerie Waite in 1852. After her death, he married Harriet Mazuzan [Winne] on September 7, 1858 in Ottawa County. Harriet lived from January 29, 1829 to July 5, 1909. Enos died on April 16, 1902. He and Harriet were buried at Allendale Cemetery. Enos and Louis Parker operated a gristmill in Section 27 of Allendale Township. [Tribune obituary, April 17, 1902.]

Thomas Albert Parish [Parrish] [1850-1913]

Thomas Parish was born on May 14, 1850 in Canada. On November 5, 1861 he enlisted as private in Company B of the 1st Michigan Cavalry Lancers. He was mustered out the following year on March 20. He located in Grand Haven about 1880 and in the spring of the next year Thomas corresponded with the Telephone and Telegraph Construction Company regarding the feasibility of bringing telephone service to the area. By 1882 he had made long distance connections with Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Whitehall, and Montague, among others. He operated the telephone business from his home at 324 Washington.

Thomas's first wife was born in 1854 and died in Grand Haven on March 17, 1889. The next year, on June 3, 1890, in Grand Haven, Thomas married Ruth, the daughter of Hiram and Hannah Moore Beckwith and the widow of John B. Hancock of Spring Lake. She was instrumental in organizing the Grand Haven Woman's Club in 1891. The Parrish's house at 324 Washington was one of many buildings destroyed in the 1889 fire.

Thomas also worked with the Ottawa Iron Works in Ferrysburg and later joined Parish Manufacturing Company in Ashland, Newaygo County, as secretary and treasurer. He served as Grand Haven postmaster from 1894 to 1898. In addition, Thomas was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886 and was its first president in 1892. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and Royal Arcanum, and he was High Priest of Corinthian Chapter and active in the Republican Party.

By 1909 Thomas and Ruth had left Grand Haven and moved to Seattle, Washington, where Ruth's brother Andrew Beckwith and her sister Elizabeth Cross already were located. Thomas died on August 17, 1913 in Seattle. In 1930 Ruth was still residing in Seattle with her daughter and son-in-law, Elizabeth B. and Howard A. Hanson. Ruth was born in Grand Haven on June 28, 1849 and died in Seattle on November 28, 1933. She and Thomas were buried at Lake View Cemetery in Seattle.

Bethel "Bert" Parker [1898-1970]

Born November 13, 1898, Bert Parker was the last stationmaster at the Grand Trunk depot in Spring Lake, which ended passenger service in 1957. The station closed in November the next year. He started as a messenger boy in Ionia, worked for a short time as a baker in Grand Rapids, and then went into the railroad business as a telegraph operator. In Spring Lake, he handled baggage, freight, and passengers. He resided at 207 South Prospect and later at 110 West Exchange. Bert died in Allegan County in June 1970.

Henry T. Parker [1912-1980]

Born in La Cross, Florida on August 28, 1912, Henry Parker was the only brother among six sisters. His father died when he was seven, and Henry dropped out of school when he was fifteen. He settled in Grand Rapids at age nineteen. During WWII he developed with a doctor in Grand Rapids a Quality Control procedure for General Motors and the use of an X-ray machine to examine the chambers for large guns on naval boats before they were loaded with ammunition so they wouldn't explode upon firing.

Henry married Norma Bowman on June 23, 1936, and they had four sons: Ted, Tom, Denny, and Greg. In 1946 the family moved to Grand Haven and bought the Ferry depot and buildings on Harbor Drive from Nyle Eggert. Henry formed Harbor Industries with Norwood Hubbel of Zeeland and manufactured "point of purchase" advertising equipment. The business relocated to Grand Haven Township in 1972. In June 1951 Henry, Norwood, William Wendell Vivian, and John Wierenga started Fleetwood Furniture Company, which specialized in the manufacture of juvenile “Swing-Line” furniture. It was located at 8 North Seventh Street.

After Norma died on February 15, 1966, Henry married Eleanor Hyde on September 3, 1966 in Grand Haven. They moved to Tucson, Arizona where he passed away on November 26, 1980. Tom and Ted Parker, his sons, continued the family business. Henry was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Grand Haven Rotary Club, Centurian Club of Tucson, Spring Lake Country Club, and Skyline Country Club of Tucson. He was a member of the board of the Point of Purchase Institute and selected Man of the Year in 1976. He was president of the United Fund [United Way], the Chamber of Commerce, and Junior Achievement. Henry also served on the Board of Directors of the Committee for Economic Development, the YMCA, the American Red Cross, and Goodwill Industries. [Tribune obituary, November 26, 1980.]

Orlando [Orando] J. Parker [1835-1910]

A native of New York State where he was born in March 1835, Orlando Parker on August 13, 1862 enlisted at Oswego as private in Company A of the 147th New York Infantry on August 13, 1862. He was transferred to Battery L of the New York 1st Light Artillery on February 4, 1863, but his mustering-out date was not recorded. On April 22, 1864 he was transferred again, this time to the U.S. Navy.

In 1880 Orlando was working as a cooper on Dowagiac, Cass County. He became a Great Lakes sailor, with Grand Haven as his homeport. In 1854 he married Zilpha Ann Farnham, who was born on November 27 [25], 1835 in Oswego, Onondaga County, New York. She was the daughter of Truman [1805-1910] and Sybil Moon [1808-1882] Farnham. The family lived at 902 Fulton. A son, Edward Everett Parker, was born in 1866 and died in Burlington, Washington on April 17, 1955. A daughter, Nellie, was born on March 3, 1877 in Dowagiac and married Benjamin O. Holbrook in Grand Haven on September 18, 1899. Orlando died in 1910 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Shortly after his death, Zilpha applied for a widow’s Civil War pension. She died in Glendale, California on February 7, 1926 and was buried at Grand View Memorial Park and Crematory.

Adelbert Parkhurst, who lived from March 1858 [1857] to 1929, moved from his native New York to Northwest Ottawa County in the fall of 1880. With his brother William he opened a retail business in Nunica with the name Parkhurst Brothers. Adelbert later moved to 537 East Savidge in Spring Lake. On October 15, 1884 in Nunica, he married Frances “Fanny” E. French, also from New York. She lived from April 1855 to October 28, 1901. She also was from New York. Their son Claude, who was born in July 1887, owned a fox farm on the north side of Savidge east of Fruitport Road [approximately 15545 Cleveland]. On October 24, 1911 in Nunica, Adelbert married Mary E. Welton, who was born in Canada in 1847 and died in Spring Lake in 1939. Adelbert, Frances, and Mary were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

William B. Parkhurst [1844-1915]

William Parkhurst, who lived from July 1844 to 1915, moved to Spring Lake from his home state of New York about 1875 and arrived in Ottawa County in the fall of 1880. He and his brother Adelbert opened a retail business in Nunica under the name Parkhurst Brothers. William also worked for John B. Perham. He died in Nunica in 1915. He married Olive E. Cole in Spring Lake on January 3, 1875. She lived from June 1845 to 1916. Their children included Florence, born in December 1882, and Ola, born in June 1885. William and Olive both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

George B. Parks I [1817-1880]

Born in Cayuga County, New York on October 17, 1817, George was the eighth child of Robert and Polly Smith Parks. Robert lived from February 12, 1776 to June 29, 1863 and Polly died on June 30, 1844. The family moved to the Detroit area, where they arrived on May 23, 1823. George moved on to Grand Haven with his wife in August 1844. In 1852 he erected a two-story commercial building two doors west of the Washington House, near the site of the later Grand Theater. In 1855 he erected another building in the neighborhood of the Washington House, which became the offices of the Grand River Times, county clerk, register of deeds, county treasurer, and the post office. Captain Parks was County supervisor and owned the schooner Michigan, which made its trial trip down the Grand River on May 17, 1853. The Michigan operated as a passenger boat between Grand Rapids and Grand Haven. He was elected treasurer of Ottawa County in 1854 and served several terms. He also was justice of the peace. His office was located in his home. George was charter member of the Ottawa County Agricultural Society. In 1862 he became a trustee of the new Grand Haven Union High School. Working with Ebenezer W. Barnes, he went into the freight forwarding business in 1864, and was affiliated with Captain Jesse Ganoe in the Grand Haven & Grand Rapids steamboat line. Also in 1864 he was elected judge of probate. On April 1, 1867 the new City Council of Grand Haven met for the first time and George was elected mayor. About the same time, George and his son Bryon W. built the first steam-powered planing mill in Grand Haven for the production of shingles, blinds, doors, and window sashes. It was a short-lived business. Byron became a bookkeeper.

George married Permelia Wattles in Troy, Oakland County on January 14, 1840. Born in New York State on December 15, 1819, she was the daughter of Alexander and Mercia Bennett Wattles. George and Permelia had two sons and two daughters: Byron H., who lived from June 10, 1844 to June 30, 1915 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery; George II, who was born on November 13, 1852; Julia Spencer of Los Angeles, California; and Frances, who was born about 1859 and married John H. Reynolds of Grand Haven. The family lived at 225 Franklin Street. George passed away on November 27, 1880 and his wife died on December 29, 1891. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery in the family plot.

George B. “Burt” Parks II [1852-1907]

Born in Grand Haven on November 13, 1852, George was the son of George and Permelia Wattles Parks. Known as Burt, young Parks was educated in the Grand Haven school system and started in the railroad business when he was 20. He was cashier for the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee Railroad Company. Being in poor health and needing a warmer climate, he spent some early years as a cowboy between Nebraska and Utah. Upon returning to Grand Haven, he became Purser for the Goodrich Lines and the steamer Michigan. On March 19, 1885, this steamer became imprisoned in the ice many miles offshore from South Haven. The crew made its way to shore by walking over the ice flows. The Michigan went to the bottom before it could be saved.

On October 15, 1879, Burt married Frances “Frankie” Boyce of Lowell, Kent County. She was born April 17, 1854. He served at different times as assistant collector of customs for the Port of Grand Haven; was one of the original organizers of the Grand Haven Street Railway Company in 1895; and had an interest in the Spring Lake Boat Line, which operated the Fanny M. Rose and the Hazel. Burt died May 18, 1907, and Frances passed away on April 23, 1929. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other members of the Parks family. [Tribune article, May 18, 1907.]

Paul H. Parks I [1919-2003]

Born in Chicago, Illinois on March 8, 1919, Paul was the son of Burritt A. and Helen Parks. The family spent summers at a cottage they purchased about 1900 in Highland Park in Grand Haven. By 1930 the family was living in Grand Rapids but continued to use the cottage. It was while visiting Highland Park that he met his future wife, Jane McCrea, the daughter of Fred and Gladys McCrea. Paul and Jane were married in 1943 at St. John’s Episcopal Church. During WWII Paul worked for Pratt & Whitney Engine Company in Hartford, Connecticut, helping maintain armed forces aircraft. He and Jane made the family cottage at 111 Poplar Trail their permanent home in 1945. The cottage was winterized and remodeled to make it suitable for year-round living. Paul worked as a mechanical engineer for Eagle Ottawa in Grand Haven, Wolverine World Wide in Rockford, and Whitehall Leather Company in Whitehall, where he retired in 1978. He also was Plant Engineer for the Genesco Corporation.

Paul was an ardent environmentalist, particularly regarding the Great Lakes. He fought against offshore drilling for oil and gas beneath the Great Lake. He was an avid sailor and boater and was commander of the Grand Rapids Power Squadron. He also volunteered for the Ottawa Shores Humane Society. Paul and Jane had four children: Rick Parks, Paul [“Huck”] Parks II, Mary Worker, and Christopher Parks, who died in March 2003. Barbara Sherwood, wife of Miller Sherwood, was his sister. Jane, who was born in Grand Haven on November 27, 1920, died on November 27, 1988. Paul passed away on August 23, 2003. [Tribune obituary, August 28, 2003, and Tribune article, “Environmental Paul Park Dies,” August 26, 2003.]

A few years after the Spring Lake Village Hall was constructed in 1937, the library was given a room there. After librarian Avis Stults retired in 1964, she was replaced by Ida Parpart. Ida, who worked at the library for more than eight years, retiring in 1972. She was born on December 19, 1907 and died in Spring Lake on July 15, 2001. She and her husband Herbert resided at 211 South Lake Street. Herbert passed away around April 1, 1957. He and Ida were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Charles Parrisien [Duvernay] [1881-1947]

Charles Diverney, the son of William and Lucy Aiken [Aken] Duvernay, was listed in the 1908 Durant Roll with his wife, Gertrude Shagonaby, who was the same age as her husband and was separated from her first husband, Louis Louis. Charles and Gertie were married in Honor, Benzie County, on March 16, 1907. The daughter of Francis and Mary Shagonaby [Shagonabe, Schagondy], she was born about 1880 and died in 1963. She and Louis had one child, Maggie, and possibly two more [the names of the children were ambiguous in the Durant Roll]: George, born about 1903, and Lucy, born about 1905. Charles was born in February 1881, died on April 26, 1947 in Petoskey, and was buried at St Anthony Catholic Cemetery in Mancelona, Antrim County. Jean Baptiste Parrisien was cited as Charles’s grandfather.

Jean Baptiste Parrisien [Perissien, Parisione, Parrissien and other spellings] [1812-1912]

Jean Baptiste Parrisien, a Chippewa Indian and voyageur, in 1835 canoed from Mackinac Island to Grand Haven with his mother and stepsister, Josette Derosier. The year after his arrival, Jean Baptiste became the first mail carrier between Grand Rapids and Grand Haven. He followed Indian trails, starting at a little frame building that stood near the southeast corner of Washington and Second Streets, then proceeded in a southerly direction to Rosy Mound, roughly following today’s Lakeshore Drive, thence southeasterly to Allendale, Georgetown, and Jenison. Between 1836 and 1841 Jean carried the mail twice a week along that route on foot. He later entered the service of Nathan White, carrying mail between the Grand Haven Company and sawmills in Grandville. On one occasion, around 1838, he carried $6,000 cash for Clark Albee from Grand Haven to St. Joseph. Wrapped in a blanket and strapped to his back, the cash was equivalent to about $154,000 in today’s money. He delivered it without mishap.

Jean was born in Lac du Flambeau [Torch Lake], Vilas County, Wisconsin, on December 22, 1812. His father was of French heritage and his mother was Ojibway. He was brought up on an Indian reservation in northern Wisconsin until he was six or eight, when he moved with his mother to Sault Ste. Marie. When he was 16, they moved to Mackinac Island, where he again lived among the Indians and eventually married Madeline Magoligau McGulpin there. A member of the Grand River Bands of Ottawa Indians, she lived from 1825 to April 10, 1908. By 1850 Jean and his family were living in Ottawa Township [now Grand Haven Township], where they owned a farm, adjacent to the Charles Dushane property. Ten years later, still living on the farm, Madeline was noted as being Indian while the “Color” column for Jean and the children was left blank, signifying that they were considered White.

A daughter, Josephine, was born to Jean and Madeline in Hart on January 8, 1872. She married Charles Rumsey [Runsey/Ramsey] in Grand Haven on January 3, 1900. Other children were Charles, who lived from 1840 to 1844; John, who lived from 1850 to 1909; Patrick, who was born in 1851 and died in 1922; William, born in August 1858 [1855], was living with Charles and Eliza Duvernay in 1860 and died in 1917; Julia, who was born in 1857; Victoria, who lived from 1859 to 1861; Charles, who was born about April 1860 and lived until 1909; Mary, who was born about 1863 in Grand Haven, apparently was adopted by the Parrisiens and married William Vandenberg of Grand Haven; and Isaac, who was born in 1873.

Jean was listed in the 1859 Annuity Roll for Grand River Ottawas as a member of Chief Payshawsegay's band. Under the name Jn. B. Perissa, he was given $9.59 in that Roll. Appearing as John B. Pennisa as one of Payshawsegay's band he was given $17.10. In the 1865 Roll his name was cited as J. B. Penissaw. He remained a member of Payshawsegay's band and received $24.50. Jean was included in the 1870 Indian Census and Annuity Roll, and as a member of Chief Payshawsegay's band of Ottawas he received $122.40. In the 1908 Durant Roll he was again noted as being a member of the Grand River Bands. At that time Jean lived with his daughter, Mary Vandenberg, at 619 Monroe Street in Grand Haven. In the Durant Roll the family names was spelled Perrissien. In 1908 in Grand Haven, Jean received about $21.18 as his share of the Indian annuity allotted that year. Jean was among those who purchased land set aside for Indians and sold it to White settlers.

Son John at the time of the 1908 Durant Roll was living in Honor, Benzie County. His wife was deceased. He was a member of the Grand River Bands of Ottawa Indians.

Another son, Patrick, appeared in the 1908 Durant Roll as well, 57 years old. He resided in Hart, Oceana County, with his wife, who was White, and two of their three children: Roy, 15 years old, and William, 10 years old. The third child, Pearl, resided in Elbridge Township. Like his older brother, John, Patrick was a member of the Grand River Ottawas.

A note in the 1908 Roll said of a third son, Isaac, that he "has not been heard from."

Two years before he died, Jean sang "a Chippewa cradle song" for Albert Gale. Albert Gale of Albion was said to be "an authority on Indian music." While Jean sang, Albert wrote down the music and called it "'a beauty, far ahead of my expectations.'" The music was played at the Unitarian Church in Grand Haven on Friday night, February 4, 1910. [Tribune article, "Written Indian Song," February 2, 1910.]

In 1999 a descendant of Jean's lived as far away as Arizona. By then the spelling of the family name had changed to Perysian. Jean died on September 8, 1912 at his home in Grand Haven. [Tribune obituaries, April 10, 1908 and September 9, 1912.]

At the time of Jean's death, Mayor Charles W. Cotton of Grand Haven issued this statement: "By the death of Jean Baptiste Parrisien, the city of Grand Haven has lost one of its most valued citizens. Not only was he the oldest living inhabitant of our city, but he alone was the connecting link between the Present and the Past—our present civilization and the day of the pioneer.

"For generations he has been pointed out to us and to our children as an example of honesty and integrity, and now that he has gone it is proper and fitting that the citizens of the city should show that respect due one whose life has been of such great benefit.

"Therefore I would recommend that all the flags of in the city be at half mast during the funeral and as many as possible accompany the remains to the last resting place."

The Parrisien and Duvernay families of Grand Haven had a close relationship, and occasionally the distinction between the two was blurred. See William Parrisien [Duvernay] as an example.

William Parrisien [Duvernay] [1858-1917]

William Duvernay's entry in the 1908 Durant Roll noted that he also was known as William Parrisien [Perissieu]. It is probable that the individual listed was the son of Jean Baptiste and Madeline McGulpin Parrisien of Grand Haven, and thus was part Chippewa. Appearing in the Roll with William was his wife, Angeline Wahbuscum [Wambuscum], age 50, and their children: Levi, 16 years old; Josephine, 13; John 12; William, 9; Moses, 4, and Frank, 2. William's first wife, Lucy Aken [Aikin] was deceased. The family resided in Honor, Benzie County. Angeline was a member of the Traverse Bands of Indians, while William belonged to the Grand Rivers Bands. They had a son, Charles, who was born in 1881 and went by the name Duvernay. In 1900 William and his family lived in Almira, Benzie County. William, who worked as a laborer, was born in August 1858. With him were Angeline, born in June 1871; Levi, born in Suttons Bay on March 7, 1893; Josephine, born in May 1895; and John, born in May 1898.

Levi was born in Suttons Bay on March 7, 1893. In 1917 he was working as a “woodsman” in Phelps, Wisconsin. At the time of the 1930 Federal Census, he was an inmate at a state prison in Waupun, Wisconsin.

James Manley Patchin [Patchen] [1803-1883]

Born in New York [Vermont] in 1803, J. Manley Patchin was an early settler in Crockery Township, arriving there from Grandville in 1836. With one of his brothers, Manley worked for Ringuette & Boland Sawmill. He was credited with floating the first pine logs down Crockery Creek to the Grand River in 1836. On August 1, 1837 he bought 40 acres in Section 24 of Georgetown Township and he purchased another 40 acres on November 2 the same year. On June 1, 1848 he purchased 80 acres in Section 3 of Crockery Township. Manley later added property in Sections 19, 20, 29, and 30 in Crockery, and he also owned acreage bordering the bayou that originally carried his name but was renamed Lloyd’s Bayou. Manley farmed his land, and he was in the lumber business. His wife, Julia, was born in Ireland around 1826. They had five children living at home in 1880, all born in Michigan: James, born about 1851; Edward, born about 1853; Julia, born about 1860; George, born about 1856; and Harry, born about 1869. Other children, also born in Michigan, were Lyman, born about 1854, and Richard, born about 1856. Carrie Patchin, a Grand Haven school teacher born in 1857, probably was another daughter, and Dr. D. W. Patchin of Spring Lake may have been yet another relative. Manley died on June 9, 1883 in Grand Rapids and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Kent County.

Sarah Caroline Patten [1832-1921]

See Sarah C. Savidge.

Frank Raymond Patrick [1878-1961]

Around 1938 Frank Patrick purchased Haven Laundry at 401-403 Fulton. A year or two later he moved the business to 208 Columbus. Frank was born in Vandalia, Cass County on September 6, 1878. On June 18, 1902 he married Maud Ella Buyce in Allegan. Maud, also a native of Michigan was born on August 1, 1878 in Allegan. In 1930 the couple resided in Niles, where Frank was listed as a “laundry man.” When he registered for the WWII draft, he gave his address as 729 Washington Street in Grand Haven and his business as Haven Laundry, then located at 201 Columbus Street. Maud’s name was not cited. She died in Grand Haven on August 27, 1945. Frank passed away on October 28, 1961. They were buried at Mona View Cemetery in Muskegon Heights.

Isabelle [Isabella] “Belle” B. Patterson [1847-1930]

Born in Scotland on December 25, 1847, Belle Patterson immigrated to the United States in 1851. In the 1880s she took over Louisa Bentham’s millinery shop at 213 West Savidge Street in Spring Lake. By 1900 she was operating a millinery shop and residing in the first Washington Street in Grand Haven. Eight years later she was still in the millinery business and living at 113 First Street. Belle, the daughter of Scott and Catherine Patterson of Spring Lake, died on March 17, 1930 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. She lived with her mother after Scott’s death in 1877, and then moved in with her sister Catherine and Catherine’s husband, William Barrett, after their mother died in 1880. By 1920 she was in her own home on Park Street.

Orlando “Len” R. Patterson [1866-1940]

Shortly after moving with his mother Julia Ann Haskins Patterson [1836-1900] from Grand Rapids to the Spring Lake area, Len Patterson started a fruit farm on nearly 12 acres in Section 11 of Spring Lake Township [approximately 17901 Fruitport Road, formerly the site of the Lorimer Hotel]. Len’s wife’s sister, Louise Orchardson Lorimer, had operated the resort from 1911 to 1919, the year the hotel was destroyed by fire. Len also had a successful career as a building contractor. He built two cottages on Lloyd’s Bayou in 1903 and the Presbyterian Manse at 205 East Savidge three years later. In 1911 his bid to build Ferrysburg

School was accepted. Len was a charter member of the Spring Lake Yacht Club. On January 8, 1898 in Spring Lake, He married Flora “Mabel” Orchardson on January 1, 1898 in Spring Lake. Len was born in Sterling, New York on December 24, 1866. Mabel, the daughter of Charles and Lurissa Norton Orchardson, lived from September 16, 1872 to April 29, 1927. After Mabel’s death, Len married Gertrude Julia Schwab [1897-1949] in Spring Lake on June 1, 1928. Len died on October 31, 1940. He and Mabel were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Mabel and Louise Orchardson Lorimer were sisters.

Marvin, the son of Jerome and Myrtle Brooks Patterson, was born in Muskegon on May 11, 1917. He and Pearl Elizabeth Powers were married in that city on May 29, 1942. Pearl was born about 1922. After graduating from Muskegon Heights High School and the Mergenthaler School of Printing, Marvin attended John Hopkins University, where he earned a business degree. He saved enough money selling newspapers to start Patterson Press in Muskegon in 1930. Thirteen years later, prior to joining the 80th Division of the Army during WWII, he sold the business. While in the service, Marvin earned a Bronze Star. He moved to Grand Haven in 1947 and purchased a partnership in the JR Pippel Printing Company. Four years later the business name was changed to Pippel Patterson. Eventually Marvin bought John R. Pippel’s and Jack Reichardt’s interests in the firm and became sole owner. Marvin was a Rotarian and earned the Paul Harris Fellow Award. He also was involved in scouting, and he served as president of the Chamber of Commerce and the Grand Haven School Board, was chair of the Grand Haven Parks & Recreation Board, and trustee of Adrian College. He was commissioned as a Stephens Minister. Marvin served on the Grand Haven Area Community Foundation and on the YMCA and United Methodist Church of the Dunes Building Committees. He and Pearl resided at 1213 South Beechtree. Marvin passed away on August 17, 2002. Their children were Phyllis Dickmann, Diane Lehman, Tom Patterson, and Doug Patterson. Emmet H. Peck [1858-1922]

Born March 17, 1858 on a farm one mile from Coopersville, Emmet Peck attended classes in the Old Brown Schoolhouse near his home. When he was 16 years old, he and some other boys cut 100 cords of wood and earned 35 cents a cord. With that money, he purchased a book on North American Birds. At age 21, Emmet was stricken with spinal meningitis and then seriously injured by a runaway horse. During his convalescence he busied himself by stuffing as many varieties of birds as he could secure and mounting them in cases. His work resulted in one of the best private collections of birds in this part of Michigan. At age 23, he and his brother, Albert V., engineered and constructed 56 miles of railroad from Goshen, Indiana to Benton Harbor, Berrien County. Albert lived from 1842 to 1912. Emmet continued working for numerous railroads in various positions and in 1888 was elected County Surveyor of Ottawa County and held that position for 34 years. He surveyed most of Holland, Zeeland, Grand Haven, and Spring Lake. Emmet lived with his widowed mother, Julia Peck. Julia was born in New York around 1818. She had six children, beside Emmet.

On July 17, 1897 in Grand Rapids, Emmet married Mary Clark. They lived on the Scott farm, which he later purchased. After Mary's death in 1911 at the age of 36 he married Flora Burke, who came from Indiana, where she was born in 1868. Emmet was president of Coopersville Bank for eight years and also served on the School Board. He died on April 18, 1922 and was buried at Coopersville Cemetery. Flora died in 1944 and also was buried at Coopersville Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, April 18, 1922.]

Around 1940 Fred owned and operated Fred Pelton's Super Service gas station at 200 North Seventh Street. The business also was called Pelton's Deluxe Service Station and Fred's Super Service. He was still at the Seventh Street address in 1957. By 1969 he was running a lawnmower repair shop with his son at 1318 Fulton. Fred was born on January 7, 1908 and died in Robinson Township on October 8, 1987. Alice lived from December 27, 1909 to May 24, 1990. Fred was the son of Jason and Nellie Stearns Pelton of Robinson Township.

The son of Aldridge and Maria Ann Prentice Pelton, Jason was born in Robinson Township on January 1, 1874. He served with Company F of the 32nd Michigan Infantry during the Spanish American War. On January 1, 1900 he married Nellie, the daughter of Charles and Maria Elizabeth Stearns. Jason and Nellie settled on an acre of land in Robinson Township. They opened a grocery store in the front of their home in the early 1900s. The first telephone switchboard in the Robinson Township area was installed in their home, with Nellie as the operator. She lived from 1878 to 1967. Jason died on June 7, 1919.

William N. Penn [Penne] [1810- ?]

Closely associated with Hezekiah Lucinda Smith and living nearby on Smith's Bayou were William and Hester [Esther] Penn. William Penn was born in Virginia [Ohio] in 1810 [1815]. Hester was born in Virginia in 1807 [1820] and died on February 12, 1892 in Grand Rapids of a brain tumor. She was buried at Valley City Cemetery in Grand Rapids [now part of Oakhill Cemetery]. On August 1, 1853, the same day that Hezekiah bought 40 acres in Section 10 of Spring Lake Township, William purchased Lot 5 in the same section. William then was working for Henry Pennoyer as a cook at the Washington House in downtown Grand Haven [12 Washington Street]. In her journal, Lettie Teeple wrote of him, "He was a great grumbler which caused either merriment or discontent among the help." ["Between Hope and Fear," Michigan History, Fall and Winter 1974 issues.] Henry operated the hotel between 1852 and 1856. In 1860 William was still a cook, and Hester worked as a servant. An undated newspaper article said of her, "[She] had been reared in a wealthy Southern family and was one of the most agreeable colored women that has ever come under the writer's observation." [Kitchel, p. 185.]

In the 1860 census the Penns were living on 80 acres in Section 10 of Spring Lake Township, just north of Hezekiah. William, Benjamin Campbell, and eight White worshipers established the First Baptist Church in Spring Lake on December 7, 1867. Three years later William and Hester were living with Hezekiah and Lucinda Smith. William was classified as a farmer and Hester as housekeeper. The couple was still located in Section 10 in 1880, although by 1876 William's land holdings were reduced to less than 40 acres. The 1880 census listed him as a "Milk Peddler." Living in 1880 with William and Hester was Phillip Smith, who was born in Canada about 1864. There is no indication Phillip was related to the Penns' neighbors, Hezekiah and Lucinda Smith.

William passed away in Spring Lake after the Federal Census of 1880. Hester died on February 12, 1892 of a brain tumor. Her obituary said she had lived in Grand Haven for 35 years. She was 85 years old. [Tribune obituary, February 19, 1892.]

Augustus Pennoyer [Penoyer] [1810-1841]

See O. Augustus Pennoyer.

Edwin T. Pennoyer [1870–1914]

Born on March 15, 1870 in Grand Haven, Edwin was the grandson of Henry Pennoyer and the son of John Pennoyer, who were known for the roles they played in the early history of the area. Edwin at the age of 23 was a bank clerk. Later he became manager of numerous hotels in the Shelby and Muskegon areas, but returned to Grand Haven and managed the Cutler House.

On July 12, 1893 Edwin married Pieterella “Nellie” De Gloppe. Nellie, the daughter of Martinus and Maria De Gloppe, was born February 18, 1870. She died April 14, 1920 in Ann Arbor, but was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Nellie taught in the Grand Haven Public Schools until her marriage. Edwin was a member of Company F and an official of the Grand Haven Athletic Club for 20 years. The Pennoyers had one son, Clarence Theodore, who was born on October 30, 1896, graduated from the University of Michigan, worked for the U.S. War Department in Detroit, and died in 1950. The Pennoyers lived at 209 Washington. After Edwin passed away on March 26, 1914, Nellie moved to 122 Franklin. Edwin, too, was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituaries, March 26, 1914 and April 14, 1920.]

Henry Pennoyer I [Penoyer] [1809-1886]

Born in Norwalk, Fairfield County, Connecticut on February 8, 1809, Henry moved with his parents, John and Sarah “Sally” Fox Pennoyer, to Cayuga County, New York when he was ten. John who was born about 1783, in 1837 settled in Cook County, near Chicago, with two of his sons, Stephen, who was born about 1812, and James, born about 1819. A daughter Susan also settled there with the family. Henry preceded them by three years. In 1834 he and his wife, Harriet, went to Chicago, where they remained for two years before settling in the Muskegon area. In Muskegon Henry and his brother Augustus built a sawmill in 1836. Henry later moved to Grand Haven, where in 1843 he became proprietor of the first Ottawa House Hotel, situated on the northeast corner of Water Street [Harbor Drive] and Washington Streets [1 Washington] in Grand Haven. Henry was operating the Ottawa House as late as 1851. Also that year, Henry leased Clark Albee’s Washington House [approximately 12 Washington], which he passed on to John and Robert Leggat on July 12, 1856. The hotel, which burned down on November 13, 1860, also functioned as a stop for the Grand Rapids stagecoach.

On January 3, 1838, Henry was named postmaster of Muskegon. The same year he was appointed to a commission charged with building a state road along the south side of the Muskegon River, and in the same year he was elected Ottawa County’s first sheriff. In 1850 he was commissioner of the Grand Haven and Black River Plank Road Company, and in 1851 he was part of a commission charged with laying out a plank road between Grand Haven and Holland. In 1853 Henry replaced Thomas Ferry as deputy collector of customs for Grand Haven. He was treasurer for Grand Haven before it became a city. He served in the State House in 1849 and ten years later in the State Senate. In the early 1850s Henry was editor of the Grand River Times, and in 1856 he helped found and became a charter member of the Ottawa County Agricultural Society. In 1857 he was president of the Grand Haven Lyceum, which presented public discussions of the time’s important topics. Because of his size 14 shoes, the Indians and voyageurs nicknamed him “Big Foot.”

Henry’s first marriage was to Harriet Kells of Mentz, New York. The couple moved from Chicago to the Muskegon area in 1836. They had four children: John, born in Muskegon on September 20, 1839; Sarah M., who was born in Muskegon on April 29, 1841 and married Peter Ross of Crockery Township; Mary Arms, born in Grand Haven on September 23, 1847, and Clara, born in Grand Haven on April 8, 1852. Harriet died on May 4, 1852, and the next year, on April 14, Henry married Aletta “Lettie” Teeple Rellingston [Rellingson], who was born on November 20, 1829 in Plymouth, Wayne County. Her parents were Peter and Sarah Losey Teeple, who had moved to Cascade Township in Kent County in late 1836. Lettie moved to Ferrysburg in 1849 to be with her sister and brother-in-law, Jane and Thomas Merrill. Jane, born on January 30, 1826, was about three years older than Lettie. The Merrills were married in 1846, and later moved to Ferrysburg. Lettie tended to Henry's children after Harriet's death and also worked for him at the Washington House. Lettie and Henry had five children: Lettie May born October 25, 1856; Henry II, born January 24, 1860; Susan Amanda, who was born on August 18, 1861 and died in March 1863; Perry, born on January 15, 1864; and Frederick Anson, born on February 8, 1866. Also a member of the household was Lettie's girl, Sarah Jane, from her short-lived marriage to 20-year-old William Rellingston. Lettie and William were married in Grand Haven on Christmas Day, 1849, and by July 12 the next year he was gone forever. Lettie later filed for divorce. In August 1858 the Pennoyer family moved from Grand Haven to Crockery Township, where Henry tried his hand at farming the 600 acres he bought in Sections 13 and 24. Henry died on April 25, 1886 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Lettie left Michigan for Oregon a few years after his death and died in Seattle, Washington in 1911. Pennoyer Street in Grand Haven was named after Henry. ["Between Hope and Fear: the Life of Lettie Teeple," Part I, Michigan History, Fall 1974, and Part II, Michigan History, Winter 1974.]

Henry Pennoyer II [1860-1930]

Born in Crockery Township on January 24, 1860, Henry was the son of Henry and Aletta Teeple Pennoyer. He inherited the family farm after his father's death in 1886, sold it to Joseph Gibbs five years later and headed west. He spent a few years in Washington State, then went on to Alaska and the Klondike, where he searched for gold. In 1899 he lost several of his toes to frostbite. Henry died about June 27, 1930 on board a ship bound from Fairbanks to Sitka, Alaska.

John, the son of Henry and Harriet Kells Pennoyer, was born in Muskegon on September 30, 1839. Like his father, and later his son, Edwin T. Pennoyer, John developed an interest in the hotel business and was proprietor of the Ferrysburg Hotel by 1864, after working briefly the previous year at the Rice House in Grand Haven. The Rice House was located on the northwest corner of Water [Harbor] and Washington Streets, near the 1870 train depot, and was owned by Thomas Merrill of Ferrysburg. In 1870 he, his wife, and their son were living in Grand Haven where John worked as a clerk at an unnamed hotel. Ten years later John and his family were residing on Washington Street in Grand Haven, where he worked as a store clerk. John married Mariette Stone in August 1863. She was born in Ohio on January 2, 1844 and died on February 11, 1892. John died on October 19, 1893 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his wife. Edwin, their son, was born in Grand Haven on March 15, 1870. A daughter Stella, also a native of Michigan, was born about 1876. She married John W. Hamm and moved to Jackson. A second son, Charles Leonard, was born on October 21, 1880. He worked as a chef on a car ferry out of Grand Haven. On August 17, 1911 in Grand Haven, Charles married Alice Breamer, who was born in Michigan in 1888.

O. Augustus Pennoyer [Penoyer] [1810-1841]

Augustus was Henry Pennoyer's brother and the son of John and Sarah "Sally" Fox Pennoyer. About 1836 Augustus and Henry built a sawmill near Pennoyer Creek and the Muskegon River in Newaygo County, and he was included in the 1840 census for Oceana County. Late in 1836 Augustus partnered with Alexander Fulton to form the Muskegon Lumber Company. In 1841 Augustus purchased approximately 160 acres in Muskegon County. He was born on May 15, 1810 and died on October 22, 1841 while en route from Chicago to Muskegon on the boat Post-boy, loaded with supplies for a sawmill.

Edwin Percival, uncle of film star Norma Shearer, spent six summers in Highland Park before making Grand Haven his permanent home in 1917. Edwin's and Norma's mothers were sisters. Percival's cottage, called Baldpate Inn, was located at 20 Crescent Hill. The name of the cottage was derived from Seven Keys to Baldpate, a popular Broadway drama in 1913-14. Norma visited the Highland Park cottage on several occasions. In 1904, Edwin married Gertrude Ritchie Beville in the State of Washington, although they were Chicago residents at the time. Gertrude, a native of Chicago and five years younger than Edwin, was an actress. Edwin was listed on the marriage registration as Edwin Percival Fisher. His mother was Emily

Cooper Fisher, and his father was Edwin Chisholm Fisher. Edwin may have adopted the last name Percival as a stage name and never gave it up. Norma visited him at the Highland Park cottage on several occasions. Her brother, Douglas Shearer, worked in the film industry and was on the leading edge of transforming silent movies to “talkies” in 1928. Another sibling, Athole Shearer, was an actress in the silent film era.

In 1917 Edwin started work as chief clerk with the Grand Trunk Railway, a job he held for the next 12 years. His year-round residence was located at 526 Pennoyer in 1918. Living with him then was Gertrude Percival. She was not listed as a household member when Edwin resided at 312 South Fifth in 1920, but his 75-year-old mother, Emily, was then living with him. She had come to Grand Haven from Canada the previous year. Edwin later moved to 321 Columbus, and then to 300 Franklin, where he resided in 1928. That year Edwin was listed as cashier for the railway. In Grand Haven, Edwin was a member of the local Christian Science Church and Masonic lodge. He was instrumental in starting DeMolay, an international fraternal organization for young people.

When Edwin and Gertrude were granted a divorce in Grand Haven on August 16, 1926 on grounds of desertion, their marriage date was cited as having taken place on October 15, 1903. Three years after the divorce, Percival sold Baldpate to Charles Everest, left Grand Haven, and married Ruth Hille Kibbe on April 23 that year. The couple moved to San Antonio, Texas, Ruth’s home state. In the Federal Census of 1940, they were living in Santa Barbara, California. Ruth, a teacher, was born on October 30, 1892 and died in Santa Barbara on January 18, 1976. Edwin was born on November 25, 1878 in Staymer, Ontario, Canada and died in Santa Barbara on March 9, 1941. He and Ruth were buried at Santa Barbara Cemetery. Edwin’s first wife, Gertrude, died in Chicago on July 21, 1984. Edwin was known for his published poems and articles.

John Thomas Percival I [1839-1925]

A native of Scotland, where he was born March 27, 1839, John Percival came to America in 1865 and continued to Grand Haven from Lyons in Ionia County in 1871. He was agent for the Detroit, Grand Haven, & Milwaukee Railroad from the time of his arrival to 1875, when he opened a flour and feed store. John was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886. He attended the Presbyterian Church. His booklet, “Railroads of Ottawa County,” published in 1884, summarized the early years of the railways in this area, and a similar article, with the same title, appeared in Volume IX [1886], Michigan Historical Society Records, pages 270-279. He married Emily [Emmeline] Melvina Hoyt in Muir, Ionia County, on December 21, 1870. They had two daughters, both born in Muir, Ionia County: Emily, who was born on December 5, 1873 and died in 1946, and Margaret, who was born on February 1, 1875 and died in 1948. Their son, John II, was born in Grand Haven on September 10, 1880, married Effie Goodale on September 11, 1916 in Spokane, Washington, and died in 1930. Emily, the mother, was from Cayuga, New York, where she was born on April 20, 1850; she died in Spokane on October 27, 1908. John passed away in Spokane on November 9, 1925. They were buried at Greenwood Memorial Terrace in that city.

John B. Perham [1836-1896]

John B. Perham was born in Mayfield, New York in October 1836. At the age of 17 he was a government surveyor, working in Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. He taught school in Grundy County, Illinois for three years, and in 1860 moved to Spring Lake to be a teacher. After three years of teaching in Spring Lake, he opened a grocery and dry goods store at 213 West Savidge in Spring Lake with Judge Allan C. Adsit of Ottawa and Kent Counties as his partner. John bought out his partner eight years later. John Koster, who settled in Spring Lake in 1869, worked for John Perham at the store and in 1894 purchased the business.

John married Catherine “Cassie” Gross in Rockford on November 4, 1867. Cassie was born in 1840 in Portage County, Ohio and came to Spring Lake in 1846, where she died 52 years later. Prominent in business and politics in the Village of Spring Lake, John twice represented the local district in the State Legislature and was considered a staunch Republican.

When only 17 years old John joined the Good Templars and later raised enough money to build the first Temperance Red Ribbon Hall in Michigan and was its president for many years. In addition to being a member of the Liquor Committee, John was township clerk and supervisor, member of the Spring Lake School Board for 15 years and was director in the 1870s. He was elected to the State Legislature in 1880 and served from 1881 to 1884. He was chairman of the Fifth District of Michigan, president of the Ottawa County Sunday School Association, and dealt in real estate in Ottawa County. John died on November 13, 1896 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Loren Perham, his brother, was a Spring Lake druggist, and a sister, Phebe, married Henry W. Cleveland of Spring Lake and Nunica. [Tribune, November 13, 1896.]

Loren O. Perham [1833-1920]

Loren Perham, who was born in Mayfield, New York in February 1833 [1835], came to Spring Lake in the early years of its development. In 1852 he built a three-story brick building at 213 West State Street [Savidge], where he had a grocery and drug store. He was elected the first treasurer of Spring Lake Village when it was incorporated in 1869. He served as postmaster of Mill Point from 1861 until the Village was renamed Spring Lake on March 28, 1867, and he continued serving in that position until 1885. The post office was located in the rear of his drug store at 222 Savidge. On May 3, 1877 in Spring Lake, he married Hester Ann Rose. She was born in Canada in February 1842. They had a daughter, Leila [Leilla], who was born in Spring Lake on March 20, 1878 and married Miner Lawton. There is some evidence that the family resided at 120 West Exchange. Loren passed away on February 19, 1920 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. He and John Perham were brothers. [Tribune obituary, February 19, 1920.]

Louis Waite Perkins [1894-1983]

Lieutenant Commander Perkins was the first commanding officer of the first Escanaba. He was born in Waltham, Massachusetts on March 9, 1894 and graduated from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut in 1918. He worked his way through the ranks to lieutenant commander by 1925. Louis from 1932 to 1935 commanded the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Escanaba when it was based in Grand Haven. He was promoted to Rear Admiral before his death on May 13, 1983 in St. Louis, Missouri. Louis's wife's name was Gertrude. They were married on June 6, 1926 and had two daughters, Patricia Ann, born about 1929, and Sue Denise, born about 1931. He was buried at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C. [Tribune obituary May 18, 1983.]

Miner [Minor] Gaylord Perkins [1816-1910]

Born in Herkimer, New York on November 4, 1816, Miner Perkins and his wife, Sallie [Sarah] Morse, came to Grand Haven in March 1874. They had been married, presumably in New York, on March 31, 1841. Miner was a carpenter. He and Sallie were instrumental in establishing the Methodist Church in Grand Haven and were called the father and mother of the church by the congregation. Their daughter, Harriet E., was born in Herkimer in 1843 and died in 1917. She married George S. Leland [Lealand], who practiced medicine in Grand Haven around 1880. Harriet was a milliner. George, also from New York, was born about 1816. Miner died at his daughter's home at 15 North Fourth Street in Grand Haven on November 9 [11], 1910. After his death Harriet continued to reside at the family home on Fourth Street, which had been converted to a four-unit apartment complex. Sallie was born in Fulton County, New York on March 16, 1824 and died on March 7, 1911. Miner and Sally were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, November 9, 1910.]

Guy Perkins owned a photography studio at 22 South Second Street in 1910. On March 4, 1903 he married Alma Hill in Chicago. They were divorced in Kalamazoo on November 20, 1907. On November 24, 1909 he married Rosa [Rose] Paine in Kalamazoo. In Grand Haven they resided at 17 Franklin. They were divorced in Kalamazoo on October 16, 1911, remarried in Ann Arbor on September 9, 1914, and divorced for the second time in Ann Arbor on May 6, 1918. On September 9, 1919, Guy married Vera Hovey Plummer in Centerville, St. Joseph County. In 1920 Guy and Vera were living in Milwaukee, where Guy worked as a toolmaker. Presumably they were divorced, because on August 10, 1925 he married Katie Luella Bogart in Cass, Berrien County. Five years later he and Katie were living in Three Rivers, St. Joseph County, where Guy was unemployed, and on January 31, 1932 they were divorced in Cass County. Guy was born in Kalamazoo on April 27, 1880, the son of Joseph and Lora Perkins. He died in Phoenix, Arizona in 1930.

In 1853 in Adrian, Lenawee County, Noah Perkins married Ellen W. Turner. Ellen was born in Seneca, New York, on March 3, 1827 and died in Spring Lake on August 23, 1897. Noah was born in Orleans County, New York in 1823. He and Ellen moved to Spring Lake shortly after they were married. In the late 1850s Noah built a grocery store at 215 West Savidge in Spring Lake. On September 17, 1861, at the age of 39, Noah enlisted as sergeant in Company D of the 1st Michigan Engineers and died of disease [chronic diarrhea] in the hospital at Louisville, Kentucky, on March 14, 1862. He was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. The G.A.R. [Grand Army of the Republic] was organized in Spring Lake in 1884 and named Noah Perkins Post #279. The post was disbanded by 1912.

On January 7, 1867 Ellen applied for a widow's Civil War pension, with George Lovell signing as her guardian. W. Henry Millard, a native of England, bought the building on Savidge from Perkins's widow in 1865 and opened a meat market. Noah and Ellen had at least three children, all born locally: James Edgar [Edgar J.], born March 3, 1847; Ella, who was born on October 13, 1853 and died on June 17, 1912, and May [Ida May], born on May 1, 1859. Edgar enlisted as private in Company A of the 3rd Michigan Infantry on May 13, 1861. He gave his age as 18 at the time of enlistment. According to his cemetery records, Edgar lost his life on May 6, 1863 at the Battle of Chancellorsville. The Perkins family was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Ellen in 1866 became George Lovell's second wife.

Felix M. F. Perl [Pearl] [1854-1934]

In 1905 Garry Messenger and his brother Clifford sold their pharmacy in Spring Lake to Felix Perl. Three years later Felix sold the business to an employee, Leon Campbell. Felix also worked as manager for Edward and Anna Selbmann, who operated Lott Hannah Resort from 1904 to 1907. Felix was born in Germany [Saxony] on November 30, 1854 and immigrated to the United States on October 12, 1882. On October 20, 1884 in Medford, Wisconsin, he married Victoria M. E. Ihne. By 1900 Felix was a widower and living in Chicago. In 1920 he was a laborer at a Grand Haven factory, and by 1930 he was residing in Jacksonville, Florida with his widowed daughter, Dolores Walker. He died in Jacksonville on July 26 four years later and was buried at Evergreen Cemetery.

Mary Perlee [Per Lee] [1816-1850] and William T. Perlee [1813-1878]

Mary Cuyler Perlee and her husband, both natives of New York State, stopped for a short time in Grand Haven in 1844 before proceeding upriver to their new home in Lamont. In a short piece she wrote about her visit, she described her impressions of two Indians who were in town at the same time as she: "Here we saw the Potawatomi tribe of Indians with their chief and his son. Many of [the Indians] were handsomely dressed in the finest broadcloth embroidered as usual with beads and porcupine quills of various colors. The old chief had a plate of silver on his breast as large as a breakfast plate, with the figure of a wolf engraved upon it. They were a deal of silver about their persons. Some dangle the plates tied to their hair between the shoulders, others had their coat capes ornamented with pieces as large as a dollar sewed together on the edge. The chief's son has a natural talent for music and played for us upon an instrument constructed by himself a tune of his own composition." ["Rosy Mound Indian Tales," Esther Henning, p. 43.]

Mary Perlee's letters revealed the hardships of those early days: "On August third, 1845," Mary wrote that her husband "suffered terribly from ague that spares hardly a household." She named Chologo [chologogue] as a reliable remedy for the disease and added, "I have the greatest possible horror of quinine. I believe Abraham was killing himself with it as fast as he could."

Mary's father, a lieutenant in the war of 1812, had been given the land they had come to, as a bounty. Mary wrote of the settlement at Grand Haven where they landed as "having three stores and a steam mill, everything so wild and new as to be startling but rather pleasant otherwise." She and her husband arrived in Grand Haven and from there they boarded the steamer Paragon, which took them to Grandville, the landing closest to their future home in Lamont.

Mary was born in 1816. She and her husband William had five children: Maria, who was born in 1839, married Eugene Washington Alexander [1841-1910], and died in 1915; Jane, who lived from 1844 to 1883; Eliza, who was born about 1846; Abraham, who was born about 1847, and Helen, who was born about June 1850. In 1850 the Perlees lived on an 80-acre farm in Section 35 of Tallmadge Township, just east of the Stephen Lowing homestead. Mary's brother lived with them. William also was postmaster at Lamont and earned $200 a year for his duties.

Mary died on September 23, 1850 and was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery in Grand Rapids. William was born in New York on December 31, 1813. He died in Lamont on August 8, 1878 and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

James Joseph Perry [1888-1956]

In 1915, James Perry owned the Dandy Ice Cream Parlor at 100 Washington Street. He and Clara Schellas were married in Muskegon on January 20, 1914. In 1915 the couple resided at 428 Clinton Street in Grand Haven, two years later they were living at 518 Washington, and by 1920 James and Clara were living in Muskegon, where he worked in the engineering department of an automobile motor company. Born on December 15, 1888, he died in his hometown of Muskegon on October 24, 1956 and was buried at St. Mary's Cemetery in Muskegon. Clara lived from 1893 to July 13, 1970 and also was buried at St. Mary's.

Bruno Emil Peter [1882-1950]

A native of Saxony, Germany, where he was born on February 25, 1882, Bruno Peter came to Grand Haven to work for the Eagle Ottawa Leather Company. He served as alderman from 1920 to 1922 and as mayor of Grand Haven in 1929 and again in 1930. In partnership with James W. Oakes, Bruno helped develop much of the residential property along Sheldon Road, south of Taylor Street. Peter was a member of the Masons, Grand Haven Rotary Club, Spring Lake County Club, and the Grand Haven Stag Club. He married Clara Conrad on June 27, 1906. They had a daughter, June who was born about 1915. The family resided at 519 Sheldon and 416 Ottawa Street. Bruno died in 1950. Clara, who was born on December 21, 1893, died in St. Petersburg, Florida in December 1972.

Edward Emmett Peters [1873-1968] and Jane Van Herwyn [Van Herwynen] Peters [1884-1977]

Joseph was born on September 18, 1881 and died on November 18, 1954. Aurelia was born in 1885 and passed away on March 24, 1933. Joseph and Aurelia were born in Bohemia [Czechoslovakia] and immigrated to the United States, Joseph in 1911 and Aurelia the next year. On December 18, 1937 in Grand Haven, Joseph married Mary Rohacek, who lived from 1903 to 1947. By 1948 Joseph had moved to Grand Haven and resided at 2 Elliott Street. The brothers and their parents were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Mary.

Born in Toronto, Canada on April 19, 1925, Warren Pilling came to the United States in 1930 and became a medical doctor. He married Marcia Travis. The daughter of Charles Clinton and Rose Travis, Marcia was born in Grand Rapids on May 23, 1926. She was active in a variety of roles in Grand Rapids, and in Grand Haven she opened Mailboxes, Etc. at 101 Washington Street, was the first president of the Board of the Central Business District in 2000 and was a docent at the Tri-Cities Historical Museum. Their retirement home was in the Wilderness at 12779 Lakeshore Drive. Originally a cottage built in the mid-1920s by the Travises, Warren and Marcia substantially remodeled it, adding a full basement, garage, new bedrooms, and a library. They were able to enjoy the remodeled home for the first time around the Thanksgiving Holiday in 1983. The Pillings had four children: Warren II, Cathy, Susan, and Amy. Warren died in Grand Haven on November 5, 1990. Marcia passed away, also in Grand Haven, on April 11, 2011. [Tribune obituary, April 16, 2011.]

John Pinto [1889- ?]

John and Luella Pinto resided at 1329 Franklin Street in Grand Haven in 1930. Living with them was Luella's daughter Esther Wolfe, Esther's husband Eugene, and the Wolfes's two children, Charlene and Tyrie [Terry]. John Pinto, who was born in Portugal on March 5, 1889 and immigrated to the United States in 1909, was a laborer in a machine shop. He and Luella were married about 1922. Luella was born in Arkansas about 1892 and had been married previously. Esther, born about 1912, was her daughter by the earlier marriage. Also living with the Pintos in 1930 was Albert Rouse, who was born in Illinois about 1896. Like the other members of the household, Albert was African American, unmarried, and did odd jobs to make a living. Apparently Albert, the Pintos, and the Wolfes arrived in Grand Haven around 1930. By 1960 Luella was a widow residing in Muskegon. The Wolfes remained in Grand Haven.

James Perry Piper [1942-2017]

In the late 1970s, attorneys James Piper and William R. Dickey maintained a law office at 220½ Washington Street. By 1986, James and Kenneth R. Lampe were law partners with an office at 509 Franklin Street in Grand Haven. James was born in Ames, Iowa on January 9, 1942. He earned his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Iowa and his master degree from Michigan State University. James served with the United States Army and was stationed in Korea during the Vietnam War. After his honorable discharge, James received his Juris Prudence degree from Wayne State University in 1971. He then moved to Muskegon to become assistant prosecuting attorney for the county, and later moved to the Tri-Cities area. James resided in Spring Lake at 17714 North Shore Estates Road. James and his wife Judy had two sons, Greg Piper, who moved to Arvada, Colorado, and Ted Piper, who relocated to Dillon, Colorado. James died at Meijer Heart Center in Grand Rapids on February 11, 2017. Judy was born on July 4, 1943.

Anthony Pippel I [1851-1914]

Grand Haven cabinet maker Anthony Pippel I was born in The Netherlands on September 25, 1851 and arrived in Ottawa County with two brothers, Cornelius and Engelbert, in 1867. Anthony, his wife, Cornelia, and their children resided at 446 Slayton Street in Grand Haven. Among the children were Anthony II, born on May 28, 1880; Cornelius "Neal," born in August 1884; and Henrietta [Hendrika] Tona, who was born on May 8, 1894 and married Joseph Nuismer. Cornelia was born in The Netherlands in May 1853 and died on June 2, 1909. Anthony I died in Grand Haven on July 13, 1914. Husband and wife were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Anthony Pippel II [1880–1933]

The Common Council [City Council] appointed Anthony Pippel as chief of the Grand Haven Fire Department and Police Department in 1913. Born on May 28, 1880, he was the son of Anthony Pippel.

Anthony II died on June 19, 1933, three years before the new building on North Fifth Street was dedicated. Under his leadership, the Police Department purchased its first motorized vehicle, a converted touring car. Six years later the first motor driven pumper truck was added to the Fire Department's vehicles. It had a four-speed transmission and could speed off to a fire at 45 miles per hour. When the two departments were separated in 1919, Anthony stayed on as police chief, a post he held until 1931, when he retired for health reasons. Anthony was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Cornelius Pippel [Peppel] [1845-1920]

Three Pippel brothers, Cornelius, Anthony, and Engelbert, came to Ottawa County from The Netherlands in 1867. Cornelius, who was born in April 1845, settled in Robinson Township, where he and his wife, Johanna, maintained a 120-acre farm. Their residence and 40 acres were located in Section 10, with the remaining acreage in nearby Section 9. Johanna was born in The Netherlands in February 1848. They had ten children, all born in Michigan, including Henrietta, born about 1869; John H., born in July 1872; Cornelius J., born about 1875; Anna, born about 1876; Teunis, born about 1879; Nellie, born in September 1880; Engelbert, born in May 1883; and Jans, born in May 1885. Cornelius died in 1920.

The son of Anthony and Cornelia "Kate" Hobeke Pippel I, Neal was born in August 1884. He worked at the Piano Factory for a while and became a fire fighter for Grand Haven. On September 3, 1907 in Grand Haven, Neal married Nellie Vanden Bosch, who lived from October 27, 1885 to June 22, 1982. and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. The couple lived at 716 Elliott Street and 633 Slayton. Nellie was the daughter of Tamme and Cornelia Duiser Vanden Bosch of Grand Haven. At the time of her death she resided at 704 Pennoyer. Neal passed away about September 24, 1955. He and Nellie were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Englebert Pippel I [1851-1909]

Englebert was one of three Pippel brothers that immigrated to Ottawa County from The Netherlands in 1867. Englebert was born on September 25, 1851 and worked in a local sawmill. By 1900 he was working as a carpenter. His wife, Adirana, was born in The Netherlands on December 14, 1852 and arrived in the United States in 1869. Their children, all born in Michigan, included Cornelius, born in March 1873; Gommet, born about 1874; Henrietta, born about 1876; Edward, born in September 1879; Cora, born in February 1882; Matilda, born in July 1884; Katharine, born in August 1886; Henry, born in October 1888; John, born in October 1889; Antony H., born on December 13, 1892; and Englebert II, who was born in June 1896 and drowned in the Grand River on June 14, 1909. Englebert I died on June 12, 1909. Adriana passed away on December 8, 1942 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband.

John Robert Pippel [1890-1963]

John, the son of Englebert and Adirana Pippel of Grand Haven, was born near Big Rapids on April 20, 1890. After working eight years at the Grand Haven Tribune in the printing department, John went to work for the Coopersville Observer. He next attended a graphics art school in Brooklyn, New York, followed by employment at Corson Publishing and two Buffalo, New York newspapers. In 1916 he was hired again by the Tribune, this time as Plant superintendent of Printing. He left the Grand Haven paper in 1930 and the next year started a printing business of his own on Seventh Street. Marvin Patterson joined him later as a partner. John and Claude and Fern Ver Duin began operating a printing business from the Ver Duin home and published a weekly newspaper, the Grand Haven Searchlight. John retired from the printing business in 1953, died on April 3, 1963, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On October 20, 1915 he married Eileen "Nellie" Bevins on October 20, 1915. She was born on October 27, 1885, died June 22, 1982 while residing at Christian Haven Home, and also was buried at Lake Forest. The Pippels had one son, Robert, who was born about 1920. The family resided at 612 Lake Avenue and later at 17288 West Spring Lake Road.

Cornelius Plaggemars was born in Olive Township on September 19, 1895. His parents were George and Maggie Plaggemars. Cornelius married Elizabeth "Bessie" Weener in Grand Haven on November 9, 1916. They lived at 727 Franklin Street in Grand Haven and raised one son, Virgil, who moved to Central Lake, Antrim County. Cornelius worked as a maintenance man at Central School. Ill health forced his retirement in 1943 and he died on March 20, 1970. Elizabeth was born in Michigan on March 28, 1900 and died in Grand Haven on March 11, 1989. They were members of the First Reformed Church of Grand Haven. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Charles was born in Oswego County, New York, in 1845, the son of Henry and Charlotte Matee Plant I. The Plant family arrived in Crockery Township in 1854, settling first on 40 acres in Section 28, deeded to him by his father. Eventually Charles deeded 40 acres to each of six children. On December 28, 1863, Charles Plant traveled to Grand Rapids to enlist as private in Company I of the 2nd Michigan Cavalry. There was no further military record of him after being reported as ill in Detroit, but he evidently was wounded since he applied for a Civil War invalid's pension on July 22, 1863. By that time, he had returned to Crockery Township, where he died on July 10, 1864 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. By 1893 his wife, Margaret, was the head of the household in Section 15 of Crockery Township. She died sometime before 1908 at the age of 79 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery with her husband.

Ernest Lloyd Plant [1883-1959]

Ernest Lloyd, the son of Henry and Jennie Plant, was born on September 8, 1883. He operated an 80-acre farm in Section 28 of Crockery Township that he inherited from his parents. During WWII he worked at Continental Motors in Muskegon. In 1925 Ernest was hired by the Spoonville School Board to drive Ottawa County's first school bus, a Nash automobile, enlarged and fitted with bench seats. The few students were transported to the Nunica school. Ernest died on October 31, 1959 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. His wife, Inez, lived from 1892 to 1971 and was buried near her husband.

Francis James Plant I [1821-1896]

Francis was born in New York on December 13, 1821, the son of Henry and Charlotte Matee Plant. He came to Crockery from Oswego County, New York around 1855 and appeared in the 1860 census as a resident of Crockery Township. He soon owned a 40-acre farm in Section 21, deeded to him by his father. Francis was mustered as corporal into Company F of the 14th Michigan Infantry on November 1, 1861 and mustered out as private. He may have been wounded, since he applied for an invalid's Civil War pension. On April 22, 1896 Francis's wife, Margaret Schultts, born in New York in April 1828, applied for a widow's Civil War pension. Like Charles Plant, Francis had a monument at Nunica Cemetery, where his wife also was buried. In 1913 Margaret moved to Grand Rapids to live with her daughter, Mrs. Vanderburg. Margaret died on July 29, 1916. The Plants' children included Alfred, born in New York about 1848; Frances E., born in New York about 1849; Loretta and Alvin, twins who were born in New York about 1851; Rosella, born in Michigan about 1856; Galen, who was born in Crockery Township on December 13, 1857 and eventually moved to Minnesota and Iowa; Stephen, who was born in Michigan in December 1861 and married Henrietta, born in England in January 1870; Peter, who was born in Michigan about 1866, resided in Nunica, died in 1951, and was buried at Nunica Cemetery; and Francis II, who was born in Michigan, in August 1873. Francis I died on February 18, 1896. Francis was a member of Bartholomew G.A.R. [Grand Army of the Republic] Post #136 of Nunica.

Francis James Plant II [1873-1944]

The son of Francis and Margaret Plant I of Crockery Township, James II was born locally in August 1873. He married Alta Hayward in Grand Haven on July 12, 1896, died on April 15, 1944, and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. In 1918 Francis II and Alta, were listed as owners of the Plant farmstead in Section 21 of Crockery Township. Called Golden Glo, the farm was located on 77 acres in Section 28 of Crockery Township [southwest corner of 120th Avenue and Leonard Road].

The Plants' children, all born locally, were Edward Lewis, who was born on March 16, 1897 and married Mabel Argetsinger in Coopersville on January 19, 1924; Ella, who was born about 1899 and on August 25, 1923 in Nunica married Arie Molendyk; Julia, who was born about 1902 and married Edward Barnett in Grand Haven on February 28, 1920; Bertha, born about 1906; and Alfred J., born about July 1918. Alta was born in Michigan on January 23, 1875, died on November 18, 1948, and was buried at Nunica Cemetery with Francis.

Henry Ebenezer Plant II [1841-1925]

Henry was born in Oswego County, New York, on October 11, 1841, the son of Henry and Charlotte Matee Plant. Eventually Henry I deeded 40 acres to each of his six children. Henry I had homesteaded four 40-acre parcels in Section 28 of Crockery Township, and he acquired additional acreage in Section 21. On February 13, 1862 Henry II enlisted in Company F of the 14th Michigan Infantry as private. On March 19, 1865, at the Battle of Bentonville, North Carolina, Henry rescued the colors from the midst of the enemy after the designated bearer had fallen. For that action, he was awarded the Medal of Honor, although it was not issued until April 27, 1896. He was the first resident of Ottawa County to receive the award. Henry was mustered out on July 18, 1865 as sergeant. He died in Crockery on April 16, 1925, and was buried at Nunica Cemetery with his wife, Jennie S, also a native of New York, who lived from October 1844 to 1921. Jennie's sister, Leah, married George Van Etten of Crockery Township.

The Plants had seven children, all born in Michigan, including Carrie M., who was born about 1869 and married Walter D. Rosie of Muskegon; Emma Myrtle, who was born about 1870 and resided in Chicago, Portales and Albuquerque, New Mexico; Lewis C., who was born about 1871 and taught at Michigan Agricultural College [MSU] in East Lansing; Pearl [Perl], who was born on November 26, 1872, married Ward Mills in Nunica on August 25, 1898, died on December 30, 1903 in a fire at the Iroquois Theater in Chicago, and was buried at Nunica Cemetery; Bessie Charlotte, who was born on March 30, 1880, married Adelbert Parkhurst of Muskegon, and moved to Albuquerque, New Mexico; Jessie, who was born on February 17, 1881, died of scalding, and was buried at Nunica Cemetery; and Ernest Lloyd, who was born on September 8, 1883.

William was born in Oswego County, New York, in 1842, the son of Henry and Charlotte Matee Plant I. The Plant family moved to Crockery Township in 1854, settling first on 40 acres in Section 28, deeded to William by his father. Like other members of the Plant family in Crockery Township, William enlisted in the army during the Civil War. On April 11, 1863, he was mustered into Company M of the 7th Michigan Cavalry. He was captured near Richmond, Virginia on March 1, 1864 and died at Andersonville Prison in Georgia on September 16 the same year. He was buried at the National Cemetery in Andersonville.

Clarence William "Tad" Poel [1920-2011]

For 37 years "Focus on People" was a regular feature in the Grand Haven Tribune. The column was written by Clarence Poel, known to almost everyone as Tad. Clarence was born at the Salvation Army post in Grand Rapids on June 24, 1920. Not long after birth, he was adopted by William and Marie Poel of Grand Haven, where he was raised and attended school. After graduating from high school at the age of 17, Tad worked on an assembly line at a manufacturing plant in Grand Rapids, but three weeks before the bombing of Pearl Harbor, he joined the U.S. Army as a private. During his four years of military service in the South Pacific and stateside with the Army Air Corps, he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in a combat zone. He worked as clerk for his unit.

On August 8, 1945, he married Doris Ruth Welling in Grand Haven. Prior to his marriage and while overseas, he wrote letters to Doris every day. She saved them all, and a few found their way into the office of Almon McCall, Editor and Publisher of the Tribune during the war years. He was impressed with Tad's writing and in 1945 asked the returning soldier to join the newspaper staff as sportswriter and reporters. Tad accepted, and at the same time he wrote for the Tribune, he attended business school in Muskegon and was a stringer for the Grand Rapids Herald and two Detroit newspapers.

Tad's talent for journalism flourished, and before many years elapsed, he was selected as editor of the editorial page, long before he started writing Focus on People in late summer 1973. Tad had other opportunities. When Gerald Ford was elected to the U.S. Congress for the first time, he invited the newspaperman to become his press secretary. Tad declined. He did not want to move his family to Washington, D.C.

Tad was a hometown person. As his son Randy told a reporter, "He loved writing about the good in people. He didn't like it when people messed up. He didn't like it when names got splashed all over the paper." Randy added, "He believed in his faith, his family second, and community and country right after that."

The August 20, 1973 edition of the Tribune introduced Tad's column: "Today we start a local column featuring people. It will show them in all walks of life. The young, the older, the elderly—men and women—all will be in 'Focus on People.' That's the name we've chosen for the column."

The word "focus" had a double meaning. Tad's goal was to devote his column to a specific topic, usually an individual. He also carried a camera to each interview to literally "focus" on the person.

On May 16, 1992 "Focus on People" put Tad in the spotlight:

The First Salvation Army Community Service Award was presented to Clarence 'Tad' Poel at the annual Salvation Army meeting. This award was given to Poel for his outstanding service to the Salvation Army and to the community. He served as a Salvation Army board member for 23 years, having been chairman of the board for two years.

Poel was discharged from armed forces in 1945 after service overseas for three years and one more year stateside. In addition to the Salvation Army, he has served in many capacities with the North Ottawa Council on aging, WISH (West Indies Self-Help), Gideon Camp, Chamber of Commerce, Optimist Club, Ottawa County Cancer Society, Ottawa County Polio Society, Grand Haven Rotary, and Love, Inc. He taught Sunday school, presided over the men's society, sang in the choir at the Second Christian Reformed Church.

He covered events for the Grand Rapids Herald, Grand Rapids Press, the St. Louis Post Dispatch, the Milwaukee Journal, the Chicago Tribune and The Detroit Free Press.

His employment duties also included serving as sports writer, city editor, news editor, managing editor, and editorial page editor for the Grand Haven Tribune. Even in "retirement" he writes three focus articles each week.

At this surprise presentation six of his seven children and their families and his wife, Doris were present.

Tad died on November 20, 2011 at the age of 91, one year after his last Focus column appeared in the Tribune.

On January 12, 1946, he married Anthonia "Tony" Kadlec in Grand Haven. Walter served with the Army during WWII and was a key fitter for Story & Clark for many years. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Eagles Aerie #925, V.F.W., and Slovenian Farmers' Club. He and Tony had two sons, John and Daniel. The Prelesniks lived at 1519 Grant in Grand Haven most of their married lives. Their children were John Walter, born in 1947; Daniel Lee, born in 1949; and Judy Kay, born in 1952. Walter died in Grand Haven on January 29, 2001 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery with Tony, who was born in 1923. [Tribune obituary, January 30, 2001.]

The son of James and Mary Zaitz Prelesnik, William was born on the family farm in Section 35 of Grand Haven Township on December 5, 1916. After serving in the U.S. Army during WWII, William married Hannah H. V. Dovick on October 15, 1945. She was born on July 14, 1921 and died on March 15, 1997. William worked for the Bastian Blessing Company until his retirement in 1979. He also grew crops on his farm. The Prelesniks were members of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Their four children were Naska, who was born in 1946 and married Jerry Tappe of Grand Haven; Leonard, who was born in 1949 and moved to Holland; Donna, who was born in 1952 and married Doug Wehrmeyer of Holland; and Leroy, who was born in 1957 and married Janice Marsh, of Galesburg, Kalamazoo County. William died in Grand Haven on December 9, 1999. He and Hannah were buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, December 10, 1999.]

George Prentice was born in New York State on October 29, 1845. On April 29, 1863, while living in Crockery Township, he enlisted in Company M of the 7th Michigan Cavalry. He was mustered out of this unit on November 16, 1865 and joined Company I of the 1st Michigan Cavalry. He left that regiment on March 10, 1866 in Salt Lake City, Utah. His parents were Alousa and Alesker Prentice, both born about 1820. In 1870 the Prentices, including George, were living in Crockery Township. On January 10, 1875 George married Lizzie Ryma in Grand Haven. She was 16 years old. George died on August 9, 1876 and was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery; there were no dates on his headstone.

Raymond G. Presley [1893-1983]

Born on February 8, 1893, Raymond Presley owned and operated Presley Drug Store, located on the southeast corner of Seventh and Washington [700 Washington], from 1919 to 1961, when he sold his business to pharmacist Jay Casemier. Raymond earlier owned the Square Drug Store on the corner of Seventh and Fulton Streets with a Mr. Hendricks. Raymond was the son of William and Amelia Moler Presley. William, a physician, opened a medical office in Grand Haven in 1909. Raymond married Sara Streng in 1917. She was born on June 18, 1893 and died in Grand Haven on May 20, 1981. They were members of St. John's Episcopal Church and resided at 1021 Sheldon Road. Raymond died on May 10, 1983 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, May 11, 1983.]

William J. Presley [1867-1950]

William Presley was born in Montgomery County, New York, on October 20, 1867. Two years later he moved with his parents to a farm near Jackson. William became an Allendale resident in 1900 and arrived in Grand Haven nine years later. A graduate of the Grand Rapids Medical School, William had an office in his residence at 315 Washington in Grand Haven. He delivered more than 3,000 babies during his career. In 1919 William constructed a building on the southeast corner of Seventh and Washington Streets that became the site of his son's drug store. The doctor moved his office to the second floor of the new building in 1923. William and his first wife had two sons, Ernest William Presley, who was born in Grand Rapids on December 29, 1889, and Raymond, who was born on February 8, 1893. Ernest lived in Grand Haven Township but worked in Grand Rapids, and Raymond operated the drug store. After his first wife died, the elder Presley married Amelia J. Moler on December 27, 1899. Amelia, who taught school in Kent County, was born in Illinois on April 11, 1879. They had one daughter, Gladys, born in 1903, and two sons: Elwood E., who was born on May 25, 1912 and died in Grand Haven on October 27, 1976, and Randolph J. who was born on November 2, 1913 and died in Grand Haven on July 26, 1980. William died in Grand Haven on April 2, 1950. Amelia died in Grand Haven in August 1969.

In late September 1930, outside of Muskegon, Boatswain William Preston led the Coast Guard rescue of two men from the storm-damaged barge Salvor, which was hauling stone. One of the men rescued was Lyman Nedeau. Captain Preston entered the Coast Guard in Chicago in 1904 and retired on February 1, 1939, after 34 years of service. He was born in Norway on July 18, 1875 and arrived in the United States when he was three years old. In 1916 was assigned to the Beaver Island Station. He went from there to Louisville, Kentucky in 1918. After service in New York during WWI, he was sent to Michigan City, Indiana, and from there to Grand Haven, where he was keeper of the Grand Haven Lifeboat Station from 1922 to 1939. William passed away on December 18, 1968 and was buried at Pilgrim's Rest Cemetery in Milwaukee.

Richard and Arthur "Arie" Prins opened Prins Heating Company at 104 North Third Street in 1939. Members of the Prins family had been in the heating business in Holland since 1908 and later in Muskegon. Two years later the brothers purchased the Crescent movie theatre building [1101-1103 Washington] and used it as their office. He and his wife once resided at 946 Franklin, but later relocated to 12898 Lakeshore Drive in Grand Haven Township. On May 20, 1935 in Saugatuck, he married Julia Postma, who was born in Holland, Michigan on May 21, 1913 and died on December 5, 1974. Richard was born in Holland on September 15, 1910 and passed away in Grand Haven on September 6, 1986. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His son, Richard II, continued to operate the family business, which was renamed Wolverine Heating & Cooling, and moved it to 13750 172nd Avenue. Arie, who moved to Georgetown Township, lived from May 21, 1917 to May 28, 1992.

Harry Proctor was born in Tacoma, Washington in May 1892. On November 20, 1912 he married Ethel May Viges in De Witt, Clinton County. By 1921 he and Ethel were residing at 312 Franklin Street in Grand Haven. At that time Harry owned and managed Proctor Farm and Home Company, a real estate office located at 17 Washington. Two years later the Proctors had moved to Prospect Street in Spring Lake. Harry disappeared the night of October 30, 1923. With him was Edna Fullager, the 14-year-old daughter of Rose Fullager, who resided at 831 Pennoyer Street. Rose had a house built on land Harry had sold her, and Howard had gone there to collect a payment, stayed for dinner, then left with Edna. Apparently, Rose was divorced from Arthur Fullager, Edna's father. Nearly six weeks after their disappearance, Harry's automobile was found in the Grand River at the end of Park Street. Near the automobile were Harry's and Edna's bodies. Because Harry had been drinking heavily on the night of his disappearance, he had asked Edna to drive him home. In the Village of Spring Lake, she had taken a wrong turn on a street that ended on the banks of the river. When Edna shifted into first gear instead of reverse, the car moved forward and catapulted into the water.

Harry was buried at Pleasant Hill Cemetery, near Lansing. He and Ethel had three children, all born in Michigan: Earl, born about 1915; Esther May who was born in 1916 and died in 1921; and Ralph, who lived from 1920 to 1939. Ethel was born in Michigan in 1896 and died in 1959. She, Esther May and Ralph also were buried at Pleasant Hill. [Tribune article "River gives up Bodies of Girl and Proctor," December 10, 1923.]

In the mid-1920s, Jacob and Freda Prucha purchased 60 acres in Section 12 of Grand Haven Township for purposes of general farming. By 1930 they had purchased an additional 40 acres from Louis H. and Ida Losney. Born in 1871, Jacob died in 1926 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. His wife, Freda, who was from Czechoslovakia, lived from 1876 to 1931 and was buried near her husband. Fred, one of their children, was born in Wisconsin and lived from February 26, 1896 to January 14, 1972. Fred and his wife, Ruth, took ownership of the land after Jacob's death. Ruth, who lived from July 11, 1904 to March 26, 1987, was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery with her husband. Jacob and Freda had another son, Charles, who was born in Illinois on September 30, 1903. A sheet metal worker at Bastian Blessing, Charles in 1930 was residing in Section 9 of Crockery Township with his widowed grandmother, Albina Tocenne [Tocaner]. He passed away in Muskegon on November 17, 1982. Jacob and his family resided in Cicero, Illinois as late as 1920.

Ed Pruim [1871-1935]

Enno J. Pruim [1843-1929]

Enno Pruim was born in The Netherlands in January 1843 and came to Spring Lake with his parents as a child. He worked in the local mills. On August 4, 1862 he enlisted in Company G of the 21st Michigan Infantry and participated in the Battle of Missionary Ridge and was with General Sherman in the March to the Sea. He was mustered out with the rank of sergeant on June 8, 1865. On February 18, 1876 Enno applied for an invalid's Civil War pension. For over 30 years Pruim was a millwright for the Cutler & Savidge Mill, and he then worked at William Buckley's hardware and undertaking business at 214 West Savidge. Later Enno and his son, John, opened their own hardware store, "Pruim & Son." In 1919 John sold the business to Cornelius Ringold and his son Gerard A., who started the Ringold Hardware & Furniture Company and Funeral Home.

In 1867 Enno married Jane, the daughter of Thomas and Mary Finch. The Pruims lived at 217 West Mason. He was township supervisor for 19 years, and he also at various times filled the posts of township treasurer, highway commissioner, street commissioner, and justice of the peace. Pruim Street in Spring Lake is named after him, but with an obvious misspelling. Among the Pruims' children was a son, John B., born about 1871, and a daughter, Maud [Maude] M., who was born in October 1873 [1874] and married George Schwab II of Spring Lake. Maud and George divorced not long afterward, and she returned to her parents' home and resumed use of the Pruim name. Apparently Maud never remarried. Enno donated a cup and chain to the fountain at the corner of Savidge and Jackson Streets. The fountain was sponsored by the Women's Christian Temperance Union [WCTU] to provide drinks of water to thirsty passersby. After Enno died in 1929 Jane applied for a widow's Civil War pension. She was born in April 1848 and died in 1934. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Evert J. "Ed" Pruim [1871-1934]

On June 23, 1899 Ed Pruim married Alyda B. Everhard in Zeeland. They resided with their daughter, Iola G., at 350 East Central Avenue in Zeeland. In the 1920s Ed opened the Ed J. Pruim Music House at 135 Washington in Grand Haven, while continuing to operate an outlet in Zeeland. He also had a shop at 18 Monroe Avenue in Grand Rapids. In the early 1930s he moved his Grand Haven store to 201-203 Washington. Ed was born in Spring Lake on April 12, 1871, and Alyda was born in Holland on January 14 three years later. Isla [Ila] Gladys was born in Zeeland on November 11, 1902, on August 16, 1928 in Zeeland, married Gordon Van Eenenaam [1902-1960], and passed away on August 1, 2009. The Van Eenenaams had a son, John, who opened a law office in Grand Haven. Ed died on November 30, 1934 in Muskegon and was buried at Zeeland Cemetery. Alyda passed away in Muskegon on November 13, 1939 and was buried near her husband.

Hiram [Hyrum] P. Pruim I [1852-1924]

Born in Uithuizen, The Netherlands on February 15, 1852, Hiram Pruim was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886. On April 20, 1878 in Grand Haven, he married Katie Kieft. The daughter of Jan and Tryntje Meyers Kieft of Grand Haven, she was born on July 4, 1859. By 1880 the Pruims were living in Spring Lake, where Hiram was a bridge tender. A few years later, he owned a jewelry store at 112 Washington Street in Grand Haven, where he also offered watches, clocks, and men's hats. He was a member of the Grand Haven Mason's organization. Around 1888, the Pruims moved to Chicago, where Hiram the father worked as a watchman and electrician. He died in Chicago on February 7, 1924. Kate died on April 17, 1942, also in Chicago. Their other children were Katie Pruim [1881-1972]; Hiram "Bud" Pruim II [1884-1958]; Clara "Cal" Pruim [1887-1969]; Marguerite "Babe" Pruim [1893-1920]; and Fred James Pruim [1896-1946].

John and his father, Enno Pruim, started an undertaking and hardware business in Spring Lake. Eventually young Pruim took over the business, which he sold to Gerard Ringold in 1919. John was born in Spring Lake on December 12, 1870 [1871]. On June 21, 1894 in Spring Lake, he married Mildred, the daughter of William and Sarah Dennison Millard. Millie was born in Michigan in February 1869. By 1924 John was working as an embalmer at a Muskegon funeral home. He died on February 6, 1936 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, but his headstone bears only his birth year. Mildred had died on May 18, 1935 and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Klaas [Klaus] Pruim [Pruin] [1841-1913]

Born in The Netherlands January 4, 1841, Klaas Pruim came to Grand Haven in June 1853. On August 19, 1871 in Spring Lake he married Alberdina "Delia" Huizenga, who was born in The Netherlands in March 1851 and died on July 9, 1907. Their children were John K., who was born in May 1872 and died in 1929; Henrietta "Ettie," who born in 1873 and married Clarence D. White of Spring Lake; Reka, born around 1876; Sarah, who was born in September 1878 and married Edward De Vries of Spring Lake; Jane, born in December 1880; and Celia, born in November 1888. Klaas was a member of the Masons. He was found dead in a boat on the Grand River near Spring Lake on October 21, 1913, probably the result of a continuing heart problem. He and his wife were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Pieter Pruim [1827-@1862]

Pieter Pruim, a native of The Netherlands, on October 1, 1856 married Maria "Mary" Regina Louis in Grand Haven. He was born in The Netherlands on September 26, 1827, and she was born on October 5, 1835. They had at least two children: John Pruim, born about 1857, and Elizabeth "Betsy" Pruim, born on November 17, 1859. Maria, also a native of The Netherlands, was born on October 25, 1835. After Pieter's death in the early 1860s, Maria married Abraham Dowlyn of Spring Lake, who recently had become a widower. John and Betsy became part of the Dowlyn family.

Godfrey E. Pufal [1894-1993]

Godfrey Pufal was in charge of operations at Oxford Varnish until the plant moved out of the building at 1401 Fulton in January 1949. The company started business in 1943. Godfrey and his wife, Florence B., resided at 320 South Griffin Street. Ronald Pufal, a son, lived with them. Ronald was born on October 12, 1919 and died in Grand Haven on June 26, 1989. He worked for Michigan Plastic Products. Godfrey was born on January 9, 1894 and died in Grand Haven on May 21, 1993. Florence lived from October 12, 1900 to December 26, 1983. Godfrey, Ronald, and Florence were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Samuel Purchase II [1825-1894]

Samuel Purchase was born December 26, 1825 in Canada and died in West Olive on August 20, 1894. His parents were Samuel and Huldah Parshall Purchase, who settled in Hillsdale County. Samuel II on April 18, 1852, married Martha, daughter of James and Patty Dale Eastway, also of Hillsdale County. Martha was born in 1832 and died on June 1, 1905. The Purchases had a 64-acre farm in Section 2 of Olive Township. They had three children: James Edwin, who was born in Hillsdale County on April 29, 1853, married Sarah Elizabeth Misner [Mizener] [born June 8, 1861 in Canada] in Grandville on December 21, 1887, had six children, and died in 1942; Laban T., who was born September 23, 1857 in Olive, first married Mary Lick [September 1860-December 10, 1901] on August 29, 1878 in Olive and then Alice Parker, had a total of three children, and died on March 10, 1907; and Milo Delos, who was born October 7, 1864, also in Olive Township, on September 19, 1888. He married Lillian Nevins [born 1868] and then Clara Albine Conger [March 20, 1873-October 9, 1955], had three children, and died in Grand Rapids on April 30, 1929. The Purchases also had an adopted daughter, Emma Kirkland, who was born in Greenville, Montcalm County in 1869 and married Milo Tubbs of Olive Township on April 1, 1883. Samuel and Martha were buried at Olive Cemetery with other family members.

Gerald “Gomer” Pyle [1936-2001]

The son of Albert and Metta Kemme Pyle, Gerald “Gomer” was born in Zeeland, Ottawa County, on August 4, 1936. About 1966 he married Mary Jane Bredehoft, daughter of Harold Bredehoft, who owned a 40-acre farm on the northwest corner of Lincoln and 168th Streets in Grand Haven Township [16865 Lincoln Street]. Mary Jane was Gomer’s second wife. Gomer served in the National Guard for 12 years and was employed by the Grand Haven Police Department for 22 years, Michigan Bell Telephone for 12 years, and Fricke Marina. He moved to the Grand Haven area in 1955. With his first wife, he had three sons: Michael of Holland; Thomas of Longwood, Florida; and Steven of Kalamazoo. He and Mary Jane had a son, David, who moved to Howard City. Around 1990 Gomer contracted Multiple Sclerosis and eventually became a resident of the North Ottawa Care Center in Grand Haven, where he spent the last seven years of his life. He died there on January 5, 2001. The daughter of Harold and Stella Waskins Bredehoft of Grand Haven Township, Mary Jane lived from April 5, 1994 to January 22, 2021. She passed away in Howard City. [Tribune obituary, January 6, 2001.]

Andrew [Anderere] Pytlinske [1844-1912]

Andrew Pytlinske, born in Germany in 1844, married Anastasia Klemke, who lived from 1856 to 1943. They immigrated to the United States in 1884 and purchased a 60-acre farm in Section 13 of Grand Haven Township. One of their children, Felix I, was born on September 23, 1892 and lived in Chicago and Grand Haven Township. Another son, Leo, lived from March 17, 1886 to February 2, 1983. Their other children were Hattie, born on October 6, 1887; Elizabeth, born in July 1889; Bruno, born in December 1890; and Josephine, born in February 1896. Andrew died in 1912.

Felix Bernard Pytlinske I [1892-1972]

Felix, the son of Andrew and Anastasia Pytlinske, was born on September 23, 1892 in Grand Haven Township. He married Elfrieda [Elfrida] Clara Simon [Schultz] on June 28, 1923 in Genesee County. She was born on June 28, 1902 and immigrated to the United States in 1914. The couple lived in Chicago before returning to the Grand Haven area in 1929, the year they purchased the ten-acre Friedrich “Fritz” Quade property on the northwest corner of Green Street and Stearns Bayou [Section 6 of Robinson Township, 14023 Green Street and 14145 138th Avenue]. On July 4 they opened Felix’s Place, consisting of a small store, restaurant, and dance hall, and they also rented boats. The previous owners operated the Quade Resort, where Felix and Elfrieda had been summer guests. At the end of Grand Haven’s Centennial Celebration in August 1934, Felix purchased the log cabin that had been used in the parade as a replica of the first Ferry home. He moved it to his property on Stearn's Bayou and remodeled it into a tourist cabin. In 1955 Felix and Elfrieda's son, Felix II, who was born in Grand Haven on December 21, 1930, took over the business located at the corner of Stearns Bayou and Grand River, and the remaining property in Section 6 was sold. Felix and Elfrieda also had a daughter, Louise Virginia Pytlinske, who was born in Chicago on March 18, 1927, married Harvey Rouwhorst in Grand Haven on October 5, 1946, and died in West Olive in April 1989. Felix I died on October 6, 1952, and Elfrieda passed away on June 19, 1975. Louise died on March 21, 1989.

Felix Pytlinske II was born in Grand Haven on December 21, 1930. His parents were Felix and Elfrieda Simon Pytlinske. Felix II earned a degree in physics at Michigan State University in 1952 and a master degree in school administration at Western Michigan College [WMU] the next year. He served as paratrooper with the U.S. Army from 1953 to 1955. In 1955 Felix took over Felix's Place, the family business located at the corner of Stearns Bayou and Grand River [14023 Green Street]. Later, Felix focused on selling guns and knives, along with a smattering of odds and ends. Felix married Joan Boand in August 1964. The pair owned, operated, and appeared in Grand Haven's Water Thrill Show from 1962 to 1974, which was started by Lyle "Whitey" White in 1959. Felix died on November 27, 2021. In the late 1940s and early 1950s, Felix taught swimming classes for the Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Joan was born in Chicago on June 15, 1934. After graduating from the University of Michigan with a major in physical education, she joined the Physical Education Department at Grand Valley State College [GVSU] in 1964. During her long career there, she was instrumental in starting women's athletic teams in volleyball, basketball, softball, and track and field. Overall, the teams she coached won 745 games and took ten Great Lakes Inter-Collegiate Conference championships. She was appointed Associate Director of Athletics and Senior Women's Administrator before retiring in 1999. As early as 1952, she began teaching water safety at Stearns Bayou for the Ottawa County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Joan died on January 27, 2022. She and Felix resided at 15707 Vinecrest Avenue in Spring Lake.

Palmer Percy Quackenbush [1908-1987]

Palmer Quackenbush, a violinist, was director of orchestra and choirs for the Grand Haven schools, beginning in the fall of 1938. Before that he was concertmaster of the 90-piece Grand Rapids Symphony, starting in 1932. In 1935 he taught music in Fremont schools, where he also organized and directed the 35-piece Newaygo County Little Symphony. On November 28, 1939 Palmer conducted 50 musicians in the first performance of what became West Shore Symphony, later called West Michigan Symphony Orchestra. The Grand Haven Community Chorus was on the program as well. The inaugural performance was held at Muskegon High School. The next night, Wednesday, November 29, the ensemble repeated the program, this time in the auditorium at Grand Haven High School, then on Seventh Street. Albert Maywood Courtright, a music teacher in the Muskegon schools, was a co-founder of the symphony and also played in the initial performances. Palmer raised most of the needed funds himself, at a time when the effects of the Depression still had an impact. The Symphony was incorporated the same year. Palmer also conducted the choir and glee club at the high school, and he organized a swing orchestra that played for student events. He moved from Grand Haven in the late 1940s, and in 1949 he gave up his position as conductor of the West Shore Symphony and was named associate conductor.

Born in Grand Rapids on September 8, 1908, Palmer died in Salem, Virginia on February 24, 1987. As a boy, he learned to play the violin. He graduated from the Grand Rapids Conservatory of Music and then became a member of its faculty. He joined the Grand Rapids Symphony Orchestra and became its concertmaster, a position he held until his entry into public education. On August 25, 1932, Palmer married Mary Elmore Pearson in Newaygo. Known also as Eleanor, she was born in Michigan about 1912. They had at least one child, Catherine [Kathryn Ann], who was born in Fremont on July 12, 1936. In Grand Haven, the family resided at 105 Franklin Street. On October 2, 1958, Palmer and Eleanor were divorced in North Carolina. Palmer was divorced from his second wife, Judy, on October 3, 1972, again in North Carolina. [Muskegon Chornicle, November 27, 1939.]

Friedrich “Fritz” William Quade [1874- ?] and Dirkje Adrianna Quade Reed [1876-1959]

Friedrich “Fritz” and Adrianna Quade 35-acre owned and ran Quade Resort from 1914 into the late 1920s. Their property, on the northwest corner of Green Street in Robinson Township, bordered Stearn’s Bayou. The two-story frame home often accommodated as many as 40 people at a time. Adrianna, well-known for her cooking skills, prepared two meals a day for her guests. Prior to opening the resort, the Quades raised chickens on a farm in Robinson Township. Fritz was born in Germany on April 28, 1874 and Adrianna was born in Rotterdam, The Netherlands on April 4, 1876. They immigrated to the United States in 1906. In 1936 and 1940 Dirkje was a widow living in Robinson Township, listed as Mrs. D. C. Quade. By 1945 she had moved to 414 Franklin Street in Grand Haven. She died on December 24, 1959 under the name Mrs Dirkje Quade Reed. Her obituary noted she was a furrier, and that in addition to her local addresses, she had lived in Denver, Colorado. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Musician Bob Warnaar of Grand Haven was her nephew.

John J. Quayle [Quail, Quale] [1856-1882]

John Quayle, a sailor, died in Chicago of pneumonia on May 8, 1882. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery under a large concrete monument adorned with nautical symbols and the word “Mizpah,” an apparent reference to several places of that name in Israel and meaning “watchtower.” The monument, like the other two in Block 16, was manufactured by the F. O. Gross Company at 341 Wabash Avenue, Chicago. John’s parents were Thomas and Mary Quayle of Grand Haven. He was born in 1856 in New York State but moved to Grand Haven with his parents before 1863.

Minott [Mynott] William Quayle [1860-1881]

Minott, the son of Thomas and Mary Quayle of Grand Haven, was born in New York State on June 16, 1860. He died of consumption in Grand Haven on December 10, 1881. Although he died young, he lived long enough to call himself a Grand Haven “Artist” and to produce at least one stereographic view of Grand Haven, taken from Dewey Hill. Minott was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members.

Thomas Quayle [Quail, Quaile] I [1831-1896]

Thomas Quayle, a sailor, was born on the Isle of Man [England] about 1831. On July 22, 1863 he registered for the Civil War draft while living in Grand Haven. He was married, 29 years old, and working as a sailor. There are no records certifying that he served in the military during the Civil War. On the 1870 Federal Census for Grand Haven, he was listed with his wife Mary and their six children: John, Maria, Minott, Frank, Mary, and Nellie. Their ages in the Federal Census of that year were listed as 13, 12, 10, 8, 7, and 2, respectively. The first three were born in New York, the next three in Michigan. Living in the same household were twins Lizzie and Thomas, 20 years old, both born on the Isle of Man. It’s probable that Thomas and Mary were the twins’ parents. However, Thomas and Mary had another son they named Thomas II, who was born in Grand Haven August 7, 1873. He died the next year on July 7. A daughter, Lotta [Letta] was born in Grand Haven on December 7, 1875 and died on February 10, 1876. In 1877 Mary gave birth again, this time to a boy they named Leroy. Thomas and Mary had at least one other child, Edith, who died in Grand Haven on June 27, 1887 a month short of her 17th birthday. The infant died on January 14, 1879. Mary was born on November 15, 1839 on the Isle of Man. She died in Grand Haven on January 17, 1879. On January 4, 1881 in Grand Haven, Thomas Quayle married Amanda J. Burch. Amanda, 20 years younger than Thomas, was born in Wisconsin about 1851. The couple moved to California, where he died on May 31, 1896 and was buried at Evergreen Cemetery in Los Angeles. On November 20, 1901 in Los Angeles, Amanda married Henry B. Thomas. Mary, the elder Thomas’s wife, John, Minott, Edith, Letta, and several other Quayles were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Amanda died on May 14, 1914 in Los Angeles.

Isaac John Quick [1850-1926]

Born in London, Ontario on July 11, 1850, Isaac Quick opened a general store in Allendale. In 1894 he sold the store to John Wolbrink and John’s cousin, Charles E. Wolbrink. In the 1890s Isaac was Allendale’s postmaster. On November 23, 1877 in Allendale, he married Mary B. Purdy. She was born in Canandaigua, New York. Isaac died in Marquette, Marquette County on April 11, 1926. See also Charles Edward Wolbrink [1875-1946], John Wolbrink [1842-1899], and John J. Wolbrink [1878- 1955].

Anthony Quinton [1853-1932]

Anthony Quinton and his wife Mary [May], daughter of Thomas and Bridget Brady, owned a 40-acre farm in Section 24 of Spring Lake Township. Anthony settled there as early as 1892. He and Mary were married in Grand Haven on October 24, 1895. Anthony was born in New York in June 1853 and died in 1932. Mary, a Michigan native, lived from October 15, 1866 [1867] to May 1, 1933. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Their children were George, born on September 2, 1897, and Margaret Mary, born on January 10, 1900.

George Quinton [Quintin] [1835-1918]

On August 14, 1862, George Quinton enlisted in Company I of the 22nd Wisconsin Infantry as private. He was wounded at the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain, Georgia, on June 27, 1864, and was listed again as wounded and missing on June 12, 1865. At the time of his enlistment, George was a resident of Beloit, Wisconsin, but he moved to Spring Lake Township after the war, where he took up farming and was active until his death at age 83. George also was attached to the 17th Veteran Reserve Corps. He was born in Ireland on March 2, 1832. His mother Bridget was born in the same country about 1820 [1810] and was widowed before 1870. She died on September 22, 1903 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with George and other Quintons. George died in Spring Lake on November 9, 1918. George and William Quinton were brothers.

William Quinton [Quinten, Quintan] [1838-1873]

During the Civil War, William Quinton was wounded at a battle near Atlanta, Georgia on August 7, 1864. He had enlisted in Company F of the 14th Michigan Infantry on October 11, 1861 as private. There was no further record of his service after the injury. Born about 1838 in Ireland, William was a resident of Crockery Township at the time he enlisted. On September 15, 1876, Bridget Quinton, listed as his mother, applied for a Civil War pension. Bridget was born in Ireland about 1820 [1810] and was a widow by 1870. She died on September 22, 1903 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. His father was Anthony Quinton. Buried with Bridge were William and other Quintons. William, a farmer, applied for an invalid's pension on August 9, 1865, died in March 1873, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. He and George Quinton were brothers.

John C. Quintus [Quintes, Quintis] [1852-1912]

Born in The Netherlands on April 2, 1852, John Quintus settled in Grand Haven area. In 1880 he worked at George Miller's Hardware Store [approximately 200-202 Washington] in downtown Grand Haven and resided with the Miller family. He also worked as a painter until he sold his stock to Otto Albert Zautner [1884-1968] of Wisconsin. John then entered the furniture and undertaking business. He was justice of the peace for many years, served as clerk of the School Board for several terms, and was town clerk for two terms. John was a member of Emmanuel Congregational Church, where he performed janitor's duties without pay from the time it was organized. On May 25, 1885 he married Elizabeth Saunders in Grand Haven. She was born in Wisconsin on December 17, 1856. By 1905 the couple was residing in Waukesha, Wisconsin. John passed away on October 14, 1912. Elizabeth died in Waukesha on November 2, 1936. She and John were buried at Jerusalem Cemetery in that city. [Tribune obituary, October 14, 1912.]

Albert Raak [1819-1907]

Born in Overijssel, The Netherlands on August 7, 1819, Albert Raak married Klaasje Kisterman in their native country on February 28, 1845. They immigrated to America in 1865. Albert's parents were Geert Harms and Marje Alberts Prinz Raak. Klaasje also was born in Overijssel on December 18, 1825 and died on March 22, 1910 in Olive Township. The Raaks settled on 60 acres in Section 35 of Olive Township. Albert's and Klaasje's children were Gerrit, who was born about 1847; Arend, who lived from July 24, 1848 to February 25, 1921; Lambert, who was born about 1863; Klass “Charley,” who was born in July 1869; Jan “John;” and Geerling. Gerrit and his wife Lucy maintained a 30-acre farm in Olive Township. Arend and Lambert moved to Holland Township. Albert died on March 26, 1907. Charley took over the family farm in Section 35, which grew to 110 acres by 1918.

Albert, born on February 25, 1890, was the grandson of Albert Raak, who settled in Olive Township, and the son of Arend and Roeltje Brower Raak, who were married in Ottawa County on February 25 [28], 1876. The young Albert married Reka Hop, who was born in Olive Township on January 10, 1891. After moving to Grand Haven, the couple resided at 211 Madison in the early 1900s. Living with them was Martha, widow of John Raak, Albert’s brother. Martha, the daughter of Gerrit and Jennie “Jane” Nordhuis Gringhuis, lived from 1858 to 1914 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Albert worked with the Grand Haven Fire Department, but by 1918 also leased 80-acres in Olive Township, part of his grandfather’s original farm in Section 35. By 1930 Albert’s brother Charley was farming the land. Reka died on October 9, 1960 and her husband passed away on February 14 the next year.

Donald E. Rabidoux [1921-1990]

As early as the mid-1950s, Donald Rabidoux owned 30 acres on Spring Lake. His property, located in Section 2 of Spring Lake Township, had the address 18522 Fruitport Road. Donald was born in Muskegon on October 23, 1921, served with the Army from March 31, 1943 to March 31, 1945, married Arlene Stark on August 10, 1944, died in Florida on September 1, 1990, and was buried at Florida National Cemetery. When he passed away, he was living in Bushnell, Florida. Arlene lived from August 25, 1924 to August 23, 2009 and also was buried Florida National Cemetery.

Robert W. Radeke I [1857-1916]

According to the 1880 census, Robert Radeke was a saloon keeper. In the 1893 Compendium Robert was listed as “government clerk,” but the nature of his affiliation was not noted. By the early 1900s he was a tobacco merchant at 24 Washington in downtown Grand Haven. The building was one of several torn down in 1927 to make room for the Grand movie theater. He married Cornelia De Vlieger in Grand Haven on February 20, 1879. They lived at the corner of Second and Fulton Streets [206 Fulton]. Cornelia lived from August 1858 to about December 9, 1933 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. One of their children, Julia C., was born on October 22, 1882, graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1902, became a teacher in the local school system, and married a Ver Hoef. Another daughter was Cora L. [Anna], who was born on November 23, 1887 and died in Grand Haven in December 1968. They also had a son, Robert W. II, who was born on December 4, 1898, died on April 2, 1960, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Robert I was born in Michigan in February 16, 1857, died on December 4, 1916, and was buried at Lake Forest.

Harold Paul Carl Radikopf [1914-1993]

Born on March 7, 1914 in Chicago, Harold Radikopf was chief of the Grand Haven Township Fire Department around the time of its founding in 1946. Harold died on December 31, 1993. On October 9, 1937, in Grand Haven Township, he married Marie M. Ott. Born on May 21, 1917 in Grand Rapids, Marie was the daughter of John R. and Rose Hancq Ott. Harold and Marie had five children: Judith Essenyi of West Olive; Cheryl, who married James Potter and relocated to Grand Rapids; Ronald, who was born in 1940; Mark, who remained in Grand Haven; and Brian of West Olive. Harold and Marie resided at 14912 160th Avenue. Marie passed away in Grand Haven Township on July 30, 2005 and was buried at Grand Haven Township Historic Cemetery. Harold’s mother, Ida, was born September 2, 1896 and died in Grand Haven on September 7, 1986. [Tribune obituary, August 1, 2005.]

Ronald Leroy Radikopf [1940-2021]

In 1972 Ronald Radikopf won $487,900 in the Irish Sweepstakes. Up to that time, only two Americans had ever won the “super sweepstakes.” Three years later Lewis Miller of Grand Haven sued Radikopf for failing to follow through on their oral agreement to split the prize. Lotteries in 1972 were illegal in the State of Michigan. The Michigan Supreme Court, nevertheless, gave Mr Miller permission to proceed with his suit. No subsequent newspaper articles were found concerning a final judgement. Both men were employed at Gardner-Denver Company.

Ronald, the son of Harold and Marie Ott Radikopf, was born in Grand Haven on October 31, 1940 and graduated from Grand Haven High School 17 years later. He married Marilyn Ann Buitenwert of Grand Haven. She was born on February 25, 1944. They resided at 1025 Colfax Street. The couple moved to Florida, where Ronald passed away on November 24, 2021. Their children were Greg, Ryan, and Tiffany.

Albert Radspieler I [1916-2005]

The son of John and Julia Silverhorn Radspieler, Albert was born in Grand Haven on July 27, 1916. He married Antoinette [Ann] Agnes Wapienik in Grand Haven on February 14, 1940. She was born on June 18, 1921 and passed away in Grandville on July 30, 1993. Their children included Phyllis, who married David Jones of Allegan, and Albert II, who moved to Arkansas. Albert served with the National Guard in the late 1930s. At one time was employed at Bastian Blessing in Grand Haven and Continental Motors in Muskegon. He owned and managed Anchor Motel, and also was a real estate broker. He and Ann moved to Grandville, where he died on February 1, 2005. [Tribune obituary, February 3, 2005.]

John Radspieler [1874-1949]

John Radspieler was born in Austria on July 28, 1874. He married Julia Silverhorn, who was born in Czechoslovakia on December 27, 1879. They settled on an 80-acre farm in Sections 15 and 22 of Grand Haven Township. Their children were John Philip Radspieler, who was born on February 12, 1913 and died in Ferrysburg on April 5, 1993; Rudolph, born on October 30, 1914; Albert, born on July 27 1916; Ernest [Barnett], born in 1919; and Martha born in 1921. Another son, Anthony, was born about 1927 and appointed American Consul in Frankfurt, Germany in the mid-1960s. John passed away on September 23, 1949, and Julia died on August 25, 1966. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John Ernest Radspieler [1913-1993]

Like his brothers, John Radspieler attended Stone School, located at the southeast corner of 168th Avenue and Ferris in Grand Haven Township. John, the son of John and Julia Silverhorn Radspieler, was born February 12, 1913 and died in Ferrysburg on April 5, 1993. He and his wife, Olive, lived at and operated Grade A Cabins at 17501 Ridge in Ferrysburg. Olive was born on April 15, 1909 and died, also in Ferrysburg, in June 1983.

Rudolph Radspieler [1914-1971]

Rudolph Radspieler attended Stone School, located at the southeast corner of 168th Avenue and Ferris in Grand Haven Township. From the 1940s to the time of his death he resided at 1310 Waverly. Rudolph, the son of John and Julia Silverhorn Radspieler, was born on October 30, 1914 and died in Grand Haven on January 11, 1971. A brother, Anthony, born about 1927, was appointed by President John F. Kennedy as American Consul in Frankfurt, Germany. Rudolph had two other brothers: John, who lived in Ferrysburg, and Albert, who moved to Grandville. In 1938 Rudy earned $4.20 for cutting firewood for Carlotta Ewing, who had a summer home at the nearby Wilderness.

James Rae [1837-1919]

James Rae was born in York County, Ontario, Canada on June 10, 1837 [1836]. He immigrated to America in 1865 and moved to Michigan the next year. He was a farmer in Crockery Township as early as 1880. He married Elizabeth Miller Lidelle in Nunica on February 17, 1891. Elizabeth was born in Hillsdale County on April 30, 1846 [1847]. She may previously have been married to a Lidelle, although no record was found of the marriage. In 1893 James was farming 30 acres in Section 14 of Crockery Township. At the time of the 1900 and 1910 Federal Censuses, the couple was still on the farm. Elizabeth was a correspondent for the Tribune in 1909 and 1910, and possibly longer, covering Nunica, Dennison and Crockery. James sold some of his farmland, and by 1918 he had 18 acres remaining. He died on September 11, 1919 in London, Canada. Elizabeth, listed in the 1920 census as a resident at the Clarke Memorial Home in Grand Rapids, died on February 24, 1935.

Charles Ralya, born in February 1844, owned a 40-acre farm in Section 13 of Robinson Township. His wife, Celia E., lived from February 1854 to 1922. Charles died in 1915. He and his wife and other family members were buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. Leonard Ralya, who was born in 1872 and died in 1960, was their son. Another son, George W., lived from April 14, 1881 to 1965. They also had a daughter, Maud, who was born in 1874, married John Conant, and died in 1946. John was born in 1869. The Conants had two children. A second Ralya daughter, Hazel P., who was born on May 9, 1891, married Robert H. Scott.

Leonard Foster Ralya [1872-1960]

Leonard, the son of Charles W. and Celia E. Ralya of Robinson Township, was born in June 1872 [1873]. He married Mary Amanda, the daughter of Luman and Alwilda Smith Van Drezer of Grand Haven. Mary, also a Michigan native, lived was born in February 1870, died on May 15, 1936 and was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. Living in the Ralya household in 1900 was Mary's daughter Georgia Sheldon, born in May 1890. The Ralyas owned an 80-acre farm in Section 23 of Robinson Township. Mary lived from 1870 to 1936 and was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. Leonard and Mary had five children: Lawrence Rolland, born on December 30, 1897 and died in Spring Lake on April 1, 1979; Iris, born September 6, 1904 and died thirteen months later; Harold L., who lived from October 13, 1907 to November 27, 1989; and Lillian Evelyn, who was born on August 13, 1909, on February 25, 1927 married Hugh Spencer Rowell [April 14, 1905-February 25, 1981], and died in Holland on May 8, 1993. On April 4, 1940, Leonard married Olive Jeanette Reynolds Green in Coopersville. After Leonard's death, she married Elgie Green [1912-1990]. Olive lived from December 11, 1916 to November 1993 and was buried at Garden of Memories Cemetery in Tampa, Florida. Leonard died in February 1960 and was buried with other family members at Robinson Township Cemetery. Mary had been married previously to George Sheldon, who was born on October 22, 1863 and died on May 28 1890.

Robert L. Ralya [1931-2005]

Grand Haven native Robert Ralya was born on June 3 1931. He served in the Navy during the Korean conflict, belonged to the Second Christian Reformed Church in Grand Haven, and was president and chaplain of the Gideons. In July 1959 Bob opened a two-chair barbershop in a new building at 1000 Robbins Road, and appropriately named his business Bob's Barber Shop. He sold to his partner, Art Schout of Coopersville, who had filled the extra chair since 1960. After selling his business, Bob worked for Screw Machine Specialties for a number of years, but eventually rejoined Art Schout at the barbershop. Bob retired in 1996. Bob and his wife Edith M. had several children, including David, of Orlando, Florida; Kathy, who married David Newhof of Zeeland; Tom, who moved to Jamestown; Daniel, who moved to Hamilton in Allegan County; and Mary, who relocated to Indiana. The family resided at 1120 Taylor before moving to 17242 Burkshire in Grand Haven Township. Bob died in Zeeland on January 28, 2005 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, January 31, 2005.]

Dexter Ranney [1808-1850]

Dexter Ranney, who was born on June 5, 1808 in Ashfield, Franklin County, Massachusetts, settled in Robinson Township before 1839. In the mid-1830s Dexter was hired by the Grand Haven Company to handle logs at the juncture of Crockery Creek and Grand River. Dexter's wife, Laura Robinson, was born in New York about 1820. His parents were Samuel Hall and Polly Stewart Ranney, and his sister, Lucretia, married Nehemiah Hathaway, another early Ottawa County settler. George Ranney, another member of the family from Ashfield, worked with Dexter for the Grand Haven Company. George, evidently a cousin, lived from 1828 to 1911 and was buried at Cannon Township Cemetery in Kent County with his wife, Cornelia, who was born in 1830 and died in 1921. Dexter purchased 40 acres in Polkton Township on February 1, 1848 and another 40 acres on the following June 1. He died on August 22, 1850. Frederick Ranney was Dexter's brother.

Frederick Thomas Ranney [1820-1885]

Frederick Ranney about 1858 succeeded Charles Hathaway as part owner of the Grand Rapids Ax Factory, which produced tools for the lumbering industry. The other principal was Daniel Alcumbrack [1820-1859]. Six years later Frederick sold his interest back to Hathaway. Around 1860 Ranney became owner of Colonel Norton's sawmill in Nortonville. He sold his interest in the mill to George Cole of Blendon Township in 1867. Frederick was among the first Justices in Robinson Township when it was formed in 1865.

Around 1843 Frederick married Elizabeth [Eliza, Aliza] Garrison, who was born in New York in 1818, died on August 16, 1856, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Frederick and Elizabeth had at least two children, Samuel Hall Ranney, who lived from 1844 to 1915, and Mary H. Ranney, born in Michigan about 1846. After his wife's death Frederick married Frances "Fannie" Antill Bates in Grand Rapids on November 3, 1857. Fannie was born in Hopeville, New York on December 26, 1839. Frederick's sister-in-law, Lucy Bates was hired to teach at Ottawa Center School in 1859. She and Frederick had five children, Frederick Tappen Ranney [1859-1934]; Florence Ranney [1862-1933]; Lewis Jay Ranney [1872-1933]; Elizabeth Ranney [1875-1937]; and Frances Ranney [1878-1927].

While living in Spring Lake, Frederick helped organize the First Presbyterian Church in 1861, along with Hunter Savidge, John Newcomb, and Aloys Bilz. Frederick was born March 12, 1820 in Ashfield, Franklin County, Massachusetts and died on December 19, 1885. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members, including his mother, Polly, who died on November 26, 1850 at the age of 74. His sister Lucretia married Nehemiah Hathaway, another early Ottawa County settler. Fannie passed away in Los Angeles, California on November 13, 1925. Dexter Ranney, who settled in Robinson Township before 1839, was his brother.

William Rawlinson was born in New York on April 26, 1876. His father, John Winthrop Rawlinson, was pastor at a Spring Lake Church for an unspecified time. William married Nora Belle Berden in Ottawa, Kansas on September 19, 1908. Nora was three years old when her mother died. Her father remarried, but Nora sensed that her stepmother did not like her, so she started visiting her grandmother whenever possible. Nora learned to play piano at her father's house. When she was 16, her father took her to Ferris College in a horse-drawn wagon. At Ferris she earned a "Normal Professional" [teaching] degree. Nora enrolled in a one-year teacher certification program at the college, took a certification test, and began teaching school when she was 17. She was charged with cleaning the one-room schoolhouse and building a fire to warm the students before she could start the day's educational activities.

William passed away on May 3, 1959 in Spring Lake. Nora was born in Custer, Mason County on December 8, 1884 and died on August 15, 1982 in Leesburg, Florida. Among their seven children was a son they named after John Winthrop Rawlinson, who was born on September 7, 1912, became a Methodist minister, and married Ruth Kinney. Ruth lived from 1915 to 1976. John and Ruth were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. William died on April 26, 1999 in Decatur, Indiana. William's and Nora's daughter Mary married William Creason in 1945 and eventually moved to Grand Haven.

Cyrus B. Raymond [1824-1903]

Cyrus Raymond, born in New York State about 1820, was residing in Spring Lake Township by 1870, where he worked as a "Sawyer" in a sawmill. On May 1, 1858, in Ottawa County, he married Mary E. Read in Ottawa County. Mary was born about 1837 in New York. Cyrus's and Mary's children, all born in Michigan, were Mary, born about 1859; Hiram, born about 1862; Mira, born about 1866, and George, born on June 28, 1873. Cyrus helped organize the Baptist Church in Spring Lake. By 1880 he was a widower living with the Jay McClure family in Spring Lake and classified as a laborer. Living with him was his son George. Cyrus died in 1903.

Nelson W. Read [Reed, Reid] [1829-1925]

A sailor by trade, Nelson Read was born in Jefferson, New York, in November 1829. On March 26, 1853, in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, he married Adeline M. Calhoun [Calhoon] of East Cleveland. The couple came to Grand Haven in 1862. They had four sons and four daughters. Adeline, who was born in Pennsylvania, died of pneumonia in April 1880 at the age of 50. By 1900 Nelson was living in Elk Rapids, Antrim County, with his daughter Fanny Dulyea and her family. Nelson died in 1925.

Daniel F. Realy [Realey, Really] [1819-1893]

In 1832 Daniel Realy moved to Ann Arbor. Five years later, he and his brother-in-law Captain Henry “Harry” Miller obtained through pre-emption from the federal government 175 acres Section 33 of Polkton Township on the Grand River. The south line of the property was on the Grand River, where Daniel had a landing. In 1838 Daniel sowed and harvested the first crop of wheat in Ottawa County, grown on about three acres. Captain James Dalton of Chicago helped him bring in the crop. Daniel thrashed the wheat with a flail and transported it to market by canoeing up the Grand River to Grandville, a 22-mile trip. By 1840 Captain Miller and his wife Elizabeth were living on the site. In 1842 they built a permanent home, which also served as an inn for people traveling by coach between Grand Rapids and Grand Haven. It was called the Mid-Way House. On May 1, 1851 Daniel bought 40 acres in Section 33 of Polkton Township, and by 1864 he owned substantial acreage in Section 4 [south] of Polkton. In 1865 he sold his Polkton Township acreage to the County for $6,000. The County built a Poor Farm [Infirmary] on the 175 acres. Elizabeth Miller was Daniel’s sister.

After Daniel sold his farm, he bought land from Timothy Eastman and by 1876 he owned two 37-acre parcels in Section 3 [south] of Polkton Township. Daniel built the foundation for a new Eastmanville School in 1868 for $115, and he built his home directly across the road from the school. He served as highway commissioner for the township. Daniel was born in Wurtemberg, Germany on July 18, 1819 and died on March 28, 1893. In 1843 he married Lucinda Hatch. A native of New York, she lived from August 18, 1826 to February 27, 1876. Both were buried at Eastmanville Cemetery. [The Tribune in its March 25, 1893 obituary noting Daniel’s passing reported that he married “Mrs. Sarah Hatch in 1843.”] Five Realy children died in infancy or childhood and are buried with their parents at Eastmanville Cemetery. A daughter, Mary Jane Realy, was born in Michigan in 1852, married Nathaniel Garrison, and died in 1931. Four other surviving children were Minnie Realy, who was born about 1852; Lena Realy, who was born in 1859, married Benjamin Leavenworth [1855-1925], and died in 1922; Carrie Realy, who was born about 1864 and on September 2 [21], 1883 married John Woodcock in Eastmanville, and Artie Belle, who was born in 1868, and on August 14, 1891 married Walter Edwin Miller in Grand Rapids, and died in 1942. [Tribune obituary, March 28, 1893.]

Arnold Redeker [1917-2016]

Long associated with the Ford automobile sales and service in Grand Haven, Arnie Redeker was a native of Woodworth, Illinois, where he was born on May 20, 1917. The son of Henry and Sophia Redeker, Arnie was the youngest of four children. Arnie had a limited education, mostly in a German-speaking Lutheran grade school in his hometown.

In 1946 Gust Thieleman moved his Ford dealership to a newly-constructed showroom and service garage at 12-16 North Third Street. Thieleman retired in 1952 and sold the business to Aubrey Ernst and Arnold Redeker. From 1966 to 1973 Arnold Redeker and Burton Imig ran the dealership under the name Imig & Redeker. Imig sold his interest to Arnie and his name was dropped. Redeker Ford moved to 1401 South Beacon Boulevard in 1980. Arnie married Anne Kothai in 1939. Born on February 7, 1915, she died in Grand Haven on August 6, 2006. They had two sons, Bill and Jack, and a daughter, Ruthann, who married Tom Butterworth. After Anne’s death, Arnie married Louise Laughlin on July 11, 2009. Louise had two daughters from her earlier marriage: Vicky, who married Douglas Koster, and Lori, who married Craig Johnson.

Arnie received his airplane pilot's license in 1944 and continued to fly for the next 62 years. He was a long-time member and elder of St. John's Lutheran Church in Grand Haven. Arnie died May 15, 2016. [Tribune obituary, May 17, 2016.]

Klaus [Claus] Reenders [1877-1962]

In Grand Haven on April 5, 1900 Klaus Reenders married Minnie, the daughter of Martin and Elizabeth Balgooyen Van Doorne. The Reenders had a 20-acre farm at the northeast corner of Comstock and 168th Avenue [Section 34, North Grand Haven Township], not far from the future Grand Haven airport. Clarence and Arthur were two of their children. Klaus, the son of Alle and Grietje Nederveld Reenders, lived from August 21, 1877 to February 28, 1962. Minnie was born on May 7, 1877 and died on September 25, 1938 in Grand Haven. She and Klaus were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Martin Reenders, a carpenter, was born in Gronigen, The Netherlands on February 3, 1836. His parents were Klaas and Martha Eilderts Nienhuis Reenders, who immigrated from The Netherlands to Grand Haven Township. Martin married Emma Stokes in Grand Haven on July 21, 1865. The daughter of Frederick and Harriet Stokes of Grand Haven, she was born in London, England in July 1847. At the time of the 1880 Federal Census, she and Martin lived on Third Street in Grand Haven. They had two surviving children, John, born about 1868, and Alice, born in October 1872, and at least four who died before the age of eight. Alice married Charles Van Norman of Grand Haven. Martin passed away in December 1884. In 1891 Emma married Orson Vander Hoef of Grand Haven. Reender Reenders was Martin's brother.

Martin Everts Reenders [Rynders] [1842-1914]

Martin Reenders, who was born in The Netherlands, lived from October 11, 1842 [1841] to May 2, 1914. In Grand Haven in 1880, he worked as a teamster, but by the early 1900s he was employed at Eagle Ottawa. On March 4, 1870 in Grand Haven, he married Anje [Anna/Annie/Anja] Cornelia Medendorp. She was born in The Netherlands in 1834 and died in Grand Haven on April 5, 1884. They and their children emigrated from The Netherlands in the mid- to late-1860s. Martin and Anje had at least five children: Elizabeth, born about 1860; John [Jan] L., born in 1862; Alice [Altje], born about 1864; and Alida, who born on November 28, 1870 and died on November 16 three years later. Not long after Anje's death, Martin married Remke [Rena, Renske, Renka] Mobalis, who was born in The Netherlands in March 1856. By the early 1900s Martin and Remke were residing at 527 Fulton. Living with them were their two daughters, both born locally: Alida, born on November 27, 1885, and Alice, born in July 1888. Remka died in 1917. Both she and Martin were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Reender [Reendert] Reenders [1839-1920]

In the 1893 Compendium Reender Reenders was listed as a sewing machine agent in Spring Lake. He also owned and operated an ice cream store at 110 West Savidge Street. In 1871 he married Martje, daughter of Cornelius and Jantje Visser Brongersma. The Reenders were the parents of Klaas, who was born in Spring Lake on September [November] 10, 1874; Jennie, who was born in March 1877 and married Jacob Braak, founder of Braak's Bakery; and Cornelius "Neil," born in September 1879. Reender was born in The Netherlands on October 28, 1839, came to the United States in 1859, and died in 1920, while Martje, a native of Michigan, lived from July 1855 to 1915. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. His parents were Klaas and Martha Eilderts Nienhuis Reenders, who immigrated from The Netherlands to Grand Haven Township, making Martin Reenders and Reender Reenders brothers.

Nathaniel Reese I [1835- ?]

Nathaniel Reese, a ship's carpenter, built at least two ships in the Grand Haven area: Spray, a 40-ton scow built in 1870, and Augustus, an 80-ton scow, built at Spoonville in 1883. Nathaniel was owner as well as builder of both vessels. He was born in Wales in November 1835. His wife, Sarah Goole, was born in Canada around 1843. Their children were Augustus, born in Ohio about 1856; Henry, born about 1858; Mary A., born about 1859; and Nathaniel II, who was born on July 7, 1866 and died of consumption in Crockery Township on November 14, 1889. The three younger children were born in Michigan. In Grand Haven, the family resided on Fourth Street. Sarah died after 1880. On August 26, 1893 in Nunica, Nathaniel married Clara Blom Johnson. Born in Michigan in May 1868, Clara had married Louis Johnson in Grand Haven on November 9 1885. Born in Norway about 1845, Louis died on September 21, 1892 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Nat and Clara were residents of Crockery Township.

John Regelin [1859-1909]

John Regelin was born in Germany on July 4, 1857 and came to the United States with his parents when he was about 11 years old. John and his wife, Mary, lived at 414 Monroe Street in Grand Haven. He worked as a molder at Grand Haven Basket Factory on Madison Street. John died on January 30, 1909 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His parents were Louis and Maria Regelin. Edward Regelin, who lived from 1894 to 1945, was John's and Mary's son.

Ludwig ["Louis," "Lewis," "Luis"] Johann Carl Regelin [Roegelian, Regalain] [1824-1910]

Louis Regelin was born in Germany on March 11, 1824. His wife Mary [Maria] Elizabeth Shultz was born in the same country six years later. By 1868 they lived on a farm in Grand Haven Township with their children: Friedrich, born about 1851 in Germany; Johann [John], born about 1857; Ludwig, born about 1862; and Augusta, born on July 10, 1868. The boys were born in Germany, but Augusta was born locally. A daughter Dora, born in Germany in 1856 married August J. Hoffmeister. Another daughter, Christina, was born in Hamburg, Germany on June 24, 1857 and married William Koats, and one more daughter, Henrietta, was born “at sea” on April 4, 1865 and married Henry Neitring of Grand Haven Township. Mary died on September 4, 1897 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Louis died on February 19, 1910 and was buried with his wife.

William Regelin [1915-1990]

William Regelin, born in 1915, married Elizabeth Klumpel in Grand Haven on July 1, 1939. William’s parents were Edward and May Hancock Regelin. Elizabeth [Bettye] Helen Klumpel was the daughter of William and Edith Wacker Klempel of Grand Haven, who lived at 425 Slayton Street. Edith lived from 1918 to September 19, 2001 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. William died on September 26, 1990. He and Elizabeth lived at 15775 Lincoln Street in Grand Haven Township.

William H. Regelin [c1820- ?]

In 1860 William Regelin was proprietor of the Ottawa House located at 1 Washington Street in Grand Haven. The hotel was destroyed by fire on November 13 that year. William was born in New Jersey about 1820. His wife Esther was born in New York around 1822, and their son Charles was born in the same state about 1849. There is no evidence that this William Regelin was related to other Regelins in the Grand Haven area.

Charles H. Reghel [1864-1935]

Charles Reghel was born in Corunna, Shiawassee County on August 18, 1864. On September 22, 1892, shortly after arriving in Grand Haven, Charles married Bertha, the daughter of John and Sarah vanden Berg Luikens of Grand Haven. Bertha was born on December 1, 1871 and graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1890. Charles was employed by the Cutler House for three years, before moving to Grand Rapids, where he remained for the next eight years and became known as “Reddy the Oyster King.” About 1902 he returned to Grand Haven and purchased the building at the southeast corner of First and Washington Streets [204 Washington], where he operated a saloon. He and his wife also resided there, but later purchased the house on the southwest corner of Franklin and First Streets [32 Franklin]. Charles bought the River View Hotel at 10 Franklin, which he subsequently sold to Herbert Hillman. In 1932 Charles and his widowed sister-in-law, Lucy Callister, bought the KarmelKorn store at 110 Washington. Charles died on January 14, 1935 while working at his KarmelKorn business. The Reghels had two sons: Frank, who was born on July 3, 1893, and Lewis, who was born on January 14, 1905. Bertha passed away on November 4, 1941 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. [Tribune obituary, November 5, 1941.]

Frank Bernard “Bernie” Reghel [1893-1964]

On September 6, 1917 Bernie Reghel married Florence Perl Knapp in Grayling, Crawford County. A veteran of WWI, he went to work for the James W. Oakes Insurance Company in 1919, and in 1927 began his own insurance and real estate business, F. B. Reghel & Company, in Grand Haven, with an office located first on Seventh Street, then at 210½ Washington Street, and later at 222½ Washington. Ruby McCracken worked with him in the business for 34 years. In 1926 Bernie and Florence purchased and managed the new 14-unit Oval Inn, located on Harbor Drive [1030 Harbor], across the street from the State Park in Grand Haven. The Inn had been owned by William Blakeslee, a building contractor from Spring Lake. Later they added the “Grand Haven Apartments” next door and the “Miami Apartments” across the street [then 27 Prospect, now 20 Prospect], for a total of 40 rooms and four apartments. They piped in music by telephone from Grand Rapids and served food from 9:00 a.m. to midnight. They resided in one of the Miami Apartments. The Reghels sold their interest in the property in 1955, and in 1961 Frank sold his insurance business to R. K. Mitchell of Muskegon. Frank was a Mason, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and president of the Area Resort Committee. In 1933 he was Exalted Ruler of the Elks Lodge. The son of Charles and Bertha Luikens Reghel, Frank was born in Grand Haven on July 3, 1893 and died on March 5, 1964. Florence lived from June 30, 1893 to June 1983. [Tribune obituary, March 5, 1964.]

Lewis [Louis] W. Reghel [1905-1960]

The son of Charles and Bertha Luikens Reghel, Lewis was born on January 14, 1905. He became proprietor of the Franklin Hotel, located on the southwest corner of Franklin and First Streets in Grand Haven. He also worked for the Ottawa County Road Commission, and by the mid-1940s he was working at People's Bank and Trust. Ten years later he was vice president of the bank, the position he held at the time of his death. He and his wife at that time resided at 514 Grand Avenue. On May 29, 1932 in Crown Point, Indiana, Lewis married Martha, the daughter of Emil and Johanna Meschke. Martha was born in Grand Haven on March 15, 1905. She served on the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army in Grand Haven and was a member of the Hofma Trust at its inception in 1938. She also was employed as an interior decorator at Daugherty Furniture in downtown Grand Haven. Martha died in Grand Haven on March 26, 1988, 28 years after her husband, who passed away in Cleveland, Ohio on June 20, 1960. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John Henry Reichardt [1884-1961]

Born in Troy Grove, Illinois on January 9, 1884, John Reichardt graduated from Northern State Normal College [Northern Illinois University] in DeKalb. After teaching four years, he worked for Butler Bros. and A. C. McClurg & Co. in Chicago, selling stationery, office supplies, and gifts. A newspaper ad offering Charles Boyden's Book Store in Grand Haven caught John's eye. In 1908 he borrowed $1,200 from his mother, Sarah Reichardt [Reichard] and, using $113 of his own money, he bought Charles Boyden's bookstore business at 222 Washington. In 1914 he purchased the building. On July 19, 1913 he married Erma Joyce, the daughter of Elbert and Delia Lynn of Grand Haven. Erma was born in Lamont on March 10, 1892. She attended the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts at the University of Michigan from 1911 to 1913, but a health problem prevented her from completing the requirements for a bachelor degree. The newlyweds spent their honeymoon in the Canadian Rockies. From about 1920 to the early 1930s the family resided at 523 Slayton in Grand Haven. In 1931 John and Erma purchased and occupied a home at 308 North Buchanan in Spring Lake. Their children were Margaret Lynn, born about 1915, and John "Jack" Lynn, who was born on April 13, 1917 and joined his father in the business. Erma, who graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1911, passed away in 1955. Two years later, on April 22, 1957, John married Mildred Henry Merrill of New York City.

In 1917 John and Carl Daniels established Daniel's Office Supply Store in Muskegon. John sold his interest in that business and opened The Abigail, an exclusive woman's dress shop named for Abigail Bos. Abigail was buyer and manager of the shop for a year and a half before joining the Grand Haven Tribune as reporter and, later, as fashion editor. Reichardt also established a wholesale magazine sales business, later known as Hostetter's, and was a partner in the Pippel-Patterson Printery Company. His first buying trip abroad in 1928 made the two Reichardt stores an unusual gift shop and clothing store and their prestige grew throughout the state. He purchased The Style Shop building and business at 204 Washington from John and Esther Grubinger. The new acquisition allowed him to broaden the price range of women's fashions. Eleven years later he opened a men's store and an office supply company below the Gift Shop. John also was an organizer and director of the Chamber of Commerce and director of Security First Bank & Trust [Old Kent/Fifth Third] for 33 years. He was a member of the Spring Lake Country Club, Presbyterian Church in Grand Haven, Spring Lake Yacht Club, Peninsular Club in Grand Rapids, Grand F. & A.M. Lodge, and the Elks. He died about June 2, 1961 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, June 2, 1961.]

John Lynn "Jack" Reichardt [1917-2008] and Elizabeth "Libby" Field Reichardt [1920-2004]

Jack, the son of John H. and Erma Joyce Lynn Reichardt, was born in Grand Haven on April 13, 1917. He attended Dartmouth College and enlisted in the Navy at the beginning of WWII. On November 14, 1942, while stationed in Dallas, Texas, he married Elizabeth "Libby" Field Watterworth. Libby was born in Dallas on February 6, 1920. She was the daughter of Earle J. and Augusta "Gussie" Field Watterworth. After the war, Jack and Libby moved to the Tri-Cities. Working together, they assumed ownership of the businesses founded by Jack's father, John Henry Reichardt: The Abigail, a woman's dress shop and "Beauty Studio" at 218 Washington and Reichardt Office Supply, the Gift Shop, Savile Row Tailor Shop, the Men's Shop, and The Style Shop. Later they opened Ad Lib at 222 Washington. From 1945 until his retirement in 1974 Jack ran several businesses: The Gift Shop, The Abigail, Reichardt Office Supply, Savile Row, the Style Shop, The Men's Shop, and Topside, a gift shop in Whitehall. In 1962 he introduced tartan plaid slacks for men, a fashion trend that spread across the country. He also was remembered for developing and promoting Downtown Unlimited and, in 1958, supporting the conversion of downtown Grand Haven between First and Third Streets to a pedestrian mall, the first in the country. Jack retired in 1974 and passed away on January 19, 2008.

Libby was on the staff of the North Dallas High School yearbook, Compass, and she was president or vice president of several student organizations. In Grand Haven, Libby was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, a charter member and trustee of Kandu Industries, a founding member of Counterpart, a hospital volunteer during WWII, a volunteer at the Art Institute of Chicago, a member of the Community Lecture Series, and she served on the selection committee for the Muskegon Museum of Art. In the mid-1980s she opened Ad Lib, a gift shop located at 218 Washington Street.

She and Jack had three children: Tempe Lynn, who married Reiner Van Heusden and moved to The Netherlands, Reiner's native land; John Field, who remained in Spring Lake; and Shelton Sumner of Silverthorne, Colorado. Libby died in Spring Lake on June 9, 2004. [Tribune obituaries, June 10, 2004 and January 21, 2008, and M-Live article "Grand Haven man was prolific business owner," January 21, 2008.]

Sven Bertijl "Bert" Reuterdaahl [1913-2006]

Bert Reuterdaahl worked as a tool and die designer for Bastian Blessing and then for Anderson-Bolling in Spring Lake. At Anderson-Bolling he became assistant superintendent and later master mechanic. In 1954 he started his own company, B-R Metal Products, located at 410 South Water Street [Harbor Drive] and later moved to 144th Street in Spring Lake Township. He was president of the company and his wife, Minnie, vice president. The couple lived at 107 Church Street in Spring Lake. They were married in Los Angeles on September 24, 1940. Born in Karlstad, Sweden on April 13 [20], 1913, Bert died in Ada on July 26, 2006. Minnie, who was born Hermina Van Eden in Grand Rapids, lived from October 11, 1915 to May 14, 2008. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. A son, Carl J. Reuterdaal, was born in Grand Haven on July 17, 1942, died in Spring Lake on May 13, 1993, and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. They also had a daughter, Linnea, who was born on May 16, 1946, remained single, and moved to Grand Rapids. Bert and his parents immigrated to the United States from Sweden in 1914.

Torsten [Thorsten] Lennart Reuterdaahl [1917-2009]

In 1959, Torsten Reuterdaahl and his wife Genevieve moved from 232 East Exchange Street to 216 North Buchanan Street, occupying a home they purchased from Dr. Frederick and Ella De Young. Six years later the Reuterdahls sold the home to George and Charlene Thomas. Thorsten worked as an engineer for the Anderson-Bolling Company in Spring Lake. Born in Karlstad, Sweden on March 13, 1917, Torsten came to the United States with his mother in 1929. He married Genevieve Wilna Cook in Los Angeles on October 24, 1942. Genevieve lived from July 30, 1922 to May 8, 2000 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Torsten died on March 11, 2009 and was buried at the same cemetery. They had a child, Quinn, who was born and died on the same day in 1956. He, too, was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Their other children were Kenneth, Quinn, and Lars, and a daughter, Sandra, who married Wallace Morey and moved to East Lansing. Torsten's parents were Nils August [November 27, 1877 to January 12, 1920] and Gurli Alexandra Bolling [March 27, 1882 to May 30, 1959] Reuterdaahl. Nils died in Sweden and was buried there. Gurli was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Rex [? -1927]

On February 23, 1927, the Grand Haven Tribune ran this obituary: "Rex, the big black city fire truck horse, is dead and no more will respond when the siren screams. He died this morning and will be buried on city property with all the respect and pomp any horse could wish." See "Hope" for an earlier similar obituary.

Asa Reynolds [1830-1892]

Born in Essex County, New York on January 12, 1830, Asa Reynold and his family lived in several places before settling in Grand Haven in 1865. When he first arrived, he was involved in the brick business. His office initially was located in Senator Ferry's office on First Street. Later he moved to the Odd Fellows

Block [136 Washington] and then he worked from his home. He was a member of the Grand Haven Fire Department and was assistant fire chief for a time. From May 19, 1877 to October 21, 1881, Asa was postmaster of Grand Haven. In 1880 he was elected city marshal, and he was on the Republican ticket for the office of city recorder, a position he held in 1889. On March 6, 1862 he married Frances Drusilla Chaffee, who was born June 27, 1836. Her parents were Jonathan Skinner and Mary W. Russell Chaffee. At least two of their four children, all born in Grand Haven, died in infancy. One surviving child, Frederick M. was born in Grand Haven on December 20, 1867, and another, Ernest R., was born on March 10, 1875. Asa passed away on March 14, 1892 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. In 1900 Frances and Ernest were living on Washington Street. Ernest was listed as physician and surgeon. Frances died in 1925 and was buried near her husband. [Tribune obituary, March 15, 1892.]

Charles Reynolds, a lumberman, was born on November 19, 1827 and died in Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, on October 23, 1890. On December 5, 1848 in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, he married Eliza Storrs. She was born in Connecticut [New York] on November 6, 1827. By 1860 the couple was living in Blendon Township with two sons and Eliza's parents. The sons, Frank and Eddie, were 5 years old and 1 year old, respectively. Eliza and Charles had at least one other son, William, who was born in Grand Haven on February 6, 1869 and married Rose Gutner in Menominee, Menominee County on February 2, 1925, and a daughter, Mattie Maria, born in Grand Haven on March 25, 1871. At the age of 15, Eliza started teaching African Americans in the South. She was active in her church, and from 1873 to 1874 she was one of a group of women who were concerned about the menace of intemperance. They visited various drinking establishments and knelt before the bar, amid the dirt and joking, to pray that God would lead the misguided men away from alcohol. She was the first president in Grand Haven of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, formed in 1877. [However, see Frederick C. Stratton.] She died in Sturgeon Bay on October 22, 1890. [Woman's Christian Temperance Union.]

John Nelson Reynolds [1844-1924]

John Reynolds was born in Porter County, Indiana on August 24, 1844. When he was about eight his parents moved to Ingersoll, Canada. At the age of 20 he studied medicine for one year under Dr. Springer, a prominent homeopathic physician of Ingersoll. He subsequently entered the Cleveland Homeopathic College for six months, and then returned to study under Dr. Springer for another year. John graduated from the Missouri Homeopathic College in St. Louis in 1867. After opening his practice in Baltimore, Barry County, he moved to St. Clair six months later, where he went into partnership with Dr. G. Palmer.

On September 14, 1868, in Wayne County, John married Emma Florence [Frances], oldest daughter of Captain S. C. Keeler, of Detroit. The next year the couple moved to Grand Haven. John was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886. His medical office was at 116 Washington, and he and Frances lived at 408 Franklin with their two daughters, both born in Grand Haven: Anna [Annie] L., born in January 1873 [1875], and Jessie M., born on November 18, 1877. They also had two sons, Roland, born August 18, 1869, and Arthur J., born in June 1880. Frances was from New York, where she was born in August 1849. She was still living at 408 Franklin in 1930. The Reynolds family attended the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Haven, where Frances served for 32 years as an officer of the Ladies Social Society and was one of the first two deaconesses. John died in 1924 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Lucy Rice Reynolds [1859-1937]

Lucy Vincent Rice was born in Michigan on December 31, 1859 and married Edward Reynolds in Grand Haven on October 31, 1882. Edward was born in Blendon Township on October 19, 1858. By 1910 Lucy and Edward were living in Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, where Lucy died on August 5, 1937. Her parents were James and Margaret Vincent Rice of Grand Haven. Edward died in Sturgeon Bay on May 19, 1919.

Enoch L. Rhoades [Rhodes] [1832-1902]

Enoch Rhoades was born in Dutchess County, New York, on September 20, 1832 [1842]. When he was two his father, Benjamin Rhodes, moved to Montcalm County. While in Newaygo County, on November 2, 1863 Enoch enlisted as private in Company K, 4th Michigan Cavalry and served until his discharge on August 15, 1865. He reportedly participated in the capture of Jefferson Davis. On February 7, 1870 he married Jennie L. Connor [Conner], who was born in Ionia County on January 16, 1848. Enoch and Jennie had one child, Carrie Mabeth, who was born on March 13, 1872 in Newaygo County, married Hiram J. Fletcher [January 3, 1865-November 4, 1932], and died October 26, 1908. The Rhoades family lived at Ottawa Station in Olive Township, where Enoch was a blacksmith. He died on April 18, 1902 and was buried at Olive Cemetery, where his wife, daughter, and son-in-law also were interred. His wife's name was listed as Susan J. in the 1900 census. She died November 3, 1903 at the age of 55.

Martin Ribbink [1896-1988]

Martin Ribbink was born in Grand Haven on October 1, 1896. He had two sisters and a brother. While in the seventh grade he started work in the tannery, and then learned the machinist's trade at Dake Engine Company. From there he went to Keller, back to Dake, then to Peerless Novelty, and retired from American Brass. Martin died on December 21, 1988 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

David Derial Rice [1818-1868]

A native of Pelham, Canada, where he was born in 1818, David Rice moved to Crockery Township in 1855. In Canada in 1841, he married Sarah J. Burke, who was born in Ontario, Canada [New York] on March 8, 1820. They had 10 children, seven of whom were born in Canada: Arvilla Victoria Adoma Ann Rice, who lived from 1841 to 1883; J. Harrison Rice, who lived from 1842 to 1919; William S. Rice, who was born on May 3, 1843; Armina C. Rice, who was born in 1846; Rosannah Rice, who lived from 1848 to 1937; Sarah M. Rice, who lived from 1853 to 1939; and David Rice, who was born in 1854. The three children born locally were Derial Riley Rice, who lived from 1858 to 1938; Albert Rice, who lived from 1859 to 1870; and Martha J. Rice, who lived from 1860 to 1940. The Rices purchased a 40-acre farm in Section 36 of Crockery Township shortly after their arrival from Canada. David died in Eastmanville on November 13, 1868.

Eber Rice [1842-1910]

Born in Pelham, Ontario on April 6, 1842, Eber Rice came West when he was 14 years, learned the printing trade and settled in Crockery Township. On September 3, 1862 he enlisted as private in Company G of the 21st Michigan Infantry. He was a member of the Color Guard in March 1865 and was mustered out as Chaplain the following June. After the war, Eber worked at the Grand Haven Herald until 1872, when he moved to Grand Rapids and purchased the M. A. True Printing Company, later named the West Michigan Printing Company, which specialized in book binding. Eber died on December 19, 1910 and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Grand Rapids Township. He married Margaret Louisa Pixley in 1878. She was born in Michigan in 1845, died in 1932, and was buried in the same plot. Margaret applied for a widow's pension on February 13, 1911. Their children, were Charles, born in Grand Haven in 1869; Birdie Y., born in New York in 1870; and William E., born in Grand Haven in 1871.

James Alexander Rice [1824-1878]

James was born in Riceburg, Canada on October 12, 1824, the son of Martin and Lucy Wheeler Rice. Martin was born on March 8, 1781 and died in June 1852, while Lucy was born around 1782. Martin and Lucy were married in Massachusetts on January 10, 1804. In 1859 James opened the Rice House, a hotel on the northeast corner of Washington and Harbor Streets [Lot 22]. In later pages of his history, Leo Lillie wrote that the hotel opened in 1862, but it clearly was in business by the time of the July 31, 1860 census, when James was listed as proprietor. In 1862 James became trustee of the new Grand Haven Union High School, and in 1867 he was alderman for the First Ward on Grand Haven's first City Council.

James died on January 2, 1878 in Kalamazoo. His wife Margaret, the daughter of Michael and Hannah Mitchell Vincent of Grand Haven, was born in Vermont on August 10, 1828 and died in Kalamazoo on May 28, 1889. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Two of Margaret's sisters married James Rice's brothers: Permillia to Martin Rice and Maria to Charles Rice; both of these families remained in Quebec. One of James's and Margaret's daughters, Mary K. Rice, was born on June 6, 1850 and married Frederick Mansfield of Grand Haven. Another, Lucy Vincent Rice, was born in Michigan on December 31, 1859 and married Edward Reynolds. A third daughter, Martha Jane "Mattie" Rice, was born on September 2, 1862 and married Otis Dickinson. The three sisters were born in Grand Haven. Mary and her sister Martha "Mattie" Mansfield Rice were the first managers of Highland Park Hotel, which opened on July 4, 1890.

Martha Jane "Mattie" Mansfield Rice [1858-1940]

Martha "Mattie" Jane Mansfield was born in Lovell, Maine on January 22, 1858. She married Oscar A. Rice in Milwaukee on December 28, 1882. On April 8, 1876 in Vermont, he had married Florence Meigs. She died on November 1, 1881 at the age of 25 and was buried at Church Street Cemetery in Swanton, Vermont. Their daughter Kelley "Kittie" Rice, who was born in Swanton on October 14, 1876, died of consumption in Grand Haven on September 18, 1896, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery under her mother's name, Florence Rice. Oscar was born about 1852 in Sheldon, Vermont, died in 1931, and was buried at Rice Hill Cemetery in Sheldon.

Mattie and Oscar were divorced at an undisclosed time. Mattie remained in Milwaukee as an employee of the Singer Sewing Machine Company for 15 years, and later she opened and managed the Juneau Café in that city. Oscar manufactured men's shirts. By 1900 Martha was living alone in Milwaukee, and twenty years later she was residing at 226 Franklin Street in Grand Haven, where she remained the rest of her life. She, along with John Worsfold, appeared in several Coast Guard Festival Parades as Grand Haven's oldest citizens. She died of cardio-vascular disease in Grand Haven on May 8, 1940 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Oscar died in 1931 and was buried at Rice Hill Cemetery. William S. Rice [1843-1936]

William, the son of David Derial and Sarah Burke Rice, was born in Canada on May 3, 1843. He moved with his parents to Crockery Township in 1855. On December 13, 1868 he married Florence Potts in Polkton Township, where they established a 104-acre farm in Section 8. Florence was born in the township on February 10, 1855. William was legally blind, but carried out his responsibilities as a farmer nevertheless. He and Florence had at least three children: Ernest L., who was born on December 14, 1869 and died on November 20, 1953, Dora, who lived from 1876 to 1947 and married Lester Timmerman [1865-1957], and Belle. William passed away on December 31, 1936, and Florence died in Grand Rapids on November 2, 1943. Both were buried at Ottawa Center Cemetery, as were Ernest and Dora.

Gabriel Richard [Richards] [1767-1832]

Among the early priests to minister to the Grand River Indians was Father Gabriel Richard, who arrived in Detroit in 1798. In 1809 he published Michigan's first newspaper, Michigan Essay or Impartial Observer, in 1817 he helped found the University of Michigan, and in 1823 he was elected as a non-voting member to the House of Representatives from the Michigan Territory in 1823, the first Catholic priest to be elected to that body. He served one term, but during that term was able to secure an appropriation to build a road between Detroit and Chicago. Father Gabriel was born in France on October 15, 1767 and died of cholera on September 13, 1832 in Detroit. [Wikipedia.]

John Richards [1838-1916]

John Richards was born in The Netherlands on November 20, 1838. He was listed in 1860 as a servant in Clark Albee's home and in 1880 as a lumberman. Richard's wife Kate was born in The Netherlands on April 6, 1841. John and Kate Richards were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, he on May 6, 1916, she on June 30, 1918.

John Stevens Richards [1821-1897]

Although never a resident of Grand Haven, Captain John Richards was well known by local mariners as captain of the steamship Milwaukee in the early 1860s. He is reputed to have made his first voyage into Grand Haven harbor in 1850. Among his local acquaintances were Captain Heber Squier, Captain McBride, and Captain John Stark, who was chief engineer on the Milwaukee. Captain Richards was born in Pennsylvania on June 5, 1821, resided in Erie, Pennsylvania, died in Chicago on April 23, 1897, and was buried at Erie Cemetery. His wife Adelaide lived from May 31, 1833 to January 10, 1913 and was buried at the same cemetery. [Tribune obituary, April 28, 1897.]

Benjamin Franklin Richardson [1832-1906]

A native of Maine, where he was born in August 1832, Benjamin Richardson worked in the lumber industry in Traverse City and relocated to Spring Lake in the 1860s. From 1873 to 1879 and again beginning in June 1881 he was employed at the Batchellor & Thomas Mill in Ferrysburg as saw filer. The 1882 history of Muskegon and Ottawa Counties claimed that Benjamin was "the oldest saw filer in the State of Michigan" and that he settled in Spring Lake in 1838. He was still listed as saw filer in the 1893 Compendium. He married Eveline Elizabeth Cole, who was born in July 1840 in New York. Their daughter Harriet "Hattie" was born in November 1859 and married William Buckley of Spring Lake. Harriet, a teacher, began her career in a rural Spring Lake school when she was 14. The Richardsons had six other children, all born in Michigan, including Martha, who was born on February 15, 1872 and married Augustus Stephen Thomas [1870-1900]. They had a son, Donald R. Thomas, who was born in December 1894. Benjamin died on March 12, 1906 in Spring Lake. Eveline passed away on November 21, 1925.

James Richardson [1831-1902]

Born in Ohio in June 1831, James Richardson and his wife, Ruth, settled in Robinson Township. Ruth was a native of Indiana, where she was born in November 1829. James's Civil War monument at Robinson Township Cemetery cited his service with Company A of the 44th Indiana Infantry, but the veterans' record of 1890 for Ottawa County noted that he served with company E of the 9th Indiana Infantry and later in the 134th Indiana Infantry. A daughter, Lucinda Wheat, was born in Indiana in May 1858. In the census for 1900 James, Ruth, Lucinda, and three of the Richardson's grandchildren were living on an 80-acre farm in Robinson Township. Lucinda's husband was not included in the household. James died on May 18, 1902.

Ephraim Stiles Richmond [1820-1896]

Ephraim Richmond was born in Deerfield, Pennsylvania on December 2, 1820. He married Susannah [Susan] Readfield, of Leroy, New York, on October 19, 1843. She lived from September 30, 1824 to 1916. The couple moved to De Kalb County, Illinois in 1860 and six years later came to Nunica to enter the hotel business. Ephraim died on July 16, 1896. Husband and wife were buried at Nunica Cemetery. Their children, all born in New York, were Mervin, born about 1847; Emery, born about 1851; and Viola, born about 1855.

Karl "Charles" August Richter I [1836 -1904]

Grand Haven resident Charles Richter, a tanner by trade, started the Richter Tannery in 1889. It was located at the east end of Fulton Street near the Grand Haven Leather Company [Eagle Ottawa]. In 1898 he sold to Grand Haven Leather. Charles was born on October 27, 1836 in Germany and died on July 21, 1904. His widow, Fredericka [Freeka] Haase Richter, lived at 901 Fulton. She also was a native of Germany, where she was born about 1838. Their children, all born in Michigan, were Fredrike, born about 1867; Anna, born in 1869; Karl "Charles" II, born on April 18, 1871; Mary, born about 1872; and William, born about 1877.

Karl "Charles" August Richter II [1871-1932]

Charles Richter was Captain of the Corps of Engineers' dredge General Meade. His nephew, Les Brinkert, served as a deckhand under him. Charles, the son of Charles and Fredericka Haas Richter I, was born in Grand Haven on April 18, 1871. He and his wife, Martha, lived at 214 North Second Street. Martha, the daughter of Johannes and Caroline Hartman Behm of Grand Haven Township, was born in Michigan in April 1877. Their children, all born locally, were Martha, born in June 1898; Arthur C., born on May 6, 1900; Vera A., born about 1903; Harold C., born about 1905; Anna C., born about 1908; and Carl, born about November 1909. Arthur died on November 11, 1918 and was interred at Lake Forest. The family resided at 626 Clinton. Charles died on June 25, 1932 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his son Arthur.

Sylvester Sylvanus Rideout [1845-1922]

On December 9, 1861 in Castle Hill, Maine, Sylvester Rideout joined Company C of the 15th Maine Infantry as private. He was mustered out on January 19, 1865 and came to Grand Haven in 1868. He moved two years later to Spring Lake. Sylvester purchased the Sinclair House from John Dixon [Dickson] in March 1879 and renamed it the Rideout. With accommodations for about 30 guests, the hotel was located on the northeast corner of Division and Exchange Streets in Spring Lake [Lot 4, Block 14, Bryant's Addition]. Sylvester was Village postmaster from July 27, 1889 until May 23, 1893. From 1887 to 1892 he was in the drugstore business with Peter De Witt. On November 24, 1870 in Grand Haven, Sylvester married Charlotte L. Johnson, who was born in New York in September 1846. Sylvester was born in New Brunswick, Canada on December 23, 1845, died on February 27, 1922, and was buried at Rosedale Cemetery in Los Angeles, California. His parents were Jacob and Mary N. Kearney Rideout.

Frank J. Riemer [Reimer] [1892-1946] and Helena Kluempel [Klempel] Riemer [1891-1971]

Frank Riemer was born in Austria in 1892. On April 23, 1918 he married Elsa Hentschel in Grand Rapids. In 1921 he opened a jewelry store at 28 Washington and moved to 128 Washington about six years later when the Grand Theater was built on his original site. In the 1930 census Frank was residing with August Kluempel and August's daughter, Helena Kluempel. Helena was born in Grand Haven Township on March 20, 1891, and reportedly married Frank on October 1, 1920. However, in the 1930 census she was listed as a single woman using her maiden name, and Frank was listed as a widower. By the mid-1930s Frank and Helena were listed as husband and wife. They resided at 215 Columbus Street. Helena ran the jewelry store for a short time after Frank passed away in 1946. She was a member of St. Paul's United Church of Christ, where she taught Sunday School. She also belonged to Downtown Unlimited. Helena, who continued to live at 215 Columbus, passed away on September 21, 1971. She and Frank were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, September 21, 1971.]

Adrian Henry Ringelberg [1890-1969]

Adrian, born in Grand Haven on June 1, 1890, was the son of Henry and Gertrude Fondse Ringelberg. At age 16 he began working at the Challenge Refrigerator Company, eventually becoming purchasing agent. When that business was discontinued in 1929, he and others started Challenge Stamping & Porcelain Company to manufacture porcelain products and refrigerated display cases. In 1940 Adrian worked with Andrew Johnson in bringing the Puffer Hubbard Company to Grand Haven and began the production of beverage coolers and meat counters.

On May 8, 1917 Adrian married Dora Smith in Grand Haven, where she was born in Grand Haven on September 10, 1893. They had four children, all born in Michigan: Ruth D., born in 1918; Harold A. "Buss," born on December 9, 1919; Mildred L., who was born in 1928 and married a Mr. Pierce; and Glenn S., born in 1929. Around 1930 the family resided at 422 North Sixth Street and later at 215 Grand. Adrian died in April 1969 and Dora passed away in September 1977. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

After WWII Harold Ringelberg was named vice president and elected to the Board of Challenge Porcelain, and in 1955 he was elected president of the firm. The Puffer Hubbard Company was a division of Challenge. Buss was born on December 9, 1919. In 1941 he married Eleanor, the daughter of Robert L. and Annie Smith Shaw. Eleanor was born in Detroit on August 24, 1919. After graduating from Michigan State College [MSU] in 1941, she taught school in Dearborn, where her parents had moved. Following the war, the couple made their home in Grand Haven. Eleanor was active with the First Christian Reformed Church in Grand Haven. In 2000 she was awarded a silver medal by the Eli Lilly Company for being an insulin-dependent survivor for more than 50 years. They resided at 16095 Harborview Drive in Ferrysburg and were active members of the First Christian Reformed Church. Buss was on the boards of Grand Haven Christian School and Western Michigan Christian High School. He also served as a board member and chairman of North Ottawa Community Hospital during the expansion of 1967 to 1971. He was a director of Pacesetter Bank [Fifth Third], president of the Committee for Economic Development, president of Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce, president of the Porcelain Enamel Institute, and was named Young Man of the Year in 1955. In addition, Buss was a director of the Michigan Colleges Foundation. Their two children were Carole Dvorak and Thomas Ringelberg. Eleanor passed away on March 25, 2002 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Buss passed away on January 18, 2004 while wintering in Arizona and was buried with his wife at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituaries, March 26, 2002 and January 20, 2004.]

Hendrik "Henry" Ringelberg [1839-1909]

Hendrik Ringelberg was born in Kerkwerpe, The Netherlands, on December 23, 1839. He married Gertrude Fondse in their native country before coming to Grand Haven. Hendrik was a truck gardener, who grew and sold the produce he raised. He died on April 17, 1909 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Gertrude lived from May 28, 1850 to November 19, 1918 and was buried near her husband. Their eleven children, most born locally, included John, who lived from 1867 to 1964; Annie, who lived from 1876 to 1949; Nellie, who lived from 1877 to 1837; Nickolas, who lived from 1878 to 1957; Josie, who lived from 1881 to 1973; Minnie, who lived from 1882 to 1916; Mattie, who lived from July 1883 to 1941; Henry, born in November 1884; Lena, who lived from June 1887 to 1975; Adrian, born on June 1, 1890; and Martin Henry, who lived from July 1, 1894 to 1986. The family resided at 611 Columbus.

Henry Ringelberg [1884-1955]

Born in Grand Haven on November 24, 1884, Henry was the son of Henry and Gertrude Fondse Ringelberg. He owned a meat market at 708 Washington Street and in the early 1900s lived with his parents at 611 Columbus. On April 4, 1911 he married Anna [Hanna] Koster in Grand Haven. She was born on January 4, 1885, the daughter of John and Gertrude Ekster Koster of Spring Lake. The Ringelbergs had five children and resided at 630 Columbus, where by 1930 Henry had opened a real estate office. Among the children was Harriett A., who was born in Grand Haven on September 2, 1917, became a teacher in the Grand Haven schools, and passed away in Grand Haven on June 6, 2006. Anna died on January 15, 1943. Henry died on June 12, 1957. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, July 1, 2006.]

Gerard Abraham Ringold [1888-1985]

Born in Grand Rapids on November 12, 1888 [1889], Gerard was the son of Cornelius and Sarah Soutjesdyk Ringold. Cornelius was born in The Netherlands about 1859, and Sarah, a native of Michigan, was born about a year later. Cornelius and Sarah moved to Spring Lake and resided on West Savidge near Jackson. Gerard attended schools in Grand Rapids. He was employed for 15 years by Berton A. Spring, who was a funeral director and became a licensed embalmer. In 1919, Gerard and his father purchased from John Pruim a hardware and undertaking business located at 114 West Savidge Street in Spring Lake and in 1930 erected a building at that address that still bears the Ringold name. His father, Cornelius, worked for him at the hardware store. Gerard owned ambulances and funeral cars and answered ambulance calls. On June 26, 1912 in Montcalm County, Michigan, he married Emma Hazel Rindfleisch. She was born in Pierson Montcalm County on August 6, 1887 and died in Spring Lake on March 21, 1952. Their son, Howard C., was born locally in 1923 and died in Shanghai, China, on December 26, 1946. Gerard then married Dora, the daughter of Lily Van Anrooy. The Ringolds resided at 231 East Savidge. Gerard passed away on June 15, 1985. Howard, Emma, and Gerard were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Klass Cornelius Rink [1888-1976]

Cornelius Rink married Ida Van Dongen in Grand Haven on July 17, 1920. He was born on February 26, 1888, and Ida was born in Grand Haven on December 17, 1886. She was the daughter of Johannes “John” and Ida Van Dongen of Grand Haven. Ida had been married previously to Earl Herbert Fulcher [1887-1943]. Cornelius, a commercial fisherman, died on June 28, 1976 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Ida passed away on October 25, 1950 and also was buried at Lake Forest. The Rinks resided at 425 North Seventh Street.

Lois Brown Risher [1928-2002]

The daughter of John and Agnes Miles Brown, Lois was born in Grand Haven on July 25, 1928. She married Gerald E. Risher on August 22, 1947 in Ferrysburg. Lois worked as secretary for Construction Aggregates in Ferrysburg, and also as an accountant for Taylor and Associates in Grand Haven. She and Gerald owned the Idle Hour Lanes and Dairy Delite at 213 West Savidge in Spring Lake. They also were partners in the Century Bowling Lanes in Holland. The Rishers resided at 318 Maple in Ferrysburg. Lois graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1945 and was a member of the American Legion Post 28 Auxiliary. The Rishers’ children were Beverly Taylor, Belinda Wright, Bruce Risher, and Brad Risher. Gerald lived from June 29, 1926 to January 27, 1990. Lois passed away on August 31, 2002 at her home and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, September 3, 2002.]

Hunter Savidge Robbins I [1892-1969]

Born in Grand Haven on June 23, 1892, Hunter was the son of Nathaniel and Esther Savidge Robbins V and a graduate of Grand Haven High School. He graduated in 1917 from the University of Michigan and served as first lieutenant with the Signal Corps at Selfridge Field in Mt. Clemens, Macomb County during WWI. On July 29, 1918 he and major Boots made the three-and-a-half-hour trip from Selfridge Field and landed a large Army airplane at Spring Lake Country Club to the delight—and awe—of hundreds of spectators, who were not accustomed to such a sight. The two men took off without incident the next morning.

Hunter was married in 1919 in Las Vegas. He and his wife Margaret R. Fuller had three sons and a daughter: Hunter Savidge Robbins II, born on April 27, 1920; Jack Kinkelin Robbins of Pasadena, California, who was born May 28, 1921, married Margaret Miller on November 11, 1944, and became a physician; William Savidge Robbins of Spring Lake, who was born October 19, 1923 and married Millie Randall on May 6, 1948; and Virginia Marie Robbins, who was born February 9, 1929, married Fred Boyd Hansen, whom she divorced in 1959, and on April 2, 1960 married Kenneth Robinson, also of Oakland. In the winter the family lived in Pasadena, California and in the summer they resided at 221 North Cutler [400 West Liberty] in a home built by Hunter's parents and presented to him and his first wife as a wedding gift. Margaret was born about 1898 in Michigan. In 1947 Hunter married Clara Belle Sullivan. Hunter died in September 1969.

Hunter Savidge Robbins II [1920-1994]

Hunter Robbins, born on April 27, 1920 in Grand Haven, was the son of Hunter Savidge and Margaret R. Fuller Robbins I. Not long after his birth, the Robbins family returned to California. Hunter II enrolled at the University of California in Berkeley in 1938 and was graduated early because of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. As a member of the Naval Reserve Office Training Corps, Hunter was commissioned Ensign and saw service in the South Pacific. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for helping save the badly damaged destroyer Anderson. Next Lieutenant Robbins was assigned as Communications Officer aboard the destroyer Hugh W. Hadley [DD774]. The Hadley was credited with shooting down more enemy planes than any other ship in the Navy during a single engagement. For his valiant effort, Hunter was given his second Bronze Star.

Not long after the war's end, Hunter married Barbara Woglum on February 10, 1946 and started working for the Berkeley Gazette. Three years later he obtained a realtor's license and in 1956 opened his own office, Robbins Realty. Hunter II died on July 14, 1994 in Alameda, California. Barbara was born in California in 1921. She and Hunter II had two daughters, Donna Robbins and and Laurel Ann Robbins. Laurel was born on November 11, 1947 and married a Mr Gomer.

James E. Robbins owned Robbins Modern Dry Cleaning at 217 West Savidge. In 1961 he sold the business to Henry Plantenga. James was born on April 7, 1897 and died in Spring Lake on April 13, 1986. In 1947 he and his wife, Esther V., bought the house at 326 South Street. After 1961 they moved to 212 North Park Street. In the house on South Street James is said to have invented the coin-operated drycleaning machine. Esther lived from June 7, 1897 to August 29, 1991.

Nathaniel Robbins IV [1829–1898]

Born on September 5, 1829, Captain Nathaniel Robbins came to Michigan from Cape Cod, Massachusetts [Barnstable County] in 1882. He was the son of Nathaniel and Cynthia Kelley Robbins III. At 19 years of age Nathaniel IV sailed to the West Indies as master of a full-rigged ship. In 1856 he purchased a Gloucester schooner called the Thomas Bradley, the first saltwater schooner in the Great Lakes, and started up the Atlantic coast for the mouth of the St. Lawrence River carrying everything he needed, including a complete flourmill, to start life in Benton Harbor. His ship hit a sandbar outside Benton Harbor, and he lost everything he owned. He started life anew in Benton Harbor, and by 1863 he was piloting the passenger steamer Barber between St. Joseph and Chicago. [Nathaniel was listed as a grocer in the 1870 census.] During 1870, he was agent for the Goodrich Line in Benton Harbor. When the office was transferred to Grand Haven, he moved his family to the area. He succeeded Captain William R. Loutit and served as the second superintendent of the 11th U.S. Life Saving District from 1882 to 1898.

On April 14, 1848 Nathaniel married Hannah Doane Nickerson. She was born in Harwich, Massachusetts on December 24, 1829. Nathaniel built three steamers and named them for their daughters: Cynthia, Addie, and Ora. Cynthia was born at Cape Cod, Massachusetts in 1850. She married Henry H. Coats in Benton Harbor on October 18, 1871. On February 22, 1877 she married Charles B. Winslow, who had ties to Grand Haven. Addie was born in Michigan about 1861 and Ora, also in Michigan, about 1864. Nathaniel and Hannah also had a son, Nathaniel V, who was born in Benton Harbor on September 29, 1866 and spent most of his life in Grand Haven. The older Robbins owned a fleet of sailing boats that hauled lumber out of Grand Haven to the Benton Harbor sawmills. His office was located on Water Street [Harbor Drive] at the foot of Franklin Street. Nathaniel died on August 2, 1898 at Bailey's Harbor, Wisconsin, while on duty inspecting ports of call. He was buried at St. Joseph City Cemetery. Nathaniel V erected a memorial wharf in Benton Harbor in honor of his father. Nathaniel was the tenth in his family line to bear that name, but tradition has given him number "IV." Cynthia married Charles B. Winslow, who owned the C. B. Winslow Company in Grand Haven that was later purchased by his brother-in-law, Nathaniel Robbins V.

Nathaniel "Nat" Robbins V [1866-1940] and Esther Savidge Robbins [1866-1920]

Born on September 29, 1866 in Benton Harbor, Nathaniel was the son of Captain Nathaniel and Hannah Nickerson Robbins IV and Addie Downey. He was the eleventh member of the seafaring Robbins family of Cape Cod, Massachusetts to bear the name Nathaniel. He sailed with his father before the age of 10 and at age six cooked meals for a crew. When he was 13, he took full-time employment as a clerk at a peanut stand for $1.50 a week. Before coming to Grand Haven, he successfully drove a delivery rig, worked in a tobacco store, and had other jobs in Minneapolis. He came to Grand Haven on June 24, 1884 to join the firm of H. L. Chamberlain & Company, later renamed C. B. Winslow & Company, which dealt in cement and coal. The same year he became agent for the Goodrich Steamship line, with an office located at Washington and Harbor Streets and soon purchased the Winslow Company. He also dealt in hair, firebrick, and clay, and handled anthracite, smiting, bituminous, and cannel coal.

Nat was elected mayor of Grand Haven in 1914. He was a member of the Red Cross and was one of the founders and promoters of the Ottawa County Chapter, which began local operations in 1909. In 1925 he became a director of the Goodrich, Graham, and Morton Steamship Line. He owned three hundred feet of wharf near the foot of Washington Avenue and leased it to the Goodrich Transportation Company. All railroads entering the city had tracks leading to those wharfs, which were known as "Robbins Docks." He also owned a large warehouse, located on the site of Rix Robinson's fur trading post, which he used for his commercial fishing operation. The warehouse was later used as "The Barn," managed by Mom and Pop Davis and used for roller skating and bowling [215 Harbor]. The warehouse was destroyed by fire in 1946. In 1933, Nat operated the steamer Grand Rapids of the Goodrich Line and transported passengers to Chicago and Milwaukee during the World's Fair "Century of Progress" that year and the next. He also had a 60' commercial steam fishing tug called Robbins III, captained by U.S. Cornell. During the early 1930s, Nat was instrumental in landing a contract to ship new automobiles to Milwaukee on steamers, after the cars arrived in Grand Haven by truck. On July 15, 1935, "Robbins Day" was celebrated when the steamer Missouri resumed cross-lake passenger service to Chicago. Nat was a member of the Elks; director of Grand Haven National Bank; treasurer of the old Board & Trade; director of the Chamber of Commerce; and a major stockholder in the Vyn Trucking Company, where he became president in 1927. He also had an interest in the Keller Tool Company. He was helpful in establishing the Grand Haven Coal & Dock Company, owned by Louis H. Breitels.

On September 3, 1891, Nat married Esther Savidge, daughter of, Hunter and Sarah Savidge. Born in Spring Lake on May 17, 1866, Esther attended Spring Lake schools and high school in Grand Rapids. She graduated from Vassar College in 1887. In 1899 the couple purchased the Reuben Vander Hoef property at 20 South Fifth Street, tore down the existing red-brick house, hired local-contractor Baldus Pellgrom to build a large home, and about a year later were able to move in. As early as 1913, Nat owned a King automobile with license plate No. 5901.

Nat and Esther had two sons, Hunter I, who was born June 23, 1892, and Nathaniel VI, who was born on February 1896. A daughter, Dorothy, was born on December 20, 1898 and died on December 4, 1915.

Esther was a charter member of the Grand Haven Woman's Club and was president from 1900 to 1901. In 1916 Esther provided the Village of Spring Lake with funds to pave State Street for the first time. It was renamed Savidge Street in memory of her brother William, who died in 1916. Esther died on June 28, 1920 after surgery at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. The widower was remarried in 1923 to Alice Hood, who was born on August 14, 1867 in Hartford, Connecticut, died in Grand Haven on March 12, 1936, and was buried at Morton Hill Cemetery in Benton Harbor. She had one son from her previous marriage to William L. Trenholm [1858-1911]. Nat died on June 6, 1940 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Esther and their daughter Dorothy. A street south of Grand Haven was named in his memory and a city playground, now gone, between Madison and Elliott, was named Robbins Field. [Tribune obituary, June 28, 1920.]

Nathaniel Robbins VI [1896-1952]

Born in Grand Haven on February 25, 1896 and educated in local schools, Nathaniel Robbins inherited the fortune left when his father died in 1940. In his third year at the University of Michigan during World War I, he enlisted with the 339th Ambulance Company and was stationed at Brest, France. He also served as an interpreter. On June 20, 1919, he married Helene De Pree of Holland. For a while after his marriage, Robbins was associated with the DePree Chemical Company of Holland. Later he moved to California and made his home in Beverly Hills. In 1940 his daughter Joan was queen of the Coast Guard festival. Nathaniel took his own life in February 1952, leaving his wife, his daughter, Joan, who was born around 1924 and married William Barkan of San Francisco, a son Nathaniel VII [“Robbie”], who was born about 1924 and resided in Minneapolis, and a brother, Hunter Savidge Robbins of Spring Lake and California.

Sherman Robbins [1922-1994] and Marshall Robbins [1915-1997]

Brothers Sherman and Marshall Robbins purchased a photography business from Charles Rudershausen after WWII and named it Robbins Studio. Located first at 5 North Seventh Street, Sherman moved the business to his home at 15175 Boom Road in Spring Lake after he became the sole owner. Sherman was born on September 1, 1922 and Marshall on May 11, 1915. Their father, Samuel, was from Kentucky where he was born about 1883, and their mother, Elizabeth, also a native of Kentucky, was born about 1887. Samuel and his family, which included five other children, resided at 1308 Washington. Sherman died in Grand Haven on April 17, 1994 and Marshall passed away in Cocoa Beach in May 1997.

Edward Roberts was deputy county treasurer in 1940, a position he still held in 1950. He was born on June 16, 1901 in Milwaukee, but by 1901 had moved to Grand Haven with his parents, John [1870-1945] and Etta Pearl [1875-1907] Roberts. On September 21, 1923, he married Dorothy Marie Den Herder in Holland. She was born in Holland on May 21, 1902. Not long after their marriage, the Roberts resided at 213 Howard Street. In 1944 they purchased a house at 307 South Fourth Street, where they remained until 1968. They had three sons, all born locally: Edward J. Roberts, born about 1926; James Frederick Roberts, who lived from 1930 to 1985; and Kenneth G. Roberts, born in 1932. Edward died on January 16, 1975 in Grand Rapids and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Dorothy passed away on January 29, 2000 and also was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was a daughter, Doris Elaine Roberts, who was born on December 12, 1927 and died in an automobile accident on May 26, 1929.

Richard Roberts [1811-1875]

A native of Wales, Richard Roberts was born on November 22, 1811. He arrived in Ottawa County in 1842. Richard married Rebecca, from another Roberts family, when he returned to Wales the next year. In June 1843 he returned with his wife and a “hired man.” He and Rebecca became the first permanent settlers in Allendale when they took ownership of 160 acres and built a home with logs donated by Clark Albee and Nathan Throop. Richard’s property was in Section 11, but he purchased additional land in several other sections. Joining Richard in Allendale were his brother-in-law Thomas Jones, who arrived in 1844 with John Hanna and Ephraim Pierson, and Robert Scott, who brought his mother and brother, Alexander, and James. Roberts and his wife operated a rustic inn for travelers called the “Half-Way House,” since it was midway between Grand Haven and Grandville. Richard built a sawmill, opened a store, ran a blacksmith shop, and constructed a mill to craft spokes for horse-drawn vehicles. Their house also functioned as the post office. He and Rebecca had seven children, four of whom survived. Richard moved his mill to Beech Tree Landing near Grand Haven in 1873 and died on July 25 two years later at the age of 63. Rebecca lived from 1813 to March 4, 1903. Both were buried at Allendale Cemetery on land they had donated.

Duncan Robertson [1838-1913]

Builder and designer of one hundred ships, schooners, steamers, and tugs of the Great Lakes, Duncan Robertson's shipyard was famous for the vessels that were launched in the South Channel, including the David Macey, Charles E. Wyman, Willie Loutit, and the Hunter Savidge. Later Duncan was joined in his business by Paul McCoil, Peter Sinclair, and Captain John Budge, all originally from Scotland. Many of the city's best ship builders acquired their knowledge of the craft from Duncan. Among their ships were the 136-foot City of Grand Rapids and the 160-foot H. C. Hall. Duncan was born in Sterling, Scotland, on March 24, 1838. He worked in the shipyards of Clyde, Scotland, before coming to Detroit in 1866 and to Grand Haven the next year. The first ship he built was for Thomas Hefferan of Eastmanville. In later years he also designed the steel boats built at Johnston Brothers in Ferrysburg. He married Elizabeth Bloomfield in the 1870s, and they lived in the Spring Lake area. She was born in 1845 and died in 1876. Duncan was born in Sterling, Scotland on March 24, 1838, passed away on October 9, 1913, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Elizabeth and other family members, including his sister Mary Raddock, who lived from June 1835 [1840] to 1915. [Tribune obituary, October 9, 1913.]

George Robertson I [1848-1933]

Born in the Orkney Islands, Scotland in March 1848 [1849], George Robertson sailed as a seaman to ports in Europe, North Africa, and Northern Russia and completed his apprenticeship for salt-water navigation on British Ships. He settled in the United States in 1866 and came to Grand Haven seven years later to command vessels such as Willie Loutit, Sidney O'Neff, Lou A. Cummings and Alice M. Gill. Two of the ships he captained were built in the shipyards at Grand Haven. He was also instrumental in influencing many young seafaring men from this area. In 1877 he went to Scotland to marry Mary Mainland, who was born in October 1857, and then returned with his new wife to Grand Haven. They owned a home at 515 Lafayette Street near the Ferry home, where they raised a son, John Mainland. Mainland Robertson, who was born in October 1895, served at Camp Custer in Battle Creek during WWI. Other children were Lydia, born in May 1878; Margaret; who was born on May 11, 1883 and died on September 6, 1976 in Grand Haven; and George II, born in September 1885. Margaret married Thomas Swan, who was a Realtor in Highland Park, near Detroit. George I died in 1933.

George Wallace Robertson [1914- 1999]

Born in Wisconsin on May 28, 1914, G. Wallace Robertson served as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Grand Haven from 1952 to September 1, 1960. His residence was at 515 Park Street. During his term the congregation approved construction of a new sanctuary, which was dedicated in December 1955. He died in Grand Ledge, Eaton County on August 19, 1999.

Lois E. Boyink Robertson [1932-2002]

Lois Robertson retired from the Grand Haven Tribune in 1998, after 21 years of employment. She previously had worked at Security First Bank [Fifth Third] and the Trophy House. Lois was born on October 13, 1932 in Grand Haven, the daughter of Albert and Dora Jansen Boyink. Lois won the first Miss Coast Guard Festival contest in 1950. She belonged to Christ Community Church, was a Stephens minister, worked with "Kids Hope," and served on the Ferrysburg Recreation Board. She had a daughter, Linda Cramblet, and two sons, Scott Roberson and Hugh Robertson. Lois died in Holland, Michigan, on December 6, 2002. [Tribune obituary, December 9, 2002.]

Samuel Robertson [1747-1797]

Samuel Robertson, a Scot, was captain of the one-masted, 45-ton British vessel Felicity that moored briefly in Grand Haven harbor on October 31, 1779. In the midst of the Revolutionary War, the boat with her crew of eight was patrolling Lake Michigan and entered Muskegon and Grand Haven harbors expecting to pick up supplies. Samuel was born in Scotland in 1747 and died on July 20, 1797. He was buried at Nathan Hale Cemetery in Coventry, Connecticut.

Alfred Robinson I [1823-1888]

Alfred Robinson owned a 157-acre farm in Section 2 and an additional 80 acres in Section 3 of Robinson Township. He built a two-story frame house in Section 2, that by 1912 was owned by August Kamenske and became known as Robinson Farm Resort.

Born in Cayuga County, New York in 1823, Alfred was the son of John and Eliza Fowler Robinson who settled in Robinson Township. Alfred died on March 31, 1888. His wife, Julia Ann [Juliane] King, also was a native of New York, where she was born in 1829. She died on April 19, 1888, less than a month after her husband. Following the deaths of Alfred and Julia Ann, part of their land in Section 2 was deeded to the township for use as a cemetery. Both Alfred and Julia Ann were buried there. They had a daughter, Louiza, who was born in Michigan about October 1849, a son, Alfred II, who was born in Robinson Township in 1854, and a second daughter, Emma, who was born in March 1858 and married William Foster of Robinson Township. Alfred II married Alice Hosford, also born in 1854.

Benjamin Franklin “Frank” L. Robinson [1842-1901]

Frank, the son of John and Eliza Fowler Robinson, was born in Robinson Township on March 15, 1842. On April 20, 1863 he enlisted as private in Company M of the 7th Michigan Cavalry. He was admitted to Harper Hospital in Detroit on September 18, 1865 and was mustered out three days later. He subsequently settled on a farm in Section 32 of Robinson Township, where he died on March 5, 1901. He married Adelaide [Ada] “Addie” Griswold. She applied for a widow’s Civil War pension on April 15, 1901. Addie was born in Vermont and lived from May 1847 [1848] to 1930. Their children, all born in Robinson Township, were Dora, who was born in 1868 and married Gerrit Ball of Grand Haven; Julia, who was born around 1870 and married Charles L. Cutler, also of Grand Haven; Irving, who lived from 1879 to 1882; Bertha, born in August 1880; Ira A., who lived from about 1882 to 1904; Charles, born on July 27, 1882; and Garnsie, born in February 1891. The Frank Robinson family was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery with other Robinsons.

Bruce F. Robinson [1921-1999] and Elizabeth “Betty” Jane Van Sant Robinson [1924-2011]

Betty Robinson was known in Grand Haven as a watercolor artist. Landscapes and flowers of West Michigan were her favorite subjects. Betty exhibited her work in galleries and shows for most of her adult life. She was born in Red Bank, New Jersey on March 4, 1924 and married Bruce Fairbairn Robinson in Red Bank on June 30, 1946. He was born in Joliet, Illinois on August 28, 1921 and served in the military during WWII. He lost hearing one ear toward the end of the war and was hospitalized and discharged in July 1945. The couple moved to Norton Shores in 1948 and by the mid-1990s were living at 14005 Bayou Ridge Circle in Grand Haven. They remained in Grand Haven until at least 2002. They had two children: Lesley Ann Robinson-Hellstern, who was born on June 17, 1952, and Douglas Robinson. Bruce died on December 21, 1999 and Betty passed away on April 2, 2011 while at her daughter’s home in Edgewater, Maryland.

Dennis Robinson [1793-1849]

On June 12, 1849 Lucius and Fanny Boltwood I conveyed to Dennis Robinson substantial acres of land in Ottawa County. Dennis was Rix Robinson’s brother, but did not reside in Ottawa County. On June 19, 1852, as stipulated in his will, Dennis granted to his wife, Maria [Mariah], as “sole legatee,” the right “to dispose of all property as she may ‘think meet [appropriate].” Dennis was born in Richmond Township, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, on February 6, 1793. He died in Cayuga County, New York, on August 20, 1849. Maria was born about 1798 in New York and died in Cayuga County, New York in May 1853. The month before her death she deeded to Rix Robinson all her holdings.

Edward G. Robinson [1823-1886]

In 1850 Edward Robinson and his wife Maria [Marie] were residents of that part of Ottawa Township [now Grand Haven Township] that became Robinson Township. Edward worked as a laborer. Nine years later Edward was given the right to run a ferryboat from a spot near his home in Robinson Township across the Grand River to Crockery Township. He also provided timber for the Ferry & Sons Sawmill, at the foot of Columbus Street in Grand Haven. Lillie reported that Robinson killed a sizeable black bear at Battle Point on September 29, 1862. Edward's wife, Marie, was born about 1832 in New York. Edward was born in the same state in 1823, died in Schoolcraft, Kalamazoo County in 1886, and was buried at Schoolcraft Township Cemetery.

Betty Robinson was known in Grand Haven as a watercolor artist. Landscapes and the flowers of West Michigan were her favorite subjects. Betty exhibited her work in galleries and shows for most of her adult life. She was born in Red Bank, New Jersey on March 4, 1924 and married Bruce Fairbairn Robinson in Red Bank on June 30, 1946. He was born in Joliet, Illinois on August 28, 1921 and served in the military during WWII. He lost hearing in one ear toward the end of the war and was hospitalized and discharged in July 1945. The couple moved to Norton Shores in 1948 and by the mid-1990s were living at 14005 Bayou Ridge Circle in Grand Haven. They remained in Grand Haven until at least 2002. They had two children: Lesley Ann Robinson, who was born on June 17, 1952 and married Bruce Hellstern, and Douglas Robinson. Bruce died on December 21, 1999 and Betty passed away on April 2, 2011 while at her daughter's home in Edgewater, Maryland.

Hiram Robinson [1833-1905]

Hiram, born in New York in September 1833, was the son of Rodney Robinson, one of Rix Robinson's brothers. Rodney Robinson settled in Kent County, but Hiram continued west and settled in Robinson Township in 1860, where he farmed and timbered. He married Elizabeth A. Boggs, who was born in Indiana in October 1838 [1839]. They had six children: Edwin F., who lived from 1857 to 1865; Mary F., who was born in October 1860 and became a teacher in Robinson; Frank L., who lived from 1862 to 1910 and whose wife's name was Hattie; Frederick, who married Frances Kalaska; Ida M., who was born in 1838, married Charles Phillips, and died in 1952; and Lucinda "Lulu" L., who lived from 1875 to 1877. Hiram's land holdings in Section 32, on the south side of the Grand River, consisted of approximately 150 acres and included Robinson Bayou. He died on May 24, 1905. [Tribune obituaries May 25 and 26, 1905.]

Ira Robinson I [1808-1891]

Ira, born in 1808, was one of two of Rix Robinson's brothers to settle in Robinson Township, where he arrived from Orange County, New York in 1835. That year, on July 1, he purchased more than 136 acres in Section 1. Franklin Everett relates that during his first winter there, Ira cut 996 logs with an ax, on a promise that the Grand Haven Company would buy them at 50 cents each. The company did not follow through, and finally, after the logs had lay on the riverbank for several years, Ira sold them all for a barrel of pork and two barrels of flour. [Franklin Everett, Memorials of the Grand River Valley, 494-495.]

On April 7, 1856 the township was organized at Ira's home, located at 104th Avenue and North Cedar Street. Ira and Phebe Cortwright were married in New York. She lived from 1810 to 1886. They had at least five children: Ransom, who was born in New York in 1833; Ira Earl II, who was born in 1839, married Emma Marian Julian [Julene] [1849-1878], and died in 1910; Abbie, who was born about 1844, married Judd Dickson, and moved to Sault Ste. Marie; and Jennie, who lived from 1868 to 1885. Ira died on March 25, 1891.

James Robinson [1857-1932]

James Robinson came to the area in 1903 and settled in Section 26 of Crockery Township, where he farmed 86 acres and raised livestock. He married Laura Baldus around 1892. They were residing in Crockery Township with their 17-year-old daughter Matie in 1910. James was born in Missouri [Mississippi] on April 16, 1857 and died in San Antonio, Texas on April 21, 1932. Laura remained in Ottawa County. She was born in Schenectady, New York on March 21, 1861, died in Nunica on January 11, 1942, and was buried at Eastmanville Cemetery. They had three children.

John Robinson [1798-1857]

John, born in 1798, was another of two of Rix Robinson's brothers who settled permanently in Robinson Township, where John arrived from New York State in 1835. That year he bought almost a quarter section [159 acres] in Section 2 of Robinson Township. He married Eliza Fowler, who died in 1849. They had five children: Alfred, who was born in Cayuga County, New York in 1823; Erastus, who was born in Cayuga County, New York on June 6, 1826 and married Maryette Wheelock, who lived from 1832 to 1881; Benjamin Franklin, who was born on March 15; James, who was born in 1847; and Analiza, who was born in 1848. John died in 1857.

John Rix Robinson [1826-1897]

John, the son of Rix Robinson and Flying Cloud, was born in a cabin at Duck Lake, Muskegon County, on March 5, 1826. The cabin was said to have been built by fur trader Joseph La Framboise along the trail between Muskegon and Whitehall.

John was among those who purchased land set aside for Indians and sold it to White settlers. In 1851 he used his rights as a Native American to secure a United States patent for 4,500 acres of wooded land, which he agreed to sell to Ransom Wood of Grand Rapids. Area residents opposed the transfer of title, and John was able to reverse the sale and retain the property. John became a Methodist minister and worked as a missionary among the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan, particularly around the Mt. Pleasant area. On March 15, 1848, he married Lucy Withey in Granville, Ohio. She was born in Vermont about 1831 and died in Isabella County on August 4, 1883. In 1860 John was residing in Ada in a house close to his father's. Living with John was his 29-year-old wife, Lucy, and their two children: Harriet, born in Michigan about 1849, and J. Buchanan, born in Michigan around April 1860.

John was included in the 1859 Annuity Roll, "Grand River Ottawa of Michigan", as a member of Chief Paybawme's band. He received $4.11. The next year he received $14.70 as a member of the same band, in 1864 his share amounted to $10.26, and in 1868 he was given $47.55. [In this instance, the band's chief's name was spelled Pawbawme.] In 1870 he received $61.20, still a member of Paybawme's band.

In April 1897 John visited friends at the Bass River Indian village, a few miles east of Grand Haven. An article in the Grand Haven newspaper reported, "Mr. Robinson has devoted the best part of his life in the interest of Indian missions and has had great success By nature he is a born orator, and with the advantages of a good Christian education he speaks with fluency and power." At the time of the article, he still lived near Mt. Pleasant. [Tribune, April 7, 1897.] John died on April 23, 1897 in Isabella County.

Lucas [Luke] Robinson [1804-1876]

A brother of Rix Robinson, Lucas was born on April 2, 1804. On July 1, 1835 he bought in excess of 80 acres in Section 1 of Robinson Township. The next year he settled in Allendale Township. Lucas died in Kent County on February 14, 1876. His wife, Delia Shaw, was born about 1808.

Ransom H. Robinson [1833-1920]

The son of Ira and Phebe Cortwright Robinson, Ransom was born in New York State in 1833. He married Rethe [Ruthe] Blaksley, who was born in 1854 and passed away in 1935. On August 13, 1862, Ransom enlisted as sergeant with Company G of the 21st Michigan Infantry. He was mustered out with a disability on February 5, 1863. Like his father, Ransom became a farmer in Robinson Township, settling in Section 35. Ransom and Rethe had a daughter, Maud P., born locally about 1874, and a son, Sheldon R., born around 1878. Ransom died in 1920. He and Rethe were buried at Robinson Township Cemetery.

Rix Robinson was born in Richmond, Massachusetts on August 28, 1789, the third of thirteen children. His parents were Edward and Eunice Rix Robinson. Edward was born on June 17, 1763 and died in 1836, while Eunice lived from July 3, 1765 to August 24, 1835. In 1812 young Rix abandoned his nearly completed law study and came to the Michigan Territory in order to avoid the war with England that his father opposed. Four brothers, John, Ira, Luke, and Rodney, later settled in nearby locations. After two years as Sutler to U.S. troops in Detroit, Rix began to trade supplies with the Indians, and in 1821 he assumed proprietorship of all John Jacob Astor's American Fur Trading Posts when Madam La Framboise retired. His territory included the Grand, Kalamazoo, and Muskegon Rivers. Mackinac was the main depot. In 1821 he helped form a treaty between the U.S. Government and the Potawatomie Indians.

Another treaty in 1836 ceded all land north of Grand River to the U.S. Government. Rix played an important role at different stages of the treaty-making process. First, he was instrumental in raising the necessary number of Ottawas and Ojibways chiefs to accompany him to Washington, D.C. to review the agreement. Second, his opinions assisted both sides of the treaty to create an acceptable agreement. Third, his positive reputation among the Indians was instrumental in persuading them to sign it. Fourth, he helped judge the validity of claims, leading to a settlement of those accounts. Among the claims against the Indians was one of Rix's in the amount of $48,000. The Indians agreed that his claim was "right and just," as did the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. Rix also judged claims of other individuals, including one of Francis Bailey in the amount of $673.21 plus reimbursement, for tending to the needs of four orphaned Indian children. With Rix's support, Francis's claims were paid.

As the fur business waned, Rix shifted his interests to mercantile and agricultural enterprises in Kent and Ottawa Counties. When Michigan achieved statehood in 1837, Rix was appointed member of the Board of Commissioners for Internal Improvements, and he served four years as a state senator. Later he became a representative to the Constitutional Convention of 1850.

Respected by both Native Americans and Whites for his fairness, intelligence, and knowledge of the wilderness, Rix was credited with founding Grand Haven. It was said that "he could speak Indian better than the Indians." In 1821 he married Pemissquotoquay [Miss-a-quot-o-quay], "Flying-Cloud Woman," the daughter of Chief Hazy Cloud [Mnobbinnakizhick], following Indian rites, in September 1821. Flying Cloud was born in 1800 and passed away in Ottawa County [possibly Battle Point] in 1844. [Another theory is that Rix and Pemissquotoquay separated after "100 moons," about eight years.] She gave birth to Rix's only child, John Rix Robinson, on March 5, 1826. In 1850 Rix married Sebequay [Sippi-quay-dow-das], "River-Woman," Pemissquotoquay's sister; her nickname was Sippy, but also was called Nancy. She lived from about 1810 to March 1875 and was buried at Ada Cemetery with Pemissquotoquay.

Rix established a trading post at the mouth of the Grand River, which he visited once a year between 1821 and 1834. The area was surveyed in 1832, and in 1833 the U.S. Government gave Rix title to all of the local land. He named the area Grand Haven, and it was recorded as such on April 14, 1835. Rix, who had studied law, gained fame as a state senator from 1847 to 1849 and later turned down the nomination to become Michigan's governor. He was a representative to the State Constitutional Convention in 1850. Rix died on January 12, 1875. A large monument overlooking the Grand River marked his gravesite in Ada. His family gave Robinson Township and its elementary school their names.

A brother of Rix Robinson, Rodney on July 1, 1835 purchased 80 acres in Section 1 of Robinson Township. He was born March 29, 1800, in Richmond, Massachusetts. His wife, Mary Shaw, was born April 12, 1805. One of their children, Lucas, was born in Robinson Township between 1835 and 1837. Rodney eventually settled in Allendale Township. A daughter, Sallie, was born on July 28, 1841. She died in Marshall, Calhoun County, on May 11, 1902 under the name Campbell. Mary died on April 29, 1859 and was buried at Foxes Cemetery in Lowell, as was Rodney, who passed away on December 10, 1875.

Rodney C. [G.] Robinson [@1829- ?]

Born in New York State about 1829, Rodney Robinson owned a grocery store in downtown Grand Haven in 1860. He married Clarissa Ensworth in Cuyahoga County, Ohio on July 5, 1853. He, Clarissa, and their five-month-old daughter Elizabeth lived above the grocery in 1860. Clarissa, four years younger than Rodney, was born in Pennsylvania. By 1863, he and his family had moved to Ada, where he continued in the grocery business.

Walter [Walther] Nathan Robinson [1895-1988]

Living with Anna and Theodore Tripp at 613 Monroe Street in 1920 was Anna's nephew Walter [Walther] Robinson, born on November 30, 1895. In 1910 he was working on the John and Mary Smith farm in Casnovia, Muskegon County, as a "hired boy." Walter's father According to his WWI draft registration, he worked for the Dake Corporation. Walter married Margaret Bolthouse in Grand Rapids on November 26, 1919. They had at least one child, Jack D., who was born on January 23, 1922 and died in Midland, Midland County on March 13, 1984. Margaret, who was born on May 4, 1900 in Ferrysburg, died in Ferrysburg on January 25, 1985, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Walter died in Ferrysburg on December 22, 1988. He and his parents and other members of the immediately family were consistently listed as White.

William O. Robinson [1894-1977]

William, the son of Frank and Anna Robinson, was born in Michigan on June 21, 1894. He married Grace Klomparens in Grand Haven on July 10, 1919. The next year on August 2 he was granted a divorce. The year after that, on February 21, in Grand Haven, he married Selma Burkhart in Grand Haven. Born on May 14, 1903, she was White and a native of Illinois. Their children were Billye M. [Marian], who was born in 1921 and died in 1976; Betty Jane, who was born in 1923 and died in 2001; Jack H., born in March 1930; and Bruce Wendell Robinson, who lived from March 11, 1936 to November 7, 2003.

An employee of Eagle Ottawa Leather Company, William Robinson and his wife and their three children in 1930 resided at 1200½ Washington Street. William and the children were classified as Indian, while Selma was White. In 1940 the family resided at 1426½ Columbus Street. William still was employed at the Eagle Ottawa Leather Company, working as a leather finisher, as he had been in 1930. Selma and Marian also worked at the leather company. The children were all born locally, and each family member was considered White. William passed away in Grand Rapids on July 7, 1977, and Selma died in Grand Haven on August 15, 1993. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

George W. Rogers [1846-1920]

George was born in Michigan on November 10, 1846, the son of William and Margaret Bowles Rogers., George married Elizabeth Terpenning. In Grand Rapids on December 22, 1863, he signed up as private in Company E of the 1st Michigan Engineers and was mustered out on September 22, 1865. He and his wife, Elizabeth, were married about 1874. They owned two 40-acre parcels, one in Section 2 and the other in Section 3 of Robinson Township. In 1870 George was commissioned to build a bridge across Stearns Bayou at the mid-point of his property. At that time 136th Avenue extended to the south side of Stearns Bayou and continued on the north side. His bridge connected the two. Remnants of the bridge could be seen as late as 2012. By 1900 the couple was residing in Albion, Calhoun County, where he worked as an agricultural agent. On November 5, 1875 daughter Effie was born in Calhoun County. Another daughter, Olive, was born in April 1878, also in Calhoun County. Elizabeth was born in New York in 1842 and died in Calhoun County in 1917, and George passed away on June 6 1920. He and Elizabeth were buried at Riverside Cemetery in Albion.

Edwin John Roland [1905-1985]

Edwin Roland graduated from the Coast Guard Academy in 1929 and became a lieutenant junior grade. He was assigned as navigation and gunnery officer aboard the Coast Guard ship Escanaba when it was based in Grand Haven just prior to being called into service during World War II. He was the first commanding officer of the Mackinaw when it was commissioned in December 1944. The Mackinaw was the first heavy-duty icebreaker ever designed and built in the United States for Great Lakes work. Rodney then was promoted to Coast Guard Commandant in Washington, D.C. from 1962 to 1966. He retired with the rank of Admiral. Born on February 11, 1905 in Buffalo, New York, he died in Florida on March 16, 1985.

Derk Roossien [1850- 1932]

Born on May 5, 1850 [June 7, 1850] in The Netherlands, Derk Roossien worked in the Boyden & Akeley Shingle Mill shortly after his arrival in Grand Haven sometime before 1880. Later he was classified as a gardener, and probably grew celery and other small crops in northeast Grand Haven. On March 17, 1876 in Grand Haven, he married Anje “Anna” Dykema of Grand Haven Township. Anna, a native of Michigan, was born about 1856 and died in Grand Haven on December 27, 1899. By 1900 the family resided in Holland, Michigan. Derk died on January 8, 1932 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Derk and John Roossien were brothers.

Haarman “Harm” Roossien I [Rosien, Roussien, Roosje] [1844-1935]

Harm Roossien, born in The Netherlands on August 17, 1844 [1846/1847], was a celery farmer in Grand Haven. His father, Pieter Roossien was born in The Netherlands on July 15, 1811 and married Annachien Gringhuis on May 26, 1834. They settled in Grand Haven, where Pieter died on December 23, 1897. Annachien was born on October 15, 1815 and passed away in Grand Haven on September 11, 1872. Both parents were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Harm and Johanna “Dena” Boyink were married in Grand Haven on July 10, 1875. Dena was born in The Netherlands on October 27, 1850. Harm first worked for the Boyden Shingle Mill, and then was employed by the Grand Trunk Railroad. He served as Grand Haven alderman from 1902 to 1909. Harm and Dena owned property at 323 North Ferry, and their sons, Henry and Peter, later had acreage across the street at 332 North Ferry, part of “Pigtail Alley,” as the area was called. They also owned property on the northwest corner of Beechtree and Marion Streets [811 Beechtree] where they raised celery. In 1896 Harm built a windmill on top of a shed to pump irrigation water for his crops. The shed, located at 811 Beechtree, was replaced and the blades of the windmill were changed three times. Around 1922 the pump was converted to electricity and the windmill fell into disuse, but the structure was still visible on top of a double shed as late as 2009. At that time Harm’s grandson Henry, who was born about 1910, and Henry’s daughter June lived in the house at 811 Beechtree.

The Federal Census of that year listed Joseph as "Lumberman." On September 1, 1891, Joseph became proprietor of the Andres House, located at the southeast corner of Franklin and Water [Harbor]. Just prior to that date Edward Andres had leased the Andres House to Joseph and sold him the furniture and fixtures. Joseph had a 188-acre farm in Section 35 of Grand Haven Township. Joseph's wife, Amanda, lived from 1872 to 1937. Joseph was born in Ohio [Switzerland] in 1858. He arrived in the township with his parents in 1865. He married Amanda Lempke. He died in 1933. She and Joseph were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. They had at least three children: Charles E., who was born about 1895; Lillian, who was born in 1905, married William M. Van Schelven, and died in 1993; and Joseph Howard, who lived from 1910 to 1997.

Alfred Ruiter [1891-1969]

Born in Ferrysburg on November 14, 1891, Alfred was the son of Roelf “Ralph” and Jennie “Jane” Borgman Ruiter. Alfred married Stena, the daughter of Albert and Frances Start Kruizenga of Ferrysburg. Stena lived from March 3, 1893 to February 24, 1983 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Alfred ran a plumbing contracting business. The Ruiters resided in Muskegon around 1930. Later they were located at 212 North Buchanan in Spring Lake. Alfred died in Spring Lake on December 6, 1969 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Roelof “Ralph” Ruiter [1864-1951]

In 1905 Roelof Ruiter purchased Cornelius Westerhouse’s general store at the northwest corner of Maple and Third Street in Ferrysburg. Roelof was born in The Netherlands on July 12, 1864, immigrated to the United States in 1882, and died in Ferrysburg on January 25, 1951. On December 9, 1886 he married Jane [Jennie] Borgman, also a native of The Netherlands. She lived from February 1865 to September 25, 1935. Their children were Roelf, born in August 1888; Jennie, who was born in March 1890 and married Derk Groenevelt; Alfred, born on November 14, 1891; Thomas, born in August 1893; John, born in June 1894; Henry, born in April 1898; and Anna, who was born on June 28, 1899 and married John Groenevelt, Derk Groenevelt’s brother. Ralph and Jane were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery

Thomas B. Ruiter [1860-1941]

A concrete contractor, Thomas Ruiter married Maggie, the daughter of William and Anje Cleveringa Helder, the widow of Jacob Bouwman. Maggie was born in November 1869. She died at an undisclosed time. About 1907 Thomas joined Eilko Wierenga in the concrete business. They continued as partners for eight years as Wierenga and Ruiter. About 1915 Wierenga bought out Thomas’s share. Thomas on November 17, 1909 married Jennie Katt. The Ruiters lived at 322 North Seventh Street in Grand Haven in the early 1900s. Their children were Elizabeth “Lizzie,” born in 1888; Alice, born in 1891; and Deana, born about 1895. Thomas was born on February 9, 1860 in Groningen, The Netherlands, and passed away on July 2, 1941. Maggie lived from 1869 to March 1967 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband.

Born in Ferrysburg on August 27, 1893, Tom was one of twelve children born to Roelf “Ralph” and Jennie Borgman Ruiter. On June 3, 1913 he married Jennie Voshel. They resided at 935 Franklin in 1926 and had two sons, Leon Thomas Ruiter and Kenneth Eugene Ruiter. Ken was born in Grand Haven on July 11, 1918 and Leon on November 19, 1922. Tom was employed by Keller Tool Company as the first resident to work for the new company after its move to Grand Haven from Milwaukee. Later he worked in the meat department at Fred Strahsburg’s Meat Market at 1322 Washington Street. In 1924 Tom paid $3,500 to Charles Salisbury for a grocery store located at 1120 Washington, later the site of Cook’s Hardware Store. He also operated a store at 21 South Beechtree. His sons joined him in the business and in 1958 took over management of the business, when their father retired. They sold the business in May 1968. Jennie passed away on March 9 that year and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Tom was a member of the Grand Haven Gospel Chapel and a charter member of the Gideons, which was formed in 1936 with his guidance. Tom handed out over 4,400 Bibles to local servicemen during WWII and the Korean War. His home in Grand Haven was at 935 Franklin, but on November 13, 1969 he moved to Rest Haven Home in Grand Rapids. Tom died on August 16, 1994 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His son Kenneth died on November 27, 1980 and also was buried at Lake Forest, as was Leon, who passed away on September 20, 2015. [Tribune obituary, August 16, 1994.]

Hussein “Sam” Rukieh [1895-1978]

Sam Rukieh owned Rukieh's Recreation at 8 Washington Street in the mid- to late 1920s. He offered billiards, tobacco products, candy, and soft drinks. Sam was born on April 12, 1895 and died in Muskegon on January 26, 1978. In the mid-1920s, he resided at 307 Clinton in Grand Haven.

Frederick "Rip" Edwin Rupright [1874-1940]

In 1921 the Rupright Engineering Company was organized in Grand Haven. James Hoover, of the Heinz pickle Company in Holland was president, Frederick Rupright was vice president, and Charles E. Misner, a Grand Haven attorney, was secretary/treasurer. Clarence E. McGregor [1891-1966], another employee, also of Grand Haven, was a tool designer. The company developed an eight-cylinder automobile engine that was lighter than conventional engines, less expensive to manufacture, and more powerful.

Frederick was born in Crystal Lake, Montcalm County on August 5, 1874. He married Clara North in Montcalm County on November 13, 1892. They had a son, Ernest Arthur Rupright [1893-1968] and a daughter, Marion E. Rupright [1898-1953]. Frederick and Clara were divorced on June 13, 1900. She was born on April 22, 1874 in Bloomer, Montcalm County, married William McCracken [1866-1945] on March 16, 1901, and died on September 24, 1918 in Montcalm County. On September 28, 1900 Fredrick married Bertha Evangeline Martin in Montcalm County. She was born in 1872 and died in 1909. On January 29, 1910 he married Anna Frump in Benzie County. Anna was born on June 25, 1894. In 1913, they were in Muskegon, where Frederick was employed at Casper and Rupright Company. They were living in Grand Haven at 333 North Sixth Street at the time of the 1920 Federal Census. His next wife, May Teal, was a boarder in the house. By 1930 Anna had returned to Columbus, Ohio, her birth state. She was listed as divorced and living under the name Anna Rupright in the Federal Census of that year. She died in Union, Ohio on October 2, 1968.

On April 29, 1922, Frederick married May Frances Teal. They had a daughter, Fredra Mae Rupright [1924-1974]. They were divorced in Muskegon on December 29, 1926. She lived from 1899 to 1975. Frederick in 1930 was an inmate at Jackson Prison. He was listed as divorced. By 1936, he had returned to Muskegon, listed in the Muskegon City Directory that year as a "Laborer." He passed away in Muskegon on November 13, 1940 and was buried at Mona View Cemetery.

Ronald Marvin Rusling [1933-2014]

Ron Rusling was born in Brighton, Livingston County, on December 20, 1933. He served as an officer with the U.S. Army during the Korean War. He received his bachelor and Master of Fine Arts Degree at Michigan State University and taught art at Grand Valley State University [Ferris State University].

Ron married Sharon Kaye Frank on August 31, 1958 in Grand Rapids. She was born in Lansing on November 16, 1936. Initially, they resided in the Furniture City, where Ron was employed as an artist at John Lockwood Associates. Their five children were: Amy Rusling-Larson; Brett Rusling; Mia Rusling-McShane; and Blythe Rusling. Ron and Sharon moved to Prescott, Arizona, where Sharon passed away on August 1, 1995. Ron married Rebecca Jocyne Rudy in October 1998. Becky, previously the wife of Jay William Troyka [1942-2021], was born in Bluffton, Indiana on May 24, 1941.

An artist by hobby and a designer by trade, Ron drew plans for the home they were living in by the mid-1970s at 14291 Terry Trails. By 1988, they were living in Prescott, where he designed a solar home. He died in Prescott on March 15, 2014 and was buried at Prescott National Cemetery with military honors.

Ralson [Ralston] M. Russell [? - ?]

Ralson M. Russell is mentioned in History of Ottawa County [1882] as Grand Haven's first barber. He was thought to be African American. Nothing was found to confirm his presence in the area before or after that time.

Charles Franklin Rust [1856-1931]

Charles Rust was secretary and manager of the Milliman Manufacturing Company, which opened in March 1907 at the corner of Howard and Harbor Streets in Grand Haven. Like Herbert G. Milliman, the owner and president of the company, Charles came from Chicago, where he had been in the lumber and milling business for 20 years. On June 19, 1890, he married Mary Whalen in Wood, Wisconsin. She was born in Ontario, Canada on February 5, 1863. Charles and Mary lived at 603 Franklin. He was born on December 30, 1856 Courtland, Wisconsin. Mary was from Canada, where she was born about 1867. A school-age daughter, Marguerite [Margaretha], was born in Ashland, Wisconsin on March 11, 1892 and lived with them on Franklin Street in 1908. She died on December 19, 1964 in Chicago under the name Marguerite Helen Chadwick. Charles and Mary also had a son, [William] Kellogg Rust, who was born in Illinois on August 6, 1894. He apparently did not accompany his parents to Grand Haven. The family of four was back in Chicago by 1910. Mary passed away on February 27, 1931 in Gary, Indiana. Charles died a few weeks later on March 23. Kellogg died September 29 the next year in Proviso, Illinois.

Johannes “John” H. Ruster [1852-1932]

Born in Zeeland, The Netherlands on December 16, 1852, John Ruster immigrated to the United States in 1868 as a young man and settled in Grand Haven to work as a commercial fisherman. He married Etta [Ida] Moonlag in Grand Haven on May 23, 1874. Also a native of The Netherlands, Etta was born in August 1854. At least four of Ida’s and John’s children were born in Grand Haven: Maria [Mary] Ruster on March 13, 1875; Anna [Annie] Ruster on February 14, 1877; Mattie Ruster, on February 5, 1879; and Renè Ruster on April 22, 1883. Sometime between 1883 and 1897, the Rusters moved to Kenosha, Wisconsin, where John became a dealer in fish. Anna married William Fridrich Werner [1873-1943] in Kenosha on August 12, 1897. John and Etta moved to California, where he died on December 22, 1932, and she passed away on March 30, 1938. Anna died on February 26, 1938 in Kenosha as the result of an automobile accident.

Monroe Ruty [1860-1971]

On February 25, 1907 a scantily clothed man was found wandering near Lamont, close to hypothermia. He had no identification, was penniless, and could not account for himself. The stranger was taken to the Ottawa County Poor Farm. He believed he was 44 years old. He had worked briefly in the lumbering camp at nearby Steel’s Landing. He remembered two oxen named “Duke” and “Dime.” Not knowing what to call him, the Poor Farm keeper dubbed the amnesiac “Joe,” and because he had worked at Steel’s Landing, the surname “Steel” stuck. Joe Steel was recorded as “insane” in the old infirmary ledger and admitted.

By 1965 Joe had been at the infirmary for 58 years. That year a journalist from the Holland Sentinel was doing a feature story on the institution. The reporter wondered, “Who was the oldest resident?” Nobody knew Joe’s age, but all were sure he should be credited. Joe’s strange story unfolded on the front page of the May 13, 1965 edition. Days later the reporter received a call from Saugatuck resident Monroe Eaton [1899-1976]. As a child he had frequently heard his mother, Ada “Polly” Ruty [1856-1944], lament the disappearance of her brother, in whose memory Monroe had been named. His missing uncle sought employment in the north woods in 1882 and was never heard from again. Joe and Monroe soon met. Eaton asked, “Who were ‘Dime’ and ‘Duke?’” “Oxen?” Our two oxen, Joe responded. “Did ‘Little Money’ ring a bell?” Yes, it was his mother’s affectionate nickname for her little boy. There was scant doubt that Joe Steel was Monroe Ruty. A notation in the family Bible confirmed Monroe Ruty was born on March 31, 1860, making him 105 years old at the time of the Sentinel article. When Joe turned 110 in 1970, he received greetings from Governor William Milliken and President Richard Nixon. NBC news anchor David Brinkley even kept tabs on Joe. When Monroe Ruty/Joe Steel died at the age of 111 on May 30, 1971, he was said to be the oldest man in Michigan. He was interred at Riverside Cemetery in Saugatuck next to his mother, Polly, who was born in 1828 and died on October 5 the year before her son’s disappearance.

The son of Jakob and Emma Wiersema Rycenga, Charles was born on the family farm in Spring Lake Township on May 13, 1893 and attended the one-room De Witt School through the sixth grade. He died in an accident in Muskegon County on September 3, 1941, while driving a truck loaded with oak slabs. Chuck married Sena Tysman of Grand Haven on October 15, 1913. Sena, the daughter of Louis Tysman of Grand Haven, was born on December 5, 1890 and died on March 7, 1983. She and Chuck were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Sena was the daughter of Louis Tysman, who lived from 1862 to 1944, and Angie Lenninga, who lived from 1855 to 1936. The Tysman family lived in the area called “Pigtail Alley” in Grand Haven, in the neighborhood of Madison and De Spelder Streets. Chuck worked at Dake Engineering as a machinist and at Challenge Machinery, where he learned how to assemble printing presses and was promoted to foreman. Chuck and Sena had several children, all born locally: Emma, who was born on November 20, 1914 and on July 24, 1941 married Roy F. Correll [October 3, 1914-February 11, 1959] of Grand Haven; Louis E., who was born June 18, 1917; Chuck II, who was born on May 25, 1921; and Betty A., who was born on March 1, 1930 and on June 10, 1980 married Alfred Rodrigues [born September 6, 1932] of Grand Haven.

In 1925 the Rycengas bought a seven-acre farm at 720 South Griffin Street in Grand Haven. During the Depression Chuck sold firewood for $1.75 a cord. Eventually his sons, Louis and Charles II, helped with a two-man crosscut saw. Chuck increased his wood production by building a sawmill in Grand Haven Township, using a Model T Ford engine, with a direct connection from the drive shaft to a rotating saw blade. This rig also allowed Chuck and his sons to mill railroad ties, which they sold for 65 to 95 cents apiece. The two Rycenga sons went on to found the Rycenga Lumber Company in Grand Haven.

Charles Rycenga II, the son of Charles and Sena Tysman Rycenga, was born on May 25, 1921. On January 15, 1942 the younger Chuck married Eleanor Doris “Non” Kieft. The daughter of George and Mary Kieft, Non was born in Grand Rapids on August 4, 1921. Shortly after his marriage, Chuck enlisted in the U.S. Navy and saw active service during WWII. He and Non had three children: Nona, who married David Boer of Spring Lake; Mary Beth Rosema; and Chuck III.

Chuck and his brother Louis started Rycenga Lumber Company at 1053 Jackson Street in the mid-1940s. Chuck was instrumental in the establishment of International Aid, located on Hickory Street in Spring Lake Township on land that once was his grandfather Jacob Rycenga’s farm. Non passed away on October 14, 2015. Chuck died in Grand Haven on July 31, 2016. The couple was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, September 2, 2015 and August 2, 2016.]

Edward Rycenga [1894-1976]

Edward, the son of Jakob and Emma Wiersema Rycenga, was born on July 7, 1894. He married Deborah Valom, who lived from September 13, 1892 to November 10, 1972. She was the daughter of Klass and Jane Valom of Grand Haven. Ed worked with the Zeeland Police Department and was under sheriff in Ottawa County. He also had an interest in his brother. Peter’s insurance business. Ed died on November 18, 1976. He and Deborah were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They resided at 1022 Washington.

Jakob [Jacob] Rycenga [1854-1928]

The first local Rycenga to immigrate to America from The Netherlands was Jakob, who came with his parents. Born on February 15, 1854, Jakob came to West Michigan when he was 18, settling first in Muskegon. He married Emika [Emma] Wiersema on July 17, 1875. She was a native of The Netherlands, where she was born in March 1855 and immigrated to the United States in 1873. About 1887 Jakob bought 80 acres of farmland in Spring Lake Township. Fifteen years later Jakob, Emma, and their children moved to a newly constructed home at 426 Seventh Street, in the same block that the Van Zylén Lumber Company and later the Meijer store would be located. Jakob managed rental properties in Muskegon and worked for the Van Zylén Lumber Company in Grand Haven. Emma, a year younger than her husband, died in 1923, and Jakob died on April 11, 1928. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Jakob and Emma had eight children including Martha, who was born in 1876. Next was Peter, who was born on March 2, 1880, and on November 4, 1903 married Henrietta Roossien. She was born December 4, 1883 and died on November 27, 1948. On September 5, 1951 Peter married Anna Musk, who lived from July 7, 1887 to October 2, 1979. Peter died on March 27, 1970. Jakob and Emma next child was Thomas, who was born on October 2, 1883, and married Anna Katt on April 4, 1905. Anna lived from March 18, 1884 to January 19, 1915. After her death, Thomas married Kathryn Vander Vere, from whom he was divorced. Thomas in February 1923 married Laura Bohlender, who was born on February 7, 1899. They resided in Muskegon. The Rycengas' fourth child was John, who lived from March 1888 to 1951. In April 1912, John married Clara Verschore, who lived from January 26, 1894 to 1976. John and Clara moved to Detroit. Next was Lee, born on August 9, 1889, followed by Charles, born on May 13, 1893, and Edward, born on July 7, 1894. Finally there was Albert, who was five years old when he died of pneumonia in 1903.

Lee J. Rycenga [1889-1918]

Lee, the son of Jakob and Emma Wiersema Rycenga, lost his life in WWI while going through a tunnel on top of a railroad car. He lived from August 9, 1889 to July 25, 1918 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Louis E. Rycenga [1917-2014]

With his brother Charles, Louis Rycenga founded Rycenga Lumber Company [later known as Rycenga Building Center] in Grand Haven. Born on June 18, 1917, he was the son of Charles and Sena Tysman Rycenga. Louis was a player on the 1935 Grand Haven championship basketball team. He attended Howell School of Business and Calvin College. On July 6, 1944 Louis married Betty Groneveld, who was born on January 12, 1920. He served with the U.S. Army prior to WWII. A community activist, Louis was given the Grand Haven Rotary Club Paul Harris award, the Chamber of Commerce Lifetime Achievement Award, and the Boy Scout Silver Beaver Award. He and Betty had five children: Mary, who married Ronald Retsema of Grand Haven; Carol, who married David Folkert and lived in Spring Lake; Sharon, who married Rod Pell of Spring Lake; Barbara, who married Bruce Van Heukelem of Oak Park, Illinois; and John Rycenga of Grand Haven. Louis's wife, Betty, was born on January 12, 1920 and passed away on March 6, 2008. Louis died in Grand Haven on December 13, 2014. The couple was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, December 12, 2014.]

Martha Rycenga [1876-1948]

Martha was the first child and only daughter of Jacob and Emma Wiersema Rycenga. She was born in 1876 and lived until 1948. Martha lived most of her life with her parents, not marrying Edward Hoekstra until after both her parents had died. Ed was from New Era, Oceana County. During the depression years Martha earned extra money by offering rooms and breakfast to tourists for $1.00 a night.

Peter J. Rycenga [1880-1970]

Peter, the son of Jacob and Emma Wiersema Rycenga, was born in Grand Haven on March 2, 1880. He owned and operated a grocery store at 434 Fulton in Grand Haven in the early 1900s and later opened an insurance office at 1036 Columbus. His brother, Edward, worked in the insurance business with him. Peter also served as City Assessor and surveyor. On November 4, 1903 he married Henrietta, the daughter of Harm and Dena Boyink Roossien. They lived at 306 North Seventh. One of their children, Emily, was born on September 6, 1904 and married Ray E. Johnson of Grand Haven. Henrietta was born on November 4, 1883 and died on November 27, 1948. Three years later, on September 5, 1951, Peter married Anna [Anne] Musk, who lived from July 7, 1887 to October 2, 1979. Peter passed away in March 1970 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Anna.

Franklin Ryder [1898-1958]

Frank Ryder owned Frank's Barber & Beauty Shop at 1113-1115 Washington. Frank was born in Agnew, Ottawa County on October 9, 1898. In 1918 he was a finisher at Heap & Sons in Grand Haven, and he resided at 1126 Franklin. On June 27, 1928 he married Ruth Valom, who was born on January 21, 1899 and died in Grand Haven on April 2, 1989. Her parents were Klaus and Jane Brons Valom of Grand Haven. Frank and Ruth resided at 607 South De Spelder. Frank passed away in East Grand Rapids on April 8, 1958.

Martin [Marten] Ryerson I [1818-1887]

Born to a farming family in Paterson, New Jersey on January 6, 1818, Martin Ryerson was a pioneer lumberman in Grand Haven and Muskegon. He came to Detroit in 1834, worked in the fur trade, and moved, along with Richard Godfroy, to Grand Rapids. There he worked for Godfroy until May 1836, when he moved to Muskegon and worked for three years with Joseph Troutier, an early settler in that community. In 1845 Martin, in partnership with J. H. Knickerbocker, bought a sawmill from Theodore Newell in Muskegon, where he had worked as a paid employee since 1841. The next year he cut a road to Ravenna from Muskegon to connect with Grand Rapids. In 1848 he became a permanent resident of Chicago.

Martin was married at least twice and maybe three times. His first wife may have been a full-blooded Indian, who in 1843 died in childbirth, but the child, named Mary Ryerson, survived, married Charles R. Butts in Chicago on November 29, 1866, died in Chicago in 1888, and was buried at Graceland Cemetery. On May 15, 1844 in Grand Haven Martin married Loiza [Louise] Duvernay, the daughter of Pierre and his Indian wife, Julia. Loiza died in childbirth on March 14, 1855, at the age of 30. In 1855 Martin was married again, this time to Mary Campau in Grand Rapids. Mary Ann, the daughter of Antoine Campau and the niece of Louis Campau, was born about 1822 in Michigan. She died on January 8, 1907 in Los Angeles, California. They had a son, Martin Antoine, who was born in Grand Rapids on October 26, 1856. By 1860 Martin I resided in Chicago with his wife and children. There he was classified as a lumberman, and merchant. He died there on September 6, 1887. In 1901 the younger Martin, who had become a successful Chicago attorney, donated $150,000 to Grand Rapids for the construction of a new library building, to be named for his family. He also was one of the founding trustees of the Art Institute of Chicago and a benefactor of the Muskegon Art Museum. Martin II married Carrie Hutchinson in Chicago on October 26, 1881. She was born in Gloversville, New York on June 19, 1859.

Born in Jackson on February 6, 1930, the son of Edward and Alma Ferris Eames [1915-1947], Floyd was adopted by Milton Rymal. A sister, Dolores, was born in 1934 and also was adopted by Rymal. Floyd served in the Air Force during the Korean War. He worked for Atco Rubber Company and later opened his own business, Rycut Tool & Design. He retired in 1987. He and his wife, Mary, were divorced. They had five sons: Randy and Russ, both of Grand Haven, Richard of Coopersville, Ronald of Nunica, and Robert of Spring Lake. Floyd passed away on September 16, 1998 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Darius Harden Sampson “Sam” Rymer [1887-1976]

Darius Harden Sampson “Sam” Rymer was born in Fruitport on June 15, 1887. His parents were John and Sarah Bigelow Rymer. On December 26, 1914 he married Jessie Eckhoff, who was born in the same state on May 12, 1888. She was the daughter of John and Margrette Sims Eckhoff of Crockery Township. In the 1930 census Sam’s name was given as Harden S. Rymer. Living with them in 1930 was Almon Rymer, an adopted son. Sam was a farmer on 116 acres in Spring Lake Township, just north of Battle Point. He had a reputation for knowing about the Indians who once inhabited the area and spoke of seeing relics from the Indian burial ground at Battle Point. Jessie passed away in February 1974, and Sam died in May 1976 in Spring Lake.

Frank Rymer [1850-1937]

Frank Rymer owned an 80-acre farm in Section 23 of Grand Haven Township, where he arrived in 1906. He lived from 1850 to 1937 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery with his wife Bertha, who lived from 1870 to 1934. Bertha was the daughter of Henry and Sophia Smith Bierman.

John Rymer [1852-1960]

John Rymer on July 5, 1884 married Sarah Bigelow in Newaygo County. John, the son of Sampson and Barbara Lovie Rymer, was born in 1852. Sarah was born in New York in 1862 [1863]. Their children were Dana Clyde "Clydie" Rymer, who was born on June 18, 1885 and relocated to New York, where he died in December 1964; Darius Harden Sampson Rymer, who was born in Fruitport on June 15, 1887; and Versie [Versa] Rymer, who was born on December 3, 1889, married Charles Mallahan [1887 to 1951] in Nortonville on December 23, 1912, and died in Texas on February 20, 1979. After John passed away on March 29, 1900, Sarah married James A. Cross.

Sampson Robert Rymer I [1822-1900]

Born in Ontario, Canada on September 4 [July 4], 1822 [1823], Sampson Rymer brought his family to Fruitport in 1865, where on September 2 seven years later he purchased 80-acres of farmland. In 1847 he married Barbara E. Lovie [Lovey], who was born in Scotland on May 13, 1824. Their children included William, who was born about 1848 and moved to Detroit; Sampson II, who was born about 1850; John, who was born in 1852 and died on March 30, 1900; Isabel [Isabella], who was born in 1854, married James Loosemore, and relocated to Los Angeles; Cora, who was born in 1856 and married George Loosemore; Mary, who was born in 1863, married Edward Hovey [1837-1917], and moved to Fenton, Genesee County; and Squire, who lived from 1862 to 1875 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Barbara passed away on March 19, 1911. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, April 20, 1900.]

Albert Rysdorp [Rysdorpt] [1862-1959]

Albert Rysdorp, a prominent dental surgeon, was born in Grand Haven on April 11, 1862, the son of Henry and Aberdina Rysdorp I. Bert graduated from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry in 1886 and started his practice in Grand Haven on August 12 that year. His office then was on the second floor of 136 Washington, where he remained for 25 years before moving to 223 Washington. He was a member of the Grand Haven School Board, and he was its president in 1901 when the old Central School burned down and its replacement built. His daughter, Clare, was also a dentist and they shared an office at 136 Washington.

On October 20, 1886 in Grand Haven, Bert married Minnie [Hermina] Pellegrom. Born on August 26, 1862, she was the daughter of Mathias [Matthew] and Janey Van Weelden Pellegrom. She and Bert were married in Grand Haven on October 20, 1886. In the early 1900s they resided at 803 Washington, but they lived most of their married lives at 320 Washington, where Bert also maintained a dental office after moving from 223 Washington. They attended the Second Reformed Church. The Rysdorps had six daughters, including: Clarissa [Clare/Clara] who was born in Grand Haven on August 15, 1887; Ella Louise, who lived from November 1890 to 1913 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery; Ardene, who was born in January 1893, married a Mr. Prisener, and moved to Clyde, Ohio; Jeanette, who was born in February 1895, married a Mr. Hines, and resided in Detroit; Gertrude M., who was born in July 1899, married M. J. Barnes, and moved to Mayfield Heights, Ohio; and Alberta W., who was born on October 20, 1900, married Clarence J. Poppen, moved to Hillsdale, Hillsdale County, and died in Lee County, Florida on September 2, 1990. Minnie died on October 17, 1938 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. After her death, Bert moved his home and office to 325 East Savidge. He died on February 10, 1959 and also was buried at Lake Forest.

Clare [Clarissa, Clara] A. Rysdorp [1887-1971]

In the 1908 Directory Clare [Clarissa/Clara] Rysdorp was listed as a dentist working with her father, Albert Rysdorp, in his dental office at 136 Washington. The family resided at 803 Washington. Clare graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1905, married George Everett Haggas on September 3, 1913 in Spring Lake and moved to Portland, Maine. George died in Portland on November 3, 1964 at the age of 78. At the time Clare appeared in the 1920 and 1930 censuses, she was not working as a dentist. Clare died in 1971 and was buried near her husband at Pine Grove Cemetery in Falmouth, Maine.

Henry [Hendrik] Rysdorp [Rijsdorp] I [1832-1913]

Born in Apeldoorn, The Netherlands on October 17, 1832, Henry Rysdorp came to Holland, Michigan, with Rev. Van Raalte in 1847 and moved to Grand Haven seven years later. He learned the trade of millwright and also worked as a carpenter. In 1863 he formed a partnership with Harmon Bosch, John Sprick, and Johannes Vos, and built a sawmill at the east end of Fulton Avenue. Soon they were operating a sawmill, a shingle mill, and a stave factory. The mill burned down in 1877 and the business was liquidated. Henry, in partnership with Healy C. Akeley, purchased the Friant mill and continued business as the Grand Haven Lumber Company, and Henry managed the company's Beech Tree Mill. When the lumbering business began to diminish, he sold his interest to Charles Boyden. Henry went to Grand Rapids and then retired to a farm in Coral, Montcalm County.

In Grand Haven, Henry was a staunch Republican and member of the Common Council. He worked on the first structure that housed the congregation of the First Reformed Church. His wife, Alberdina, was born in The Netherlands about 1837. Their children, all born in Grand Haven, included John H., who was born in 1856; Herman, born in April 1858 and died on July 2, 1871; Henry II, born in 1859; Albert, born on April 11, 1862; George, who was born on March 1, 1870 and died a year later on March 7; Mary C., who was born in 1877, married Nelson Lovett, moved to Coral, died in 1954, and was buried at Coral Cemetery; and James Martin, who was born on April 16, 1879, died on December 29, 1940, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Herman, George, and James all resided in Grand Rapids. Henry I died in Coral on October 26, 1913 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His wife died at the age of 65 on May 22, 1902. [Tribune obituary, October 28, 1913.]

Henry Rysdorp II [1859-1947]

Born in Grand Haven on May 6, 1859, the son of Henry and Alberdina Bosch Rysdorp I, young Henry joined the Grand Haven Lumber Company and became bookkeeper at the Beech Tree [Fourth Ward] Mill, where his father was manager. On July 5, 1882 he married Anna Peet in Grand Rapids. Henry II passed away on July 16, 1947 in Grand Rapids and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Hannah lived from 1847 to 1941. [Tribune obituary, October 28, 1913.]

John [Jan] Henry Rysdorp [1856-1939]

Born in May 1856 in Grand Haven, the son of Henry and Alberdina Bosch Rysdorp I, John became a saw filer by trade and worked at the Beech Tree [Fourth Ward] Mill, operated by the Grand Haven Lumber Company and managed by his father. On January 1, 1879 in Grand Haven, he married Jan "Jennie," daughter of John and Lucy Boer. Jennie was born in Drenthe, Ottawa County, about 1858. In 1889 John and Jane moved to Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin. While working in a sawmill in Sturgeon Bay, John lost his right hand when he tried to save other workers from being injured. He was able to continue work, however, and provide support for his wife and eight daughters. Their daughters were Albertha B., born on February 23, 1880; James, born August 10, 1881; Jenna G., born on August 5, 1882; Henrietta, born on March 2, 1883; Lucy, born in 1885; Marion C., who was born on September 28, 1889 and died in Sturgeon Bay on May 11, 1995; Ruth, born in 1892; Helen, born on September 25, 1893; and Dorothy, who was born in 1895. The last three children were born in Sturgeon Bay, the others in Grand Haven. John died in 1939. Jane passed away in 1928. [Tribune obituary, October 28, 1913.]

Benjamin Delop Safford [1837-1920]

Benjamin was born in Wayne County on April 23, 1837, the son of James and Eveline Adams Safford and the brother of Joseph. James was born about 1803. He and Eveline were married in Windham, Connecticut on August 29, 1829. The family lived on a farm the Saffords had purchased from the government. Eveline was a grandniece of President John Adams, and both parents were school teachers in Norwich, Connecticut in the 1820s. Around 1830, James and his family moved to Wayne County, where on January 1, 1831 he purchased a quarter-section [160 acres] in Canton Township and resumed farming. Benjamin and his four brothers and two sisters lived with their parents on the family farm. On August 15, 1862 Benjamin enlisted as sergeant in Company E of the 17th Michigan Infantry. On May 12, 1864 he was captured by the Confederates at the Battle of Spottsylvania but escaped by cutting a hole in the side of the train car carrying him to prison. At the close of the war, Benjamin was discharged on June 3, 1865, just a month after being assigned to the staff of General Wilcox, First Division, Ninth Army Corps. Locally he was noted for achieving the rank of major, a promotion not substantiated by his service record. He did, however, act as provost marshal of the First Division, beginning in November 1863.

After the war, Benjamin settled in Grand Haven. He was elected alderman of the First Ward in 1867. For a three-year period around 1869 he was principal of Grand Haven High School. He formed a partnership with Nazarie I. Beaudry and entered the dry goods business in 1871 at 224 Washington, but in 1879 went into business for himself. In 1878 Benjamin was elected mayor of Grand Haven and reelected in 1879 and 1881. He moved to Lansing in 1891 and 15 years later moved to Detroit.

On July 5, 1868 Benjamin married Melissa [Melisa] in Grand Haven. The daughter of Hamilton and Jerusha Jones of Grand Haven, Melissa was born in New York on April 17, 1841, died in Grand Haven on March 21, 1874, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. She and Benjamin had one son, James Hamilton Safford, who was born on April 24, 1869. About the time of his birth, James and his parents were living with the Joneses in Grand Haven.

Four years after Melissa's death, Benjamin on September 1, 1878 in Grand Haven married Mary Belle Duncan, who was born in Michigan about 1853 and had been a teacher in Grand Haven. Belle's sister, Lucy Duncan, married James Albee of Grand Haven. The Saffords continued to reside with Hamilton and Jerusha into the 1880s. Benjamin and Belle Safford had four children, all born at the Jones residence on Fifth Street: Louis A., who was born around 1879 and moved to St. Louis; Mary, who was born around 1881, married Peter E. Ruppe of Calumet, Houghton County and died before 1920; Robert D., who was born about 1885 and moved to Detroit; and Lucy, who was born about 1887 and married Dr. Stewart T. Hamilton of Detroit. Benjamin died in Detroit on June 27, 1920 and was buried at Elmwood Cemetery there. [Tribune obituary, June 29, 1920.]

James Hamilton Safford [1869-1937]

Benjamin and Melissa Jones Safford of Grand Haven had one son, James Hamilton Safford, who was born on April 24, 1869 and died on January 8, 1937. On September 3, 1919 in Detroit, James married Cora E. Cairns, the daughter of Averille [Thomas] and Florence Cairns of Grand Haven. Cora moved back to Grand Haven after James's death. She was born on May 1, 1869, died on September 6, 1949, and was buried at Lake Forest with her husband. In 1920 and 1930 the Saffords were residing in Detroit, where James was a proofreader for a newspaper.

Joseph Adams Safford [1841-1894]

Joseph was born in Wayne County on May 21, 1841, the son of James and Eveline Adams Safford and the brother of Benjamin. James was born about 1803. He and Eveline were married in Windham, Connecticut on August 29, 1829. The family lived on a farm the Saffords had purchased from the government. Eveline was a grandniece of President Adams, and both parents were schoolteachers in Norwich, Connecticut in the 1820s. Joseph's parents moved to Wayne County, where on January 1, 1831 James purchased a quarter-section [160 acres] in Canton Township and resumed farming. On August 13, 1862, Joseph enlisted as private in Company C of the Michigan 24th Infantry. On March 15, 1864 he transferred to Company F of the Veteran Reserve Corps. He was discharged on August 15, 1865 and settled in the Grand Haven area. Joseph and his wife owned acreage south of Cornelius Bayou in Section 2 of Spring Lake Township, part of which he sold to Hial Gray in 1874. The parcel was rich in clay that Gray used for his brick-making business. Joseph died on May 28, 1894. His wife, Phebe E., a native of Michigan, lived from October 1846 to 1911. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Daniel Sanders [? -1880]

Daniel Sanders, a sailor aboard the schooner Rosabelle, was crushed to death when he was caught in a small boat between the schooner and the dock during the loading process. He died the same day as the accident, November 8, 1880.

John [Jason] J. Sanders [1836-1871]

See John J. Saunders.

Warren Sanders [1847-1916]

Warren Sanders was born in New York State in June 1847. On March 13, 1870, in Crockery Township, he married Agnes S., the daughter of Benjamin and Abigail Chittenden. Agnes was born in New York State in 1853. Their farm was in Section 29 of Crockery. Warren died in Crockery in 1916, and Agnes died there on September 30, 1890. Both were buried at Nunica Cemetery. They had at least two daughters, both born in Michigan: Bertha, born in November 1873, and Maud, born in August 1883.

Charles Albert Sands [1862-1932]

Charles Sands was born in Manistee in May 1862. His father, Louis Sands, was a well-known lumberman who owned the Louis Sands Salt & Lumber Company in Manistee. Louis was born in Sweden on July 2, 1826 and died in Manistee on August 24, 1905. Louis's wife, Caroline Richards, lived from 1836 to 1863. Both were buried at Oak Grove Cemetery in Manistee. On December 15, 1887 in Chicago, Charles married Mary Barr, who lived from 1862 to 1922. They had at least three children: Louis, who was born in Illinois in September 1888; Lorri, who was born about 1889; and Charles, who was born in Lake City and lived from September 1892 to 1936. In 1910 Charles and his family were living in Grand Rapids, where he had a furniture-manufacturing business. He also owned a large, three-story summer home in Spring Lake. Charles died in Alameda County, California on May 29, 1932 and was buried at Mountain View Cemetery and Mausoleum in that county.

David [Dick] Platt Sanford [1843-1911]

David, the son of Isaac and Mary Royall Sanford, was born in Akron, Ohio on December 18, 1843. On February 6, 1863 he enlisted as corporal in Company B of the Michigan 1st Sharpshooters. He was mustered out on July 28, 1865 as sergeant. He married Annegien "Anna"/"Annie" B. Dykhuis on September 10, 1870 in Spring Lake. Annie was the daughter of Jurrien and Johanna Zuidema Dykhuis [Dijkhuis] of Grand Haven. The Sanfords lived in Spring Lake. Anna, who was born on January 17, 1849 and died on January 8, 1915, applied for a widow's Civil War pension on May 20, 1901. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband and other family members.

As a boy, David followed the printer's trade. He later learned the art of tinning and worked in several of the area's tin shops. He became known for his fine quality of tinsmithing throughout the area. The couple lived at 16 North Second Street. David died on May 4, 1911 and was buried at Lake Forest. Some records give his name as Dick.

Born in Kent, Ohio on Jan 7, 1842 [1843], George was the son of Isaac Platt and Mary Royall Sanford. George attended schools in Kent until 1859, when he moved with his parents to Grand Haven. In 1860, he started in business for himself, buying out the newsstand of George D. Harvey for $50.00. During the Civil War years, when his supply of newspapers was exhausted, he would mount a store box and read the news to the assembled crowd. In 1865 he entered the political arena as candidate for clerk of Grand Haven Township and won over Henry Brouwer, who had never before been defeated. By the 1890s he had a real estate, insurance, and loan office in the post office building at 100 Washington. George was on the Board of supervisors of Ottawa County for ten terms; served as a member and president of the Board of Education for nine years; was a member and officer of five secret orders; was appointed postmaster of Grand Haven by President Cleveland, a position he held from 1889 to 1894, was a staunch Democrat, and served several years as a member of the State Central Committee.

George married Frances Stoner in Grand Haven on May 1, 1873. Frances was born in Ripley, New York, on June 24, 1852. The Sanfords made their home at 427 Columbus, which was lost in the fire of 1889. They then moved to 620 Washington Street, where George also transacted his insurance business. Harry Ewing, Frances's nephew, was living with the Sanfords in 1900. Their children, all born in Grand Haven, were Grace Royall Sanford, who was born November 22, 1874, died January 31, 1876, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery; Lillian Webb Sanford, who was born July 7, 1876, and on July 28, 1903 married Charles A. Colwell [1875-1941] in Grand Haven; George Deroy Sanford, born February 29, 1880; Mary Frances Sanford, who was born on November 26, 1881 and married Will Fletcher; Charles Guy Sanford Sanford, who was born June 26, 1883 and died February 20 the next year; and Francis Stoner Sanford, born on October 22, 1890. Grace Royall was buried in the family plot at Lake Forest Cemetery. George was still in business in Grand Haven in 1908. He died in January 23 the next year and was buried at Lake Forest with other family members. Frances, who continued living at 620 Washington Street, died on December 13, 1923. She, too, was buried at Lake Forest.

George Deroy Sanford [1880-1942]

George Deroy, the son of George Davis and Frances Stoner Sanford, was born in Grand Haven on February 29, 1880. On November 16, 1903 in Milwaukee, he married Anna Cavanaugh, who was born about 1884 in Iowa. Her mother, Catherine Cavanaugh, was born in Wisconsin around 1850. In 1920 and 1930 the Sanfords were residing in Milwaukee, where George was foreman at a cement company. They had four children. George died in Milwaukee on January 16, 1942 and was buried at Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Henry Carlton Sanford I [1846-1932]

Born in Akron, Ohio on June 14, 1846, Henry arrived in Grand Haven in 1859 with his parents, Isaac Platt and Mary Jennings Royall Sanford. He clerked for Colonel Ferry until 1868. While driving a well for Wyman & Buswell, he struck the first mineral water in the area at 180 feet. Henry was an engineer with the Grand Haven Fire Department, where his brother Isaac also volunteered. He married Eugenia Beckwith in Grand Haven on February 14, 1870. Eugenia was born in April 1850 in Racine, Wisconsin. Their children, all born in Grand Haven, were Isaac Hull, born November 8, 1870; Carlton Wheeler, who was born on August 21 1872 and died on July 24 the next year; Henry Carlton II, born November 18, 1875 [1876]; Eugene, born March 12, 1881; Eugenia Beckwith, born on March 12, 1882; and James Brayton, born on September 9, 1883. Henry was listed in the 1893 Compendium as "engineer." Eugenia died in 1924 in Sedro, Washington, and Henry passed away Sedro-Wooley, Washington on April 8, 1932 and was buried at Union Cemetery.

Isaac Hull Sanford [1836-1911]

Born in Elmira, New York on September 27, 1836 [1837], the son of Isaac Platt and Mary Royall Sanford, young Isaac arrived in Grand Haven from Akron, Ohio, with his family in 1856 [1859] and became a merchant and tailor in his father's clothing store in downtown Grand Haven, reputed to be the first in the area. He also was in the real estate and insurance business. In 1867, he became first chief engineer of the newly organized "Rix Robinson Engine Company." In 1867 Isaac was elected alderman to Grand Haven's first City Council, and he was elected city marshal in 1877.

Isaac's first wife, Mary, was born in New York about 1837. Mary died before 1870, and on September 30, 1874 in Grand Haven Isaac married Mary D. Miller Osgood, daughter of Captain Harry and Elizabeth Miller and widow of George Osgood, who died in 1871. Mary was born in Detroit on May 14, 1836 [1835], died on January 31, 1915, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other Sanfords. She and George had at least one child, Eliza "Lizzie" Osgood, who was born in Spring Lake in April 1858 and was living with her mother and stepfather in 1880. The Sanfords' home was at 114 South First Street. They attended the Episcopal Church. Isaac was instrumental in organizing the Yates Light Infantry, which became known as Company F. He was a member of the Grand Haven Masons, the I.O.O.F., and Free & Accepted Masons, and he was a staunch Democrat. Isaac died on August 10, 1911 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, August 10, 1910.]

Isaac Hull Sanford [1870-1942]

The son of Henry and Eugenia Beckwith Sanford, Isaac was born in Grand Haven on November 8, 1870. He married Anna [Ana] Wendt on February 2, 1901. She also was born in 1871. Their children were Helen E., Clayton E., and Henry C. By 1910 Isaac was residing in White Pines County, Nevada. He died in Sedro-Wooley, Washington on October 30, 1942 and was buried at Union Cemetery.

Isaac Platt Sanford [1811-1887]

Isaac was born in Redding, Connecticut on November 22, 1811, the son of Lemuel and Charlotte Platt Sanford. Lemuel lived from November 20, 1781 to April 26, 1826, spending his entire life in Redding. His wife, whom he married in 1802, was born in November 1785 and died on January 14, 1846. Isaac, a tailor, married Mary Jennings Royall on August 27, 1834. She was born on December 1, 1814 in New York State, and died in Grand Haven on October 6, 1883. The family moved from New York to Akron, Ohio, and then on to Grand Haven in 1859. The Sanfords had nine children: Royall Timothy, who was born on June 13, 1835, married Mary MacDonald, lived in Grand Rapids, and died on March 18, 1886; Isaac Hull, born on September 27, 1836; Josiah Bennett, who lived from April 30, 1838 to April 22, 1887; Mary Frances, who was born in Dunkirk, New York on March 4, 1840 and married George H. Saxton of Grand Haven; George Davis, born on January 7, 1842; David Platt, who was born on December 18, 1844; Henry Carlton, born on June 14, 1846; Emma Maretta, who was born on August 6, 1849 and first married John H. Mitchell and then James P. Brayton of Grand Haven; and Adeline, who was born in 1851 and lived one year. Isaac, who was tailor, died in Grand Haven on March 10, 1887.

James Brayton Sanford [1883-1921]

The son of Henry and Eugenia Beckwith Sanford, James was born in Grand Haven on September 9, 1883. On February 12, 1907 in Grand Haven, James married Elizabeth Goss, who was born about 1887. He died in March 1921. It's likely he was named for James Brayton, who married Henry's sister, Emma, in early 1884.

Richard [Dick] Sanford [1844–1911]

See David Platt Sanford.

Samuel Ransom Sanford [1822-1899]

Lumberman Samuel Sanford arrived in Grand Haven in 1856 and was elected sheriff two years later. He was born in Marion, New York on August 11, 1822 and died in Muskegon on September 7, 1899. In 1858 he married Ambrosia Peck, who was born in New York on July 3, 1834. Their surviving children, both born in Michigan, were Nellie S., born around 1861, and Arthur H., born about 1865. The family resided in Muskegon as early as 1863. Ambrosia passed away in Muskegon on October 31, 1917. She and Samuel were buried at Evergreen Cemetery with two of their children who died while infants. [Tribune obituary September 8, 1899.]

While residing in Young America, Illinois, William Sankey enlisted on July 17, 1861 as private in Company B of the 59th Illinois Infantry. He was mustered out as corporal on December 8, 1865. Some years after the war he came to Olive Township, where he owned a farm in Section 2. On February 12, 1880 William applied for an invalid's Civil War pension. He was born on September 10, 1831 in Mercer County Pennsylvania, died on September 30, 1895, and was buried at Olive Township Cemetery. On August 4, 1860 in Pennsylvania, he married Caroline Hovis Monjar [Monzar]. After her husband's death Caroline applied for a widow's Civil War pension. She was born on May 2, 1845, died on January 16, 1926, and also was buried at Olive Cemetery. Their children were Mary Elizabeth; Robert S., who was born in Pennsylvania about 1870, married Melissa Tuttle in Holland, Michigan on October 10, 1891, died on June 14, 1944, and was buried at Olive Township Cemetery; Loretta "Retta" A., who was born in Pennsylvania in 1873, married Thomas Cole in Grand Haven Township on December 18, 1892, and died in 1953; Anna Belle, who was born in Pennsylvania about 1875 and married Albert Lafayette in Grand Rapids on September 30, 1896; and Sara "Sadie" Ellen, who married George W. Smith in Grand Rapids on June 21, 1898. William and Patterson Sankey were brothers.

William John Sankey [1893-1970]

William was born in Olive Township on February 15, 1893, the son of Eli and Fannie Vander Molen Sankey. On December 14, 1914 in Holland, he married Ruth Eliza Hugger, who was born in Oakland County on March 8, 1892. Her parents were John and Maude L. Smith Hugger. William and Ruth owned a 40-acre farm in Section 1 of Port Sheldon Township [originally part of Olive Township]. William died March 1, 1970 and was buried at West Olive Cemetery. Ruth died January 18, 1989.

Thomas William Sargeant [1911-1995]

In 1954 Thomas Sargeant was a clerk with the Eagle Ottawa Leather Company. His wife, Marylou, was employed by the Addison-Baltz Department Store at 200 Washington Street. Thomas and Marylou Ann Wilkinson were married in Grand Rapids on June 8, 1940. Thomas was born in Fremont, Newaygo County on June 18, 1911, and Marylou was born in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania on September 21, 1914. They resided at 418 Ottawa Street in Grand Haven. Thomas owned the Ottawa Electrical Contracting Company when it moved from 110 Washington Street to 217 Beechtree around 1967. He died in Florida on May 12, 1995. Marylou died in Grand Haven on September 1, 2003 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Heinrich [Henry] Leonard Saul [1834-1918]

Henry, the son of Nicholas and Elisabeth Charlotte Koning Saul, was born in Hofgarten, Germany on February 7, 1834 and arrived in Grand Haven Township with his father and brothers in 1854. He owned a considerable quantity of land [400 acres in 1918] in Grand Haven Township. He was one of the first 23 members of the German Immanuel Church and one of its original elders when the church was organized in 1870. The church was located on the northeast corner of Warner and 168th Streets. The pupils of Saul School, forerunner of Rosy Mound, used the church's schoolhouse when their school burned down in 1900. Saul's granddaughter, Myrtle Kieft, recalled that he built the school and hired and boarded the teacher so his ten children and their neighbors' children could get an eighth grade education. The church was moved to Agnew in 1952, and then to its present location on M-45 when U.S. 31 was expanded to four lanes in the mid-1950s.

In 1866 Henry became one of the trustees of the new Evangelical Lutheran-St. John's Church in Grand Haven. He was supervisor of Grand Haven Township from 1880-81, clerk of the Grand Haven Township

School Board in 1899, chairman of school inspectors in 1906, and in 1908 he was treasurer of the Rosy Mound School District. At one time he owned the land surrounding the school at the southeast corner of Ferry and Lakeshore stood, so it was referred to as the Saul School for a while. On January 17, 1922 Carlotta Ewing bought 99-acres in Section 9 from the estate of Henry and Mary Saul.

On June 4, 1858 Henry married Mary, the daughter of Louis and Margrieta Ehlers Bredehoft. Mary was born in Hannover, Germany in June 1837 and immigrated to the United States in 1856. Henry died in Grand Haven Township on May 20, 1917, and Mary passed away on December 20, 1921. Both were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Their 11 children, all born locally, included Mary, who was born in 1861, married Frank Miller of Grand Haven Township, died in 1921, and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery; Louis, born in January 1869; Henry Saul II, born on April 19, 1871; Henrietta, who was born in August 1873 and married Frank Kaatz II of Grand Haven; Laura, who was born on April 22, 1875 and married Baldwin Hery of Grand Haven Township; and Bertha, who was born about 1876 and married Charles Bierman of Grand Haven Township.

Henry Saul II [1871-1923]

The son of Heinrich Saul and Mary Bredehoft, Henry II, was born on April 19, 1871, died on June 6, 1923 in Grand Haven, and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. On November 14, 1900 Henry II married Martha Maria Helene Berg, who was born on April 26, 1876 in Grand Haven Township and died on May 17, 1907 after giving birth to her third child, Edward. Wilhelm and Frederick died earlier as infants. Her parents were Frederick and Wilhelmina Krull Berg, who came to the area in 1872 from Germany. Edward Walter, born on April 7, 1907, married Fern Luella Hammond [born August 2, 1913 in Boyne City, Charlevoix County], and died in Muskegon on July 28, 1977. Henry on July 5, 1913 in Grand Haven Township married Augusta Fisher [Fischer], and they had two sons: Arnold, who was born on January 20, 1915, and Henry III, who was born on May 13, 1917 and died September 20 three years later when run over by a threshing machine. Augusta was born about 1883. After Henry's death, August married Herman Zimmerman, also of Grand Haven Township.

Johann Nicolaus "Nicholas" Saul [1803-1891]

A native of a Hofgarten, Germany, Nicholas Saul was born on February 28, 1803. He was a carpenter and was one of seven organizers and original member of a village Lutheran Church built in 1834 in Hofgarten. He married Elisabeth Charlotte Koning, who lived from September 17, 1807 to December 16, 1850. Four years after her death Nicholas settled in Grand Haven Township with his four sons: Heinrich, age 20; Wilhelm, 18; Theodor, 15; and Friedrich Martin, five. The family farm was on Lakeshore Drive in Section 16, where the Christian Conference Grounds later were located. The four boys were Friedrich, who was born May 28, 1849 and died in Muskegon on December 9, 1912, also had a farm along Lakeshore Drive in Section 9 of Grand Haven Township. Nicholas died of "old age" on May 29, 1891 at the age of 88. He was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. [Tribune obituary June 1, 1891.]

John [Jason] J. Saunders [Sanders, Sander] [1836-1871]

John J. Saunders [Sanders], an African American, was born in Virginia [Maryland] about 1836 and settled in Grand Haven before 1860. He worked as a blacksmith. On November 24, 1863 in Detroit, he enlisted with Company E of the 1st Michigan Infantry, which later was designated the 102nd U.S. Colored Infantry. He was mustered out on September 30, 1865. His birth year at the time of enlistment was estimated at 1821, his burial record gave his birth year as 1810, the 1860 census put it at 1836, and the 1870 census at 1805. Although it is difficult to reconcile these wide variations in birth years, the mid-1830s seems the more likely.

John continued as a blacksmith when he and his wife, Elizabeth [Elisabeth], returned to Grand Haven after the war. Elizabeth was born in Delaware [North Carolina] on September 23, 1826. [The 1860 and 1870 censuses place her birth year at about 1837.] Their children, all born in Michigan, were Susan, born about 1856; John H., born about 1858; and Mary Y., born about 1860. Military records reveal that two of John's children died in Grand Haven while he was in the military. Living with the family in 1860 were Penn White, born in Michigan about 1840, and Penn's wife Sophia, who was born in New York about 1842. Penn and Sophia were early arrivals in the county. John died in Grand Haven on November 2 [3], 1871 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery in the G.A.R. plot. By 1880 Elizabeth was a laundry lady living on Madison Street with her daughter Susan, who had married a Mr. Brigg. Also living in the house on Madison was Jessie E. Brigg, Susan's son, who was born about 1877. Elizabeth died in Grand Haven on August 4, 1885 and was buried in Potter's Field at Lake Forest Cemetery. Her parents were William and Rebecca Murray. In 1910 son John and his sister Susan were living at 621 North Sixth Street. At that time John was widowed and Susan was divorced. John worked at the Eagle Ottawa leather plant in Grand Haven. In 1920 Susan was still residing in the family house, but John was gone. Living with Susan were two boarders, Eulyses Fordham, born in Michigan about 1875, and Charles Brown, born in Michigan about 1885. Eulyses was working as a laborer, but Charles was unemployed. Neither was African American.

In the fall of 1925 Susan was admitted to the Ottawa County Poor Farm. She died there on June 30, 1926.

Sarah Ann Benedict Rhines Saunders [Sanders] [1837-1898]

Sarah Benedict Rhines Saunders and her husband William G. Saunders in late spring 1887 built the first cottage in Highland Park. They named it Loch Hame, a Gaelic phrase meaning Lake Home. Located at the west end of Lake Avenue, the Saunders built the cottage around an aged oak tree, rather than cut it down. Sarah was born in Michigan in June 3, 1837. On January 29, 1876, Sarah and William Saunders were married in Albion. Born on September 22, 1827 in New York, he was justice of the peace in Grand Rapids at the time of the 1880 Federal Census, and he also was a medical doctor. On September 28, 1856 in Jackson, Sarah married Levant Rhines, who was born in 1831, served as major with the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters during the Civil War, and died at the Siege of Petersburg, Virginia, on June 17, 1864. Sarah and Levant had one child, Julia, who was born on August 16, 1863 in Spring Arbor, married Joseph Patrick McCarthy, and died in Massachusetts in 1934. William had three children by a previous marriage: Anna, born about 1866; Belle, born about 1870; and Travis, born about 1878. Mary, William's first wife, died in 1873 at the age of 41. The four children, given the last name Rhines by the enumerator, all born in Michigan, were living with her and William in Grand Rapids in 1880. Sarah died in Grand Rapids on May 23, 1898 and was buried at Chapel Cemetery in Jackson County. William died in Grand Rapids on November 26, 1903

William John H. Saunders [1832-1904]

Born in London, England on September 24, 1832, William Saunders began his career with British railroads. He came to Grand Haven by way of Canada in the early 1860s. William was employed by the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad as Cashier when the office was located on the north side of Grand River. He later joined and then retired from the National Bank of Grand Haven as Bookkeeper. William was a member of Blue Lodge, Knights of Templar, the Mystic Shrine, and Knights of Pythias. He died on August 25, 1904 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On June 6, 1871 in Grand Haven, he married Jennie Maria Kirkland, a native of England. The daughter of George and Elizabeth Kirkland of Grand Haven, she lived from 1850 to about September 17, 1915 and was buried near her husband.

Esther [Ester] Savidge [1866-1920]

George Patten Savidge I [1871-1913]

Born in Spring Lake on November 9, 1871, the younger son of Hunter and Sarah Patten Savidge, George became a leader in the Spring Lake Yacht Club and was its secretary and treasurer. He and his brother, William, sailed a 55-foot schooner call the Sallie, which was built in Spring Lake. George was Village president in 1897. On October 26, 1904 he married Maybelle [Mabelle/Mabel] Louise Moore of New York City. They had a son, George P. II, born in 1905. George I died on July 4, 1913, when only 41, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. His widow married Clarkson Rollins and moved to Minneapolis for a while.

By 1920 Maybelle and Clarkson were residing at 614 Clinton in Grand Haven and were in Spring Lake in 1930. Clarkson was born in Missouri on November 8, 1882. Maybelle lived from 1881 to 1957.

Born in 1905 Spring Lake, George was the son of George and Maybelle Louise Moore Savidge. He graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1923, then studied art at the University of Chicago under Walter Sargent, head of the Art Department. After graduation, he went to Paris and specialized in architectural design, portraits, and flower designing. Later he went to Hollywood and was associated with one of the major studios. In 1934 he wrote a ten-episode pageant for the four-day Centennial Celebration featuring early life in the City of Grand Haven. George donated the funds needed to put lights along four blocks of Savidge Street in Spring Lake. The lights were dedicated on June 21, 1935. George moved to California, where he died in 1963.

Hunter Savidge [1828-1881]

Born in Columbia County, Pennsylvania, Hunter's parents moved to Turbotville, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania when he was about six years old. Born on April 6, 1828, Hunter was the fifth son of thirteen children of Benjamin and Esther Hunter Savidge. In his hometown Hunter attended school in the wintertime and worked in construction during summer at a rate of $10 per month. In 1850 he moved to Rockford, Illinois to teach, but soon was back in the contracting and building business. In 1856 he came to Spring Lake to purchase lumber for his business. He liked the area and the next year returned to manufacture lumber. He formed an association with men by the name of Young and Montague and opened the Young, Savidge & Montague Sawmill, formerly known as the Hopkins Sawmill. The enterprise was short lived. A financial panic of 1857 forced the enterprise out of business. Between 1858 and 1861 Hunter became a partner with Dwight Cutler of Grand Haven another lumbering business. Their firm began to thrive as one of the most extensive and best-known lumber firms in the Midwest. Hunter and Dwight did not formalize their partnership, however, until August 31, 1863.

Dwight and Hunter bought the Hopkins Mill, located on the shore of Spring Lake west of the north end of Main Street [Cutler Street]. They then built a new mill to the west of the Hopkins Mills, on land later known as the Savidge Estate. In August 1870, the partners bought a controlling interest in the Haire & Tolford Sawmill on Spring Lake, a lumbering business once known as Hopkins Mill. The officers were Hunter Savidge, President; Dwight Cutler, treasurer; Hiram W. Pearson, secretary; and John B. Hancock. They prospered from the beginning, and Hunter became owner of a large amount of valuable real estate. The discovery in 1870 of mineral waters on the site of the old sawmill led to the construction of the Spring Lake House, one of the most popular summer resorts in West Michigan. On January 1, 1874 he sold his interest in the hotel to others. By 1874 the lumbering business had half a million dollars in capital and was processing 50,000,000 board feet per year. It was large enough that a stock company was organized. The Cutler & Savidge yard stretched from the shore of Spring Lake, where the mill itself was located, to the foot of Division Street and west to the bridge. Much of the ground in that area was composed of sawdust and cuttings. Hunter and Dwight also owned considerable acreage in Sections 12 and 13 of Spring Lake Township, and Hunter was sole owner of additional acres in Sections 8 and 9 of Crockery Township. Other holdings were in Muskegon County and probably elsewhere. Presumably the land was purchased for its trees. Cutler & Savidge became one of the largest lumbering businesses in West Michigan.

When Hunter died in 1881, Dwight became president of the business, and his two sons, along with Hunter's sons, George and William, operated the business. A diminishing supply of lumber forced it in 1899 to close the Spring Lake operation and move it to other sites, first in Leroy, Osceola County and then Cutler, Ontario.

In 1871 Hunter was named director of the First National Bank of Grand Haven. Also that year he loaned Aloys Bilz $10,000 to help him restart his business after a devastating fire. In 1873 Hunter constructed the Odd Fellows Building at 136 Washington in Grand Haven. He was a long-time member of the organization. Hunter organized a fire department to protect his sawmill. He was elected supervisor of Spring Lake in 1876, was president of Greenville Lumber Company, became president of Ottawa Booming Company, served twenty years on the Spring Lake School Board, and was a Democrat, but never ran for public office. He gave this advice to a man who found himself in a financial emergency: "Cut down your expenses and keep cool."

Sarah Caroline Patten was born in West Winfield, New York, on March 19, 1832. She came by prairie schooner with her family in 1845 to the small frontier hamlet called Grand Rapids, on the edge of Michigan's great pine forest. She became a teacher in Grand Rapids Public Schools under the direction of Jeanette Hollister, who married William M. Ferry II in 1851. In the early 1850s, Sarah went by steamboat down Grand River to Grand Haven and then on to Chicago on a sailing vessel. There she saw her first railway train before continuing to Rockford, Illinois, probably to visit Rockford Female Seminary [now Rockford University]. She met Hunter Savidge in Rockford, Illinois and married him in Grand Rapids on February 12, 1857. Their honeymoon included a stagecoach trip on the south side of the Grand River from Grand Rapids to Grand Haven. They arrived the evening of February 22 in time for a George Washington birthday party at the Washington House, an early Grand Haven inn. In spite of their fatigue, they joined the festivities and made lifelong friendships. The next morning they followed the Sawdust Trail, took the ferry across the Grand River, and settled in their temporary abode in Mill Point [Spring Lake]. Before long Hunter had constructed a more permanent home on Mason Street. After living in that modest home for ten or twelve years, the Savidges in the early 1870s built a large, two-story home near the lake [303 North Park Street] Hunter gave the house on Mason Street to Jay McCluer, along with five lots on Barber Street, where Jay moved the house. Jay was a substitute for Hunter during the Civil War, when buying a replacement for military service was not uncommon.

Hunter and Sarah had three children, all born in the Village. William, the oldest, was born on September 30, 1863. He was followed by Esther, who was born on May 17, 1866 and married Nat Robbins V of Grand Haven. George, the youngest, was born on November 9, 1871.

After failing to improve his health by visiting California, Hunter and Sarah returned to Spring Lake, where he died on April 11, 1881 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. After Hunter's death Sarah lived alone in the house on North Park until her death on September 17, 1921. She was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Hunter and other family members. She was an active member of the Spring Lake Presbyterian Church and other organizations and a charter member of the Grand Haven Women's Club. [Tribune obituary, September 17, 1921.]

A native of Pennsylvania, where he was born in January 1839, Thomas was the son of Benjamin and Esther Hunter Savidge and Hunter Savidge's brother. Thomas arrived in Mill Point [Spring Lake] in 1866, but almost immediately left the area for two years. He returned in 1868 to join the Cutler & Savidge Lumber Company, where his brother, Hunter Savidge, was president. Thomas owned and operated the Floral Stock Farm, breeding some of the fastest horses in the state. His advertisement in the 1893 Directory noted that his farm was "The Home of Michigan's Champion 3-Year-Old, Geo. St. Clair." The farm was located on the south side of Leonard Road, opposite the end of 148th Street. The farm's office was moved to 117 South Lake Street and converted to a home, which still stands today. Thomas followed in his brother's footsteps and was president of the Village for eleven terms: 1879, 1880, 1881, 1882, 1883, 1884, 1885, 1887, 1888, 1895, and 1896. He ran the Savidge Livery and Sale Stable at 109 Washington Street in Grand Haven but lived at 303 East Savidge in Spring Lake. Thomas was credited with planting the trees west of the 500 block of Savidge Street, which led to its nickname "Willow Drive."

Thomas's first wife, Mary, was born on August 3, 1841 and died May 10, 1877. Thomas and Mary had three children, all born locally: Benjamin R., born about 1870; Hunter, born about 1874; and Herbert Jasper, born on February 4, 1875. On February 18, 1879 in Spring Lake, Thomas married Armetta "Nettie" Moore [Hunt]. She was born in Toledo, Ohio in March 1854. Nettie was a charter member of the Grand Haven Woman's Club, formed in 1891. Thomas died in 1907 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Nettie, who died the same year. Nettie's mother, Louise S. Moore, lived from 1852 to 1928 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, where Mary also was buried.

William Savidge [1863-1916]

Born in Spring Lake on September 30, 1863, William Savidge was the older son of Hunter and Sarah Patten Savidge. He attended high school in Grand Rapids, graduated from the University of Michigan in 1884, and then attended Harvard Law School from 1886 to 1887. William was a Republican, and in 1896 served as state senator from the Ottawa-Muskegon District. After his father's death in 1881, he took charge of the Savidge interests and also served on the Board of Directors for the Challenge Corn Planter Company. When the local lumbering business died out, the Savidge mill closed in 1889. At that time the company bought the White & Friant Mill at Leroy, Osceola County, which produced lumber until 1893. The business then moved to Ontario, Canada, where it closed for good five years later. William was the largest stockholder of the Challenge Refrigerator Company and was active in the Grand Haven State Bank. He was one of the founders of the Spring Lake Yacht Club and the Spring Lake Country Club. He helped to negotiate the purchase of the Country Club acreage from Fred Soule.

William, who remained unmarried, died on May 9, 1916 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Spring Lake's main thoroughfare was named Savidge Street in his memory.

George Henry Saxton [1838-1936]

George Saxton was born in Deerfield, Massachusetts on May 21, 1838. On November 1, 1862 in Grand Haven, he enlisted in Company B of the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters as first sergeant. He was promoted to quartermaster sergeant and then to first lieutenant before being mustered out on July 25, 1865.

George married Mary Francis "Fanny" Sanford in Grand Haven on December 23, 1868. She was the daughter of Isaac and Mary Jennings Royall Sanford, who settled in Grand Haven in 1859. George and Fanny had three children, apparently all born in Grand Haven: Isaac Ashley, born on July 27, 1870; Edmond [Edward] Luke, born on July 22, 1872; and Mary Emma, born on September 23, 1874. George and Mary appeared in the 1870 Federal Census as residents of Grand Haven, but by 1880 had moved to Lansing, where George died on July 15, 1936. He was buried at Mt. Hope Cemetery in Lansing. Fanny had died on April 29, 1916 and was buried at the same cemetery. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

There is some evidence that the Saxtons lived at 436 Slayton Street in Grand Haven and may have built the house at that site.

Martha Jane "Jennie" Saxton [1838-1926]

See David Elijah Rose.

James Daniel Sawyer [1829-1886]

Farmer, surveyor, and teacher, James Sawyer owned approximately 100 acres in Section 13 of Polkton Township as early as 1860. He was born in New York in 1829 and had settled in Eastmanville by 1857. On November 14, 1859 in Kane County, Illinois, he married Ansta [Austa] Leonora Lester, who was born around 1841 in Illinois. Their son Robert was born about 1863 in Michigan. The Sawyers moved to Coopersville, where they remained until at least 1870. James died in Battle Creek on February 20, 1886. Ansta continued living in Battle Creek after his death but died in Richland, Washington on March 1, 1925.

Randy A. Sawyer [1952-2008]

Randy Sawyer owned and operated the Sawyer Family of Homes, which included Sandpiper, Seville, Simarron, Sorrell, and Sierra Adult Foster Care Homes. Randy was born in Grand Rapids on May 2, 1952, the son of Carl and Frances Barrett Sawyer. In 1980 he left the real estate business in Grand Rapids to purchase Sandpiper, an adult foster care home in Nunica. A few years later he opened homes in Grand Haven, including one for Alzheimer patients. Randy married Sandra Colleen Frank on August 27, 1994. She was born on December 21, 1963. Randy was a member of Covenant Life Church in Grand Haven and was president of Ottawa/Allegan Alzheimer's Association. Randy and Sandy had three children: Erin Elisabeth, Cameron Carl Sawyer, and Ethan Mark Sawyer. Randy died on February 20, 2008 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, February 22, 2008.]

Photographs of William Wade Scagel are hard to find. He seldom allowed one to be taken. One time a child pretended to snap his picture with a toy camera. Bill "snapped" back at her in no uncertain terms. William was a reclusive, sullen, ultra-right winged Republican, who was beholden to no one. He could be argumentative, cantankerous, fiercely independent, and was a self-proclaimed atheist. Bill Scagel was an artist and genius who would never fully realize the fame and regard he had achieved.

Bill was born near Alpena, Alpena County on February 12, 1875 but raised in Canada. In 1890 he married Rosetta Moors in Point Edward, Ontario, Canada. They immigrated to Shiawassee County in 1900 and were divorced two years later. Three years after that he married again. He and his new wife, Alice, moved to Durand, Shiawassee County. In 1910 he became a naturalized citizen.

Bill began his career as a bridge builder and wrought iron craftsman. After two failed marriages, he headed for the relative isolation of northern lumber camps, where in 1910 he began making knives, although in 1918 he was a toolmaker at Continental Motors in Muskegon. Later Bill honed his skills in a small shop established in Muskegon and eventually relocated to north end of Spring Lake Township. By 1920 Scagel had emerged as an uncommonly good bladesmith. For the next nine years he sold camp and sport knives, fighting knives, machetes, axes, pocketknives, and related hardware through Abercrombie & Fitch in New York and other upscale dealers. His sharpware was used on Smithsonian expeditions. He is regarded as "The Father of 20th Century Cutlery," and as one who has profoundly influenced the cutlery trade for over a century, Bill is a member of the Blade Cutlery Hall of Fame.

A number of factors make Scagel knives the standard by which all others are measured. First, after having heated words with the local power company, Bill pulled the plug at his "Dogwood Nub" home and shop. His knives were then made with power he squeezed out of an old windmill, submarine batteries, and a gas engine connected to a system of pulleys and belts. Bill selected only the strongest steel and other fine materials for his knives. The artistry in his stag and leather grips was unmatched; the grip itself was contoured to the human hand before anyone had heard the word ergonomic. There were few, if any, straight edges in Scagel knife design, only subtle curves melting into the hand. Single Scagel knives have exceeded $20,000 in value and are sought worldwide.

Every knife Scagel made was completely by hand and without modern tools such as a grinder or buffer, his Fruitport shop was powered by a gasoline engine taken from a Cadillac automobile. As a result of this slow process, he produced relatively few knives during the 50 years he was active. Scagel had no faith in mass-produced items and once made his own hunting rifle. He refused to go to doctors, and even reset his own broken wrist, extracted his own teeth, and made his own dentures. During a polio epidemic in 1939, he made leg braces for children at his shop and refused payment for them. Along with all these interests, he still managed to learn how to play the harp and lyre.

Bill crafted his last knife in 1962. Today he is a legend in the cutlery trade, Bill Scagel died a poor man on March 26, 1963. Twenty-three years later he was inducted into Blade magazine's Cutlery Hall of Fame, and in 1996 Scagel was inducted into the American Bladesmith Society Hall of Fame. The Randall Knife Museum in Orlando, Florida is home to the world's largest collection of Scagel's knives. [Adapted from an article by Marjorie Viveen.]

Andrew Schaafsma [1875-1966]

Born in The Netherlands on October 18, 1875, Andrew Schaafsma and immigrated to the United States in 1900, the year he owned a harness store at 11 North Second Street. His residence at that time was nearby on Second Street, but by 1910 he had moved his family to 412 Clinton and later to 410 Howard. On August 31,

1905 in Grand Haven, he married Jennie Wierenga. Jennie lived from June 27, 1881 to December 23, 1973 and died in Grand Haven. The Schaafsma's had six children, including Ida Mae, who was born in the house on Howard Street on May 31, 1916. She and her sister, Catherine Lake, continued to reside in the Howard Street home until June 2001, when they sold it to Steve and Carol Loftis. Catherine was born about 1914. The Schaafsma's son, Herman, was born on August 22, 1910 and died in September 1971. Herman and his wife resided at 501 Leggat. Andrew's and Jennie's other daughters were Jeanette, who was born about 1907, and Julia, who was born around 1918 and lived in Washington, D.C. Andrew passed away around January 12, 1966 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Ida Mae, who worked for Michigan Title Company for 32 years, died on October 13, 2012 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, October 16, 2012.]

Leonard C. Schaden [1880-1968]

Born in New York City on August 21, 1880, Leonard Schaden at the age of fourteen started in the shoe business with Pingree Shoe Company as a pattern boy. He lived for many years in Dearborn next door to Henry Ford. He married Mary Jo Erlacher on May 16, 1905. Leonard formed a partnership with Roy & Everett Pingree, but later sold the company and moved to Whitehall in 1922 to join Carl E. Schmidt's organization as sales technician for drying calfskins and processing into shoes. In 1932 William Hatton of Eagle Ottawa Leather Company persuaded him to come to Grand Haven as Sales manager of the Shoe Leather Division. Leonard retired from that position in 1954. His hobby was photography. He and his wife resided at 436 Ottawa Street. Leonard died on October 15, 1968, and Mary passed away ten years later on July 13. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John A. Schaub [1882-1933]

Born in a log house in Missouri on September 15, 1882, John Schaub came to Michigan in 1899. He attended school and was salutatorian of his graduating class at Coopersville High. He taught school for seven years, four of those in the Ferrysburg School as principal and then became director for eleven years. He was stricken with a malady of the spine, which left him unable to use his legs and underwent extensive treatments and operations during 1910. A fellow teacher suggested that he start a subscription magazine agency. After a slow start, he became known far and wide as "Michigan's Wheel Chair Magazine Man" through articles written in several state newspapers. John developed a very large magazine and insurance business, which extended into every state. He survived the destruction of his house by fire in 1928, and with the help of friends and neighbors he built his dream home in Spring Lake. About the same time John became interested in many hobbies, including horticulture. He sent a number of arrangements to the Grand Haven Flower Show for judging. Herman's brother William Schmedtgan [1862-1936], a nationally-known wildlife artist from Chicago, visited the Roadhouse occasionally and some of his paintings may have been inspired by the Pottawatomie Bayou environment.

Carol Brauer Schmidt

In 1992, Carol Brauer Schmidt traveled to France to study painting. She had been working with acrylics, but during her time in France she discovered the delightful effectiveness of using oil pastels, the medium she specialized in from then on. She also studied at Ox Bow, and Grand Valley State University.

In an interview she commented on her art: "My artwork emerges from the child in me who loves color and the feel of making marks on paper. Shapes motivate me, and my enjoyment comes from exaggerating and simplifying these shapes in color, form and texture . . . sometimes with a bit of whimsy."

Carol, who was born in Ann Arbor on April 18, 1946, received a bachelor degree in art education from Valparaiso University. She married Harry Schmidt on March 18, 1967. After living in Valparaiso and Highland, Indiana for a few years, the couple moved to Spring Lake around 1974. Settling in her new community, Carol found time to serve as librarian at St. John's Lutheran School, to teach art, and to continue her own artistic goals.

Carol was a featured oil pastel artist in Pastel Journal Magazine [July/August 2003] and she exhibited her art in such venues as the Muskegon Museum of Art Contemporary Art Exhibition, Festival of the Arts Regional Arts Exhibition, Synchronicity Gallery in Glen Arbor, and the Gallery Uptown Group Shows in Grand Haven. She was a member of the Gallery Uptown and once a co-director. Carol was a charter member of the Great Lakes Pastel Society.

Carol died on May 24, 2022 from complications stemming from her long-term battle against acute myeloid leukemia. She and Harry had three children.

Jean, a native of England, lived from September 1861 to 1940 and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, October 15, 1923.]

James B. Scott I [1911-1989]

James was born in Chicago, Illinois on March 10, 1911 to William and Lillian Scott. At ten years of age, he was orphaned and wandered from farm to farm looking for work and food, eventually moving to the Nunica area, where he was raised by his aunts. At age 19 he went back to Chicago and became acquainted with Louise Schuett. They were married in Chicago in 1936. The couple settled in Grand Haven and had six children, including a daughter, Joan Gray. James worked for Bastian Blessing as a welder and in 1942 formed Welded Products with Duane Brady in the Spring Lake area. They soon outgrew that building and built a new factory at 335 North Griffin Street in Grand Haven, which became Technology, Inc. [Spectra Products] in 1969.

James was on the steering committee for the building of St. Patrick's and St. Mary's churches, of which he was a member, and he also was president of the local C.E.D and Rotary Club. He was a member of Knights of Columbus, the Elks, and Spring Lake Country Club. He was director of Peoples Bank and Trust, and Ermanco Roll Form & Design. He was involved in the planning of the Musical Fountain, a leader of the United Way Fund, and vice president of Visiting Nurses Association. He passed away on March 6, 1989 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

A resident of Grand Haven, James Scott in 1860 was clerk for Ottawa County and residing in Grand Haven. Around 1849, he married Aminda [Armina, Amanda, Camin] Balcom, who was born in Scotland in 1833. Living with them in 1860 were their six children: Elizabeth, Cornelia, Courtland, William, George, and Frederick, whose ages ranged from 2 to 19. Another son, Justus Avery Scott, lived from 1863 to 1951. James enlisted as Battery Quartermaster of the 2nd Michigan Cavalry on September 2, 1861. He was promoted to first lieutenant and regimental quartermaster on August 1 the next year. James accidentally shot himself and was mustered out on November 30, 1864. He was born on July 26, 1805 in Scotland and died in Allendale on August 1, 1878. On January 4, 1898, James's son William H. Scott "et al" applied for a minor's Civil War pension in Illinois. Aminda died in 1872.

John Scott I [1849-1923]

Born in Buffalo, New York on October 4, 1849, John Scott settled in Grand Haven around 1879 as a ship's carpenter and helped build many of the wooden ships for which Grand Haven was known. He sailed with his brother Isaac, who owned the lumber schooner Ellen Stevenson. His wife, Anna [Annie], was born in Ohio on December 15, 1849 and passed away on September 19, 1905. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their children, all born locally, were Robert, born in February 1872; Charles, born in May 1875; Edward, born in October 1877; Mabel A., born in April 1880; James, born in January 1883; and John II, born in September 1888. John I was a member of the Presbyterian Church and Modern Woodman Lodge. He died on January 15, 1923 and was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, September 20, 1905.]

Leonard Scott [1894-1918]

The son of Isaac and Jean Wareham Scott, Leonard spent most of his life in Grand Haven. He died of pneumonia in 1918, when he was serving during WWI with Company F, 310th Engineers, 85th Division. Leonard was born in May 1894.

Myron Scott I [1845-1894]

Born in West Dresden, New York on March 3, 1845, Myron Scott worked aboard small steamers in the east when still young. On May 1, 1861 he enlisted as private in Company H of the 33rd New York Infantry. A report that he was captured and held in Libby Prison in Richmond, Virginia for some time was not verified by his service record. Myron was mustered out on June 2, 1863, the same year he came to Grand Haven, and was employed by White, Friant & Tempest. Myron sailed on every Great Lake and was appointed Steamboat inspector of boilers and Hulls for Ottawa County. Myron was a member of Grand Haven Lodge #139, Masons, and Knights Templar, and he was a charter member of several marine engineers' lodges. On December 16, 1867 in Grand Haven, Myron married Mary E. Sullivan. Mary, a native of New York, was born in 1849. She managed the Milwaukee House in Grand Haven in the early 1870s. Her sister Margaret married Ed Killeen of Grand Haven. Augustus Eugene Scott, born on September 2, 1868, was their first-born child. [Birth records cite Eugene as the son of Hiram and Maria Scott, but no other record was found of Hiram in the Grand Haven area.] A. Arthur, born about 1871, was their second, and Myron Kingsbury Scott II, born on August 13, 1882, was their third. Myron passed away on June 15, 1894. Mary applied for a widow's Civil War pension on the following July 16. She died on September 24, 1918 at the home of her son, Arthur, in the State of Washington. Both Myron and Mary were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, June 16, 1894.]

Myron Kingsbury "Scotty" Scott II [1882-1943]

Born in Grand Haven on August 13, 1882, Myron "Scotty" was the son of Myron and Mary Sullivan Scott. He graduated from Grand Haven High School. In 1900, after two years at the University of Michigan, he started his journalism career, working first for the Milwaukee Journal. He then returned to Grand Haven in 1912 to become editor of the Grand Haven Tribune. In 1915 he and Horace Nichols became part-owners and co-publishers of the newspaper. Scotty sold his interest in 1927 but continued with the Tribune as editor-in-chief until he joined the staff of the Detroit Free Press in 1932. He left the Press four years later. In June 1929, the magazine Argosy printed Scotty's novel, Paradise Island. It was a story of "intrigue and action among the islands of northern Lake Michigan." [Tribune, June 21, 1929].

During his newspaper career, Scotty became widely known in national publications throughout the U.S. as a writer of lake and sea stories. Being from a sea-faring family, he urged the establishment of a Harbor Commission and through his writings Scott constantly drew attention to the harbor that he thought was Grand Haven's greatest asset. After leaving Grand Haven, he became Public Relations Officer of the State Liquor Control Commission, had a position with the State Labor Mediation Board and was Press secretary for Michigan Governor Luren Dickinson and also served the Michigan Press Association in 1942. He was head of the press section for the Office of Civil Defense.

On September 25, 1907 in Grand Haven Kingsbury married Jessie Elizabeth Olsen, who was born in Michigan on August 13, 1881. Jessie's parents were Jens A. and May [Mary] Consins Olsen. The Scotts' children included Eugenia, who was born about 1909 and married Carl Christianson, and Myron Kingsbury Scott III, who was born on April 5, 1913 and passed away in Laingsburg, Shiawassee County in August 1978. In Grand Haven the Scott home was located at 426 Franklin and later at 533 Pennoyer Avenue. By 1930 they had moved to 803 Lake Avenue. Scotty died in Lansing on April 27, 1943 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Jessie passed away around June 12, 1971 and was buried near her husband and other members of the Scott family.

Robert Hiram Scott [1885-1977]

Robert Hiram Scott worked on the Grand River for several years with the U. S. Corps of Engineers for $50 a month. The crew of six put in temporary wing dams to divert the river, wherever a shoal was located. Wing dams were interwoven tree limbs and sticks that the men made as a temporary measure. It took three weeks to survey the Grand from Grand Haven to Grand Rapids. The men camped on the river, were billeted on a scow, and had a cook. There were regular steamship runs on the Grand, between Grand Haven and Grand Rapids. The small vessels would stop at the landings along the way to pick up fruit, vegetables, and passengers. It took a full day for the run of the Barrett [a steam-powered side wheeler], the Grand, the Rapids and the Mae Graham. A river boat would make the return trip the following day.

Bob on June 25, 1919 in Allendale married Hazel, the daughter of Charles and Cecilia Ralya. They remained lifetime residents of the area. Bob, who was born on October 5, 1885, passed away in Grand Haven on September 20, 1977. Hazel was born on May 9, 1891 and died on September 19, 1965 in Robinson Township. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune article "Focus on People," October 1, 1975.]

Sid Scott I [1866-1931]

Sid Scott owned a farm next to his parents, Horace and Artemissa M. Scott, in Section 22 of Crockery Township. Sid was born in Crockery in February 1866. He married Minnie Westover in Crockery Township on December 26, 1894. They had two sons, Harold, born in February 1896, and Sid II, born in April 1898. The older Sid died in August 1931 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. Minnie, was born in Nunica in November 1866, passed away in 1938, and was buried near her husband.

Thomas J. Scott [1833-1903]

Born on June 23, 1833 in New York State, where he spent most of his boyhood, Thomas Scott sailed on steamships early in his life and became an engineer and machinist. He sailed the lakes for thirty years and made over 3,000 crossings on Lake Michigan. He was selected to place all the machinery on the Detroit and became her chief engineer. He was a proud crew member of the "Black Boats." He served eight years as Boiler Inspector for the Grand Haven District. He served for two years after retiring as clerk in the Inspector's office. Thomas was a member and trustee of the First Presbyterian Church in Grand Haven for many years. On June 3, 1878 he married Mary Ann Nial Finley, who was born in Canada [Ireland] in August 1848. In the Federal Census of 1880 Frances Finley and Ella Belle Finley were residing with the Scotts at 227 Elliott Street. Frances and Ella were listed as daughters-in-law, but the census taker probably meant stepdaughters, since they were 5 and 10 years old, respectively. Their father, William Finley, was born in Ireland about 1840 and died in Buffalo on July 22, 1876. Also living in the Scott home in 1880 were Thomas's and Mary's three sons: Charles, 15; James, 12; and Edwin, 11 months. Ella, who was born in Buffalo, New York on February 13, 1869, married Charles Henry Lilley of Grand Haven. Frances was born in Buffalo on November 28, 1876. She married William Levi Phillips of Grand Haven. Thomas died on May 9, 1903 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Mary passed away on May 10, 1914 in Grand Rapids and was buried at Lake Forest. Edward [1860-1952] and Anna Therese Kretschmar Selbmann [Selbman] [1861-1915]

In 1904 Edward and Anna Selbmann of Chicago paid $10,000 for Ashley Heights, a 114-acre resort in Section 10 of Spring Lake Township, on the west shore of the lake [approximately 17800 West Spring Lake Road]. They renamed the resort Lott Hannah for their two children, Charlotte "Lottie" and Hannah. Felix Perl was manager. Room rates were $8 to $10 per week in 1904, and the resort offered "unexcelled German Cooking." Anna worked on site during the resort season, while Edward remained in Chicago. The frame building burned down in 1918. The Selbmans purchased the site from Albert and Jeanette Ashley. In 1907 the property reverted to the Ashleys when Edward and Anna defaulted on a $7,500 mortgage. Edward was born in Saxony, Germany in September 1860 and Anna in the same country on August 28, 1861. Hannah was born in Chicago on January 5, 1884, and Charlotte "Lottie" on February 14, 1894, also in Chicago. Edward and Anna immigrated to the United States aboard Amsterdam on March 21, 1882. He became editor of a Chicago newspaper. The family was still in Chicago in 1920, where Anna passed away on January 19, 1915 and was buried at Rosehill Cemetery and Mausoleum. Edward died in Evanston, Illinois on June 28, 1952 and was buried with his wife.

Charles Seligman was foreman of the Hubbard & Avery Cigar Manufacturing House in Grand Haven. In the early 1900s he opened his own cigar house at 118 Washington. His wife, Amelia, lived from December 1846 [1849] to 1917. They were both born in Germany. Charles came to the United States in 1864 and Amelia in 1870. They had two sons, Alfred, a businessman who relocated to Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and Edward, who was born in April 1886 and joined his father in the cigar business. The family resided at 403 Lake Avenue. Charles lived from April 1843 [1847] to 1912. Both he and Amelia were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Edward Kuhn Seligman [1886-1930]

Born the son of Charles and Amelia Seligman on April 4, 1886, Edward attended local schools and was a football star with the Grand Haven Independents. He joined his father in the cigar business and helped organize the B.P.O.E. [Benevolent, Protective Organization of Elks] with his friend Arthur Van Tol. Edward built the cottage "Edrene" in Highland Park. In addition to the Elks, Edward was a member of the Spring Lake Country Club, Union Blue Lodge, Shrine Moslem Temple, and the Caravan Shrine Club. He was an enthusiastic golfer. He later moved to Detroit and became a special agent for the Missouri State Life Insurance Company and a salesman for a candy brokerage business, and then became associated with Detroit real estate. Edward died in Grand Haven after an appendectomy operation on July 11, 1930. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, July 11, 1930.]

Charles B. Selleck [Sellick] [1850-1919]

On October 1, 1873, Charles Selleck married Louisa [Louise] Moss [Mosse] in Albion. She was born in Two Rivers, Wisconsin on August 13, 1852. In 1870, three years before her marriage, Louisa was in Eastmanville, working as a servant in the home of Solomon and Esther Snyder. She and Charles had a son, William Sidney Selleck, who was born in Grand Haven on June 15, 1879 and died in 1964. By 1880 Charles and Louisa were living on Pennoyer Street but within the next two or three years returned to Albion. A daughter, also named Louisa, was born in Grand Haven and died on May 15, 1883 in Albion at the age of eight. After Charles and Louisa were divorced, she moved to Los Angeles, California, taking William with her. In 1893 she married William Penn Powers [1842-1928] in Chicago. Charles the father was born in Greenwich, Connecticut in 1850, died on April 17, 1919 in Tacoma, Washington, and was buried at Calvary Cemetery. The Senns resided on an 80-acre farm in Section 10 of Grand Haven Township. Stephen, who was born in Switzerland, lived from 1854 to 1934. Alice, the daughter of John W. and Jacoba Van Bemlen [Van Bemmelen], was born in 1865, died in 1940, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Stephen. The Senns' daughter, Marie Laura, married Martin Vander Noot of Grand Haven on August 24, 1902. Louisa passed away in California in 1929 under the name Powers.

Mandel [1865-1931], Jacob [1890-1968], and Ezra Sensibar [1905-1988]

In 1907 Mandel Sensibar, originally of Chicago, founded Construction Materials Corporation in Ferrysburg. The company later was known as Construction Aggregates. Mandel, who was born in Russia on April 27, 1865, became president of the firm in 1911. Mandel and his family immigrated to the United States in 1903. His son, Jacob Rofel Sensibar, born in Russia on April 15, 1890, became president upon Mandel's death. When Jacob died another son, Ezra, filled the position. Ezra, who was born in Indiana, lived from July 2, 1905 to August 16, 1988. Jacob married Beatrice Mersin [Musik] in Chicago on November 28, 1918. He died in Chicago on October 20, 1968. The Sensibar family resided primarily in Gary, Indiana, but Mandel died at a sanitarium in Battle Creek on August 12, 1931. His body was returned to Gary. According to his death certificate, Mandel was born on May 15, 1869. His wife, Hinda, died in Chicago on October 7, 1944. She was born about 1866 in Poland.

Born in Onondaga County, New York in 1812, Job was the son of Amasa and Phoebe Robbins Smith Sessions. Job came with his brother Alonzo to Detroit in October 1833 and then walked along Indian paths to Ionia County. Being hard pressed for money, Alonzo went to Dayton, Ohio to teach while Job remained in Michigan to farm. In June two years later, the brothers were in Berlin [Marne], where Job cleared two farms and put them in working condition. Job held the post of treasurer of Berlin for several years, but eventually sold his property and moved to Spring Lake. Job was a farmer by trade, but also manufactured fruit packaging for the growers. His brother, Alonzo, was lieutenant governor of Michigan from 1876 to 1880. Another brother, Amasa, settled in Ionia County in 1836. Job married Phoebe Palmer on August 25, 1840, presumably in Onondaga County, New York. Their son, Frederick W., was born in Michigan in October 1858 and moved to Benton Harbor. Job died on November 25, 1888. Phoebe, who was born in New York around 1817, died on March 20, 1886. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Allyn Rodney Seymour [1819-1888]

Born in 1819 in Oswego County, New York, Allyn Seymour married Isabel Murray on March 8, 1852 in Oneida County, New York. Three years later the Seymours moved to Crockery, where Allyn started farming. Isabel, who was born on January 3, 1820, died on December 17, 1865. Allyn and Isabel had a son, Lester, born around 1864. Allyn then married Margaret Ginkerson in February 1869. She died two years later on June 19, and Allyn then married his third wife, Jane Mudge. Jane was born in New York around 1828. Allyn died on December 5, 1888 and was buried at Ottawa Center Cemetery with Isabel and other family members.

Thomas Seymour [1828- ?]

Born in England around 1828, Thomas Seymour joined George Sisson to form a sawmill business in Spring Lake in 1872. Two years later he sold his interest in the sawmill to Francis Lilley. In 1860 Thomas was listed as a resident of Georgetown Township, where he was an engineer. His wife at that time was Elbie, born in England about 1831. Their children were Lucy Ann, who was born in New York in 1859 and died on October 23, 1911 in Barry County; John A., born about 1854; Ellen [Elner], born about 1857; Lawrence, born about 1864, and Frederick, born about 1866. The four younger children were born locally. In 1870 Thomas was employed at a Spring Lake sawmill, where he lived with his second wife, Bridget. Bridget was born in Ireland around 1834. Living with them in Spring Lake were all of Thomas's children except John. Bridget died in May 1873 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery under the name Mrs. Seymour. In the 1880 Federal Census Thomas was listed as a single man, living in Ferrysburg and still employed at a local sawmill. Ellen, Lawrence, and Frederick had moved to Paris, Portage County, Ohio and were living with Hattie Seymour, who was born about 1832 in New York. They were listed as her children.

Elmer Joseph Shabart [1909-2005] and Louise Stankiewicz Shabart [1912-2005]

Louise, born on May 10, 1912 in Illinois, was the daughter of Louis S. and Frances Stankiewicz. Louis was a Chicago realtor. Sometime around the mid-1920s the Stankiewiczes purchased an 80-acre farm in Section 22 of Grand Haven Township [11250 168th Avenue], but continued to reside in Chicago, while using the farm for vacations. Louise married Elmer Shabart, who was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin in 1909. Elmer became a general and thoracic surgeon. He was in the Philippine Islands at the start of WWII and participated in the infamous "Bataan Death March" in 1942. He then was sent to Manchuria as a prisoner of the Japanese until the war's end in 1945. In 1996 he wrote a book about his experience, titled Memoirs of a Barbed Wire Surgeon. In 1950 he published a paper showing a link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer. He was the first physician to establish the connection. Elmer and Louise had at least one child, Craig Richard Shabart, who was born in Chicago on October 17, 1946 and died in Placer, California on June 1, 1992. Louise passed away in Berkeley, California on January 22, 2005. Louise's mother, Frances, resided on the farm after Lewis's death, but later she moved to Berkeley, California to be with her daughter and son-in-law. Frances died there in October 1982. She was born in Poland on November 28, 1888. Louis, also a native of Poland, lived from June 30, 1887 to June 1969. Elmer passed away on March 13, 2005.

Levi Shackleton [Schackelton] [1817-1888]

In 1851 Levi Shackleton owned a wholesale and retail store for groceries and liquor. His shop was located near 28 Washington. Five years later Levi was proprietor of the Ottawa House on the corner of Water and Washington Streets, formerly operated by Henry Pennoyer. The Ottawa House, which burned down on November 13, 1860, was a stagecoach stop with daily departures for Grand Rapids. On March 11, 1855 in Kent County Levi married Mary Elizabeth La Tarte of Grand Haven, who previously had been married to a Caldwell. Their children, all born in Michigan, were Charles, born about 1852; Mary E. born about 1856; Wallace L, born about 1857; and Nellie J., who was born about April 1860. Mary lived from 1832 to 1892. Levi was born in Canada [England] in June 1817 and moved to the United States in 1849. Eleven years later Levi moved to Muskegon, where he was in business for eight years, and he then went to Ludington, where he operated a grocery store. Levi died in 1888.

See Charles Westover.

John Nelson Shannon [1827-1892]

Born in July 1827 while aboard ship coming from Ireland, John was the son of John and Mary Grey Shannon. Young John moved to Tallmadge Township in 1852. He enlisted in Company B of the 5th Michigan Cavalry on August 13, 1862 and was discharged for disability on October 28, 1862. John married Lucetta Hudson Halstead [Halsted] in Ottawa County on February 10, 1852. She was born in New York around 1824, but apparently died before 1870. By then John and his children were residing on a farm in Olive Township. John moved to Nebraska, where he died in the town of O'Neill in February 1892. The children, all born in the Grand Haven area, were George, born about 1853; Martha, born about 1854; Anette [Jenette/Jennie] born about 1858; and William, born about 1863. The children also moved away, although Anette remained in Olive Township until at least 1880.

Norma Edith Shearer [1902-1983]

Born on August 10 [11], 1902 in Montreal, Canada, Norma was the daughter of Andrew and Edith Fisher Shearer. Norma became a well-known film actress, and as a young woman spent summers in Grand Haven at the cottage of her uncle, Edwin Percival, and his wife. Norma's and Edwin's mothers were sisters. The cottage, known as Baldpate Inn, was located at 20 Crescent Hill in Highland Park. The name of the cottage was derived from Seven Keys to Baldpate, a popular Broadway drama in 1913-14. Edwin was an employee of the Grand Trunk Railway in Grand Haven and had a permanent residence in the city as well as his place at Highland Park. An article in the April 11, 1927 issue of the Grand Haven Tribune reported that Andrew Shearer, Norma's father, recently had visited Edwin. Around September 29, 1927 Norma married Irving Grant Thalberg, a Hollywood movie producer, and then, three years after his death in 1936 at the age of 37, she married Marti Arrouge. Among her 61 full-length films were The Flapper in 1921 [her first], The Actress in 1928, Strange Interlude in 1932, The Barretts of Wimpole Street in 1934, and Cardboard Lover in 1942 [her last]. Norma was one of a few actresses to make a successful transition from silent films to talkies. She died June 12, 1983 and was buried at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Glendale, California. Norma and Irving had one daughter, Katharine, who was born on June 14, 1935 and died in Aspen, Colorado on January 5, 2006 with the name Katharine Stirling.

Orin and Katie resided at 312 Davis.

Just after the end of WWII, Ralph Sheffield opened a meat store at 226 West Savidge in Spring Lake called Sheffield's Cash Market. The son of Egbert and Nancy Cummings Sheffield, Ralph was born on July 21, 1900 and died in Grand Haven on January 25, 1980. He married Catherine [Katherine] F. Beekman in Grand Haven on May 6, 1922. Born in Grand Haven on May 28, 1900, she was the daughter of Reijer and Elsie Hoeksema Beekman. Around 1930 the Sheffields lived at 104 North Griffin in Grand Haven, but by the 1950s they were residing at 102 Ann Street in Spring Lake, which at the same time was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Page. After Catherine's death in Miami, Florida on February 19, 1963 [1964], Ralph moved to 107 South Park and then to 1230 Waverly in Grand Haven. Ralph and Catherine were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Daniel Shelby [@1812- ?] and Jeanette [Jennett] Shelby [Schelby] [1812-1885]

In 1850 Daniel Shelby was listed as a hotel keeper in Ottawa Township [Grand Haven]. Living with him was his wife Jeanette [Jennett] and daughters Eliza Shelby, 16, Henrietta Shelby, 8, and Jennett Shelby, 6 years old. Daniel was born in England about 1812, and Jeanette also was from England, where she was born the same year. By 1860, Jeanette was a widow, still residing in Ottawa Township with Eliza and Jenett. Her real estate holdings in Grand Haven were valued at $4,000, a significant amount at that time [$125,500].

Daniel's and Jeanette's daughter Eliza, who was born in Illinois in 1841, married Thomas Brown, a sea captain. He was born about 1834 in Scotland. In 1880 Jeanette, Eliza, and Thomas were living in Chicago. Their son Thomas Brown II was ten years old. Jeanette passed away in Chicago on August 2, 1885. She was buried at Rosehill Cemetery and Mausoleum.

The Shelys' daughter Jennett [the spelling she preferred] married Edward Van Dalson [Dolson] in 1870. He was born in New York about 1845 and died in 1912. Jennett was born on November 14, 1845 and died in Saline, Washtenaw County, on March 1, 1922. She and Edward were buried at Parkholm Cemetery in Cook County, Illinois. Eliza died on May 24, 1892 and was buried at Rosehill Cemetery and Mausoleum.

Daniel and Jeanette Shelby, while living in Grand Haven, purchased Lots 25, 26 and a portion of 44, of the original Village of Grand Haven. On May 12, 1884 Jeanette Shelby sold the lots to her daughters Eliza Brown and Jennett Van Dalson for $3,000. Mother and daughters were then residing in Chicago. On August 7 the next year, Eliza and her husband Thomas Brown conveyed title to the property to Jeanette Van Dalson. On July 3, 1895, Thomas Brown "Widower" and his son Thomas R. Brown "Bachelor" sold Lot 25 in the original plat to Stephen L. Munroe for $170, and two days later Jennett sold to Stephen L. Munroe Lot 26 and the portion of Lot 44 that she owned for $322.

George H. Sheldon [1863-1890]

George was born in Vermont on October 22, 1863. He died in Grand Haven on May 28, 1890. George was porter on the steamer Michigan when it became icebound twenty miles off South Haven on February 9, 1885. The boat had left the port of Grand Haven that morning with the goal of providing help to another steamship, the Oneida, which had been trapped in ice for three weeks. George's heroic efforts included several hikes across the ice to find sustenance for the crew still aboard the Michigan. Forty-three days after being immobilized by the ice, George led the crew to land, safety, and warmth. On May 28, 1890 he died of the side effects of rheumatism caused by his long walks on the ice. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. He married Mary Amanda [Mammie] Van Drezer in Grand Haven on October 10, 1886. She was born in February 1870 in Robinson Township. They had one surviving child, Georgia Lillian Sheldon [1890-1954], who married Frederick James Conant [1874-1959]. The daughter of Luman and Alwilda Smith Van Drezer, Mary married Leonard Foster Ralya on July 16, 1896 in Allendale Township.

Horace L. Sheldon [? - ?]

Horace Sheldon built his residence on Lot 171, near the southwest corner of Elliott and Second Streets, and in 1838 constructed a tannery across the street on Lot 174. His enterprise was considered the first manufacturing industry established in Grand Haven, since previous businesses had been in merchandising and lumbering. Clark Albee took over the tannery in 1854.

Willard Carpenter Sheldon I [1839-1917]

A manufacturer of corn planters, Willard Sheldon in 1871 discovered at a depth of 161 feet the magnetic mineral springs that gave Grand Haven the name "Saratoga of the West." His two-story, palatial resort and hotel on the northwest corner of Washington and Third Streets attracted visitors for many years, offering them croquet, archery, lawn bowling, and other leisure activities, including bathing in the mineral water for its therapeutic value. Willard also built and lived in a large, lovely home with carriage house at 321 Washington. When the Challenge Corn Planter Company incorporated in 1882, Willard was named president. His son, Willard II, was the company's bookkeeper in 1893. Sheldon Road was named in honor of this family's contributions to Grand Haven.

Willard I was born in Essex, Middlesex County, Vermont, on June 1, 1839. On May 26, 1863, in Williston, Vermont, he married Mary Malvina Slayton. Born in Stowe, Vermont, on December 16, 1841, she was the daughter of Samuel Stowe and Malvina Carver Slayton and the sister of Nathaniel and Thomas Orlando Slayton, both of whom moved to Grand Haven. Willard and Malvina arrived in Grand Haven in 1864. The Sheldons' son, Willard Sheldon II, was born in Grand Haven on March 4, 1865 and died in San Diego, California on July 4, 1956. Other children were Frances Slayton Sheldon, who was born on August 22, 1869 and married Willard Henry Edwards [1852-1918] in Grand Haven on June 6, 1893; and Dwight Cutler Sheldon, named for one of Grand Haven's leading citizens, who was born May 9, 1873, married Dora D. Chase on June 14, 1893 in Smyrna, Ionia County, and opened a law office in Ionia. Dwight died on May 25, 1912. Dora was born about 1877 in Smyrna and died in Ionia County on November 6, 1926. Frances married Willard H. Edwards in Grand Haven on June 6, 1893. He was born about 1865. Malvina Sheldon died in Ionia County on November 22, 1912 and was buried with Dwight and Dora in that county at Highland Park Cemetery. Willard I passed away in Santa Ana, California, at the home of his son, Willard II, in May 1917. He was buried with Malvina and other family members. [Tribune obituary, May 19, 1917.]

In May 1826, Leonard married Mary French Ide. Directly after their wedding, the Slaters started for Michigan. Leonard died April 27, 1866. His wife had died in 1850. Their four children, born between 1827 and 1835, were considered by Everett to be the first white babies born in the Grand River Valley. [Memorials of the Grand River Valley, pp. 300-302.]

Louis [Lewis] W. Slaughter [1876-1958]

Born in Michigan on January 21, 1876, Louis Slaughter married Elizabeth Marie Sophia Solms in Grand Haven on June 27, 1901. The daughter of Henry and Henrietta Oosterhouse Solms II, Elizabeth was born in Grand Haven on September 8, 1877. Louis worked as a planer at Challenge Machinery. In the early 1900s the Slaughters resided at 632 Columbus and later at 1135 Columbus. They had three daughters, all born in Michigan, including Yetta M., who was born on September 6, 1902, married Louis Bonema of Grand Haven, and died in Grand Haven on May 9, 1986. Louis Bonema was born on October 30, 1899 and died in Grand Haven in June 1970. Their other daughters were Marian, born about 1906, and Charlotte, born about 1908. Beginning in the early 1900s Lou was director of the Grand Haven Concert Band for 14 years. He was an accomplished, self-taught musician who played the baritone, trombone, and cornet, arranged his musical selections, and taught music. During the summer months Lou and his concert band performed each Thursday evening "in a lighted wooden bandstand just up from the fountain in Central Park" [Tribune]. Lou was a member of Martin Vyn's band, the Elk's band, the Little German Band, and various orchestras. He also provided music on the packet May Graham. He was well known locally as the bugler for military events, military funerals, and civic programs. Louis died on September 6, 1958 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Elizabeth Marie passed away around April 20, 1944 and also was buried at Lake Forest.

Ober [Obadiah] Slaughter [1848-1922]

Born in The Netherlands in 1848, Ober Slaughter came to America in 1851. He settled in Mill Point [Spring Lake] in 1870. Just prior to that he was living in Polkton Township, where he was a farm laborer. Ober opened a meat market in the year of his arrival in Spring Lake. He later moved to Eastmanville and died on January 5, 1922. He was buried at Coopersville Cemetery. Buried near him was his wife Alice, who lived from 1855 to 1929, was a native of New York. They had two daughters.

Elva May Slayton [1860-1895]

Born in Stowe, Vermont, on September 21, 1860, Elva was the daughter of Reuben Decatur and Elizabeth Gale Slayton. Reuben was Nathaniel and Thomas Slaytons' brother, both of whom moved to Grand Haven. Elva graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1880 and married Franklin V. Smith in Stowe on July 25 the next year. Their six children, Harry, Bessie, Dwight, John, Minnie, and Mildred, all were born in Stowe, where Elva died on October 23, 1895.

Nathaniel Volney Slayton [1838-1889]

Born in Stowe, Vermont on September 15, 1838, Nathaniel was the son of Samuel Stowe [1803-1881] Slayton and Millison Carver Randall [1802-1874] Slayton. In 1858 he visited Michigan, liked what he saw, and returned to settle in Grand Haven. He was employed as a clerk at Dwight Cutler's store beginning January 28, 1862. With Willard Sheldon as partner, Nathaniel opened a dry goods store. Bad health forced him to close that business. In September 1873, he opened a grocery store in the Cutler House block. Nathaniel was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886. In 1877 he was elected on the Republican ticket as City treasurer. Slayton Street was named for this early Grand Haven settler.

Nathaniel married Martha “Mattie” Florence, the daughter of George and Sarah Batchellor Shippey, on December 17, 1874 in Grand Haven. She was born in New York on July 3, 1851 and died in Grand Haven on July 12, 1928. The Slaytons had one child, Florence, who was born in Grand Haven on February 10, 1877. Martha, who married a man by the name of Berger some years after Nathaniel’s death, died in Grand Haven on August 14, 1930. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Nathaniel’s sister Mary Malvina Slayton married Willard Sheldon of Grand Haven. Caroline Fidelia Slayton, another of Nathaniel’s sisters, married Vermont native Ebenezer Winslow Barnes, onetime postmaster of Grand Haven. A third sister, Frances Eliza Slayton, who lived from October 12, 1831 to March 2, 1892, came to this area as well, and married Dwight Cutler. Another brother, Osman Ogilvie Slayton, was born on September 18, 1829, moved to Grand Haven, and died on September 20, 1900. After the death of Nathaniel’s brother Thomas in Vermont, his widow, Susan Harris, joined the Slayton family in Grand Haven. Finally, to round out the Slayton family’s Grand Haven contingent, Nathaniel’s mother, Millison, came here to be with her sons and daughters. Nathaniel died June 29, 1889, and was buried with Florence, Frances, Osman, and Millison at Lake Forest Cemetery. The Slayton home at 314 Washington, then occupied by his widow, was destroyed in the fire of 1889, a few months after Nathaniel died. Apparently his widow then moved to 410 Howard, where she remained until about 1916. [Tribune obituaries March 2 and 4, 1892, and September 28, 1900.]

Thomas Orlando Slayton [1828-1867]

Born in Stowe, Vermont on February 5, 1828, Thomas was the son of Samuel Stowe and Millison Carver Randall Slayton and the brother of Nathaniel Slayton of Grand Haven. On March 4, 1852, in Stowe, Vermont, Thomas married Sarah Harris. One of their three children, Susan Cornelia, married George A. Farr I of Grand Haven. After Thomas died in Stowe, Vermont on June 11, 1867, Sarah left her native Vermont and came to Grand Haven to live with her brother-in-law and his family. She was born April 24, 1830 and died in Grand Haven.

Orrie J. Sluiter [1889-1959]

In 1923, Orrie Sluiter partnered with George Olsen to purchase Turner Abstract Company from George Turner. At that time the office was located in the Ottawa County Court House. The two men sold the business two years later to Michigan Title Company. Orrie was born in Grand Haven on February 5, 1889 in Michigan. From the mid-1930s to the 1950s he was clerk for the United States District Court in Grand Rapids but returned to Grand Haven. Orrie died in 1959 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On June 12, 1918 in Grand Haven, he married Antoinette Justema [Juistema], who lived from December 1893 to 1991 and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest. They had one child, Ruth, who was born in Grand Haven on July 27, 1920, died under the name Ruth Killian in Indiana on March 16, 1998, and also was buried at Lake Forest. She was divorced. Antoinette’s parents were John and Antje Kooiman Juistema of Grand Haven.

Steven Sluka I [1887-1971]

Steve I was born December 14, 1887 and died in Grand Haven on February 7, 1971. He married Anna Hornacek, who lived from August 20, 1889 to September 8, 1974. Among their children were Steven II, who was born in Newark, New Jersey on February 21, 1909, and Julia, who was born locally in 1919 and married John Vander Meiden of Grand Haven. The family lived at 1142 Pennoyer Street.

Steven Sluka II [1909-1995]

Born on February 21, 1909 in Newark, New Jersey to Steven and Anna Hornacek Sluka, Steve grew up in the East End of Grand Haven. He enjoyed organizing neighborhood football and baseball teams, and he snuck through the coal bin window of the Armory to watch the basketball games. Finally he was hired to take tickets and do odd jobs. He played prep sports as a fifteen-year-old freshman with basketball coach Gus

V. Cohrs. Steve was captain of the 1927 championship team as a senior. He attended Michigan State College [MSU], graduated from the University of Illinois in 1933, and earned his master degree in 1938 from the University of Michigan. He began teaching at Hemlock High School in 1939 and went to Morencin in 1942. He then went into the service during WWII, served in combat, was wounded, and received the Purple Heart. Steve returned to Grand Haven in 1945 and spent twenty-eight years in the capacity of teacher, coach, and athletic director of Grand Haven High School. He was instrumental in developing the baseball field on Beechtree Street on the east side of Grand Haven, which the city named after him in 1961. Steve also served on the first YMCA Board of Directors, organized in 1963.

Steve, a life member of Michigan High School Coaches Association, was named to that group's Hall of Fame in 1963. He was commissioner of Officials for Lake Michigan Athletic Conference, honored with the Charles E. Forsythe award for outstanding service to the state high school interscholastic program by the Michigan High School Athletic Association in 1981, and named to the West Michigan Sports Hall of Fame. Steve retired from the school system in 1978 and died on May 6, 1995. Steve's wife, Beatrice, lived from June 30, 1906 to April 6, 1991. [Tribune obituary, May 8, 1995.]

Agnes Little Smallman [1849-1912] and Joshua F. Smallman [1834-1893]

After Grand Haven's destructive fire of 1889, the Sheldon's Magnetic Mineral Springs resort was renamed The Norris Hotel. Although the structure was not damaged by the fire, the destruction of the Cutler House across the street made the downtown less attractive to resorters. Agnes Smallman was manager of The Norris Hotel and owned and in 1895 managed the newly opened Pines Resort in Spring Lake. On January 5, 1867 in Chicago, she married Joshua Smallman. A Civil War veteran and a boat captain, Joshua worked out of Grand Haven and helped as host at the Norris. They were settled in Grand Haven by 1870, although at the time of the 1880 Federal Census the Smallman family was living in Norton, near Muskegon, where they were boarders in the Julius Antisdale home. After Joshua's death, Agnes applied for a widow's Civil War pension on June 7, 1895. Born in New Brunswick, Canada in 1849, Agnes died on January 1, 1912 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. Their daughter Harriette "Hattie" married Frank W. Irish [1865-1914] in Grand Haven on April 5, 1884. After their divorce, she married Arthur Putnam Burland [1856-1927] in Grand Haven on February 29, 1892. Harriette was born in La Porte, Indiana in 1868. Agnes and Joshua also had a son George, who was born in 1877, served with the U.S. Navy. [Tribune obituary, January 2, 1912.]

Joshua Smallman was born on Prince Edward Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence on August 15, 1834 [1837]. He took to the ocean at age 15 and became one of the youngest captains on saltwater. As a member of the Navy during the Civil War, he commanded General Foster's staff boat. Pension records show he also served with Company I of the 20th Connecticut Infantry. He applied for an invalid's pension on December 5, 1863. After the war, he bought the Goodrich steamer Muskegon, and for many years was its captain. During the halcyon lumber day, when the Pomona House was in operation at Fruitport, the Muskegon made frequent excursions from there to Grand Haven. He married Agnes Little, and by 1870 they were residents of Grand Haven. In 1881 Joshua commanded the City of Milwaukee, the same year he had Robertson Ship Yards build the propeller-driven vessel George P. Savidge. Joshua was known as one of the safest captains on the lake, since not one man was killed or lost on his ships, and he always arrived in port on schedule. Joshua lived in Grand Haven for 25 years. He brought the tug T. D. Dole to Grand Haven from Erie, and he owned the schooner Gertrude. Joshua died on October 10 [12], 1893 of heart disease. He and Agnes were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Gerrit [George] Smant [Smank] [1861-1948]

Gerrit Smant's 50-acre farm was in Section 8 of Crockery Township. He also raised livestock. Gerrit married Finigje "Fannie" Teunis in Spring Lake on June 13, 1884, two years after they both had immigrated to the United States. Gerrit was born in The Netherlands on December 7, 1861, and Fannie was born in the same country in July 1862. They were still residing in Crockery in 1930. Their children, all born locally, were Jennie, born in January 1890; Elsie, born in June 1892; Henrietta, born in January 1896; and William, born in May 1898. Gerrit passed away in Grand Rapids on November 26, 1948 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Ralph was born on September 25, 1865 in The Netherlands, the son of Henry [Henrich] and Jennie Kirk Smant. On September 18, 1891 Ralph married Johanna Bowman [Bouman] in Crockery Township, where they owned a 52-acre farm in Section 8. In August 1892 the Smants had a daughter Jennie. Jennie married Homer Powers, who was born about 1888. On March 3, 1896 a son John was born to the Smants, and another son, Henry, was born on January 29, 1899 and died January 17, 1965. A daughter, Dora, was born in 1901 and married Arthur Bradley, also a native of Crockery Township, where he was born about 1897. On November 24, 1905, the Smants had two sons, Gerald J., who was born on November 25, 1904, married Connie Kamp [1913-2003], died in Spring Lake on October 24, 1985, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery; and, Ralph II, who was born on September 9, 1907 and passed away in Florida on October 16, 1998. Ralph I died September 15, 1948 in Crockery. Johanna, who was born in The Netherlands on March 9, 1866 to John and Doro Schmidt Bowman, died on December 13, 1944.

Roger Lee Smant [1939-2019]

Roger, the son of Gerald and Connie Kamp Smant, was born in Grand Haven on December 25, 1939. He married Gail DeBoer in Spring Lake on September 7, 1963. Rog served 33 years as elementary school principal in Grand Haven Area Public Schools. When he graduated from Hope College in 1964, he was awarded the Egbert Winter Prize for the male most likely to succeed in the field of education. He was the first recipient of the Excellence in Service Award for his work as an administrator, given by the Grand Haven Public Schools. Rog served on numerous community boards, such as Young Life and Tri-Cities Ministerial Counseling, and he helped a volunteer to build the first Imagination Station on the YMCA campus. He and Gail had two daughters: Jodie, who married Jeff Harkness and moved to Minneapolis, and Amy Smant, who remained in Grand Haven. Rog died on January 9, 2019. [Tribune obituary, January 11, 2019.]

Alexander Smith [1844- ?]

Alexander Smith was born on November 5, 1844, in Scotland's Orkney Islands. After learning the blacksmith's trade early in life, he turned to navigation. At about the age of 21 Alexander moved to Canada and the next year to Chicago, where he began a lifetime career sailing the Great Lakes. Soon he was master of the schooner Ottawa, and then he took the helm of the Charles E. Wyman, one of the fastest sailing ships on the lakes. Later Alexander became master of the Mosher.

On December 14, 1875 in Chicago, Alexander married Jean Garriock of Grand Haven. A few years later they moved to Grand Haven. In 1883, Jean returned to the Orkneys to bring back the six orphaned children of her deceased sister and brother-in-law, Mary and John Watters. John Watters had died at sea on March 17 1881 at the age of 44, and his wife succumbed to pneumonia the next year on May 11. The Smiths wrote that they were willing to take Margaret Anne Watters, then four years old and the youngest of the children, and perhaps one other. John Watters, 16 and the oldest of the children, replied that they did not want to be separated. Captain Smith put an addition on the house and sent for the whole family, a substantial increase in their formerly childless household. The other children's names were Janeabell, Mary Tait, William, and James Edward. The Smiths raised the children in Grand Haven until all of them were through with their schooling. John, the oldest, married Margaret C. Harper, and they had two daughters: Edith Margaret and May Isabella. Edith Margaret and Arthur E. Brown were married, and their two sons were named Richard Harper and Gordon. Richard Brown married Anne R. Brown, and one of their four daughters was Nancy, who married Robert Earnest and moved to Grand Haven, not knowing her ancestors had lived in the area a hundred years earlier.

In 1895 the Smiths returned to Chicago, and at about the same time Captain Smith retired from sailing and became a member of the tailoring firm of his nephew, John Harper. Alexander was a charter member of the Orkney and Shetland Society of Chicago and was a Mason. In August 1908, the Smiths moved back to the Orkneys, where Alexander died some years later near his birthplace.

In January 1950 Arnold Smith purchased Grand Haven Novelty and changed the company name to Wolverine Table. He ran the company until the plant burned down in 1955. Arnold, the son of William and Anna Klintworth Smith, was born on July 11, 1898 and died in Spring Lake on April 13, 1971. As a youth, he and his brother Harold operated an ice cream parlor on the corner of Washington and First Streets, and he served in Company F of the 126th Infantry during WW I. Arnold married Grace Eleanore, the daughter of Oscar and Grace Schumann of Grayling, Crawford County. The Smiths had an adopted daughter, Grace Ann. The family resided at 17754 West Spring Lake Road, then at 18028 North Shore Estates Road. Grace, the mother, passed away in California in 2003.

Benjamin Smith [1818-1897]

Benjamin Smith was an early settler in Crockery Township, where he purchased acreage in Section 36 on November 10, 1841 and built a steam-powered sawmill. He bought additional acreage in Tallmadge Township on the same date. In 1847 he set up another sawmill, this one in Ravenna in Muskegon County. He married Sarah Rathbun. On November 16, 1854 the couple deeded two acres of the Crockery Township parcel to the Board of Health of Crockery Township for a sum of $20. The two acres became the site of Ottawa Center Cemetery. Benjamin was born in Pine Plains, New York on June 6, 1818, and Sarah was born in Cayuga County, New York [Ohio] on October 19, 1822. On August 26, 1861 in Grand Rapids, Benjamin enlisted as private in Company C of the 2nd Michigan Cavalry. He was promoted to captain on October 2 that year and to lieutenant colonel on September 13, 1863. He was mustered out on March 6, 1865. Benjamin and Sarah had at least one child, James W., who was born in 1848 in Ravenna, at that time part of Ottawa County. James died in Minneapolis, Minnesota on October 22, 1896. Benjamin died on March 4, 1897 and was buried at Lakewood Cemetery in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Sarah had passed away in Chicago a few days earlier, on February 20, 1897, and was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

Charles Washington Smith I [1870-1950]

Charles Washington Smith was born on January 16, 1870. Sometime before 1917 he married Elsie Kraai Kieft, who had been married to Henry Kieft. Elsie, born on October 6, 1884, was the daughter of John and Marta Anne Rienks Kraai. Elsie and Charles had three children, including Lemuel Clifford, who was born in Los Angeles on January 19, 1917 and died there six years later, and Charles W. II, who was born in the same city on July 21, 1921 and died in 1989. Charles I died in Los Angeles on January 9, 1950 and was buried at Odd Fellows Cemetery. Elsie died on November 6, 1960 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Ed Smith [? - ?]

Ed Smith started the Times newspaper in Coopersville in the spring of 1880. It lasted barely a month.

Edmon [Edmund/Edward] "Ned" Smith was born into slavery in March 1830 [1826] in Lexington, Kentucky. During the Civil War he worked in various Union camps and was with General Grant during the siege of Vicksburg, Mississippi. He was brought to Grand Haven towards the end of the Civil War by Rev. William Ferry. In 1893 Ned was working as a laborer in Grand Haven. Edmon's wife, Sarah, was born in Virginia in July 1840 [1838]. They were married about 1870 and had five children, all born locally: Bernice, who was born about 1873 and married Robert D. Wilson of Grand Rapids; Edward "Ned," ["Ed"] who was born on October 7, 1874 and was blind; May C., born about 1875; Ida May who was born on April 7, 1878; married Miles Woods of Grand Rapids, and Frank, who was born on April 10, 1880, died by drowning on July 22, 1893 in Grand Haven, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Miles Woods, also Black, was born in Mississippi about 1875. The Smith family was classified as Mulatto in the 1880 and 1910 censuses and as Black in 1900. The family resided at 1115 Washington Street. Edmon died in Grand Haven on March 26,

1903 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Sarah passed away in Grand Rapids at the home of her daughter Bernice on December 24, 1923. She, too, was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune article, "Frank Smith Drowned," July 22, 1893, and Tribune obituary, December 24, 1923.]

Edward "Ed" ["Ned"] Smith [1874- ?]

Edward, the son of Edmon and Sarah Smith, was born in Grand Haven on October 7, 1874. His visual disability earned him the nickname Blind Ed. Edward became a Grand Haven newsboy or news dealer, as he was sometimes called. Reported to be "despondent and blue," in 1908 he tried to commit suicide, not for the first time, by laying his body in front of an oncoming Pere Marquette train. Alerted to the situation by some of the blind boy's friends, two deputy sheriffs hurried toward the Rosy Mound area and took Ed to the sheriff's office. Ed promised to make no more attempts on his life, but, he added, the "next time he decided to do it, he would not tell anyone. . . ." Two years later the Tribune reported that Ed had lost two dollars between his home at 1115 Washington Street and Eighth Street. "The finder of the money would confer a great favor by returning to Ned as he can ill afford to lose the money," the newspaper pled in his behalf. [Tribune, September 28, 1910.]

In 1920 Ed resided with his mother at the family home on Washington Street. Ed's father died in 1903, and Sarah passed away 20 years later, apparently leaving Blind Ed with no place to live. Another Tribune item, appearing on August 21, 1923, reported that Ed was sleeping at the Pere Marquette Depot on Jackson Street when lightning struck between two and three in the morning. "Ed," the paper said, "and an unknown 'bo' [hobo] were the two occupants. Both were startled by the lightning." The two men were shaken, but neither was hurt. Ed at least once walked to Grand Rapids, probably to visit his widowed sister, Bernice Smith Wilson. He was living in her house by 1930 and was still living there in 1940. Ed continued to sell newspapers and magazines while living in Grand Rapids. [Tribune articles, "Wanted to Take His Own Life," October 19, 1908, "Grand Haven Blind Man Makes Trip Afoot over Roads to Grand Rapids," May 14, 1921, and "Lightning Bolt Strikes P.M. Station," August 21, 1923.]

Edward C. Smith [1868-1927]

Born in Grand Haven on February 1, 1868, Edward was the son of John and Christina Smith. Edward started working at the age of 13 for the Grand Haven Lumber Company and stayed with that firm for six years. He became proprietor of a saloon at 9-13 Washington Street in Grand Haven, and agent for the Grand Rapids Brewing Company at the same address. He erected the two-story, brick building at that site about 1897. In early 1909 Edward opened an automobile showroom for the Reo at this site, and also offered gasoline, Brunswick tires, and car repairs. The business was called the Washington Garage with an address of 9-11 Washington. He sold the business in 1926 to Dan Riley and Ralph Van Toll. This address became the site of Carl Berg's Pontiac showroom. Edward was president and major stockholder of the Gildner Hotel Corporation. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Knights of Pythias, Arbeiter Verein, and the Royal Arcanum. He purchased from his sister Minnie Ewald a farm near Ludington and raised livestock. On April 27, 1891 in Muskegon, he married Eva Yeager. Edward and Eva moved to the farm. Edward died on December 17, 1927 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Eva was born in Germany in March 1869, died in 1950, and was buried Lake Forest. Ed and William Smith were brothers.

Elva May Slayton Smith [1860-1895]

Francis "Frank" Charles Smith [1914-1988]

Frank Smith was born in Chicago on January 28, 1914. By 1930, he had moved to Grand Haven with his parents. On June 6, 1936, he married Mariellen K. Wekenman in Grand Rapids. She lived from November 20, 1916 to January 8, 1984. In 1940, Frank was caretaker for the Hunter Robbins estate on Spring Lake, but also was an artist and painted scenes in and around Grand Haven. He and Mariellen lived on Barber Street in Spring Lake. Ten years later, in 1950, they were residents of Grand Rapids, where Frank worked as special investigator for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. Frank died in Grand Haven on May 3, 1988 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Mariellen. They had at least four children: Daniel, born about 1936; Charles Smith, born about 1938; Marjory Smith, born in 1939; and Kathleen, born about 1945.

George Smith married Helen George in Grand Rapids on June 20, 1941. Helen was born in Ohio on October 9, 1921. They had at least two children: a daughter, Neltje Smith, born about 1943, and a son, Peter Smith, born about 1945. The family resided at 201 Liberty Street in Spring Lake. George and his partner John Miller I in 1946 started Miller-Smith Manufacturing Company at 601 West Savidge Street. George served as president of Spring Lake Village in 1954 and 1955. He lived at 17819 Oakwood Drive. Helen passed away on February 1, 1988 in Sparta, Kent County. George was born on September 12, 1917 in Spring Lake and died on February 20, 1999.

George Nelson [1807-1881] and Arvilla Powers [1808-1895] Smith

Old Wing Indian Mission was opened in Section 3, Fillmore Township, Allegan County in 1846 by Rev. George Smith, a Vermont native, who served as Christian missionary to the local Ottawa Indians. The mission was funded by the Presbyterian Church of Michigan through an Allegan-based Indian mission society. The building was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 1986. The oldest surviving house in the township, it is located at 4298 East 40th Avenue in Holland.

The main portion of the building was the residence of George N. Smith, a Congregational missionary to the Indians in this area and at Wakazoo's Village on nearby Black Lake [Lake Macatawa]. Old Wing Mission was named for Joseph's deceased older brother, Chief Ningweegon "Wing," a Potawatomi who had converted to Catholicism and died on March 10, 1839. Ningweegon was an active supporter of the Americans during the War of 1812.

The mission house was built in 1844 and 1845 by Isaac Fairbanks, government agricultural agent to the Indians. Nearby were a church and a school and some Indian dwellings. The first Dutch settlers lodged here and in the Fairbank's cabin on the knoll to the southeast. As the Dutch settlement grew, George and the Indians moved away and established a new village on the Leelanau Peninsula.

Arvilla Almira Powers was born on November 27, 1808 in St. Albans, Franklin County, Vermont. She and George were married in St. Albans on July 4, 1830. George, also a native of Vermont, was born on October 25, 1807. They had one son, George N. Smith II, who was born in Vermont in 1832 and died in 1897, and three daughters: Mary, born about 1836; Arvilla, born about 1838; and Esther, born about 1846, and several other children who did not survive infancy. The three daughters were born in Michigan.

In 1833 George and Arvilla left Vermont for the Michigan Territory. They settled in Gull Prairie, Kalamazoo County, where George did odd jobs, taught, distributed Bibles, and preached when he could. He was ordained Michigan's first Congregational minister on April 7, 1837. In addition to ministering to inhabitants in the Gull Prairie area, George preached in Otsego, Plainwell, and Gun Plains. News of his hard work and strong faith spread throughout the west coast of Michigan. The Ottawa and Chippewa Indians carried the news of his work as they migrated north. At Middle Village [now Harbor Springs], two Ottawa chiefs, Chief Shinekosche and Chief Wakazoo [Waukazoo] conferred. They had been converted by the Jesuits but were dissatisfied with the Catholic faith. They headed south to visit the young minister.

When Chiefs Shinekosche and Wakazoo reached Allegan, they invited George to attend a meeting with local Indians. They impressed the pastor with their desire to learn about the Christian faith. George embraced the task of ministering to the Indians. He became their preacher, teacher, lawyer, friend, and physician, the latter made possible by a short course in medicine he had taken in Canada in 1829.

In January 1838, a group of Michigan Congregationalists and Presbyterians, both clerics and laymen, founded the Western Michigan Society to Benefit the Indians, an Allegan-based organization under the auspices of the American Home Missionary Society, to sponsor Smith as Indian missionary to instruct the Ottawas in Christianity, reading, writing, and arithmetic, farming, and American government. The Presbyterian Classis of Michigan agreed to provide minimal financial support until the federal government would hire Smith as teacher. In November the Society's board appointed George to direct the mission, and within a month he began a school in Allegan for the children of Wakazoo's band.

George moved his family near Allegan, where there was a small settlement of Indians and on December 28, 1838, preached his first sermon to them using an interpreter, James Prickett, a half-breed. George slowly learned the Indian language, but for the first several years he needed interpreters. He opened a school that occasionally attracted as few as two or three pupils, but on occasion as many as 30 scholars showed up, many of them older people who wanted to learn English. Arvilla taught at the school and also taught the girls and women to cook and sew.

By spring, the mission colony's original population of 30 Indian families had turned into a village of 300. A larger site was needed. Eventually the Indians selected a location near the Black River about four miles east of the present-day city of Holland, and the colony moved there during the summer. The following winter was harsh. Provisions had to be brought from Allegan either by a forest trail or by a longer canoe trip. Bad weather made the trip impossible. George's cabin had no doors or windows and cloth covered the window openings and a bed quilt hung over the door. The quilt kept out much cold, but they were apprehensive when wolves came prowling nearby. Eventually, the home was made as comfortable and secure as conditions of their situation allowed.

Friction developed between the local Indians and the Hollanders who arrived at Old Wing Mission on February 12, 1847 and settled close by. As the Whites impinged on the Indians' land, George and the Indians decided it would be to their advantage to move. The missionary and Chief Wakazoo found a site on Leelanau Peninsula in Leelanau County. The Indians' migration began in early June 1849, the Whites taking the schooner Hiram Merrill, the Indians paddling their canoes along side, while the livestock, four cattle, three horses and three calves, was driven along the shoreline. The party arrived at its destination on June 12. A temporary shelter was made from logs and the earth floor was covered with hemlock boughs. The settlers called their new home Waukazooville, later changed to Northport. Here, the Smiths continued to raise their four children and opened a mission for the Indians. On July 1, George purchased 40 acres in Section 28 at the northern tip of Leelanau Peninsula.

At the time of the 1850 Federal Census, the Smith family were residents of Northport in Michilimackinac County, where George was a Congregational minister. Their children, George II, Mary, Arvilla, and Esther were with them. Ten years later they were still in Northport. Living in the house with George, Arvilla, Esther, and Arvilla, was John Leva, a 50-year-old Indian born in Canada. [The census taker noted that daughter Arvilla was one-quarter Indian. No one else in the family had such a classification.] One of their neighbors was Payson Wolf, grandson of Joseph Wakazoo II. Payson joined Company K of the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters during the Civil War. At the time of the 1870 Federal Census, George was continuing his work as a Congregational minister. Daughters Esther and Arvilla remained at home. By 1880 George I was a farmer in Leelanau. Their four children were gone but living with the couple was a 15-year-old grandson, Ulysses Voice. He was the son of the Smiths' daughter Arvilla, who had married Joseph H. Voice.

George died in Northport on April 5, 1881. Arvilla, his wife, died in the same community on April 15, 1895.

George Washington Ashley Smith [1832-1906]

Born in Unity, New Hampshire in September 1832 to a family of 12 children, George Smith left home at an early age and crisscrossed the country doing various jobs from gold mining to lumbering. He settled near White Lake and established the Smith & Fields lumber business. George lived in Grand Haven after the lumber era ended and became involved in the real estate business. As secretary of the Board of Trade, which was formed in 1900, George was instrumental in bringing some of the more important industries to this area. His wife, Sarah Fields of Rome, New York, was born in September 1839. In Grand Haven the Smith family lived at 414 [416] Franklin Street. Their only daughter, Jennie M., who was born in Rome, New York on September 16, 1864, died on March 10, 1923 in Grand Haven. She worked for the Grand Haven Tribune for 15 years as society editor, she was local correspondent for the Grand Rapids Press and for Detroit newspapers, and she was freelance writer, as well. George passed away on February 19, 1906 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Sarah died on September 23, 1922. [Tribune obituaries, March 1, 1906 and March 12, 1923.]

Henry “Harry” [Harry John] Smith [1823-1894]

Born in Denmark in 1823 on the island of Fernon, Harry Smith had a desire to go to sea at an early age. When he was 13, he stowed away on an English ship bound for India. From then on he was aboard ships that carried slaves, traded palm oil along the African Coast, smuggled opium from China to India, and went into the innermost heart of Africa. In 1836, only 13 years old, he served as a marine in the Seminole War in Florida and aboard American merchant ships. After marriage he began to sail the Great Lakes and captained such ships as the Michigan Belle, Three Sisters, Storm, Spartan, Sea Gull, Gladiator, and Sebastopol, which he and Grand Haven resident Charles Pagelsen owned. After leaving the sea, he was lighthouse keeper in Grand Haven from 1875 to 1883, at a time when the beacon stood on the bluff overlooking the Oval. He also was bridge tender of the South Channel Bridge. Harry met his wife on a voyage from Le Havre to New York. On October 9, 1852 he married Lena Schippers, born in The Netherlands about 1824. Lena’s brothers, Henry and Kryn Schippers, immigrated to Grand Haven around 1856. Captain Smith died on January 27, 1894 and Lena passed away three years later. Their children, all born in Michigan, were Nellie and Chris, born about 1861, Jennie, born about 1864, and Margareta, born about 1870. In 1880 Chris was assistant Lighthouse keeper. The family resided on Third Street. [Tribune obituary, January 29, 1894.]

Hezekiah G. Smith [1816-1896]

It was Hezekiah Smith who laid the path to Spring Lake that many other African Americans followed. By one account he was born in Steubenville, Ohio in 1816 [1815], but another says he was born into slavery in Kentucky, then freed by his owner. In 1842 he married Lucinda [Luvonda] J. Sisco, the daughter of Ephraim [Ephram] Sisco. The couple settled in Spring Lake Township in 1847. Hezekiah worked two years for Jabez Barber at Barber’s sawmill in Spring Lake. He was included in the 1850 census for Spring Lake, and Dr. Mary Kitchel notes in her book that he had a blacksmith shop in Grand Haven in 1852 [Spring Lake Community Centennial, 1969, p. 116]. About that time he may have left the area with his wife and children, possibly under duress, but if so, he quickly returned. On August 1, 1853 he purchased 40 acres in Section 10 of Spring Lake Township. On the same day, his friend William Penn bought five acres in the same section. Hezekiah from 1853 on continued to buy or homestead substantial acreage in Sections 8, 9, and 10 of Spring Lake, finally owning all of Section 10, 640 acres, bordering a body of water that still is known as Smith’s Bayou. He raised fruit for commercial and retail sale, especially apples and peaches, as well as truck crops for his own use. In the 1864 Map of the Counties of Muskegon and Ottawa Counties, he was listed as a horticulturist. The bayou was in the name of Tuttle. By 1876 his holdings were reduced to 100 acres, still in Section 10.

Apparently Hezekiah and Helen were divorced, because on July 28, 1894 Hezekiah obtained a license to marry 20-year-old Sarah Henderson. The young woman had second thoughts and the wedding never took place. On September 8, 1894 in Ferrysburg he married Sarah Henderson Miller, young Sarah’s mother. Sarah the mother was born in 1825 in New York. On December 19, 1895 the Tribune reported Hezekiah was very ill. He died in Ferrysburg on January 7, 1896. After his death, Hezekiah’s widow and her daughter Sarah moved to Grand Rapids. Hezekiah’s place of burial is unknown. The next year, title to the Smith property on Hezekiah was one of several local representatives to an Equal Rights convention that met in Grand Rapids in 1894.

In the 1850 census as residents of Spring Lake Township, Hezekiah was listed as a blacksmith. Living with him and Lucinda at that time were Charles H. Smith, born about 1829 in Canada; William H. Smith, born about 1838 in Canada; and John W. Smith, born about 1843 in New York. The relationship, if any, among the Smiths was not revealed in the census, and Charles, William, and John do not again appear in Ottawa County records. There were nearly three dozen other Black families living nearby, including Jordan and Victoria [Victoire] Turpin [Turpen/Turpan]. Five years after the census Jordan was convicted of murder.

Hezekiah and Lucinda also were enumerated in the censuses of 1860, 1870, and 1880 as residents of Section 10. In the 1850 census, Hezekiah was listed as H.G. Smith, in the 1860 census his name was given as Hendrick Smith, and ten years later it was recorded as Richard Smith. The Smiths had at least two children: Jane [Louise], born about 1857 in Virginia [Michigan], and Annabel [Anabel/Anna], who was born in Ohio around 1863 [1865]. In the 1880 census Annabel was listed as adopted. Lucinda died on March 6, 1884 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. On her Ottawa County death certificate, Lucinda's age was given as 50 years and one month, making her birth date February 1834, but her record at Spring Lake Cemetery cites that she was born in Cleveland, Ohio in 1825. The earlier year seems more likely, or she would have been only eight at the time of her marriage to Hezekiah. As with Hezekiah, her birth state was cited as Virginia in the 1870 census. It is best to say her place and date of birth are uncertain. On September 10, 1884, about six months after Lucinda's death, Hezekiah married Helen Bennett Hicks in Grand Haven. Helen's first husband, Albert Hicks, had died in 1882. Helen passed away on December 1, 1921 but was buried as Mrs. Helen Hicks with other members of the Hicks family. Apparently Hezekiah and Helen were divorced, because on July 28, 1894 Hezekiah obtained a license to marry 20-year-old Sarah Henderson. The young woman had second thoughts and the wedding never took place. On September 8, 1894 in Ferrysburg he married Sarah Henderson Miller, young Sarah's mother. Sarah the mother was born in 1825 in New York. On December 19, 1895 the Tribune reported Hezekiah was very ill. He died on January 7, 1896. After his death, Hezekiah's widow and her daughter Sarah moved to Grand Rapids. Hezekiah's place of burial is unknown. Jennie Katherine Tucker Smith [1882-1973]

Helen Magee, called Nellie in her early years, was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana on December 7, 1905. Her mother, Jeanette "Jennie" Katherine Tucker, married Edward Abner Magee in Grand Rapids on September 5, 1900. Edward, a carpenter, was born in Michigan in 1877 and died in Fort Wayne on September 18, 1918. Among their children were Robert William Magee, who was born in Fort Wayne on October 10, 1916; two Helen Loretta Magee, who was born on December 7, 1905 and married Fales Unger; and Lucille Evelyn Magee, who was born in Grand Rapids on April 30, 1912, married Edmund H. Davis [1914-1993], died on December 7, 1996 in Grand Rapids. Their other surviving children were Edward Abner Magee II [1908-1995]; and Mary Katherine Magee [1914-2006], who married Robert Daniels McCabe [1911-1982]. Fales Unger was born in Detroit on April 19, 1900 and died in East Grand Rapids on July 6, 1942.

On July 19, the year after Edward's death, Jennie married E. J. Smith. They were divorced in Grand Rapids on January 31, 1928 on grounds of cruelty. E.J. was born on January 6, 1884 and died in 1942. In 1940 Jennie and Robert, still single, shared a home in Lansing.

The depression and falling revenues led to foreclosure of Khardomah Lodge, located at 1365 Lake Avenue in Grand Haven. Built as a private cottage in 1873, the lodge was converted to commercial use in 1919. Otto and Lena Neuchterlein had owned it since the mid-1920s, but were unable to stay solvent. In 1937 the bank holding the mortgage sold it to Jennie. About that time rooms rented for $2.50 a night, and home-cooked meals were available for the guests. In 1945 Helen started co-managing the lodge with her mother Jennie. Jennie, who had been a cook at the Oval Inn coffee shop and other restaurants before she took title to Khardomah, continued to help Helen until she was in her 80s. Born on August 17, 1882, Jennie died in Grand Rapids on October 30, 1973 at the age of 91 and was buried at St. Andrew's Catholic Church Cemetery in Grand Rapids. Helen's sister, Lucille, also helped in the management of the business, which Steve and Carol Loftis bought in 1984. Lucille was born August 27, 1911, married William J. Davis in Grand Rapids on June 23, 1937, and passed away on December 5, 1987. Helen died in Boston, Ionia County on April 22, 1996.

Jeremiah [Jaramiah] Smith I [1839-1873]

Jeremiah Smith, born in 1839 in Scotland, had the distinction of being the first recorded burial in the newly opened Lake Forest Cemetery. He was a sailor who lost his life on September 15, 1873 when the steamer Ironsides sank in Lake Michigan, just off Highland Park. A Grand Haven cigar maker, Jeremiah was returning from Milwaukee on a business trip. Sometime before 1864 he married Ellen Leonard, who was born in 1842 in England and died of cancer on June 6, 1886 in Ottawa County. They had six children: Susan, who was born December 15, 1864 in Oswego, New York, married James Richard Connell, the son of Richard and Margaret Gibbs Connell, and died in Milwaukee on August 15, 1902; Robert, born in 1866 in Illinois; John, born in 1868 in Wisconsin; Walter, born in 1870 in Michigan; William, born in Michigan on November 12, 1871 and died the next day; and Jeremiah II, who was born in Michigan in 1873.

John Smith was born in Rostock, Germany on August 24, 1822. In his native land, he married Christina [Christena] Otto, who was born in Mecklenburg, Germany on April 18, 1823 [1824]. The couple came to the United States and settled in Grand Haven in 1857. Traveling with them were two daughters, Wilhelmina "Minnie" Elsie C. A., who was born in Mecklenburg on June 24, 1848, and Sophia [Sophie], who was born in Mecklenburg in August 1855 [1856]. On December 1, 1868 Minnie married Gottlieb Heinrich F. Ewald and moved to Ludington [see Wilhelmina "Minnie" Smith Ewald, 1848-1925]. Sophie married Horrace G. Nichols of Grand Haven. A son William was born on February 1, 1863, and five years later Edward C. was born. Christina passed away on April 22, 1892 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. John died on July 12, 1904.

Captain John Smith was for years a well-known marine man in the Grand Haven area. He lived from 1849 to September 26, 1896. His wife, Bridget, was born around 1856 in Grand Haven and died on June 3, 1921. Their children included James, David R. of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Charles Mosher of Detroit. The family resided at 832 Fulton Avenue. John was first mate on the steamer City of Milwaukee and a close friend of Captain Joshua Smallman. He also sailed on other Goodrich Steamers from the port of Grand Haven. He was a member of Highland Tent, Maccabees, and Free Masons. Captain Smith died on September 26, 1896 in Milwaukee. [Tribune obituary, June 4, 1921.]

Judson De Jonge [De Young] Smith [1880-1962]

Mural painter Judson De Jonge Smith was born in Grand Haven on July 4, 1880. His parents were Harrison [1855-1930] and Suzanna De Jonge [1862-1921] Smith. By 1900 he was living in Detroit. On November 7, 1903, he married Mary Du Frene [1878-1967] in Clarkston, Oakland County. They had one son and three daughters. Judson studied at the Detroit Institute of Art and was awarded a scholarship to the Art Students' League in New York. Known for his portrait, landscape, and mural paintings, he also was a teacher. He settled in Woodstock, New York, where he was named Director of the Woodstock School of Painting. In 1945, he was Professor of Art at the University of Texas. Judson died in Woodstock on December 29, 1962.

Le Moyne [Lemoyne] Seth Smith [1808-1894]

Born in Tompkins County, New York, on February 8, 1808, Le Moyne Smith arrived in Ionia County as a Presbyterian minister in 1837 and reportedly came to Ottawa County ten years later. However, he married Bridget Ann Hopkins in Ottawa County on November 18, 1838. Bridget, born in New York in 1818, was the daughter of Benjamin and Catherine Lowe Hopkins. On April 2, 1849 Le Moyne was elected moderator and treasurer at the first meeting of electors for the organization of Mill Point, where he had lived for two years while running the Mill Point Cheap Cash Store on the northeast corner of Park and Barber Streets. He was first postmaster of Spring Lake, from May 1, 1851 until his resignation in 1857, at a salary of $75 per year. Le Moyne planted a small orchard of apple and peach trees in Spring Lake in 1852. He helped in the formation of the Presbyterian Society of Mill Point in 1853. On December 1, 1855 he bought 36.64 acres in Section 18 of Crockery Township. The next year he was on a committee of the Ottawa County Agriculture Society.

Evidently something happened to Bridget, because in 1859 Le Moyne married Phebe L. Parmelee of Lyons, Ionia County [Kitchel, page 120], where Le Moyne was known to have preached. Phebe, a native of New York, was born around 1821. Le Moyne and his new wife settled in Grand Haven in 1862, and the next year he became publisher and editor of the Grand Haven Union. Healy C. Akeley was a silent partner until Le Moyne bought out his share. Republican in its leanings, the paper was sold to Nathan Church in June 1872, who ran it as an organ of the Democratic Party until after the 1872 election, when it ceased publication. Le Moyne was appointed by President Hayes to be postmaster in Grand Haven, a position he held from 1881 to 1885. For a time, Le Moyne was also assistant revenue assessor. He lived on the corner of Fourth and Washington. A great lover of nature, he wrote a number of poems for many occasions and conducted Sunday School at his home. Le Moyne died on January 23, 1894 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, January 23, 1894.]

Lora Avery Smith [1853- ?]

Born in Bennington, New York on March 3, 1853, Lora Smith began teaching at Grand Haven High School in 1877 and became principal two years later, a position she held into the early 1900s. In the 1880 census she was listed under the name Laura Smith as a single woman and teacher residing on Washington Street with Healy C. Akeley and his family. In 1911 she started a fund to finance the purchase of a set of Shakespeare's works as an award to be given to the winner of a "declamation" contest at Grand Haven High School.

Mino J. Smith [1885-1952]

On June 2, 1909, Mino Smith married Liebertha "Bertha" Kraai in Ottawa County. He was born in Olive Township on March 8, 1885, and Bertha was born in Olive Center on June 8, 1889. They had two children: Genevieve Angeline Smith, who was born on November 10, 1911, married James Marvin Joldersma [1912-1995], died in Grand Rapids on October 27, 2008, and was buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Holland, and Milton Smith, who was born on September 30, 1923 and died in Albion on March 22, 1982. The Smiths resided at 311 South Fifth Street. Mino worked as a gardener and caretaker. He died in Spring Lake on January 18, 1952 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. After his death, Bertha married Henry P. Casemier [1890-1974]. She passed away on December 30, 1984 in Holland and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Peter Smith [1835-1907]

Born on October 29, 1835 in Holstein, Germany, near Denmark, Peter Smith came to this country in 1854, settling first in New Orleans, where he was a steamboat pilot. He married Anna Katie Ahrens in 1855. Anna, also from Holstein, Germany, was born on March 18, 1833. They had one daughter, Ida Emma, born on August 30, 1865 in New Orleans. In 1873 Peter bought a fruit farm in Grand Haven Township. Anna tended to the fruit farm while Peter continued to work as a river pilot out of New Orleans. In 1882 their fruit farm was for sale. In 1900 Peter was still a river pilot in New Orleans, where he and Anna resided. Peter passed away on November 30, 1907 in New Orleans. Anna died in New Orleans on November 26, 1917.

Raymond L. Smith [1907-1983]

Raymond Smith was judge for the 20th Judicial Court of Ottawa and Allegan Counties for twenty-five years, at that time the longest tenure in the history of the district. Born in Holland on January 27, 1907, Raymond attended Holland schools. He received his law degree from Harvard in 1931 and returned to Holland to enter into a law partnership with Nelson A. Miles. Judge Smith replaced four Justices of the Peace when he was appointed Holland's first municipal judge in 1940 and held that appointment for eight years. He died on January 25, 1983 in Blue Lake, Kalkaska County.

Robert Alexander Smith [1871-1949]

Born in Chicago on January 12, 1871, Robert Smith by 1920 owned and carried a "fine line of groceries" at his store located at 1320 Washington. He resided nearby at 1314 Washington with his wife Laura, who was born in Saugatuck on November 22, 1872. They were married in Allegan County on June 5, 1907. Their children were Robert J., who was born on February 14, 1911 and passed away in Grand Haven on November 3, 1990, and Isabel Margaret Smith, who was born on May 30, 1913 and married William Preston Bilz of Spring Lake. By 1932 the family lived at 1221 Washington. Robert died on December 3, 1949 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Laura passed away on August 15, 1954 and also was buried at Lake Forest.

Theodore D. Smith [1853-1927]

Theodore Smith had a painting business in Spring Lake, under the name T. D. Smith. In the 1893 Compendium, he advertised "House and Carriage Painting, Paper Hanging, Decorating, Etc." Theodore, the son of William and Myrty Norton Smith, was born in New York in July 1853. His first wife, Louisa, was born in the same state about 1857. They had two daughters, Maud, born about 1878, and Ada, born about 1879. In 1891 he married Jenny [Jane] Marsh, who was born in Canada in 1858, passed away in 1939, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. By 1920 Theodore and Jenny were residing with their daughter Mildred in Muskegon. Theodore died in Muskegon in 1927.

Thomas G. Smith [1856-1923]

Born in Albion, Illinois on July 3, 1856, Thomas Smith attended the Wabash and McCormick Theological Seminaries. He became an ordained minister in Cairo, Illinois. He was pastor of the Spring Lake Presbyterian Church from 1915 to 1921 and passed away on May 26, 1923 in Mt. Plier, Ohio.

William "Colonel" Smith [1863-1924]

In William Smith's youth he worked at the Emlaw Sawmill in the Grand Haven area. He was a member of Company F, which mustered at the Grand Haven Armory on Second Street. On March 15, 1893, William Smith married Catherine, the daughter of Menke and Henrietta [Henretta] Van Zanten Dykhouse [Dykhuis]. Catherine died the following January 10 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. A daughter, Grace Kathryn Christine, had been born December 25, 1893. Grace married George Rosso of Grand Haven. After his first wife's death, William married Anna Klintworth, who was born in Michigan in March 1871. Anna was the daughter of Barthold and Anna Dammann Klintworth, who had emigrated from Germany and settled on a farm in Section 29 of Crockery Township. Anna and William resided at 529 Columbus and later at 603 Franklin. Arnold Edward. Smith, born on July 11, 1898, was their son, as was Harold Heinrich, who was born in September 1896 and later resided in Muskegon, where he owned a Schlitz Beer Distributorship. The son of John and Christina Otto Smith, immigrants from Germany, William was born in Grand Haven on March 7, 1863 and died in his hometown on December 4, 1924. He was a teamster and a fire fighter. Ed and William Smith were brothers.

William M. Smith II [1796-1877]

The son of William and Cordelia Smith, young William was born in Connecticut on December 25, 1796. His wife's name was Hannah. Among their children were Doncarlius, Sarah Ann, Hannah Emiline, Mary Olivia, and Harriet Corning. The family lived in Onondaga County, New York.

Hannah died in 1835, and the next year, in Oswego County, New York, William married Myrty [Myrta] Norton, who was born in 1814 in that state. In 1855 William and his second family moved to Spring Lake, where they were active in the Presbyterian Church. Their children, all born in New York, were Nathan, who was born about 1837 and in 1870 offered house painting services in Spring Lake; Frances, born about 1840; Helen "Nellie," born in 1843; James, who was born about 1847 and was a painter; Theodore, who was born about 1854 and also had a painting business; Clarence, who was born about 1855 and joined his brothers in the painting business; Martha; and Gerrit. Nathan's wife Celestia was born in New York about 1841. They had a son Vernon, born in Michigan around 1867 and by 1880 had moved to Shiawassee County. Nellie married William Fernando Robbins in Spring Lake on November 3, 1869. Fernando, who was born in Maine around 1840, managed a Spring Lake hotel. Frances married George Wilmot, who owned a harness shop in Spring Lake. In 1870 William was listed as a gardener. He died on October 26, 1877 in Spring Lake. Myrty died in 1892.

William T. Smith [1815- ?]

On September 2, 1855, William Smith married Lucinda Freeman, widow of Jeduthan Freeman. She was born about 1818. In 1860 the Smiths were living in Spring Lake Township. By then they had a three-year-old daughter, Louise Smith. William, a sailor, was born about 1815 and died before 1867. Lucinda was two years younger. On April 25, 1867, Lucinda married Joseph L Deremo.

John Smoes [1905-1990]

John Smoes of Coopersville was born on November 6 [5], 1905 and died on April 2, 1990. In 1930 he was a laborer in Polkton Township. John married Ruth, the daughter of Art and Alice Vander Meiden Kammeraad of Grand Haven. Ruth, a practical nurse, married John in the parlor of her family's residence near Lake Forest Cemetery. She was born on March 3, 1916 and died in July 1969 in Coopersville. Their children were Paul Ernest Smoes, born on July 22, 1935; Glenn Arthur Smoes, born on January 9, 1940; and Leon Smoes, who was born on September 17, 1944, married Sharon Lenz on December 4, 1965 in Wayland, and died in Grand Rapids on August 31, 1995. [Tribune obituary, September 2, 1995.]

Febian "February" Snay [1810-1876] and Harriet Snay [1827-1872]

Harriet, the daughter of one of the lesser chiefs of the Ottawa Indians, was born in 1827. She married Febian "February" Snay [Senet] who traveled with Louis Campau and his family from Detroit to West Michigan in 1830. The two were employed by the Hudson Bay Company. They established a fur trading post in the area later known as Grand Rapids. February was born in L'Anse Creuse, Macomb County, on February 23, 1810. He is on record as serving as private in Joseph Marsac's Company between May 22 and May 28, 1832, during the Black Hawk War.

February left the Hudson Bay Company and by the time of the 1850 census was living in Spring Lake Township, where he built a home for his family. Only Harriet was noted as being "Red" [Indian]. [Contrary to the Federal Census of 1850, their son Joseph Snay's obituary stated that the family moved to Pigeon Creek about 1848 and remained there eleven years.] February and Harriet had at least eight children, all born in Michigan: Mary, born about 1838; Cicilia, born about 1840; Magdalena/Magdalena/Madeline, born about 1842; Magareta/Margareth/Margaret, who was born on January 1, 1849 [1843] in Grand Haven and married Joseph Shashaguay; Joseph, who was born on October 12 [22], 1844 and died in 1925; another daughter named Mary, who was born on November 28, 1848 and married John Paul Shashaquay; Therdia/Theresia/Theresa, born about 1850; and John, born in November 1854. Therdia and John were born in Spring Lake. On September 8, 1860 in Grand Haven, Magdalena married Louis [Lewis] Phillip Dushane of Grand Haven Township. The son of Charles and Cornelia Dushane, he was born about 1840. In 1850 the Snays were neighbors of the Robert Darby family, and ten years later they were neighbors of Jean Baptiste Parrisien in Grand Haven.

February was counted again as a resident of Ottawa Township in the Federal Census of 1860. He was recorded as being 48 years old. With him were Harriet, 35; Mary, 22; Madelaide, 16; Margaret, 14; Joseph 12; John, 8; Sarah, 10; and Eliza, 6. Paul Chestowa, a 26-year-old Indian, was living with them. February was a farmer.

Three of the Snays' children, Joseph, Theresa, and John, were included in the 1908 Durant Roll, with "Mrs. Soot Snay" [Harriet] listed as their ancestor. Mrs. Snay appeared in the 1870 Census and Annuity Roll as a member of Chief Penayse's band of Ottawa Indians. She received $61.20. Soot may have been another name for February. In the Roll, February's daughter Theresa was listed as a single woman, 59 years old and residing in Grand Rapids. "Mrs. Sol Snay," still referring to Harriet, was in the 1868 Census of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians, as a member of Chief Penayse's band; and received $63.40. In the 1865 Annuity Roll, the entry "Mrs. Sor. Snay's Chn. [children] appeared; they received an annuity in the amount of $19.60. In 1864, a similar listing for her children showed an award of $13.68; they at that time were members of Chief Payshawsegay's band.

Harriet died of diphtheria on November 12, 1872 in Saugatuck and was buried at Douglas Cemetery in Douglas, Allegan County. February died on April 14, 1876 and was buried with his wife.

A descendant of the Snay family offered this information: "Febian Snay was my 2nd great grandfather. He was born in 1812 in what was then the territory of Michigan. He was alleged to have assisted one of the founding father's [sic] of Grand Rapids, MI set up an Indian fur trading post on the banks of the Grand River in 1826. . . . He later married a Native American and fished the waters in and around Lake Michigan. His sons also lived off fishing and navigating western Michigan waterways. My great grandfather, Joseph Fabian Snay, also served in the Civil War.

"The above facts I have verified. Family folklore asserts that the Snay's [sic], some of French Canadian heritage, also helped Jesuit missionary Father Marquette explore the upper Midwest in the late seventeenth century. This link has not been verified. Shannon Richards Date February 12, 1999." [findagrave.com]

John Snay, the son of February [Febian] and Harriet Snay, was born at Little Pigeon Creek, south of Grand Haven, on October 28, 1848 [November 1854], the seventh of their eight children. He left the Grand Haven area at age 12 to go on his own as a fisherman in northern Michigan. Three years later he returned to his hometown and found work as a ship's carpenter. Eventually he earned the title of captain. In 1903 he commanded the steamer Ottawa, and in 1917 he was commander of the tug Ida M. Stevens, which went ashore halfway between Grand Haven and Muskegon, and the tug Trio. He also piloted the May Graham. By 1920 he was working as a carpenter.

John married Mary Haller in Macomb County on September 21, 1880. She was born in Allegan County on March 20, 1859. Mary also was known as Mary Jane Marks. Their daughter, Jennie [Mary Jane], was born in Saugatuck on January 7, 1878. The three of them resided at 211 Madison and later at 321 Second Street in Grand Haven. John, who was part Ottawa through his mother, was listed in the 1893 Business Compendium as a Grand Haven resident, but he was not included in the 1908 City Directory. John, Jennie, and another daughter, Fannie, were included in the August 5, 1895 Census of Potawatomis of Indiana and Michigan as residents of Grand Haven. John's age was given as 48, Jennie's as 24, and Fanny's as 21. Jennie graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1898, under the name Mary Jane Snay. In 1900 John, Mary, and Jennie lived at 165 Columbus Street and were classified as White. John's name also appeared in the 1904 Taggart Roll of Potawatomi Indians in Michigan. Listed with him were his daughter Jennie, age 24, and Fannie, age 21.

John and Jennie were listed in the 1908 Durant Roll as members of the Grand River Bands of Ottawa Indians. His ancestor was "Mrs. Soot Snay," who was included in the 1870 Census and Annuity Roll as the recipient of $61.20. She was a member of Chief Penayse's band of Ottawas. Jennie married John Washburn and died in Detroit on February 4, 1940. She was buried at Forest Lawn Cemetery in that city.

In 1920 the Snays resided at 211 Madison Street; again, John and Mary were listed as White. Mary died while visiting her daughter in Grand Rapids on October 1, 1924. John moved to Grand Rapids shortly after his wife's death, passed away there on September 28, 1942, and was buried at Oakwood Cemetery in Muskegon with Mary. Joseph Febian Snay I [1844-1925]

The son of Febian and Harriet Snay, Joseph was born at Campau’s trading post in Grand Rapids on October 12, 1844. About 1848 the family moved to Pigeon Creek in Ottawa County and remained there for eleven years. [See also Harriet Snay.] Joseph started sailing when he was 15 years old and remained a sailor the rest of his life. His obituary gave him the title captain. He also served in the Army during the Civil War. [This Joseph Snay may be confused with another Joseph Snay, who at the age of 24 on September 24, 1861 enlisted in Grand Rapids in Company C of the 1st Michigan Engineers and was mustered out on August 4, 1863; he resided in Blendon Township and his wife’s name was Abigail.]

On November 3, 1885 Joseph married Mary Ann Spoons in Grand Haven. [Their marriage also was listed as taking place on October 25, 1894 in Grand Haven.] Mary Ann, the daughter of John and Ellen Kibby [Kibbs] Spoons, was born in Grand Haven on June 4, 1864. John Spoons was born in Canada and Ellen in Ireland. Shortly after their 1885 marriage Joseph and Mary Ann moved to Saugatuck, where they remained for the rest of their lives. One child, Maynard J., was born in Saugatuck on September 17 [27], 1907, died in Grand Rapids on March 21, 1971, and was buried at Washington Park Memorial Cemetery in Grand Rapids. Their other children were Laura, born about 1889; Joseph II, who was born in 1893, served as corporal in the Army during WWI, died on April 8, 1937, and was buried at Riverside Cemetery in Saugatuck; Minnie, born on November 2, 1895; George, born about 1899; John, born about 1905; and Robert E., who was born on October 29, 1910, died on June 11, 1951, and was buried at Riverside Cemetery.

Joseph I, Laura, Joseph II, and George W. were included in the August 5, 1895 Census of Potawatomis of Indiana and Michigan as residents of Saugatuck, and they were listed also in the 1904 Taggart Roll of Potawatomi Indians, still in Saugatuck. In the 1908 Roll, Joseph [Joe] lived in Saugatuck with his wife, who was White, and their children: Laura, age 20; Joseph II, 16; and George, 10. His mother, listed as “Mrs. Soot Snay,” was included in the 1870 Census and Annuity Roll and earlier as a member of the Grand River Bands of Ottawas.

Mary Ann died on March 24, 1939 in Saugatuck and was buried at Riverside Cemetery in that city. Joseph passed away on January 6, 1925, and also was buried at Riverside Cemetery. [Undated obituary, Commercial Record, Saugatuck.]

Laurence Harold Snodgrass [1939-1995] and Mary Lou Snodgrass-Wright [1940-2020]

Born on September 16, 1939 in Mount Clemens, Macomb County, Laurence Snodgrass married Mary Lou Jones on April 14, 1962. She was born in Detroit on December 27, 1940. Laurence, who served with the U.S. Marine Corps in the late 1950s, died on November 11, 1995 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Mary Lou was realtor with James W. Oakes Company in Grand Haven and served on the Grand Haven School Board. She was a member of the Grand Haven Woman’s Club, Eagles, Women’s Division of the Chamber of Commerce, and Counterpart. She and Charles Lee Wright were married on October 29, 1999. Charles was born about 1941. Mary Lou passed away on August 11, 2020.

In 1910 Robert Snow was foreman at American Brass Foundry at 500 Water Street [now South Harbor Drive]. He and his family resided at 410 Howard Street before moving to 520 Lake Avenue in Grand Haven. Robert married Emily Crosdale in Clyde, Illinois on October 29, 1903. They were divorced in Wayne County on April 12, 1922. They had three children. On November 18, 1922 Robert married Frances Campbell in St. Clair County. On January 29, 1931 he married Ann Marie Elizabeth Ranger in Flint. Robert was born in Lanark, Illinois on August 3, 1883 and died in February 1963.

James Snyder was born on July 11, 1909 and passed away in Spring Lake on April 15, 1983. On October 26, 1940 he married Hallie Elizabeth Ellis in Tallmadge Township. The daughter of Fred S. and Ruth E. Buck Ellis, Hallie was born in Grand Rapids on February 26, 1919. She received an associate degree from Grand Rapids Junior College and retired from Spring Lake schools, where she was an executive secretary. Hallie was a member of Spring Lake Presbyterian Church, and she was active with the Grand Haven and Coopersville historical museums. James's and Hallie's children were Phyllis, who married Dennis Simonis of Grand Haven, and James Richard, who was born on October 15, 1945, relocated to West Olive, died on November 24, 2008 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. James and Hallie resided at 306 North Lake Avenue in Spring Lake. Hallie passed away in Grand Haven on December 15, 2005 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, December 16, 2005 and November 26, 2008.]

William Andrew Snyder [1839 -1923]

Born in 1839 in Columbia County, Ohio, William Snyder spent most of his working life on steamboats. From 1861 to 1864 he was in the U.S. Navy, and during most of that time he was in charge of freight transportation on the Mississippi River. He came to Grand Haven in 1869. The next year he was classified as a steamboat engineer, and ten years later he owned his own tugboat. Captain Snyder ran the first winter boat on the east shore of Lake Michigan. He was collector and superintendent of the Grand Haven Tug Association. In 1874 he was captain of the steamer City of Duluth, and he owned several boats. During 1879 and 1880 he built the tug Lizzie Frank. He also built the first low-pressure walking beam engine to ply the Ohio River. He retired from sailing the Great Lakes in 1875. In 1857 William married Alice Stoneford, who was born in July 1838 in Germany. They had six children: Charles, born about 1860; George, who lived from 1864 to 1873; Elizabeth, who was born in 1869 and died in 1955; George [named for his deceased brother], who was born in 1874 and died in 1945; Frank, born in 1878; and Arthur, who was born in 1880 and died in his second year. The three older children were born Illinois, and the three younger ones were born in Grand Haven. In 1880 the family resided on Second Street. Alice passed away in Seattle, Washington on June 4, 1906. William died on April 11, 1923 in Seattle.

George C. Sole [1829-1901]

Born in Sacketts Harbor, New York in January 1829 [1830], George Sole settled first in Eastmanville and then in Grand Haven, where he became a ship's carpenter. In his later years he was widely known as the best fisherman and guide in the area for summer tourists. His wife, Mary J., was a New York native, where she was born in June 1837. Their children, all born in Michigan, were Mary L., born about 1864; Jennetta, born about 1867; and George H., born in April 1870. George the elder died on May 10, 1901.

Henry William Solms I [1815-1892]

Henry Solms, a native of Germany, lived from March 18, 1815 to March 7, 1892, and his wife, Elizabeth, also from Germany, lived from July 23, 1813 to November 15, 1882. Henry II was their son.

Henry William Solms II [1836-1910]

Henry Solms and his wife, Henrietta Oosterhouse, lived at 619 Washington in Grand Haven. Henry was the son of Henry and Elizabeth Solms I. He and Henrietta were married in New York City on October 2, 1859 and were in Grand Haven by the mid-1870s. Henry worked in a local sawmill in the 1880s. He was listed as a "laborer" in the 1893 Compendium. Their first two children, born in New York City, were Henry III, who was born on June 14, 1860 and died on April 27, 1862; and Matilda Elizabeth who was born on March 16, 1862 and died in 1930. Next was William Julius, who was born in Brooklyn, New York on July 5, 1864 and resided in Jersey City, New Jersey. The next two children were born in Brooklyn, New York: John Frederick "Fred," who was born on October 8, 1866 and died on May 23, 1913; and Henry Nicklous, born on November 15, 1868. The remaining children were born in Grand Haven: Clara Francis, born on December 19, 1871; John Martin, who was born on May 21, 1875 and died on June 28, 1882; Elizabeth Mary Sophia, who was born on September 8, 1877 and married Louis [Lewis] Slaughter; George Arthur, who was born on August 15, 1880, became a teamster, and died on August 22, 1928; and Charles William, who was born on May 9, 1883 and became a cornice maker. Henry II was born in New York on October 2, 1836 and died in Grand Haven on February 12, 1910. Henrietta lived from March 28, 1842 to July 17, 1916. They were buried with several of their children, George, John, and Matilda, at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Thomas Somerset owned a 337-acre farm in Sections 30 and 31 of Crockery Township. His land, bordering the Grand River, was frequented by the Fort Village band of Ottawa Indians that once inhabited the area called Battle Point. Cobmoosa was their chief. In 1878 Ottawa Indians Anroine Comoosa, Mesuebequa Cobmoosa, and Wasaya deeded property they owned at Fort Village to the Somersets. The Somerset farm was on part of the Indians' burial grounds. Thomas traveled to Grand Rapids, where on May 13, 1861 he enlisted as private in Company I of the 3rd Michigan Infantry. He was wounded on May 12, 1864 at the Battle of Spottsylvania Court House and discharged the following June 20. Thomas, who was born on August 16, 1841, died on February 2, 1900. His wife, Katherine [Catherine], was born in New York around 1845 and died about February 10, 1893. Their children were Louisa, who was born in Robinson Township on August 3, 1868; Allace [Alice], born about 1870; Ada [Addioe], who was born on March 5, 1872 in Crockery Township; Georgia, who was born in Crockery on October 7, 1874; and an unnamed infant, who was born in the summer of 1880.

Jack Somerville [Summerville, Sommerville] [1816-1865]

A Grand Haven Tribune article on May 2, 1913 listed 13 Black Civil War soldiers who had volunteered for service while residing in Ottawa County. Jack Somerville was among those cited. On February 18, 1864, Jack, enlisted as private in Company E of the 1st Infantry Colored Regiment, later known as the 102nd United States Colored Infantry. He was buried on July 28, 1865 at Beaufort National Cemetery, South Carolina. [The date of his death was April 30, 1862, according to the 1882 History of Ottawa and Muskegon Counties.] Jack was included in the 1860 Federal Census as a "farm hand" living in Saint Mary's, Maryland.

Frederick F. Sommers [1842-1912]

Born in Germany in 1842, Frederick Sommers arrived in Detroit at the age of two. Upon settling in Grand Haven, he owned and operated the Grand Haven Match Factory in 1884 and another match factory in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. In 1889 the Diamond Match Company bought his business and in 1893 he moved to the Saginaw area and formed the Sommers Match Company. He left three sons and four daughters when he passed away in Saginaw on May 9, 1912. [Tribune obituary, May 9, 1912.]

Francis R. Sonrel I [1869-1948]

Francis Sonrel owned a 90-acre dairy farm in Sections 4 and 5 of Grand Haven Township [14371 Lakeshore Drive]. The dairy farm, south of Comstock Road, was split by Lakeshore Drive. Francis was born in 1869 in Switzerland and his wife, Rosa Zwygart, was born in the same country in 1877. They immigrated to the United States in 1890, settling first in Milwaukee and coming to Grand Haven about 1903, the year their home was constructed. Frank Sonrel and Rosa had a son, Francis II, born in Wisconsin on August 24, 1905. They also had a daughter, Rosa, who was born in Grand Haven on August 18, 1907 and married Lewis Clark of Grand Haven Township. Another son, Robert, was born on September 4, 1913. Other children were Elizabeth; Julien, who was born in Wisconsin in 1900 and died in 1967; Clara, who was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin on October 4, 1901, married Robert C. Dunn, moved to Muskegon, and died in 1997; and Martha, who was born locally on March 27, 1909, married C.D. Blanchard, moved to Lansing, and died in Grand Haven on November 18, 1995. Francis died in 1948 and Rosa in 1931. Both were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery.

Francis R. Sonrel II [1905-1986]

Francis was born in Wisconsin on August 24, 1905 and died in Grand Haven on September 24, 1986. His wife, Georgie, was born in Washington on September 21, 1900 and died in Grand Haven on January 17, 1982. Both were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Francis and his brother Robert owned and operated the Washington Garage at 11 Washington in the late 1920s and into the 1930s.

Robert R. Sonrel [1913-1996]

Robert Sonrel and his wife, Camilla N., lived at 14371 Lakeshore Drive. Robert, the son of Francis Sonrel I, was born on September 4, 1913 and died in Grand Haven on February 24, 1996. He and his brother Francis owned and operated the Washington Garage at 11 Washington in the late 1920s and into the 1930s. Camilla lived from August 18, 1916 to October 24, 1977. Their children attended Rosy Mound School, as had Robert.

Josephene A. Schippers Sorensen [1905-1994]

Born on September 26, 1905 to Dan and Anna Volkema Schippers, Josephene graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1923. She married Milo Sorensen on August 11, 1939. For 35 years she worked as legal secretary for the Misner & Ponstein Law Firm, located on the corner of Third and Washington Streets. After retiring from that job, she worked for Grand Haven Jewelry for ten years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. She died on November 30, 1994 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, December 1, 1994.]

Ambrose Latten Soule I [1801-1857]

Ambrose L. Soule I was a native of Dutchess County, New York, and lived from June 26, 1801 to June 24, 1857. On March 10, 1824 Ambrose married Ruth Paddock Brown, a widow, in New York State. Ruth lived from 1804 to 1851. She and Rhoda Paddock, wife of Benjamin Soule, were sisters. Their sons were Ambrose II, born in Onondaga County, New York in 1838; Charles Edward I, born in Geauga County, Ohio on September 20, 1842; James Benjamin, born in Geauga County, Ohio on April 2, 1843; and Carlos, born in Ohio about 1848. Their daughters, all born in New York, were Annetta, born about 1832; Sarah J., born about 1834; Julia, who was born in Dutchess County, New York on October 16, 1836 and married Edward L. Craw of Spring Lake and Grand Rapids; and Julius M., born about 1839. After Ruth's death, Ambrose I married Sophia Everest in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, on September 9, 1851. Ambrose I was credited with establishing the town of Muir, Ionia County, in 1854.

Ambrose Latten Soule II [1838-1905]

In 1860 Ambrose Soule II was a resident of Ionia County, where his parents resided. On September 17, 1862 he went to Grand Rapids to enlist in Company E of the Michigan 6th Cavalry as second lieutenant. On October 23, 1863 he transferred to Company G of the 10th Michigan Cavalry, and on September 2, 1865 he was promoted to captain. He was mustered out on November 11, 1865. Ambrose owned considerable acreage throughout Michigan. In 1860 he was residing in Lyons, Ionia County, in 1870 he was a horticulturalist in Spring Lake, and he remained in that area into the 1880s. By 1890 he was living in Minnesota. A monument was erected in his name at Spring Lake Township Cemetery.

Born in Onondaga County, New York, Ambrose lived from 1838 to January 13, 1905. The wife of Ambrose II was named Margaret. She was born about 1845 in New York. Ambrose and Margaret had at least two children, George and Anna.

Benjamin Birdsall Soule [1810-1900]

In 1860 Benjamin Soule was a lumberman and attorney in Ionia County. Five years later he purchased 90 acres in Section 14 of Spring Lake Township, land previously owned by William and Shirley Hammond. Benjamin married his first wife, Matilda Miller in 1832. Not long after Matilda's death the next year, Benjamin married Rhoda Paddock. She lived from 1810 to 1882, moved from Muir, Ionia County to the Spring Lake farm in the 1870s. Benjamin operated a dairy farm there and raised fruit. Born in Dutchess County, New York on May 20, 1810, he died in Spring Lake on January 27, 1900. Ten years after his death the Spring Lake Country Club purchased 140 acres of his land for $6,000 and for 15 years or so used the farmhouse as its clubhouse. A native of New York State like her husband, Rhoda lived from April 20, 1810 to August 10, 1882. Benjamin was the uncle of Charles Soule, also an attorney.

Benjamin Harrison Soule [1888-1967]

Benjamin Harrison Soule was born in Spring Lake in 1888 and died in 1967. He was the son of Frederick and Cassie Soule. In 1930 he was a die maker. He married Ruth L., the daughter of John and Louise Brunsell Linn of Spring Lake. The Soules had three children, including Virginia Soule Nichols, who moved to Fredonia, New York. Ruth, who was born in Illinois on November 5, 1896, died in Spring Lake on April 25, 1979. She and Benjamin were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Charles Edward Soule I [1842–1925]

A nephew of Benjamin Soule, Charles was born in Geauga County, Ohio, on September 20, 1842, the son of Ambrose Latten I and Ruth Paddock Soule. Young Soule moved with his parents to Ionia County in 1855, when he was 13. He studied at Hillsdale College, graduated from the University of Michigan Law School in 1866, and was admitted to law practice the same year. Charles became judge of probate for Ottawa County, a post he held between 1885 and 1893, and he was circuit court commissioner for three terms. From 1876 to 1883 he had a partnership with William N. Angel and in 1893 and 1894 he was associated with George A. Farr. On July 6, 1863 Charles enlisted as first lieutenant in the 10th Michigan Cavalry and was discharged for disability on December 21, 1864, almost nine months after he had transferred from Field and Staff to Company K of the same regiment. After the war, he was a prominent figure in the Grand Army of the Republic statewide and locally, including the local Weatherwax Post #75, which he helped organize. Charles continued his law practice, but in 1868 he bought a 40-acre farm in Section 11 of Spring Lake Township where he grew peaches. The area later was known as Stuart Point. On June 29, 1872 he attended a meeting of the Michigan State Pomological Society in Benton Harbor and delivered a paper on “The Best Peach.” His wife went with him, as well as his brothers Ambrose and James. Charles also maintained a dairy farm.

On September 16 [20], 1867 in Grand Haven [Milwaukee], Charles married Lucinda [Lennie] Saxton Hall, who was born in Shelburne, Vermont, on July 12, 1843 and had come to Ionia with her parents, Lyman and Lucinda Hall. The newly-weds moved to Spring Lake the year following their marriage, and then onto Grand Haven five years after that, following a fire that destroyed their Spring Lake home. With William Angel, Charles purchased a large piece of lake frontage in Section 19, which became known as North Shore. A portion of this land was bought by the U.S. Government on January 22, 1922 as the site for the new Coast Guard Station. About 1881 Charles contracted to have the family residence built at 527 Lafayette in Grand Haven. He and his wife had five surviving children: Mary Laura Soule, born on May 7, 1869; Charles Edward Soule, born on January 27, 1871; Fayette Fletcher Soule, born on January 25, 1877; Julia Soule, born on March 4, 1873; and Leila Ruth Soule, who was born on September 13, 1881 and married George L. Bitting. Mary Laura, Julia, and Leila Ruth all became teachers. Mary became the first president of the Tuesday Musicales in Grand Haven. Charles and Lucinda also owned a cottage on the North Shore. Named Greystone Manor, the structure was built in 1892 and was inherited by Soule’s daughter, Julia. When Julia died in 1945, the North Shore property [20053 North Shore Drive] went to Soule “Bill” Tryon Bitting, son of George and Leila Ruth Bitting and grandson of Judge Soule. Thirty-one years later, in 1976, it was inherited by Bitting’s widow Peggy, who was still the owner of record in 1999. Charles died on January 3, 1925 and Lucinda died May 31 the next year. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, January 5, 1925.]

Charles Edward Soule II [1871-1951]

The son of Charles and Lucinda Hall Soule, Edward was born on January 27, 1871 on the family’s peach farm in Spring Lake. His formative years were spent at 527 Lafayette Street in Grand Haven, and he graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1889. Edward, as he was known, became an attorney and moved to Cleveland and then to Los Angeles, California. Edward at one time was Assessor for the City of Grand Haven. Ruth Walley was one of his children. Edward died in Orange County, California on January 23, 1951. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Eva Jane Soule [1884-1968]

Eva was born in Spring Lake on November 10, 1884, the daughter of Frederick and Cassie Soule of Spring Lake. On Eva worked in Chicago as a secretary. October 26, 1912 in Chicago, she married Peter J. Vander Meiden of Grand Haven. He was born on August 14, 1887. When Peter retired from the Chicago Police Department, the couple moved to Holland, Michigan. Eva passed away on December 1, 1968 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. He died on September 24, 1955.

Fayette Fletcher Soule [1877-1946]

The son of Charles and Lucinda Hall Soule, Fayette was born in Grand Haven on January 25, 1877. On October 19, 1901 he married Isabel Atkinson in Chicago. She was born on July 16, 1880 in Chicago and died in Pensacola, Florida on March 9, 1964. Fayette died in the same city on March 28, 1946. Their three children were all born in Illinois. In 1910 Fayette was living in Chicago, and by 1930 he was a bridge engineer in Escambia, Florida.

Frederick A. Soule [1852-1903]

Frederick Soule was born in New York in January 1852. He and his wife, Cassie, raised four children on a 263-acre dairy farm in Section 14 of Spring Lake Township: Virginia; Rhoda Mae, born on November 21, 1883; Eva, born in November 1884; and Benjamin Harrison, born in December 1887. Carl A. Soule, who was born in Sweden on February 8, 1880 and died in Spring Lake on July 2, 1973, was half-brother to the others. Cassie, a native of Sweden, lived from May 1855 [1856] to 1934 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with her husband, who died on November 30, 1903. [Tribune obituaries, November 30 and December 1, 1903.]

James Benjamin Soule [1843-1928]

On August 28, 1863 James Soule enlisted at Muir, Ionia County, in Company G of the 10th Michigan Cavalry, the same unit as his brother Charles, with the rank of private. He was promoted to sergeant on October 6, 1863 and was mustered out on November 11, 1865. James was born in Geauga County, Ohio, on April 2, 1843. His parents were Ambrose L. and Ruth Paddock Soule. James died on June 5, 1928 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Julia Soule was born in Spring Lake on March 4, 1873, the daughter of Charles and Lucinda Hall Soule. She moved to Grand Haven when the family home burned down around 1881, and for 64 years lived at 527 Lafayette. After graduating from Grand Haven High School in 1891, she attended Hillsdale College and the University of Michigan. She received a lifetime teaching certificate from Central Michigan in 1918. Julia taught in Grand Haven High School from 1895 to 1904, taught in Evanston, Illinois for two years, and then returned to be principal of the Ottawa County Normal School, located in Grand Haven, between 1908 and 1917, years when Dr. Lawrence vanden Berg was superintendent of Grand Haven schools. In 1918 she taught under Dr. vanden Berg at Oswego, New York, then taught in Cleveland until 1921, when she returned once more to Grand Haven and taught American history at the Junior High School until her retirement in 1938. She was active in the Red Cross and the Woman's Club, and she was a founding member of the Grand Haven Christian Science Church, officially organized in 1910.

Julia's sister Leila Ruth was on September 13, 1881 and on June 21, 1913 in Grand Haven married George Louis Bitting I, who was born in Illinois on May 24, 1876. Their children were George L. II, born about 1914; Soule T., born about 1916; and James T., born about 1917. Leila passed away on June 21, 1931 and George died on October 2, 1949; they were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. The Soules her sister Mary, raised the Bittings' children. See Soule Bitting for more detail.

In 1927 Julia bought Windydune, a two-story, cinder block cottage on the North Shore, when there were only two other cottages on that side of the river, one belonging to George and Cora Christmas of Grand Haven. The Lifeguard Station also was nearby. At that time, the only direct access to the cottage from Grand Haven was by rowboat. Three cottages fronted the lake: Windydune, built in 1916 by Louise Andrews of Elsah, Illinois; Greystone Manor; and The Surf. Shortly after Julia died at her home on Lafayette Street on May 31, 1945, the cottage was sold to Henrietta Van Dyk. Julia was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, May 31, 1945.]

Mary Laura Soule [1869-1948]

Mary Laura Soule, the daughter of Charles and Lucinda Soule, was born on May 7, 1869. She taught music in the Grand Haven Public Schools for many years. Mary attended St. John's Episcopal Church and was its organist. She and her sister Julia shared the house at 527 Lafayette Street, where Mary continued to live after Julia's death in 1945. She died on October 7, 1948 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. See Julia Soule for more detail.

Rhoda Mae Soule [1883-1969]

Born in Spring Lake on November 21, 1883, Rhoda Soule was the daughter of Frederick and Cassie Soule. In 1930 she was a stenographer for a lumber company in Grand Rapids. Rhoda died on February 25, 1969 and was buried at Spring Lake Township. She resided at 17347 Fruitport Road in Spring Lake Township.

Robert F. Soule [1922–1987]

A county commissioner for Spring Lake Township, Robert Soule was active in the Tri-Cities Historical Society and served as its president. On January 18, 1946 he married Elizabeth Ann Carrithers, who was born December 17, 1912 and died in Spring Lake on March 5, 1979. Robert was born on November 6, 1922 and died on May 1, 1987 in Spring Lake. The Soules resided at 202 East Savidge. Husband and wife were buried at Spring Lake Township Cemetery.

Milo Douglas Sovis I [1909-1992]

A native of Cicero, Illinois, where he was born on September 4, 1909, Milo Sovis became a resident of Grand Haven. He married Jennie Helmers of Grand Haven in 1929. The next year the couple lived at 1044 Washington for a short time before moving to 1026 Washington. They resided in several other houses prior to relocating to 119 South Third in June 1937. Jennie was born in Michigan on October 19, 1909 and passed away in Grand Haven on March 27, 1995. In 1930 Milo worked at the Brass Foundry. By the late 1940s he was foreman at the Oldberg Company. The family belonged to the First Reformed Church. The Sovises had five children, all born in Grand Haven: Elaine, who was born on August 4, 1930 and married Jim Griswold; Robert, who was born on November 10, 1931 and retired to Jupiter, Florida; Beverly, who was born on May 24, 1939 and married Robert Avery of Grand Haven; Milo Douglas II, born on February 8, 1942; and Kenneth Charles, born on October 11, 1944. Milo died on July 2, 1992. He and Jennie were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Charles J. Spadafore [Spatifore] [1881-1957]

Born in Italy in 1881, Charlie Spadafore owned a fruit and confectionary store at 126 Washington. He and his wife, Rose, resided at the same address. She was born in Italy the same year as her husband. Their children, all born in Michigan, were William, born about 1904, Virginia, born about 1906, and Louis, born about 1908. Charlie bought the business around 1908 from Hepple Spagnolo and sold it in 1911 to Louis Fortino. Charlie then opened another fruit outlet at 104 Washington. Rose lived from 1881 to 1959, Charles died in 1957. Both were buried at Mount Hope Cemetery in Pontiac.

Hepple [Hipple, Ippolito] Spagnolo [1874- ?]

In 1908 Hepple Spagnolo sold his fruit and candy store at 126 Washington to Charlie Spadafore. Hepple and Amelia Spagnolo lived on the second floor at the same address. Hepple was born in Italy on May 28, 1874 and immigrated to the United States when he was 13. Amelia was born in the same country about 1892. By 1910 Hepple and Amelia were sharing the upstairs apartment with Charlie and Rose Spadafore and were listed in the 1910 census as Charlie's in-laws. A cousin, also named Hepple Spagnolo, was living at the same address.

Johann "John" N. Spangler [1850-1930]

Born in Bavaria, Germany on May 25, 1850, John Spangler arrived in the United States soon after. He held the office of school director and pathmaster in Robinson Township for nine years. He was the father of Jack Spangler, who was deputy sheriff of Ottawa County. His wife was Augusta Janke, whom he married in Milwaukee. They lived on a 100-acre farm in Robinson Township. John died on January 28, 1930 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. The Spanglers' son, Johann Joseph Spangler, was born in Grand Haven on May 30, 1901.

Henry G. Spear [1854-1924]

Around 1900 Henry Spear and Clemens Bement owned Spear & Bement, "Manufacturers of Fish, Syrup and Pickle Packages, Flour, Fruit, and all kinds of slack barrels." The company was located in Grand Haven. Henry was born in Maine on August 12, 1854. He was a cooper by trade. He married Ida Williams, who, was a native of Nova Scotia, where she was born in September 1857. She immigrated to the United States in 1880. Henry and Ida had six children: Ora M., born in Wisconsin in December 1884; Grace, born in Minnesota in August 1887; Henry, born in Grand Haven in July 1890; Mabel, born in Michigan in December 1891; Marian, born in Michigan February 1894; and Marvin, born in Michigan in July 1899. Henry died on December 19, 1924 in Kalamazoo and was buried at Riverside Cemetery. Ida passed away in 1930 and was buried near her husband.

Peter [Pieter] Speelman [1854-1916]

Born in The Netherlands on April 14, 1854. Peter Speelman on July 14, 1887 married Johanna "Anna" Sleutel. He was employed by the Eagle Ottawa Leather Company. Among their children was Nellie Speelman, who was born in Grand Haven on July 7, 1891 and married George Truman Conant. The Speelman family resided at 601 Monroe Street and later at 431 Elliott Street. Peter died in 1916, and Anna lived from 1864 to 1926. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. After Peter's death, Anna married Miles Luther Eggleston and continued to live in the house until her death. Miles had been married twice before. Anna's and Peter's great-grandson, Charles Fuller, in 2020 purchased the home on Elliott Street as a residence for him and his wife Kim. Nellie Conant was Chuck's grandmother

Isadore Noantay [Naughty] and his wife Josets [Josette/Josetha] had a daughter Jessica [Teresa], who was born in Michigan about 1844. She married Jacob John Speidel, who generally went by his middle name. Isadore was of French and Indian descent. According to the 1860 census, John, Jessica, and their daughter, Julia [Julia Ann/Jenien], born about April 1860, resided with Isadore and Josets in Grand Haven Township. John, who was born in Germany about 1834, immigrated to the United States in 1852. By 1904 he was a widower and living in Ludington. Living with him in 1910 were his two sons, John and Charles. Three years later the widower was residing with his son Charles and his family in Ludington. John the elder died on February 8, 1915 in Hesperia, Oceana County and was buried at Lakeview Cemetery. He apparently had a second wife, Emma [Anna], who was born in Germany in 1842, died on November 24, 1891 in Ludington, and also was buried at Lakeview Cemetery. When son Charles was born in Ludington on March 6, 1881, his mother's name was listed as Ann.

Under the name Mrs. Jac [Jacob] Spider, Jessica in the 1864 Roll received $19.60 as a member of Chief Penayse's band. She appeared under the same name in the Annuity Roll of 1868 and received $63.40 as a continuing member of Penayse's band. The next year her annuity amounted to $19.60. In the 1870 Indian census, Jessica [with her last name again spelled Spider] received $45.90, still with Chief Penayse's band of Grand River Ottawas.

The Speidels also had a son, Louis, born on October 22, 1862 in Grand Haven, and another son, George, born in Ludington on September 6, 1886. Daughter Julia married Solomon J. Bailey in Grand Haven on June 1, 1875. John Speidel died in Ludington on February 8, 1915 and was buried at Lakeview Cemetery.

Louis Speidel [Speidle, Spidal, Spidell] I [1862-1937]

Among those counted in the 1908 Durant Roll were Louis Speidel I and his children: Grace, born on February 17, 1888; Louis Edward II, born on December 30, 1889; Marion [Marian] Agnes, born on August 30, 1891; and Margaret, born on September 27, 1902. Because of Louis's Indian heritage, he and his four children were included as members of the Grand River Bands of Ottawas in the 1908 Durant Roll. Louis and the children resided in Grand Haven at the time of the Roll. In 1908 in Grand Haven, Louis received about $21.18 as his share of the Indian annuity allotted that year.

Louis married Margaret Johnson [Johnston] in Robinson Township on July 4, 1887. Margaret, born about 1869, was White. She died in 1938 and was buried at Crystal Springs Cemetery in Benton Harbor. Louis was born on October 22, 1862 in Grand Haven, died on February 6, 1937 in St. Joseph, and was buried at Crystal Springs. Louis's death certificate cited his father as George Speidel and his mother as Tressa Nowanta, probably alternate names for Jacob and Jessica Noantay. Louis and his wife, named Agnes on the birth registration, Agnes had a son named Louis, who was born in Grand Haven on August 19, 1891. All of Louis's family members were born in Michigan.

In the 1900 Federal Census Louis I, Margaret, Grace, Louis II, and Marian were listed as White and living at 212 Water Street [Harbor Drive] in Grand Haven. The elder Louis worked in an unnamed fertilizer factory. In the 1908 City Directory, the parents and their three children were shown as residing at 114 Lafayette Street in Grand Haven, and Louis was then working with the Globe Fertilizer Company. In the 1910 census the family continued to be listed as White residents of Grand Haven. On April 21, 1915, Grace married Ralph Hoyt in Grand Haven. She died in Benton Harbor on November 3, 1955. Louis II married Lucille Furber in Detroit on February 5, 1919, and in 1920 the couple was residing in St. Joseph. Louis II died in that city on January 22, 1977. Marion died in the same city on February 20, 1937.

Frank Spence [Spencer] [c.1835- ?]

A native of Glasgow, Scotland, Frank Spence was born about 1835 and became a machinist. He and Archibald Brown in 1867 started a machine shop called Iron Works, located on the northwest corner of First and Elliott Streets in Grand Haven. Spence and Brown sold their business to James Lewis, Otto Gronberg, and John Bryce in 1871. Frank married Annie [Ann/Anna] Driscoll in Grand Rapids on August 30, 1867. She was born in New York [Massachusetts] about 1843. They had at least three children: Isabelle, who was born in 1859; Rose Maria, who was born in Ottawa County on August 8, 1874, and another daughter, Mansta, who was born locally on November 7, 1885 and died in Chicago on August 20, 1926.

David Spencer I [1837- 1927]

Spring Lake resident David Spencer was born in England [Canada] in November 1837. He married Elizabeth Manley, who was born in England in November 1845. After living for a while in Canada, David and Elizabeth immigrated to Spring Lake and lived at 804 East Savidge Street. David I was a minister. Of their seven children, six were born in Canada, including David II, born about 1877. The other children were Emma R., who was born in February 1875 and married Howard Gardner of Spring Lake; Agnes, born in July 1885; Margaret; James Manley, who was born in May 1888; Gertrude, born in May 1890; Ruth; Agnes; William; John; and Mary, who was born in Canada in 1867 and married Chauncey Blakeslee of Spring Lake. David, Emma, and Agnes were born in England, and the remainder were born locally. James Manley Spencer, a mason and building contractor, worked with his brother-in-law, Chauncey. They constructed many buildings in the area, such as the Armory, Grand Theater, and former Presbyterian Church in Grand Haven. James also was president of Spring Lake Boat Company, founded in 1931. David died in 1927 and Elizabeth in 1934; both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. They had seven children in addition to David II.

David Spencer II [1877-1963]

In 1898 David Spencer II won the first race ever sponsored by the Spring Lake Yacht Club. The winning boat was owned by his brother-in-law, Chauncey Blakeslee. David's parents were David and Elizabeth Manley Spence. On December 7, 1903 in Newaygo, David married Edith Frink. He died on July 25, 1963. Edith lived from 1882 to about June 1, 1950. She and David were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

John W. Spencer [1867-1938]

John, the son of Medad and Julia Williams Spencer, was born in Crockery Township in 1867. He was classified as "laborer" in the 1893 Compendium and held the post of justice of the peace in Coopersville as late as 1912, where he remained a resident into the 1930s. John passed away in 1938 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery.

Medad [Meadad, Medford] Spencer [1837-1919]

Medad Spencer was born in New York on August 26, 1836. He registered for the draft in July 1863, but apparently wasn't called up. On February 14, 1865 he enlisted as Seaman in the U.S. Navy for a two-year tour. He was said to be in charge of the lighthouse at Grand Haven for a time after the war, but no evidence was uncovered to support the claim. Perhaps he held the post of assistant keeper, since he was at Point Betsie Lighthouse from 1894 to 1906. Medad's 120-acre farm was situated in Sections 21 and 28 of Crockery Township. By 1870 he owned a general store in Nunica, but ten years later he was classified as a farmer. Medad died in Crockery on October 25, 1919 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. Medad's wife, Julia Williams, lived from 1844 to 1922 and was buried near her husband. Julia was Sarah Ann Easterly's sister. Their children were Emma, born in Michigan in 1864; John W., born in New York in 1867; Ned B., born in Michigan in 1872; and Leonard, born in Michigan in 1876.

Born in Eastmanville on September 9, 1869, William Spencer became an engineer on the steamer William H. Barrett, which operated on the Grand River. In 1898 he went to work for the Spring Lake Basket Factory, which burned down that year. He then put in two years as a secret service agent, returned to Spring Lake and worked for the Story & Clark Piano Company until 1915, when he opened the S & S Grocery with John Slingerland, the two of them having bought Fred Bertschy's grocery at 200 West Savidge Streets. Eventually the owner, Julia Falls, Andrew's widow, sold the building to Leon Campbell for his drug store. In 1923 Spencer bought out B. Klouw & Son Grocery and Feed Store and moved into their building at 212 West Savidge. In 1935 William & Sons moved to 206 West Savidge, where Jacob Whitcomb had had a dry goods and grocery store. They enlarged their store and changed the name to Spencer's Super Market. William was township clerk for 20 years, and he also served on the Board of Trade and was president of the Spring Lake School Board. He married Frances S., the daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Scott Kay of Spring Lake, who lived at 403 East Savidge. Frances was born in Illinois about 1863. William died on October 24, 1945 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Frederick Wilhelm Spindler [1815-1895]

In 1871 Frederick W. Spindler, a German, followed Rev. John Daib as pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, located at 531 Franklin Street. Frederick had been a clergyman at a Lutheran Church in Bay City. He was born in Germany in 1815. He married Dorothea "Dora" Margaretha Moller. Also German, she was born in January 1840. Frederick died in Minneapolis, Minnesota on November 8, 1882. Dora died in August 1908 in Scott, Minnesota. They had nine children.

Joseph Howard Spires [1853-1913]

Joseph Spires followed Willis Sherman as manager of the Cutler House, owned by Dwight Cutler. Joseph was a well-known hotel man in Michigan. He was injured when the gas plant at the Cutler House exploded on September 16, 1881, resulting in the death of the Dwight's brother, Charles Cutler. On August 12, 1886, he was appointed postmaster at Ottawa Beach, near Holland. He gave up the post two months later and moved to Grand Rapids to enter the lumber business. Soon afterward, he left West Michigan for California, where he was located by 1895. Born in Ohio in 1853, Joseph died in Los Angeles on January 4, 1913. His wife, Mamie, was born in Michigan about 1858. [Tribune obituary, January 4, 1913.]

John Spoelma [1884-1923]

Born in Crockery Township on January 20, 1884, John was the son of Peter and Hattie Spoelma, both natives of The Netherlands. John was employed at the Piano Factory and later at Dake Engine Company. He and his wife, Fannie, had several children, including Peter, Anna, Harriet, and Marian. Marian was born on November 24, 1912 and was married twice, first in 1936 to Ralph Ruiter, and then to Ross M. Knight after Ralph's death in 1980. John died of pneumonia following a severe attack of grippe at his home, 829 Grant Street, on February 22, 1923. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, February 23, 1923 and December 16, 2003.]

Peter Spoelma [1853-1914]

Both Peter Spoelma married Henryetta "Hattie" Helder. They were born in The Netherlands, he in April 1853 and she in January 1847. They immigrated to the United States in 1881 with a son, Ralph, who was born in December 1878, and settled on a farm in Section 7 of Crockery Township. Their other children, all born in Michigan, were John, born on January 20, 1884; Herman, who was born in July 1886 and settled in Grand Haven; and Katherine, who married John Klunder. Peter died in 1914 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Daniel Spoon [1824-1904]

Daniel Spoon was born on a farm in Seneca County, New York, on March 12, 1824, four years after his brother John. Daniel arrived in Spoonville a few months earlier than John and worked at the Spoon & Becker Mill. Daniel married Helen [Helene] Lautenschlager on April 14, 1859. She lived from August 28, 1833 to September 22, 1886. Their six children were all born in Michigan, including Mary, born in 1860. Daniel died on March 12, 1904, and both he and his wife were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

John Spoon [1820-1892]

Born on a farm in Seneca County, New York, in 1820, John Spoon learned the carpenter's trade. In 1856 [1857] he settled in what came to be called Spoonville, and eventually he owned a thousand acres of tillable land on the north branch of the Grand River in Crockery Township. He built a sawmill there, and also constructed a permanent residence for himself on 848 acres, the largest farm in Ottawa County at the time. His barn measured 100 feet by 40 feet, with 24 posts and measured 60 feet to the top of cupola. It cost $2,000 to build. The sawmill had a large, circular saw, a gang edger, and a lath and picket machine. It was capable of milling 40,000 board feet per day, and in 1881 produced 7,500,000 feet. He also owned land in Muskegon and Illinois. John married Annie Margaret Bennett in Janesville, Wisconsin, in 1850. Among their children were Emma, born in New York in 1858, and Arthur J., born in Michigan in 1869. Annie was born in Janesville on September 2, 1828 and died April 21, 1914. John died on April 26, 1892 and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. Daniel Spoon was his brother.

Francis M. Sprague [1838-1916] and Marietta "Mattie" Hutson Sprague [1848-1931]

In the 1890s Marietta Sprague advertised herself as a "Fashionable Milliner and Dealer in Fancy Goods" at her store, located at the "Foot of Washington St." in Grand Haven. She also was a dress maker. On October 30, 1881 in Grand Haven, she married Frank Sprague. Frank, a native of New York [Italy], arrived in the United States in 1848 and lived from April 2, 1838 [1837] to January 18, 1916. He died while living in Grand Rapids. In Grand Haven, he worked as a tallyman for a lumber company. By 1913 Mattie had opened a millinery shop on Monroe Street in Grand Rapids. Three years later she was working in the furniture city as a furrier and continued in that field until at least 1930. Born in Illinois on September 13, 1848 [1849], Mattie died on November 22, 1931 and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest Cemetery. While in Grand Haven, they resided on Columbus Street.

Henry [John] Sprick [Sprik] I [1837-1918]

Henry Sprick, born in The Netherlands in March 1837 [1838], settled in Grand Haven in 1856 and opened the town's first livery in 1862 with a buckboard and one horse. By 1882 he had 36 horses and 12 single and four double buggies. He offered bus service between Grand Haven and Lake Michigan. He also bought and sold horses. The livery was located on Second Street near Washington, not far from Grand Haven's first school [approximately 16 South Second], and later at 216 Fulton. In 1915 Henry purchased from Charles Wilde and Andrew Falls a livery stable on the northwest corner of Division and Savidge Streets in Spring Lake.

Henry's wife Johanna lived from 1836 to October 28, 1856. Henry and his second wife, Martha [Wilhelmina] Rysdorp, lived at 218 Fulton. Martha, a native of The Netherlands, lived from February 20, 1839 to January 22, 1917. Henry and both his wives were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. He and Martha had at least four children, all born in Michigan: Henry II, who was born March 4, 1865 and died on April 7, 1899; Gertrude, who was born in February 1869 and married George De Young of Grand Haven; Minnie, who was born in April 1871 and married William Van Schelven of Grand Haven; and Martin, who lived from 1876 to 1928. Both sons were buried in the family plot at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Martin Sprick [1877-1928]

On April 20, 1927 Martin, the son of Henry and Martha Sprick, married Alice Mulder Dake, the widow of Wilford Dake, who had died on June 5, 1913. Martin's first wife, Anna, the daughter of John and Trientje Meyer De Young, lived from 1871 to 1920 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They were married in Grand Haven on March 11, 1903. Martin and Anna lived at 425 Fulton. Martin, who was a machinist, lived from September 20, 1877 to April 20, 1928. He died in Rochester, Minnesota and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Alice passed away on September 26, 1944 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Ralph Donald Springfield [1935-2017]

Ralph Springfield was born in Detroit on April 22, 1935 and graduated from Alma College in 1957. He taught history at Kent City and Pontiac High Schools and finished his teaching career in the Livonia Public School system from 1961 to his retirement in 1994. He held the position of Athletic Director at the time of his retirement. In the meantime, he earned a Master Degree in Education at Eastern Michigan University. Ralph and his wife Sally retired to Ludington. They moved to Grand Haven in 1997. In his new hometown, Ralph created fish and wildlife carvings that often were featured in exhibits at the Gallery Uptown in Grand Haven. Ralph died on July 21, 2017 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Sally, who was born on July 12, 1938, remained in Grand Haven after his death. They had three children.

James T. Sprott [1900-1989]

James Sprott was born on February 28, 1900. On July 22, 1922 he married Christian Watt in Detroit. They had three children: Chriss Gunn of Alpena; Jean Erdenberger of Dallas, Texas; and James A. Sprott of Grand Rapids. The Sprotts moved to Grand Haven in May 1937, where James taught industrial-vocational subjects for 20 years in the evening adult classes in Grand Haven. He retired from Gardner-Denver as chief draftsman after 22 years. He also was Sunday School superintendent at the First Presbyterian Church in Grand Haven. James was a Mason, and Christian was a member of the Eastern Star, and she was active with the local Girl Scouts for many years. Their home was at 1624 Hillcrest. James died on June 15, 1989. Christian was born in Scotland on January 5, 1901 and died in Grand Haven on April 12, 1998. She and James were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Anna M. MacDonald Squier [1858-1934]

Anna McDonald was born in Hillsburg, Ontario, on February 11, 1858. She moved to Grand Haven when she was 14 and did custom sewing for many of the local families, including Mary A. White, the Ferrys, and the Eastmans. On May 23, 1888 in Grand Rapids, she married William L. Squier. They lived in Plainwell. Anna returned to Grand Haven after her husband's death, but in 1900, before her return, she was boarding at a home in Grand Rapids. She was listed as single at that time. However, William, who was born in Michigan on July 9, 1856, died in Big Rapids on May 13, 1903. He was buried at Riverside Cemetery in Hastings, Barry County. The 1910 census listed Anna as a widow, living in Grand Haven and running a boarding house at 215 Columbus. Her 19-year-old daughter Elsie was living with her. [Elsie was residing with her uncle in Whitehall in 1900.] Anna died in Grand Haven on August 1, 1934 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, August 1, 1934.]

Heber Vincent Squier I [Squiers, Squires] [1823-1883]

Heber Squier was born in Erie County, New York, on March 23, 1823. He came to Grand Haven in 1859 as the first agent for the Detroit & Milwaukee Railroad when the terminal was in Muir, at the foot of Dewey Hill. Heber became Grand Haven's first harbor master in 1867. In 1867 he and Thomas White were tugboat owners and partners in a ship building enterprise named Squier & White. They also advertised their company as "Wreckers & Contractors." In 1844, in Buffalo, New York, Heber married Miranda Rose. She was born July 12, 1825 in Penfield, New York and died in Grand Haven on February 12, 1902. Their children were Anna, who was born about 1845 and married Volkert Wright Seeley of Milwaukee; Susan, who was born about 1847 in New York State and married Joseph Hutty of Grand Haven; Heber II, born about 1850; and Birdie Miranda, who was born about 1864 in Grand Haven and married Fred Hutty of Grand Haven. Heber I died on November 10, 1883 in Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania.

Heber Vincent Squier II [1850-1880]

Heber, the son of Heber and Miranda Rose Squier, was born in Dunkirk, New York in 1850. On August 11, 1870, he married Ellen "Nellie" G. Hubbard in Grand Haven. Nellie, the daughter of Alonzo and Elvira Poole Hubbard and the sister of George Hubbard of Grand Haven, was born in Cleveland, Ohio in December 1850. Heber was a steamboat captain. He and Nellie had three children, all born in Michigan: Maude E., who was born in December 1871 and married a Mr. Alexander; Nellie A., who was born about 1875 and married Ora Gale in Grand Haven on April 27, 1897; and Gertrude M., who was born in October 1876 and married William N. McMillan, the son of Neil and Mary McMillan of Grand Haven. After Heber's death in the wreck of the Alpena on October 16, 1880, Nellie resided at or near 215 Washington at the time of the 1889 fire that destroyed much of Grand Haven. Later she lived at 400 Howard. She died March 20, 1924 in Glendale, California, where she had moved in 1913 to be with the family of her daughter Gertrude McMillan. Nellie was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Elvira, Nellie's mother, lived from April 27, 1812 to March 11, 1894 and also was buried at Lake Forest.

Amanzo Stafford [1870-1948]

Born on April 7, 1870 in Kalamazoo, Amanzo Stafford became proprietor of the Riverside Laundry, which operated at 205 South Harbor in Grand Haven in the early 1900s. He also had a drop-off/pick-up station at Katt's General Store in Ferrysburg. Amanzo married May Williams in Kalamazoo on January 29, 1896. She was born in Michigan about 1874. In Grand Haven the couple, lived at 113 Washington and later at 109 North Second Street, where they were residing in 1910. By 1930 they were back in Kalamazoo. Amanzo died there on November 9, 1948.

Joseph E. Stalec I [1915-1987]

Joseph Stalec, one of the founders of Stan's Bar at 208 West Savidge in Spring Lake, in 1977 became full owner. Born on December 6, 1915, Joseph died in Maricopa County, Arizona on May 19, 1987. He married Mary Kramer and resided in Grand Rapids before moving to Spring Lake. The Stalecs' son, Joseph II, who was born on July 18, 1947, eventually took over management of the bar. Another son, Mike, resided in Greenville, Montcalm County. The Stalecs had two other children, a daughter Pat and a son Bob.

Joseph E. Stalec II [1947-2007]

Joseph, the son of Joseph and Mary Kramer Stalec, was born in Grand Rapids on July 18, 1947. Joseph II and his wife, Susan, resided at 206 Sidney Court in Spring Lake before moving to Nunica. Susan was the daughter of Anthony “Gus” and Dorothy Ringgold Carowitz of the Spring Lake area. Joseph I was one of the founders of Stan’s Bar at 218 West Savidge in Spring Lake, a business that Joseph II eventually owned and managed after moving to Spring Lake in 1973. Joseph II served with the Marines during the Vietnam War. He was a member of St. Mary’s Catholic Church in Spring Lake, VFW Post 2326 in Grand Haven, and American Legion Post 28, also in Grand Haven. Joseph and Susan had two sons, Joseph III of Nunica and Tony of Chicago. Joseph II passed away on March 26, 2007. [Tribune obituary, March 28, 2007.]

Rufus Kingborn Stallings [1860-1899]

Born in Bullitt County, Kentucky on November 6, 1860, Rufus Stallings received his education at East Cedar Hills Institute, graduating in 1878. He was living in Kentucky with his parents around 1880, and on October 24, 1888 he married Nannie W. Briggs in Jefferson, Kentucky. By 1887 he was secretary at the Louisville [Kentucky] Silvering & Beveling Company. Rufus in October 1892 established the American Mirror and Glass Beveling Company with a capital of $50,000, and the next month arrived in Grand Haven to start production. The plant was constructed near today’s intersection of Howard Street and Harbor Drive. With Rufus as president and James W. Orr as secretary-treasurer, American Mirror claimed to be one of the largest institutions of its kind in the country. The building on Howard and Harbor was destroyed by strong winds in 1896, but apparently was rebuilt. It continues to show up in the atlases of 1897 and 1912. Rufus was also head of the large glass plant in Louisville, the company’s headquarters. In 1896 he was elected mayor of Grand Haven, running on the Democratic ticket and served one year. He died of “organic heart disease” in Grand Haven on September 29, 1899 and was buried at Cave Hill Cemetery in Louisville. Nannie was born in Kentucky on January 7, 1867 and died in Jefferson, Kentucky on February 10, 1946. [Tribune obituary, September 29, 1899.]

Walter Dean Stannard [Stanard] [1839-1930]

While living in Jackson County, Walter Stannard on August 29, 1862 enlisted in Company F of the 20th Michigan Infantry. He was discharged for disability on June 19 the next year, and then on March 10, 1865 he enlisted as assistant Surgeon in Company S of the 2nd Michigan Cavalry. He was transferred to the 137th U.S. Colored Infantry, but there was “no further record” of his service after that. Walter applied for a Civil War invalid’s pension on July 3, 1879. Apparently he settled for a brief time in Grand Haven after the war. By 1870 he was a physician in Chagrin Falls, Ohio. Walter was born in Kirtland, Geauga County, Ohio on October 21, 1839, the son of Henry and Margaret Hoffman Stannard. On August 26, 1862 in Jackson, he married Narcena [Macena] Elizabeth Hunt. She was born in Michigan on March 30, 1843 and died on March 29, 1899. Their son Henry was born about 1865 in Michigan. After Narcena’s death, Walter married Marian Burnell Payne, who was born in Michigan on September 14, 1858. Walter was residing in Elkhorn, San Joaquin County, California in 1910. He died in Alameda, California, on June 28, 1930 and was buried at Lodi Cemetery in California.

Warren Hastings Stansberry I [1871-1949]

Warren Stansberry moved to Grand Haven from Muskegon around 1907 and purchased Kamhout’s Saloon at 133 Washington Street. He renamed it The Bank. He married Henrietta “Lidia” Dykema on December 4, 1912. They resided in an apartment above the saloon. Warren also was agent for the Miller Brewing Company. By 1915 he and two partners were manufacturing crochet needles, knitting needles, and button hooks at 133 Washington. Around the time of WWI they moved next door to 129 Washington and on January 1, 1917 officially opened as Peerless Novelty. When that building burned down in 1920, the company moved to 105 Fulton. Warren was a member of the Elks, Peninsular Club, Spring Lake Country Club, and Grand Haven Stag Club. His son, Warren H. Stansberry II, was born on March 13, 1916 and remained a lifetime resident of Grand Haven. Warren I was born in Fayette, Iowa on September 28, 1871 and died in 1949.

Warren Hastings Stansberry II [1916-1994]

Born in Grand Haven on March 13, 1916, Warren II was the son of Warren and Lidia Stansberry. He attended local schools and graduated from Babson College and Michigan State University. He married Natalie Stromsta on July 25, 1942. They had two daughters, Dianne and Linda, and a son, Warren III. Their home was at 520 Clinton. Warren took over his father's business, the Peerless Novelty Company, on June 21, 1937, when it was located on Jackson Street. Warren, who managed the business, later changed the name to Stanco Corp. He served in the Air Force during WWII, and he was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, American Legion, Golden Age, Eagles, Elks, Spring Lake Country Club, Peninsular Club, MSU Alumni, North Ottawa Rod and Gun Club, Long Timber Ranch, and Grand Haven Stag Club. Warren died on March 11, 1994 and was buried in Lake Forest Cemetery. Natalie lived from July 28, 1915 to September 1982 and died in Grand Haven. She, too, was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, March 12, 1994.]

Robert Neal Stanton [1936-1996]

Grand Haven attorney Neal Stanton was 59 when he died on February 2, 1996. He was a member of the Scholten & Fant law firm, starting there in 1963. He acted as assistant city attorney under Howard Fant in the early 1960s and from 1971 to November 1972 he was the city attorney. Neal was recognized throughout Michigan for his expertise in municipal annexation law. Neal was born on August 14, 1936. He and his wife Grace resided at 1856 Far Hills Court in Grand Haven. Neal was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Anne [Anna] Temmen Stap [1852-1933]

Anne Stap and his wife, Swaantje "Sadie," lived at 520 North Sixth Street in Grand Haven. Around 1905 Anne bought a feed store at the corner of Fulton and Third Streets [309 Fulton] from Enne Kraai, who had retired. Anne came to Ottawa County from his native Netherlands in 1880 and first found employment at a flourmill [probably Forrest Brothers on Second Street]. He worked there for seven years, then rented the mill for the next two years, when he purchased Cornelius Bos's flour and feed business. He stayed with that for eight years, then bought a farm in Crockery Township. After five years as a farmer, he returned to Grand Haven and resumed residency in his house on Sixth Street. At that time Anne bought the feed store on Fulton and Third but continued to live at 520 North Sixth. Anne was born in The Netherlands in February 1852 and died in Grand Haven about June 14, 1933. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Sadie, also a native of The Netherlands, was born in February 1850 and passed away in Grand Haven about June 12, 1937. She, too, was buried at Lake Forest. Among their children, all born locally, were Dora, born in February 1885; Gertrude, who born on March 20, 1888 and married John Yonker of Grand Haven; and Etta, born in October 1889.

John Stap I [1897-1977]

Born on February 28, 1897, John was the son of Martin and Jacoba Pals Stap. On July 11, 1917 in Grand Haven, he married Levina Jeanette Van Vlyman of Spring Lake. He joined the U.S. Army as private May 1, 1917. Initially he was assigned to the Supply Company of the 121st Field Artillery. He was with the Medical Supply Division of the 32nd Division when he was deployed to France aboard the ship Olympic on June 14, 1918. He returned to the United States on May 15, 1919, with the same military unit as when he left, and was mustered out on May 22. Back in Grand Haven, John worked as a clerk in his father's flour and feed store at 705 Washington, but by 1942 he was employed at the Story & Clark Piano Company. He and Levina were then living at 218 Wallace Street. He died on February 22, 1977 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Levina lived from October 2, 1894 to May 14, 1966. She, too, was buried at Lake Forest. John and Levina had three children: Marva Stap [1920-1989]; John Stap II [1994-1997]; and Adelaide Ruth Stap [1930-1983].

Martin [Marten] Tiemens [Tymensz] Stap [1863-1935]

Charles E. Stearns I [1840-1910]

Charles Stearns was born on October 5, 1840. His 100-acre farm was located in Section 8 of Robinson Township. Charles served as township supervisor from 1893 to 1901. In 1899 he was hired to build a permanent bridge over Stearns Bayou, which he accomplished by staking the existing float bridge with logs until they were nine feet above the water line and then covering them with sand. He died on October 4, 1910 and was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery with his wife, Maria E. Fairbanks, who lived from 1846 to 1909. A son, Clinton R., who lived from August 12, 1874 to December 9, 1911, also was buried there. Another son, Charles II, was born in Grand Haven in 1883 and married Cora Seifert in Grand Haven on August 23, 1907. A daughter May married Richard Berg in Grand Haven on October 8, 1905. Richard was the son of Frederich and Minnie Krull Berg of Grand Haven Township. A daughter Nellie, born in 1878, on January 1, 1900 married Jason A. Pelton of Robinson Township. Two years later, on October 30, Nellie married Elwin G. Blakely, also of Robinson Township.

George Le Grande Stearns [1832-1911]

George Stearns came to Grand Haven from Iowa in 1873 and joined Mr. Chaffee in forming the Chaffee, Stearn windmill manufacturing business. The next year he bought out Chaffee, and continued to produce regulator windmills, pumps, cylinders, windmill derricks, and tanks. By 1877 George had been joined by his brother Lawton, and the name of the business was changed first to Stearns Brothers and then to Stearns Manufacturing Company. It produced sashes, doors, and blinds. Apparently the factory, located on the corner of Seventh and Elliott Streets, was destroyed by fire in 1883. George was born on January 22, 1832 [1835] in Amsterdam, Montgomery County, New York and moved in 1856 to Wisconsin. He was the son of Asa and Anna Paddock Stearns. On March 20, 1859 in Eagle, Wisconsin, he married Marietta [Mary] E. Snyder, who was born on May 15, 1835 in New York State. They had five children, none born in Michigan. While living in Rockford, Illinois, George enlisted as corporal in the 67th Illinois Infantry on June 13, 1862 and was mustered out the following September 27. He moved to Cedar Falls, Iowa, where he married Angeline, a sister of Marietta, who had died in Wisconsin on October 26, 1865. Angeline was born in New York in July 1827. George and Angeline were residing in Los Angeles, California by 1900. George died in Amsterdam, New York, in 1911. Angeline had died in 1907. Both were buried at Hollywood, California.

John Fisk Stearns [1813- ?]

John F. Stearns was born in Chesterfield, New Hampshire on May 22, 1813. He built a warehouse on the northwest corner of Washington and Water [Harbor] in the early years of Grand Haven's settlement. Clark Albee later purchased the building. In 1833 John was living in Chippewa County. On September 10, 1838 he purchased 320 acres in Sections 6 and 7 in Robinson Township and additional acreage in Allegan County and elsewhere throughout Michigan, undoubtedly for lumbering purposes. His land in Robinson surrounded the inlet that was named for him, Stearns Bayou. On February 22, 1841 he was named postmaster of Port Sheldon. In the 1840s he was active in the lumber business in Newaygo County and on December 28, 1847 he was named postmaster of Stearn's Mills, which in 1850 he changed to Croton. He continued to hold the position of postmaster. On May 20, 1852 in Kalamazoo, John married Cordelia Bonney, who was born about 1831, apparently in Newaygo County. There is no record that John ever lived in Ottawa County.

Lawton Benson Stearns [1836-1911]

Born on March 11, 1836 [1837] in Amsterdam, Montgomery County, New York, Lawton was the son of Asa and Anna Paddock Stearns. Lawton started out as a harness maker. In 1855 he went to Wisconsin, and on August 14, 1862 he enlisted Company A of the Wisconsin 1st Heavy Artillery. He was mustered out on June 26, 1865, with the rank of sergeant. He came to Grand Haven before 1877 to join his brother, George L., in the manufacture of wood products, such as windmills and tanks. Lawton married Frances Caroline Payne of Wisconsin on March 23, 1864. She was born in Wisconsin around 1841. Their children included James, who was born in Whitewater, Wisconsin on June 24, 1867; Edward, who was born in Wisconsin about 1868; and twins Frances Clara and Carrie May who were born in Grand Haven on February 19, 1878.

On August 22, 1890, while living in Oregon, Lawton applied for an invalid's Civil War pension. Frances died in Oregon on February 22, 1901. Lawton died in the same state on March 10, 1911.

Gertrude Burmeister Steele [1899-1988]

Born on February 8, 1899 in Shelby, Oceana County, Gertrude was the daughter of Christ and Hattie Burmeister, both natives of Germany. Gertrude and her mother were residents of Grand Haven as early as 1910; apparently her father had died by then. On January 23, 1924 Gertrude married Samuel Terry Steele in Grand Haven. By 1930 the Steeles were living in a farmhouse in Section 4 of Grand Haven Township, slightly south of Rosy Mound dune. The property formerly was the home of John Majerus and his family. Living with the Steeles was their son, Robert, who was born in Ann Arbor on March 4, 1922, and Gertrude's mother, Hattie, born about 1862. Sam in 1930 worked as a cutter at the Eagle Ottawa Leather Company in Grand Haven, but ten years later was doing "odd jobs." Gertrude was a self-employed housekeeper. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church. Samuel was born on June 3, 1887 in Douglas, Montcalm County. died on March 21, 1956 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. Sam served as a private with the Army during WWI, and he worked as a "hired hand" in the home of Henry and Flora Ingraham in Douglass in 1920. Gertrude, who moved to 222 Clinton, died on December 18, 1988. Robert passed away in Spring Lake on July 9, 2007.

Henry "Harry" Steele [1804-1858], Zina Steele [1807-1858], and George Steele [Steel, Stiles] [1820-@1850]

In 1841, a year after coming to Tallmadge Township from New York, Harry Steele planted a fruit orchard near what is now Lamont, one of the first in the county. On November 1, 1841 Harry and his half-brother Zina Steele combined to buy 140 acres in Section 7 of Tallmadge Township from A. D. Yeomans. Harry was born in 1804 in Champlain, New York, Zina was born in Champlain County, New York in 1807, and George, another half-brother who settled in Ottawa County, was born in Champlain County in 1820. On April 1, 1850 Harry bought 40 acres in Section 1 of Allendale Township. Harry and Zina Steele platted the Village of Lamont in 1856, which was known first as Middleville, then Steele's Landing, and finally as Lamont. On January 1, 1867 Zina bought 80 acres in Section 26 of Robinson Township. Harry married Rebecca Calkins, was born in New York in 1805 and passed away in 1895. All three brothers were farmers, but Zina also owned a store and grist mill. George died around 1850. Harry was killed by a bursting millstone on December 28, 1858 and was buried at Maplewood Cemetery, as was Rebecca. Harry and Rebecca had a daughter, Jane Harriet, who married Peter Weatherwax [1814-1910]. Jane lived from November 27, 1820 to September 28, 1899. She, too, was buried at Maplewood. Zina also died in 1858.

Born in The Netherlands in September 1828, Albert Stegeman settled in Holland, Michigan in 1847 with his parents. He moved to Grand Haven six years later, where by 1860 he was a merchant. In August 1863, he bought Clark Albee's commission business and continued it in the same building on the northwest corner of Washington and Harbor Streets, later the site of the Grand Trunk Depot [Tri-Cities Historical Museum]. Albert also had a store in Allegan that carried $60,000 worth of merchandise. He later moved to California and raised lemons and oranges. He died in National City, California on December 6, 1901. His first wife, Isabella [Poubella, Belle], was born about 1835 in New York and died on September 1, 1865. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. After her death, Albert married Lamila Folsom, who lived from 1843 to 1928. She was living in San Diego, California at the time of her death. [Tribune obituary, December 3, 1901.]

Ale Popke Stegenga [1842-1867]

A native of The Netherlands, where he was born on June 28, 1842, Ale Stegenga settled in Holland with his family in August 1847. Two years later he became a farmer and settled on Section 8 of Olive Township. He became justice of the peace, notary public, school commissioner, town Clerk for five years, and served at least seven terms as supervisor. On December 12, 1868 Ale married Martje “Martha” Diekema, who was born on November 1, 1846. They had five children. Residing with them was Ale’s father, Popke, who was born on September 6, 1801 in The Netherlands. On April 23, 1828, Popke married Johantje Blijstra, who was born on January 27, 1801. The older Stegengas celebrated 54 years of marriage in 1882.

They had one daughter, Mary Amelia Stewart, who was born on August 1, 1875 in Ontario and became a teacher in Grand Haven schools. The family lived at 609 Washington in Grand Haven. William was bookkeeper at the White, Friant & Co. Sawmill in 1882. In later years, he became an agent for the Grand Trunk Railroad and held that job for twelve years. He was also the purser for the steamer City of Milwaukee. William was instrumental in building the first permanent bridge over the Niagara River. He died on March 14, 1906 in Grand Rapids and was buried at Niagara Falls Cemetery, Ontario. After his death, the two Marys lived at 15 North Fourth Street. [Tribune obituary, March 22, 1906.]

George Stickney [1838-1916]

When the First National Bank of Grand Haven was formed in 1871 and absorbed the business of Ferry & Son Bank, George Stickney was named Cashier. Prior to that George was Grand Haven agent for the Engelmann Transportation Company of Milwaukee. In 1881 he was named secretary-treasurer of the new Challenge Corn Planter Company, and four years later he became treasurer of the new Grand Haven Leather Company. George was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886. Some time after 1900 he left Grand Haven and ten years later, he was a widower living in Boulder, Colorado and working as a banker in Boulder, Colorado.

On October 14, 1869, George married Marion Louisa Burnett in Grand Rapids. Their children, both born in Michigan, were Lorine, born about 1861, and Marion [Marian], born in October 1875. George's mother, Martha Burnett Stickney, resided with the family in the 1880s. She died on December 30, 1888 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Marion Louisa, the mother, died on July 4, 1879 at the age of 42 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. George was born on August 25, 1838 in Cleveland, Ohio, the son of William Henry and Martha Burnett [Branch] Stickney. He died on October 17, 1916 and was buried at Lake Forest with other family members.

Leonard Stickney [1838-1917]

On August 29, 1864, Leonard Stickney enlisted in Company F of the 5th Wisconsin Infantry as private. He was mustered out on May 24 the next year. Leonard was born in Canada on January 12, 1838, settled in Plainfield, Wisconsin, and moved to Grand Haven about 1884 to take up the trade of carpentry. He owned more than 90 acres in two separate parcels south of Robbins Road and west of Sheldon [Section 32 of Grand Haven Township], including what came to be known as Stickney Ridge, and more than 80 acres in Section 4 of Spring Lake Township. On April 26, 1867 in Plainfield, Wisconsin, Leonard married Charlotte Cook, a native of New York. She lived from July 4, 1848 to February 17, 1922 and was buried in the family plot at Lake Forest Cemetery. The Stickneys lived at 715 Sheldon. A son, William, was born in Wisconsin about 1869; another son, Willard, also from Wisconsin, was born on June 29, 1875; and Anna, a daughter, was born in Plainfield, Wisconsin in 1877. She married Clarence H. Buhl in Grand Haven on October 12, 1895. Leonard died in Grand Haven on February 3, 1917 and was buried at Lake Forest.

Willard David Stickney [1875-1936]

Born on June 29, 1875 in Hansook, Wisconsin, Willard Stickney arrived in Grand Haven with his parents when he was 9 or 10 years old. He was the son of Leonard and Charlotte Stickney of Grand Haven. [Another Willard Stickney lived from 1849 to December 1899 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.] On February 1, 1873, Willard's father bought a little more than 80 acres in Section 4 of Spring Lake Township. Willard, a carpenter and house builder like his father, was among the first to promote resort business through the development of Stickney Ridge, south of Highland Park, land also purchased by his father. Willard built a garage, store, and some cottages, doing most of the work himself, at Stickney Ridge. Willard married Matilda "Tillie" Keyes in Grand Haven on August 19, 1896. Tillie was born in September 1878 in Michigan [Canada]. They were divorced on August 22, 1903. On December 27, 1907, Willard married Helen [Hellena] Baas in Chicago. In 1915 the Stickneys resided at 522 Slayton. Willard died in 1936 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members. Helen was born on August 5, 1879, died on July 28, 1962, and also was buried at Lake Forest.

Heinrich "Henry" Stille [1848-1930]

Henry Stille immigrated from Germany to the United States in 1866, when he was 18 years old. About 1869 he married Emilie [Amelia] Michalis [Michaelis], who was born in Prussia in 1852. A year later the Stilles owned an 80-acre farm in Section 24 of Grand Haven Township, where they raised their children, including Otto, who lived from 1873-1919; Willi [William], who lived from 1874 to 1930; Minna, who was born in 1876 and died on March 9, 1897; Matilda, who was born about 1885 and on November 1, 1906 married Carl Berg in Grand Haven. Two more children, Martha and Herman, were born in 1889 and 1892 respectively. In the 1880 Federal Census, Emile's parents were living on the Stilles' farm: Johann Michalis, who was born in 1819 in Prussia and died on March 5, 1888, and Johanna [Hannah], who lived from 1819 to January 23, 1903. The Stilles' farm had grown to 200 acres by the late 1890s. By 1928 Henry was a machinist at Grand Haven Brass Foundry, but he and Emilie continued to reside on the farm on 144th Avenue. Henry passed away in 1930, and Emilie died the next year. They and their children were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery, as were Johanna's parents.

Edward E. Stites [1856-1932]

Edward Stites platted the Village of Johnsville on May 16, 1889. It was named for John Behm, who settled in the area in the 1860s, but the town was renamed Agnew in 1889 for an executive of the Chicago & West Michigan Railroad, which serviced the area. Edward was born in Fulton County, Ohio, on October 31, 1856. He married Sarah Nellie Stoddard on August 24, 1879 in Fairfield, Lenawee County. She was born on July 15, 1857, died on March 28, 1941, and was buried at Ottokee Cemetery in Fulton County. Edward died on January 8, 1932 and also was buried at Ottokee Cemetery. A son, Issac Curtis, was born on February 11, 1886 in Johnsville [Agnew], died on July 3, 1949, and was buried at Wauseon Union Cemetery in Fulton County. Another son, Arthur, was born in 1884 in Ottawa County, died in 1954, and was buried at Greenlawn Cemetery in Fulton County.

A. William Stittgen [1854-1916]

In 1908 William Stittgen was proprietor of the Gildner Hotel, at the southeast corner of Washington and Water Streets [2 Washington]. William was a native of Germany, where he was born in February 1854. He married Frieda Daman, who also used the name Anna. William and Frieda/Anna made their residence at the hotel. Anna was born in Germany around 1870 [1866]. She immigrated to America in 1875, ten years after her future husband. Their daughter Lillie Elisabeth Stittgen was born in Milwaukee on June 14, 1891. Before coming to Grand Haven, William was proprietor of a saloon in Milwaukee, a position he had resumed by 1910. Frieda/Anna may have died, because William married Anna Piplow Gill, in St. Joseph, Berrien County on October 1, 1913. Both listed their residences as Milwaukee at the time of their marriage. This Anna was born in Michigan about 1863. William died in Milwaukee on December 15, 1916 and was buried at Holy Trinity Cemetery.

Luanne Lynn Stobb [1963-1978]

Born on September 23, 1963 in Grand Haven, Luanne was the daughter of Wallace and Betty Stobb. Her father was principal of Grand Haven Christian School from 1957 to 1966. Luanne was sister to David, Sharon, Joy, and Judy Beth. The Stobbs resided at 1210 Oakes in Grand Haven. Luanne, an honor student, was valedictorian on June 7, 1978 of her ninth grade graduating class at Grand Haven Christian School. Two days after becoming ill with flu-like symptoms, Luanne died on October 22, 1978, of gangrene of the leg at age 15. No cause for the gangrene was found. Two paintings were commissioned by artist Rob Michmerhuizen depicting Luanne's scholastic achievements, her love of music as a pianist, her appreciation of nature, and especially growing violet plants. The panels were hung in the main entrance to Grand Haven Christian School, the one on the left showing her everyday mortal level interests and the one on the right portraying her experience of salvation. Her mother Betty later married Frank Nagy of Grand Haven. [Tribune obituary, October 23, 1978, and Tribune article "Artist Brings Out Love and Eternity," December 18, 1979.]

Robert Stobbelaar [1918-1995]

Born on January 8, 1918 in Grand Rapids, Robert Stobbelaar graduated from Central High School and then attended Harvard University and the University of Illinois and graduated from Michigan Medical School. He served in the Medical Corps during WWII. Robert married Roberta Burns on December 25, 1944, and they had two children, Richard and Karen. The family lived at 78 Grand. Robert began his medical/surgical practice in Grand Haven in 1948, retired in 1976, and moved to Ft. Myers, Florida. Robert was a member and president of the Ottawa County Medical Society, chief of staff and surgery at North Ottawa Community Hospital, and a member of Spring Lake Country Club, Grand Haven Rotary, Grand Haven Stag Club, and St. John's Episcopal Church. He died on April 7, 1995 in Ft. Myers.

Roberta was born in Grand Haven on November 20, 1920, the daughter of Robert and Elizabeth Burns. She graduated valedictorian of Grand Haven High School in 1938, continued her studies at Eastern Michigan University, and attended graduate school at the University of Michigan. She was a member of the League of Women Voters, served as president of the Women's Club, was on the Ottawa County Mental Health Board, the Community Center Board, the Grand Haven Planning Commission, and the Human Relations Commission. She also volunteered as a Child Advocate for C.A.S.A. and was appointed to Citizens for Michigan by Gov. Romney. Roberta died in Ft. Myers on May 7, 2004. Her sister, Elizabeth, married Walter J. Draeger I of Grand Haven. [Tribune obituary, April 10, 1995, and the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor Herald-Palladium, May 8, 2004.]

The son of Frederick Stokes, Edwin was born in Racine, Wisconsin on March 2, 1855 [1857]. He became a machinist in Grand Haven. He married Sarah Luikens in Grand Haven on October 2, 1880. She was the daughter of John and Sarah vanden Berg Oakes of Grand Haven. Edwin and Sarah resided on Elliott Street around 1900 and were at 114 [110] Howard by 1908. Their children, all born locally, were John Edwin., born on January 2, 1883 and passed away about March 29, 1918; Frederick L., who was born on July 15, 1886, and Edna E., who was born in June 25, 1888, married Howard Bradley, and moved to Chicago. Fred and John were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Sarah lived from October 1861 to May 26, 1926 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. In 1930 Edwin was residing alone in the house on Howard Street. He died in Grand Haven on January 4, 1946.

Frederick Stokes [1815-1904]

Frederick Stokes was born in England on March 29, 1815. He immigrated to the Grand Haven area, evidently by way of Wisconsin. In Grand Haven he was listed in the 1880 census as a florist and in the 1893 Compendium as "farmer." Frederick's wife, Harriet, was born in England about 1822. Their daughter, Emma, was born in London, England in 1847 and married Martin Reenders. After Martin died, Emma in 1891 became Orson Vander Hoef's second wife. Frederick's and Harriet's other children were Edwin, who was born in Wisconsin in March 1855; Walter, who was born on May 2, 1857, married Sena Helder, died on April 10, 1926 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery; and James, who was born about 1861 in Wisconsin, became a resident of Grand Haven and married Ella Sech. In 1906 August Boseker bought the Stokeses' farm, located at 1308 Lake Avenue. Frederick died in Grand Haven on April 27, 1904 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Frederick Louis Stokes [1886-1918]

Frederick L. Stokes, who was born on July 15, 1886, became a Grand Haven jeweler. His parents were Edwin and Sarah Luikens Stokes of Grand Haven. On June 26, 1910 he married Hattie M. Riley in Grand Haven. Hattie was born in Muskegon in 1891. Fred died on March 13, 1918 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John "Jack" Edwin Stokes [1883-1918]

Born on January 2, 1883, John was the son of Edwin and Sarah Luikens Stokes of Grand Haven. John became a marine engineer, died on October 26, 1918, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. On December 6, 1910 in Grand Haven, he married Emma Walsma. For 20 years she worked as librarian at Grand Haven's Carnegie Library. Emma died on May 15, 1974 and was buried at Lake Forest with her husband.

Enos Stone [1826-1905]

Born in Essex County, New York on August 10, 1826, Enos Stone was educated for a time in the English schools in New York until he was about 13 years of age, when both his parents died. He went to Summit County, Ohio where he worked in a sawmill and on a farm, and began dealing in horses, cattle, sheep, and real estate. On July 6, 1848 in Franklin County, Ohio, he married Mehitable "Hattie" Armstead. They had three children, including Mary J., who was born in New York about 1850 and Adelbert, born in Ohio around 1861. When Hattie died, Enos married Louisa Jane [Jennie] D. Trotter in Summit County, Ohio on October 7, 1864. Louisa was born in Ohio in October 1835. Enos and Louisa had at least two children Raymond, born in Ohio in 1872. In 1872 Enos and his wife came to Grand Haven, where he purchased an interest in the Bigelow, Stone & Company Sawmill that manufactured pine lumber. When the company went out of business in 1890, Enos took advantage of his earlier experience with horses and bought a livery business at the southeast corner of Third and Columbus Streets [20 North Third] in Grand Haven, which became quite profitable. The 1893 Compendium carried one of his advertisements, in which he offered "The Finest Horses and Carriages in the City. Hearse and Hacks for Funerals." In 1894 he advertised in the Grand Haven Tribune that he had "on hand 400 cords of good hard and soft slab wood that formerly sold at $1.50 a cord, but which now goes at $1 per cord, cash." Enos died on December 23, 1905. After his death, his widow resided at 211 Washington.

George W. Stone [1831-1890]

George Stone, who was born in New York in 1831, moved to Grand Haven, and worked in one of the sawmills. He married Mehitable Beldin, also from New York. She lived from April 1832 to August 4, 1885. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their children, all born in Ohio, were Clara, born about 1864; Lillie, who was born about 1865 and married John W. Barnes II of Grand Haven; and Erastus, born about 1868. In 1880 the Stone family resided on Washington Street. George passed away on January 10 1890 and was buried with his wife at Lake Forest.

Stewart [Steward] Stone [1886-1958]

After the post office at the corner of First and Washington Streets moved to a new building at the northwest corner of Washington and Third Streets [235 Washington] in 1905, Stewart Stone and William Fant started a billiard hall and bowling alley in the east half of the old building. They called it the Ideal Pool Room. In the early 1900s Stewart resided at 628 Fulton with his parents, Bert and Anna Hauley Stone. On June 30, 1908 in Spring Lake, Stewart married Margaret, the daughter of Andrew and Mary Clark Falls. Margaret was born locally on December 25, 1885. By 1920 and into the 1930s Stewart and Margaret were living in Detroit with their two daughters, Eileen and Jacqueline. Stewart's father, Bert, died on October 8, 1936 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Stewart passed away in Los Angeles on July 12, 1958, and Margaret died in Alameda, California on March 14, 1951.

One of the wealthiest and most influential lumbermen in Western Michigan, Carlton Storrs owned and lumbered a large portion of Blendon Township and surrounding townships under the name C. L. Storrs & Company, Lumbermen. His headquarters were located in Section 26 of Blendon Township. Storrs built a sawmill on the banks of the river near downtown Grand Haven in 1866. Known as Storrs & Co. Mill and also as the Red Mill, it was destroyed by fire nine years later. Carlton was the moving spirit in the building of the Michigan & Ohio Railroad, which was to run from Grand Haven to Toledo, Ohio, and on to Gallipolis, Ohio, but failed after he and others invested thousands of dollars.

On February 8, 1848 Carlton married Mary Jane Reynolds in Summit, Ohio. She lived from March 2, 1832 to December 30, 1872, and also interred at Lake Forest. In 1860 Carlton, Mary Jane, and four of their children were living in Blendon Township. Carlton, born in 1824, died penniless on November 17, 1894 in Grand Rapids and was buried at Lake Forest.

Edward Hampton Story [1865-1939]

When the Story & Clark Piano Company opened its Grand Haven factory in 1901, Edward Story was president. He resided in Riverside, Illinois. His father, Hampton Lovegrove Story, founded the company. After Hampton's departure, Edward worked with his brother Fuller [Frank] in running the plant. Edward was born in Burlington, Vermont on October 27, 1865, died on September 3, 1939, and was buried at San Gabriel Cemetery in San Gabriel, California. His mother was Marian L. Fuller.

Frank Fuller Story I [1873-1950]

The son of Hampton and Marian Fuller Story, Frank was born in Illinois in 1873. In 1908 he resided in Grand Haven with his wife, Ruth F., who was born in Illinois about 1880. They were married about 1902. In the early 1900s Fuller, as he came to be known, filled the office of vice president at the Story & Clark Piano Company in Grand Haven. By 1920 and into the 1930s the family lived in Riverside, Illinois, and Fuller was vice president and treasurer of the piano company there. Their children were Edward F., born in Illinois about 1907, and Frank II, who was born in Illinois about 1912 and died in Spring Lake on October 7, 1961. Frank II married Olive Duffield. They had two children, Frank Story III and Thomas Hampton Story. Frank passed away in Florida on January 29, 1950. [Tribune article, "Frank Story, Sr., Dies at Fla. Home.]"

Hampton Lovegrove Story [1835-1925]

Hampton, the founder of the Story & Clark Piano Company, was born in Lemoille, Vermont, on June 17, 1835, the son of Andrew and Adeline Read Story. He served as corporal with Company C of the 12th Vermont Infantry during the Civil War, and on December 19, 1904 he filed for an invalid's Civil War pension.

Hampton started producing pianos in Burlington, Vermont, in 1857 and moved operations to Chicago in 1867. After a short association with Isaac Camp, Hampton sold his interest in 1884 to the Estey Organ Company for $250,000 and then teamed up with Melville Clark and started to manufacture pianos under the name Story & Clark. The company moved its production to Grand Haven at the urging of the Grand Haven Board of Trade in 1901, where it remained until 1984, some twenty years after the Story family left the firm.

Hampton married Marian L. Fuller in Burlington, Vermont, on January 1, 1862. She was born in Vermont around 1843. Their sons were Edward H., born in Vermont about 1866; Robert, born about 1872 in Illinois; and Frank Fuller, born about 1874 in Illinois.

After divorcing Marian, Hampton married his secretary, Adella B. Ellis, in Chicago on March 20, 1876. Adella was born in New York around 1847. Her mother, Charlotte Ellis, was born in New York around 1831. Hampton and Adella had two children both born in Illinois: Adeline, born about 1877, and Ellis, born about 1879. In 1880 the Storys were residing in Du Page County, Illinois. In 1884 Hampton left the Story & Camp Piano Company in Chicago and formed Story & Clark Piano Company with his son Edward and Melville Clark as partner. In the mid-1880s Hampton partnered with Elisha Babcock to form the Coronado Beach Company in San Diego., California and opened the Hotel del Coronado in 1888.

Frank and Edward took over management and ownership of the family business when their father and Adella moved to Los Angeles, California no later than 1896. The couple was residing in Pasadena in 1900, 1910, and 1920. Hampton died in Los Angeles County on October 6, 1925 and was buried at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Glendale, California. Adella passed away on January 21, 1926 and was buried near her husband.

Robert Stuart was born in Callander, Scotland on February 19, 1785. At the age of 22, at the invitation of his uncle, David Stuart, he immigrated to Montreal, Canada. Robert was fluent in French. In 1810, working for John Jacob Astor, Robert helped organize the Pacific Fur Company. In the same year he took the ship Tonquin on an expedition to the Columbia River and aided in laying the foundation of the city of Astoria, Oregon. Washington Irving chronicled this voyage in his book Astoria. Robert married Emma Elizabeth Sullivan on July 21, 1813, in New York City, who usually went by her middle name. She was born June 27, 1792, in Brooklyn, New York, and died in Detroit on September 26, 1866. Of their 12 children, none was born nor lived in Ottawa County.

In 1819 Robert went to Mackinac to manage the American Fur Company headquarters for 15 years. A contemporary, Juliette Kinzie of Chicago, who met Robert on Mackinac in 1830, praised him for his “noble bearing, his genial humor, his untiring benevolence, his upright, uncompromising adherence to principle, his ardent philanthropy, his noble disinterestedness.” [Wau-bun, 4] Rev. Ferry converted him to Christianity, and it was through Robert’s urging that Ferry in 1833 made a circuit of Lake Michigan, beginning and ending at Mackinac, but stopping at the mouth of the Grand River along the way. Robert supplied much of the capital needed for the Grand Haven settlement that followed shortly. Ferry wished to name the community “Stuart” in his honor, but Rix Robinson already had registered the name Grand Haven.

In 1834 Stuart was an equal partner with Robinson and Ferry of the Grand Haven Company for the purpose of buying pinelands, erecting mills, lumbering, etc. In 1835 Stuart became Government Indian Agent for the Northwest. In 1841 he was appointed Acting superintendent of Indian Affairs for Michigan, replacing Henry R. Schoolcraft. Robert served in that capacity until 1845. In 1846 he and his wife conveyed Block 13 of Akeley’s Addition to Ottawa County for public buildings. The county courthouse, offices, and jail were built on this site. Robert died in Chicago on October 29, 1848.

They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

The area’s earliest recorded airplane crashes occurred on May 26, 1931. On that day George Ferris [1884-1963] and a passenger, Claude Gelderloos [1902-1980], flew a green and yellow Waco biplane from Muskegon Airport to Grand Haven, where they “buzzed” the house at 8 Clinton Street, the neighbor of fellow pilot Ray “Ducky” Swartz. Ducky lived across the street at 9 Clinton Street in a home owned by his parents, Nicholas [1861-1942] and Hannah [1867-1943] Johnson Swartz. Among the people residing at 8 Clinton were the owners, Henry and Henrietta Abbinga and their son, Abel. The family joined a small crowd of spectators who were watching the plane as it circled overhead and then, at 6:30 p.m., crashed through the roof of the Abbinga home. The pilot said engine problems caused the accident. Fortunately pilot and passenger walked out the front door of the house, uninjured. Mrs Abbinga, who was 80 years old, needed a sedative to calm her shaken nerves. [For more information about the passenger, see Claude J. Gelderloos [1902-1980]. The plane was salvaged and restored to fly another day.

Ducky was born in Grand Haven on November 6, 1894. During WWI, he served with Company M of the 377th Infantry. In 1942, he owned an “Oil Field Trucking & Pipe Lines” business, but he also was known as a general contractor. He married Sylvia Carter in Muskegon on April 19, 1920. She lived from May 31, 1889 to August 1979. Ducky had passed away on February 13, 1962. Both were buried at Evergreen Township Cemetery in Montcalm County.

Edward W. Tatum [1867-1962]

Edward Tatum had a 40-acre farm in Section 3 of Grand Haven Township. He was born in Dyer County, Tennessee on February 28, 1867 and was in Grand Haven Township by 1910 but moved away in the next few years. In 1899 he married Mary Ramsey, who was born in Alabama on May 1, 1872. In 1910 they had three children: Louis, age 17; Edward D., age 9; and Elsebeth [Elizabeth] J., age five. In 1912 Edward was living in Grand Rapids, where he had a book binding business. Mary died of appendicitis on May 27, 1913. By 1930 he was still a widower and operating his book binding business in Grand Rapids. He died there on May 4, 1962 and was buried at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Augustus W. Taylor [1819-1893]

Augustus Taylor was born in Warren, Connecticut on July 16, 1819. He lost both his parents when he was eight but managed to attend Williams College in Massachusetts and after graduation obtained a teaching position in New York State. In 1848 he married Alvira Smith of New York, who was born in 1819. In September 1853 the couple moved to Crockery Township, where Augustus taught in a log cabin school for $16 a month. He was superintendent of the Clinton Street School in Grand Haven from 1865 to 1867 and county superintendent from 1867 to 1869. He was named principal of the Spring Lake school in 1870, although he was classified as "Farmer" in the census for that year. He next took the position of superintendent of Crockery Schools, which he held until 1881, when he became the first member of the County School Examiners. He held that post for ten years. Around the 1860s he was judge of probate of Ottawa County, a post he held for eight years. Augustus, a Republican, ended his career in education at Coopersville. The Taylors had two children, Herbert, born in 1852, and Elsie, born in 1861. Augustus died at his home in Nunica on June 5, 1893, and his wife died on June 18 the next year. Both were buried at Ottawa Center Cemetery.

George W. Taylor I [1858-1930]

Although only 22 years old at the time, George Taylor was proprietor of a sawmill in Crockery Township in 1880. By 1900 he was a farmer in Section 16 of Polkton Township, ultimately owning 100 acres. He and Ettie were married about 1886. Their five children were Phila, born on April 30, 1887, Bertha, born on December 25, 1888; George II, born about 1898; Glen, born about 1903; and Herold, born about 1904. Both children were born locally. George was born in Michigan on May 9, 1858 and died on July 16, 1930. Ettie, also a native of Michigan, lived from October 20, 1864 to August 17, 1952. Both were buried at Coopersville Cemetery.

Hollis Taylor [1834-1873]

On October 23, 1863 in Grand Rapids, Hollis Taylor enlisted as captain in Company C of the 2nd Michigan Cavalry, one of the first volunteer companies formed in this area subsequent to the firing on Fort Sumter. Hollis was promoted from private to corporal and then to scout. He also saw service as captain with Company C of the 136th U.S. Infantry. He was mustered out on July 15, 1865. He had originally enlisted in the Army on March 10, 1855, and the 1860 census for Grand Haven Township listed him as a soldier. At that time he was living with his parents, Pascal and Mary Taylor, and his wife, Ann, who was born about 1849 in Ohio. Hollis served as postmaster of Grand Haven from September 14, 1866 to May 19, 1867. He and Ann had a daughter, Carrie, who was born "In a Reserve" about February 1860. In 1870 Hollis was living in Evanston, Illinois with his second wife, Lucinda Colvin, and their children. He was working as a carpenter. On December 9, 1872 he enlisted again, this time in Indianapolis. He was born about 1834 in Cleveland, Ohio and died on July 11, 1873. Lucinda in August 1897 applied for a widow's Civil War pension. She was born about 1845 in Illinois. They had at least two children: Charles, born in Texas about 1868, and Cora, born in Michigan about August 1869.

Born in Niagara County, New York on October 3, 1818, J. Rice Taylor graduated from Kenyon College along with future U.S. President Rutherford B. Hayes. Taylor then entered the Theological Seminary in New York, graduated and was ordained in 1845. He married Henrietta Leonard in Knox County, Ohio on October 9 the same year. They had five children. After Henrietta's death on May 29, 1858 at the age of 37 in Gambier, Knox County, he moved to Saugatuck in Allegan County, where he served as a mission priest. On December 15, 1864, while in Louisville, Kentucky, Taylor enlisted in the U.S. Army and served as chaplain in the 123rd U.S. Colored Infantry in Washington D.C. during the remaining months of the Civil War. He was mustered out on October 16, 1865. Taylor was the first Episcopal Rector of Grand Haven, where he served until 1868, the year he was called to formally organize Grace Protestant Episcopal Church in Holland. He spent 1874 in New York State but returned to Holland the next year. Taylor formally resigned from Grace Episcopal in 1878 because of declining health. He passed away on June 21, 1900 in Saugatuck. [Tribune obituaries June 21 and June 27, 1900.]

William Taylor [1856-1933]

William was born in Ireland about June 4, 1856, the son of James and Elizabeth Taylor. William settled in the area in 1904 on a 40-acre farm in Section 12 of Olive Township. He also delivered mail. His wife, Anne [Mary] Hill, was a native of Ireland, where she was born on June 29, 1842. The daughter of Gregg and Mary Melanophy Hill, she died on May 27, 1930 in Polkton Township, and William passed away on April 7, 1933. Both were buried at West Olive Cemetery.

Aletta “Lettie” Teeple [1829-1911]

Lettie Teeple was born on November 20, 1829 in Plymouth, Wayne County. Her parents, Peter and Sarah Losey Teeple, had moved from New York State in 1827 to Wayne County. In late 1836 the family moved to Cascade Township in Kent County, where the Teeple had purchased 700 acres of government land at $1.25 an acre. Peter built a small log home in Section 18 of the land he had take title to. Peter was born in New Jersey in 1797, died in Cascade Township on March 10, 1878, and was buried at Cascade Cemetery. Lettie’s mother, Sarah, lived from 1807 to 1873 and was buried at the same cemetery, as were several of their children.

It was in Cascade Township that Lettie spent the remainder of her youth. She came to the Grand Haven area in 1849 to be with her sister, Jane, and Jane’s husband, Thomas Merrill. Jane, born on January 30, 1826, was almost three years older than Lettie. The Merrills were married in 1846, and soon afterward moved to Ferrysburg.

Lettie tended to Henry Pennoyer’s children after his wife’s death in 1852 and also worked for him at the Washington House in downtown Grand Haven. On April 14, 1853, Lettie and Henry were married. At the time, Henry had four children. Lettie had previously married 20-year-old William Rellington on Christmas Day, 1849, in Grand Haven. William, a native of Germany, by July 12 the next year was gone from Lettie’s life forever. She filed for divorce and retained custody of their daughter, Sarah Jane, who was born on September 9, 1850. Because Henry had a daughter named Sarah, Lettie’s child came to be known as Jennie. Jennie on September 15, 1875 married Joseph L. Gibbs of Crockery Township. He lived from 1851 to 1906. Sarah Jane passed away in Crockery Township on September 26, 1925. She and Joseph had three children.

Five years after Henry’s death in 1886, Lettie moved to Oregon. She died in Seattle, Washington, on May 7, 1911 and was buried at Lone Fir Pine Cemetery in Multnomah County, Oregon. Portions of her extensive memoirs of life in early Grand Haven were printed in the Tri-Cities Historical Museum’s periodical Packet beginning with the Spring 2000 issue and continuing for several editions.

Reinder Tempel [Temple] [1831-1925]

Reinder Tempel was from Groningen, The Netherlands, where he was born on April 4, 1831. He immigrated to the United States in 1867 and by 1880 was working as a brick mason in Grand Haven. He was married three times: first to Grietje Meijer in The Netherlands, then on December 17, 1872 in Grand Haven to Grietje Lappenga Van Dyk, a widow, and finally on September 9, 1882, again in Grand Haven, to Cornelia Maria Lowedyk Newhouse [1838-1913], also a widow. Five of Reinder’s children died before their tenth birthdays. Reinder passed away in Muskegon on August 8, 1925 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as were his second and third wives.

Abram [Abraham] Ten Hagen [1853-1929]

Abram, the son of Jan and Mary Ten Hagen, was born in Gelderland, The Netherlands on October 4, 1853 and came to the United States with his parents when he was five. Abram married Lavina Erskine, who was born in Indiana on April 3, 1858. Lavina and Abram had at four daughters, Sena, born in 1866, and Mary, born around 1879, Jennie, and Lucy, and two sons, Fred, born about 1890, and John, born about 1896. In 1893 and 1912 the family farm was in his brother John’s name, including additional acreage in Section 22 of Olive Township. By 1918 Abram was the sole owner of the 300-acre farm. Lavina died of gallbladder cancer on April 9, 1923 and was buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery. Abram died in Holland on April 8, 1929 and was buried at Pilgrim Home with his wife.

Jan [John] H. Ten Hagen [1810-1869]

Jan Ten Hagen bought a 40-acre farm in Section 26 of Olive Township on April 1, 1861, which he eventually expanded into Section 27 for a total of 540 acres. He also raised livestock. A creek flowing through his property was given the name Ten Hagen. Jan was born in Gelderland, The Netherlands, on August 1, 1810. On November 18, 1837 in The Netherlands, he married Gesina Maria “Mary” Wordes. Jan died in Olive Township on May 28, 1869. After Jan died, his wife Mary and their sons took over the farm. Mary was born in Gelderland, The Netherlands on August 20, 1813 and died sometime after 1900. Among their children were two sons, both born in The Netherlands: John in 1842 and Abram [Abraham] in 1853.

John Ten Hoeven [Ten Hoven] [1859-1921]

John Ten Hoeven’s 120-acre farm was in Section 34 of Olive Township. He settled there in 1894 and raised livestock. His wife, Johanna “Anna,” was born in The Netherlands in 1860. John was born in 1859 in the same country. They had at least five children, all born in Michigan: Dick, who was around 1883; Will, born about 1886; Dena, born around 1884; Jennie, born about 1897; and Hannah, born about 1891. John died in 1921 and Johanna passed away eight years later. Both were buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Holland.

Warren L. Tenny [Tenney] [1869-1942]

In 1894 Warren Tenny opened a photography studio in Grand Haven in association with Fred D. Brown. Warren was born on December 20, 1869 in Berlin [Marne], Wright Township. By 1910 he was residing in Muskegon Heights, working as an electrician. Ten years later he was a plumber. He married Alma [Alina/Alena] P. Mitchell in Muskegon on May 6, 1895. She was born in Ohio about 1874. They had a son, Dale Myron Tenny, who was born on November 1, 1902 and died in Florida on September 8, 1980, and a daughter, Alice M. Tenny, who was born on January 25, 1912 and died on July 4, 1986 in Paw Paw, Van Buren County. Both children were born in Muskegon Heights. Warren died in Muskegon on October 3, 1942 and was buried at Mona View Cemetery. Alma lived until April 1, 1971 and was buried with Warren.

Roscoe Verl Terrill [1903-1980]

Roscoe Terrill, who was born on November 9, 1903 in Hillsdale County, was City manager for Grand Haven from June 18, 1945 to December 1, 1968. A Registered Civil Engineer and Land Surveyor, Elder at the Grand Haven Presbyterian Church, and a member of MENSA, Roscoe was active for more than thirty years with the Cub and Boy Scouts. Roscoe died on August 10, 1980. On January 1, 1928, in Pittsford, Hillsdale County, he married Pauline Dorothy Ladd, who was born in Pittsford on November 24, 1902 and passed away in Largo, Florida on June 21, 1990. They had at least four children Merlin Verl, who was born about 1927, and Paul Wilson, who was born on June 4, 1930 and died in Grand Rapids on March 21, 1977 of leukemia. Merlin moved to Muskegon, where he resided with his wife, Norma. Roscoe, and his family lived at 111 South Hopkins in Grand Haven in the 1940s. Roscoe and Pauline were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Nellie Terry owned a summer home on 56 acres along Lake Michigan in Section 5 of Grand Haven Township. Her residence was at the south end of 178th Avenue, near Brucker. She came to the Grand Haven area in 1907. Terry Trails, the name given the family property, continued from the end of 178th into the wooded dunes and to the lake shore. The property was in Nellie’s name, usually listed as Mrs. N.S. Terry. By 1970 Carolyn Terry held title. Prior to the Terry family ownership, the land was in the name of Jane Gringhuis [recorded as Greenhouse], wife of Gerrit “Dick” Gringhuis.

In 1910, Nellie, her son Alfred, listed by his middle name Sumner, and John Terry, age 35, were in St. Paul, Minnesota. Nellie was noted as a singer, John [possibly Alfred J. Terry’s middle name] was a traveling salesman for a milk company. At the time of the 1920 Federal Census, Nellie was divorced and living in Detroit with her brother Julius Sumner and his family. Ten years later she was a resident at St. Joseph’s Retreat in Dearborn, a haven for the mentally ill. Nellie was a pianist, and on February 14, 1915 performed as a soloist at the Detroit Institute of Art. She was born as Nellie Sumner in Baraboo, Wisconsin on January

17, 1875, married Alfred J. Terry in Detroit on June 29, 1898, divorced him on January 26, 1917, charging "Cruelty & Non-Support," died of heart disease in Wayne County on February 28, 1940, and was buried at Woodmere Cemetery in Detroit. Her death certificate listed her occupation as "Music teacher."

Nellie and Alfred had one child, Alfred Sumner Terry, who was born in Detroit on May 16, 1899, and married Carolyn Faye Vogelsang in Grand Rapids on September 29, 1923. Carolyn was born in Indiana on September 14, 1902 and died in February 1978. She was living in Boulder, Colorado about the time of her death. She and Alfred had a daughter, Patricia Terry, who lived from 1924 to 2009, and a son named Alfred "Mike" Sumner Terry. He was born in South Africa on August 30, 1928, served in the U.S. Army from 1955 to 1957, and died in Grand Haven on October 3, 2008. He had two sons: Michael Terry and Robert Terry.

George was born in Spring Lake to William [1887-1961] and Anna Klaver [1894-1955] Teunis on July 2, 1913. He married Clara Tjapkes on September 24, 1936 in Muskegon. George was a rural mail carrier for the Post Office and was a licensed contractor. He rebuilt the De Witt School, restoring it to its 1880s appearance. He served on the Spring Lake Township Board for 14 years and was on several committees. The Teunises belonged to the Christian Reformed Church in Grand Haven. He and Clara had a daughter Beverly and three sons: Stan, Milt, and Glenn. All their children were married. The Teunises lived at 18625 West Spring Lake Road. George died at his home on May 15, 2001.

Gerrit B. Teunis [1854-1939]

Born on December 7, 1854 in The Netherlands, Gerrit Teunis came to the area in 1893 and settled on 132 acres in Section 3 of Spring Lake Township. Before 1912 he purchased from Adelaide Thorp the west 20 acres of her property in Section 10. In addition to farming, Gerrit raised livestock. In 1879 he married Klaasje "Clara" Dunnink, who was born The Netherlands on August 22, 1858. The Teunises were still in Spring Lake Township in 1920. Among their children was Albert, who was born on June 21, 1890 and by 1930 had taken title to a 20-acre parcel in Section 10 of Spring Lake Township previously owned by his parents. Albert died on November 20, 1950. Gerrit passed away on June 29, 1939, and Clara died on March 24, 1943. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Born in Hillsdale County on February 14 [15], 1840, Edwin Thayer came with his family to Eastmanville nine years later. He was the son of Ezra and Jane H. Shipman Thayer. The family settled on a 60-acre farm in Section 1 of Blendon Township where they remained until at least 1892. Edwin owned additional acreage in Sections 10 and 14 and about a thousand acres in Polkton Township, and he bought other farms and stands of pine forest throughout the state. In 1868 he joined Adam Wagner and Galen Eastman as general merchants in Eastmanville. He was township supervisor for a number of years, and he also was listed as a shipping agent. In the 1880 census his occupation was real estate broker. Edwin was looked upon as an agricultural authority. He was one of many local residents who delivered a talk, later printed, at Grand Haven's semi-centennial celebration, held on December 2, 1884. Edwin's paper was titled, appropriately, "Agriculture of Ottawa County."

Edwin married Almira [Elmira] Cunningham in Grand Rapids on March 21, 1870. She was born in Michigan on September 2, 1847. Two of their children died as infants in the 1870s and were buried at Eastmanville Cemetery. Their other children were Ernest Noyes, who lived from 1873 to 1906; Maude H., born in April 1876; and William C., who was born in February 1882 and died in 1902. In 1900 the family was living in Grand Rapids. Edwin's sister Eugenia married Adam Wagner of Eastmanville. Edwin died on February 24, 1907 and was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery in Grand Rapids. Elmira passed away on April 8, 1910 and was buried near her husband.

Elmer Leroy Thayer [1873-1926]

Elmer, born on March 19, 1873, was the son of Porter and Sarah Abigail Randall Thayer of Spring Lake. Elmer was employed at William Buckley's hardware store in the Village [214 West Savidge]. Martin Thayer was his brother. Elmer died in 1926 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Buried near him were other members of his family.

Ezra Thayer [1816-1896]

Ezra Thayer married Jane H. Shipman in New York State on September 25, 1839. They moved to Polkton Township in 1849, where on March 1, 1852 they purchased 40 acres in Section 28. They then relocated to a farm in Section 1 of Blendon Township, where they remained until at least 1892. Jane was born on November 5, 1814 and died on February 18, 1892, while Ezra, who was born on April 5, 1816, died on January 4, 1896. Edwin Thayer, one of their children, was born on February 14, 1840 in Blendon Township. A daughter, Eunice [Eugenia], was born on September 6, 1843 in Blendon and married Adam Wagner. The Thayers had five children in all.

Lester [Arthur] Leroy Thayer [1881-1922]

Lester Thayer, the son of Martin and Mary Howe Thayer, was born in Michigan on August 3, 1881 [1882]. He married Eliza "Anna" M. Aimer on August 1, 1904 in St. Joseph, Berrien County. Anna, at the time of her wedding, was working at a hotel in St. Joseph. The daughter of William and Ella Wills Aimer, Anna was born in Delta, Ontario, Canada on May 28, 1885. After her father died when she was 11 years old, Anna in 1903 immigrated to Spring Lake, where she lived with her aunt and uncle, Eliza and Charles Hyde. For a while she was housekeeper for one of the area's early physicians, Dr. Cyril Brown of Spring Lake.

Lester and Anna had two children: Cora, who was born on May 13, 1905 and died on November 26, 1907, and Pearl, who was born on February 23, 1907 and died on September 2, 1929. The family resided at the southwest corner of Savidge and Cutler Streets [approximately 502 West Savidge].

Lester worked at a local sawmill. After an accident at the sawmill cut off Lester's thumb and fingers, he became depressed and on November 13, 1907 he disappeared. He and Anna were divorced on August 9, 1909. At the time of the 1910 Federal Census, Lester was working at the Luce Chair Company in Big Rapids. On February 19, 1912 he married Frances Clark Geedy [Giedy] in Big Rapids. Anna married Arno "Andrew" Meinel on November 10, 1909.

When he registered for the WWI draft, Lester was still working for the chair factory in Big Rapids. The registration form noted that he had lost the thumb and fingers on his right hand. He died on January 4, 1922 in Kalamazoo under the name Arthur Leroy Thayer.

Martin Thayer had a boat building business in Spring Lake. The son of Porter and Sarah Thayer, Martin was born in Spring Lake in 1857. Elmer Thayer was his brother. On January 14, 1882 in Grand Rapids, he married Mary E. Howe, who was 18 years old. Lester Thayer, born on December 14, 1884, was their son. The family was still in Spring Lake in 1893. Mary lived from 1864 to 1886. On March 19, 1891 in Big Rapids, Martin married Addie Clark, who was 24. By 1910 Martin and Addie were living in Wayzata, Minnesota. Martin was a boat maker. They were in the same geographic ten years later. Addie died on February 20, 1957 and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Grand Rapids. Martin passed away on June 12, 1924 in Long Beach, California and was buried at Sunnyside Cemetery.

Porter Brown Thayer I [1830-1886]

On August 14, 1890 Sarah A. Thayer applied for a widow's Civil War pension. Her husband Porter on November 18, 1861 was a resident of Alpine Township, Kent County, when he enlisted as private in Company G of the 3rd Michigan Infantry. He was wounded at the Battle of Gettysburg on July 2, 1863 and wounded again on November 27 the same year at Mine Run, Virginia. On June 10, 1864 he transferred to Company A of the 5th Michigan Infantry. Porter was mustered out on July 5, 1865. In Spring Lake, he ran a boarding house. He was born on November 25, 1830 in Michigan. Sarah was born in October 1835 in the same state, passed away in July 11, 1921, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. The Thayers were married about 1855 and had five children, all born in Michigan, including Martin, born about 1856; Mary, born about 1861; Porter II, who was born in 1864, died in 1895, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery; Cora, born in February 1863; and Elmer, born on March 19, 1873. Porter was killed when hit by a train on September 11, 1886 and was buried at Ashland Center Cemetery in Grant, Newaygo County.

Albert Joseph Theiler I [1885-1962]

The son of Xavier “Joseph” and Marie Theiler, Albert was born in Switzerland on February 18, 1885. He became a machinist in Grand Haven, and about 1915 married Alice Elizabeth Lysaght. Alice, the daughter of Captain John and Mary Haney Lysaght, was born in Grand Haven on September 16, 1888 and died on January 11, 1953. Their children included Albert II, who born locally on November 12, 1916 and died in Orange County, California on September 11, 1993, and John, who was born in Wisconsin about 1922. By 1928 the family resided at 417 Leggat. At that time Albert was a clerk in a local factory. He died on December 12, 1962 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Alice.

Xavier “Joseph” Theiler [Tyler] [1860-1892]

After Joseph Theiler died on October 18, 1892, his wife, Marie [Mary], continued living in the family home at 213 Howard Street. Marie’s maiden name was Stoeckel. She was born in Switzerland about 1865. By 1908 Marie and some of her children resided at 213 Howard. Joseph was an engineer and brought his family from Switzerland to the United States in 1885. He was born in Switzerland in 1860. Their children were Mary, who was born in Switzerland on November 26, 1882, became a teacher, and married Philip Rosbach II of Grand Haven; Emily/Emilie, who was born in Switzerland on 20, December 1884 and became a nurse; Jane, who was born in Switzerland about 1884 and became a nurse; Albert Joseph, who was born in Switzerland on February 18, 1885 and died in 1962; Julia E., who was born in Illinois on June 3, 1887 and passed away in December 1967; William, born in Michigan in July 1889; and Rose C., who was born in Grand Haven on November 9, 1892 and entered the nursing profession. Marie was born on April 2, 1863 in Switzerland. By 1920 she and several of her children [Jane, Julia, and Rose] were living in Chicago at 843 Grace Street, and ten years later they were located at 5245 Kenwood Avenue. Marie passed away on November 7, 1937. Marie, Emily, and Julia,

Peter James Theune [1943-2021]

Peter Theune graduated from Hope College in 1965 and went on to earn a master degree in Christian Education from Western Theological Seminary in Holland four years later and then, in 1990, he was ordained as minister in the Reformed Church in America. He worked for that organization as Director of Children’s Life and in various positions with other Christian groups, including Christ Community Church in Spring Lake and First Reformed Church, also in Spring Lake. Following retirement, he worked part time at First Presbyterian Church in Holland. Locally, Peter helped establish three enduring organizations: The Little Red House, The People Center, and Bluebird Cancer Retreats of West Michigan.

Peter and Judy were married on August 14, 1965. They had three sons: Curt Theune, Michael Theune, and David Theune. Peter was born on August, 1943 and grew up in Oostburg, Wisconsin. He died in Spring Lake on October 10, 2021.

August “Gust” Thieleman [Thielman] [1885-1958]

Gust, the son of William and Bertha Wilburt Thieleman, attended Grand Haven schools and was employed by the Dake Engine Company. In 1911 he started the Thieleman Auto Company at 33 Franklin and sold Ford automobiles and other makes, as well as tractors. In 1926 he constructed a new showroom at 12-16 North Third Street. In 1952 Gust retired and sold the business to his manager, Aubrey Ernst, and Arnold Redeker. In 1911 he married Blanche E. Albright of Grand Rapids. They lived at 119 Second Street and later at 824 Lake Avenue. After retiring and moving to Ft. Lauderdale, Gust and Blanche spent summers at 541 Leggat Street. Their children, all born locally, were Theodora, who was born on June 15, 1912, married

Charles Leonard of Pebble Beach, California, and died in Monterey, California on April 1, 1996; Harriet, who was born about 1916 and married Robert Sproul of Grand Rapids; and Margaret Elizabeth, who was born March 1, 1917, married James Jardine of Ukiah, California, and died on October 15, 1996 in Monterey, California. Gust was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, the Elks, the Spring Lake Yacht Club, Rotary Club, and the Grand Haven Stag Club. Gust also served on the Grand Haven Cemetery Board. Blanche was born on December 6, 1885 and died in Monterey, California on June 24, 1985. Gust lived from May 1, 1885 to February 16, 1958. He died in Ft. Lauderdale. Wilburt [William] Thieleman I [Thielemann] [1854-1938]

Born in West Prussia [Germany] on May 28, 1854, Wilburt Thieleman came to Grand Haven in 1870, working first in the sawmills, where he hauled sawdust to the tanneries to be used as fuel. He worked for Julius Radeke in the wholesale liquor business, and in May 1879, he became a saloonkeeper at 8 Washington, next to the Kirby House. He was wholesale representative for the Schlitz Brewing Company for 20 years at the same location. He also worked for three years with Ignatz Seifert as co-owner of Thieleman and Seifert Meat Market. Wilburt was alderman from 1888 through 1894 and a member of the Board of Trade. In 1904 he sold his lumber business to Peter Van Zylén, who operated it under the name Van Zylén Lumber Company. In 1912 he and his son Gust opened a Ford garage and salesroom.

Wilburt married Bertha Wilbert on July 15, 1879. She was born in Prussia around 1858. They had three sons, all born in Grand Haven: William II, born on May 25, 1881; Charles, born in 1883; and Gust, born on May 1, 1885. Wilburt and Bertha also had two daughters, including Emma, who was born in Grand Haven around February 1880 and married John Pardee of that community. The Thielemans resided at 111 South Second Street. They were members of St. Paul's Evangelical Church, which Wilburt helped organize. He died January 31, 1938 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

William Thirkettle [Thurkettle] I [1833-1885]

On August 11, 1862 William Thirkettle joined Company B of the 5th Michigan Cavalry and was mustered out on February 6, 1865. Born in England on August 19, 1833, William died on December 19, 1885 in Allendale and was buried at Allendale Township Cemetery. G.A.R. [Grand Army of the Republic] Post #388 was named in his honor. William and his wife Margaret had at least four children: Alida M., who was born about 1866; William H., II, who was born on November 30, 1870, died in Grand Rapids on February 21, 1918, and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery; Harry B., who was born about 1878; and Lucius, who was born April 15, 1881. The children were all born in Allendale.

Born on August 11, 1904 in Grand Rapids to John and Flora Quigley, young Flora graduated from the University of Michigan and married Jack E. Thoma in 1932. They moved to Grand Haven in 1935. The Thomas had two daughters, Jane and Judie. Flora was a teacher of commercial subjects in the Grand Haven School system for many years and was considered one of the best typing teachers on the faculty. She was a member of the Women's Circle, American Red Cross, and Mary Free Bed Guild. She was the first woman trustee of the Presbyterian Church. Flora passed away on January 17, 1985 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. [Tribune obituary, January 17, 1985.]

Jack Thoma was born on December 30, 1905 in Grand Rapids. He graduated from Alma College with a Bachelor of Science degree. In 1928 he joined Grand Haven High School as a biology and chemistry teacher, and he was also Dean of Boys. Jack taught until his death. He married Flora Quigley in 1932, the same year the high school yearbook was dedicated to him with the inscription, "whose buoyant humor has continually livened our high school." He and his wife lived at 400 Duncan Court. They had two daughters, Jane and Judie. An avid tennis player himself, Jack coached the high school tennis team. Jack started and sponsored the "Saturday Nite Club" when he realized the need for youth recreation in the area. He organized and operated the information booth for the Chamber of Commerce; was in charge of cottage rentals; worked with Claude Ver Duin in setting up the Coast Guard Festival; and was a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Duncan Park Board of Trustees. He died on June 16, 1947 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Mathias Thomas [1836-1909]

Mathias Thomas was born in April 1836 in Prussia and immigrated to the United States in 1842. On October 6, 1860 in Spring Lake, he married Martha Jane Hunt. She was born in Michigan in 1837. On March 1, 1862, in Chicago, he enlisted as private in Company G of the New York Marine Light Artillery. He was mustered out of that unit on January 20, 1863. In 1900 he and Martha were residing on Clinton Street in Grand Haven. Mathias then was working as a watchman. He died in 1909 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Martha passed away in 1922 and was buried with Mathias. A daughter Hannah was born in Robinson Township on June 13, 1872. In 1880 Martha's mother, was living with them. Mary was born about 1808 in Massachusetts.

Francis C. Thompson [1856-1923]

Frank Thompson owned a barbershop at 17 Washington Street in Grand Haven as early as 1879. He learned the barbering trade from his Uncle Rutson, his mother's brother. Frank married, Cora Banks in Grand Haven on April 15, 1879. They lived at 1227 Franklin. Cora, a White woman, was born in Ireland [Michigan] around 1856. On their marriage registration form they both were listed as White. They resided at 1227 Washington Street in Grand Haven and had at least one child, George E., who was born about 1874.

Although no record was found of Cora's death or of a divorce, Frank married Matilda [Mathilda] Bartlett on October 6, 1885 in Montague. She was born in Sweden in December 1858 [1859]. Frank had a business in Montague around the mid-1880s, presumably a barber shop. Frank, Matilda, and their family moved to Grand Haven permanently in 1889. Frank was a member of the Negro Masonic Fraternity and Knights Templar. In Grand Haven by 1900, he and Matilda resided at 1227 Franklin, the house he earlier had occupied with Cora. Their children were Lyle E., who was born in Grand Haven on January 15, 1896, and Ethel T., who was born on June 13, 1898 and married Edward W. Nash. Lyle and Ethel were listed as White in the 1900 census, as was their mother. In the 1910 census the children were listed as Mulatto. By 1900 Frank's wife's name was Matilda. Matilda was born in Sweden in December 1858 [1859]. Frank and Matilda [Mathilda] resided at 1227 Washington. Their children were Lyle E., born in January 1896, and Ethel M., who was born in June 1899, married Edward W. Nash, and relocated to Chicago. Frank died in 1923 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Matilda, who died in 1926. Frank, an African American, was born in Spring Lake on March 16, 1856. His parents were Leonard and Mary Bennett Thompson.

Francis C. Thompson [Thomson] [1856-1923]

Francis "Frank" Thompson was born in Spring Lake Township on March 16, 1856. His parents were Leonard and Mary Bennett Thompson of Spring Lake. Mary was Rutson Bennett's sister. Frank, who owned a barbershop at 17 Washington Street in Grand Haven as early as 1879, learned the barbering trade from his Uncle Rutson. Frank married Cora Banks in Grand Haven on April 15, 1879. On their marriage registration form they both were listed as White. Cora was born in Ireland around 1856. Frank and Cora lived at 1227 Franklin. They had at least one child, George E., who, according to the 1880 census, was born about 1874. On October 6, 1885 in Montague, Frank married Matilda [Mathilda] Barkquist Bartlett, who was born in Sweden on December 29, 1858 [1859]. No record was found of Cora's death. Frank had a business in Montague around the mid-1880s, presumably a barber shop. Frank and his family moved to Grand Haven permanently in 1889. Frank was a member of the Negro Masonic Fraternity and Knights Templar. In Grand Haven, he and Matilda resided at 1227 Washington. Their children were Lyle E., who was born in Grand Haven on January 15, 1896, and Ethel T., who was born on June 13, 1898 and married Edward W. Nash. Lyle and Ethel were listed as White in the 1900 census, as was their mother. In the 1910 census the children were listed as Mulatto. Matilda died on May 18, 1926 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Frank, who had died on October 18, 1923.

George Thompson [1804-1861]

English-born George Thompson lived from 1804 to 1861. His sister Frances married Captain Robert Howlett of Grand Haven. George, who never married, was living at the Ottawa House at 1 Washington Street in 1860. His occupation was listed as farmer. George was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Leonard Thompson [Thomson] [1831- ?]

As early as 1850 and as late as 1864, Leonard Thompson [Tomson] was living on a 160-acre farm in Section 8 of Spring Lake Township. He bought the property from Jeduthan Freeman on April 20, 1853. Also in the household in 1850 were James Alexander, a laborer who was born in Tennessee about 1826, and Jakob Goodlow, another laborer, who was born in Kentucky about 1826. All three were African Americans. Hezekiah Smith, an African American, was a neighbor. Leonard was from New York, where he was born about 1831. He married Mary J., the daughter of Alfred and Louisa Bennett, first of Spring Lake and later of Grand Haven. Mary was born in New York about 1839. Among their children were Francis C., born locally on March 16, 1856; Alfred, who was born about 1861 and drowned on September 2, 1881 [another son, named Alferd (sic) drowned on September 30, 1880 at the age of 20]; Lucy, who was born on June 29, 1869 in Spring Lake; and Richard, who was born on October 5, 1874 in Ferrysburg. In Spring Lake on April 19, 1894 Richard married Emma V., the daughter of Ephraim and Adelia Conner Molson of Spring Lake. Emma was born in Coloma, Berrien County in 1878.

On October 25, 1856, Leonard sold his land in Section 8 to Alfred and Louisa Bennett, his parents-in-law. By 1860 Leonard and Mary were residing in Grand Haven adjacent to the Alfred Bennett family in Bennett's Hollow, later called Mulligan's Hollow. Leonard continued to work as a laborer. Mary died in Grand Haven on February 8, 1899 of pneumonia. On March 1, 1900 Leonard married Georgia Johnson, then 35 years old and a native of Maryland. Leonard was listed in the marriage record as 60 years old, which would make his birth year 1840. He and Georgia were classified as Mulattoes. Four months after their marriage, Leonard and Georgia were living in Fruitport, where he continued working as a farmer. In the 1900 census Leonard's birth date was cited as August 1833 and Georgia's as January 1865. No records were found for them after 1900.

Lyle E. Thompson [Thomson] [1896-1961]

The son of Francis and Matilda Bartlett Thompson, Lyle was born in Grand Haven on January 15, 1896. Lyle remained in Grand Haven, where he married Emma Chilcotte on January 5, 1916. Emma was born in Michigan on January 12, 1894. In 1918 Lyle was working as chauffeur for W. R. Baxter. He and Emma were living with Lyle's sister Ethel at 18 Washington. Ten years later Lyle was working as a mechanic at Kooiman Auto Company [219 North Seventh Street]. In the 1910 census the children were listed as Mulatto. In the 1930 census Lyle was classified as Negro. He was still working as a mechanic. He and Emma then resided in Grand Haven Township. Lyle died on June 12, 1961 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Emma passed away on July 8, 1979 in Grand Haven, under the name Emma M. Chilcotte. Lyle and his sister Ethel were listed as White in the 1900 census, as was their mother.

Richard Abner Thompson [1874-1938]

The son of Leonard and Mary Bennett Thompson of Spring Lake and Grand Haven, Richard was born in Ferrysburg on October 5, 1874. The family was African American. In Spring Lake on April 19, 1894, he married Emma V., the daughter of Ephraim and Adelia Conner Molson of Spring Lake. Emma was born in Watervliet, Berrien County, on August 2, 1877 and died in Fruitport on December 17, 1898. The Moulsons also were Black. At the time of the 1900 Federal Census, Richard was living in Chicago with his wife Nellie, presumably Nellie Burrill Williams Graves. Nellie Burrill, who also went by the name Cora, had previously been married to John Williams, followed by Frederick Graves. Cora was born in Ohio about 1868. In Chicago in 1900, Richard and Nellie were employed as servants in the same household. By 1910 Richard and Cora were residing in Muskegon. She was unemployed, while Richard was a "coachman" for a family. At that time, they had a daughter, Elizabeth, born in Michigan on September 23, 1894. Berrien County She was not listed with Richard and Cora in the 1900 census, but she died in Muskegon on August 13, 1917. She was buried at Lakeside Cemetery in Muskegon. At the time of the 1920 Federal Census for Muskegon, Richard was working as a chauffeur for a private family, and Nellie Thompson was employed as a “nurse baby,” possibly a wet nurse. On March 6, 1924 in Muskegon, Cora Ann Thompson married John Traviet [Traviot]. In 1938 Richard was living alone at 525 Clinton. He died in Chicago on April 27, 1938. See Frederick Graves II for more information about Cora/Nellie.

William Thompson was raising fruit in Sections 23 and 24 of Crockery Township in the late 1840s. He also owned a sawmill that had been built by Eleazar Van Drezer in 1845. William was born in Monroe County, New York, on March 25, 1818, and moved to Crockery in 1843 with his mother and father, Henry and Desire Thompson. Desire died on November 28, 1868 at the age of 84 and her husband passed away on January 15, 1857 at the age of 73. By 1864 William owned 540 acres in Sections 14, 16, 23, and 24 in Crockery and substantial acreage in Ravenna Township, Muskegon County, just north of Crockery. In addition to farming, William was an associate of John Spoon and his lumber business. William’s wife, Emily, was born about December 3, 1825 and died on July 2, 1862. The next year he married Mary J. Tibbets, who was born about 1842 in New York. William and Mary had three children, all born locally: Emma, born about 1864; Edith, born about 1867; and Maud M., born about 1875. Mary’s father, John Tibbets, was born in New York about 1800 and resided with the Thompsons in Crockery in 1880. William died on April 2, 1888 and was buried with Emily at Ottawa Center Cemetery.

Andrew W. Thomson I [Thomsen] [1824-1902]

Andrew Thomson was born in Dennyloan Head, Scotland on October 19, 1824. He married Charlotte Arkley while still residents of their native land and where five of their children were born. Charlotte was born in Scotland in February 1830. Andrew received a liberal education and found employment with the Summerlee Iron Company in Glasgow, where he remained for more than 22 years. In 1865, at the close of the Civil War, he severed his connections with that company and brought the family to the United States. They lived in Detroit for a time before coming to Grand Haven. On February 1, 1868 he became general manager of Senator Ferry’s lumbering operations and real estate business. He also was part owner of the Ottawa Iron Works in Ferrysburg and shareholder in the American Brass Novelty Company of Grand Haven.

The Thomson family lived on the corner of Fifth and Clinton [201 South Fifth]. Andrew and Charlotte had three children: Anna [Anne], who was born in Scotland in 1863 and married Charles H. Adams of Grand Haven; Isabel [Isabella], who was born in January 1867 and became a city librarian; and Andrew W. II, born about 1870. The Thomsons were members of the Presbyterian Church, where Charlotte served as president of the Women’s Missionary Society and Ladies Social Society. Andrew was a member of the Masonic fraternity. He died on November 25, 1902. Charlotte lived from February 5, 1830 to February 23, 1910. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Anne. [Tribune obituary, November 25, 1902.]

Andrew W. Thomson II [Thompson] [1870-1954]

Born in Grand Haven on October 18, 1870, Andrew II was raised at 201 South Fifth Street, where he lived with his parents, Andrew and Charlotte Thompson. As a youth he pumped the pipe organ for each service at the Presbyterian Church. He graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1887 and attended Alma College. Andrew organized and directed a boys’ band, the first local high school ensemble that was known as the “Jackie Band.” The group played concerts and parades throughout Michigan from 1915 [1917] to 1924. He and his family moved to St. Paul, Minnesota in the 1890s, where he owned a storage business, and returned to Grand Haven about 1902 to fill the position of secretary-treasurer for the American Brass Novelty Company [Michigan Brass] for the next 50 years. On November 7, 1893, he married Helen McIlhinny. Helen became active in the Presbyterian Church and, like her mother-in-law, served as president of the Women’s Missionary Society and Ladies Social Society. Helen was born in Iowa in May 1872 and died in Grand Haven about July 21, 1945. They had a daughter, Helen A., who was born in February 1895, and another daughter, Mary C., who was born in August 1896. Both children were born in Minnesota. In Grand Haven, the Thomsons lived at 201 Fifth Street, Andrew's childhood home. He died on May 30, 1954 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his wife.

Isabel [Isabelle] M. Thomson [Thompson] [1867-1952]

Born on January 23, 1867, Isabel was the daughter of Andrew and Charlotte Arkley Thomson of Grand Haven. At the age of 16 Isabel started working for the Grand Haven Library Association, which had been founded the year before. By 1891 the Library Association had merged with the Grand Haven public school library, located on the second floor of the high school on Sixth Street. When fire destroyed the Central School library in 1901, she opened a substitute library in her home at 201 South Fifth on the second floor. She also offered music lessons at her home. In 1914 she became the first head librarian of the new Carnegie Public Library at 315 North Third Street, later the site of a parking lot behind Fifth Third Bank. Isabel continued to work as both school and public librarian until 1924 when she left the public side of her profession. She was also a music teacher, and she had a master degree from Northwestern University. Her brother was Andrew W. Thomson II and the family home was located 201 Fifth Street. Isabel died on July 31, 1952 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John Thomson [Thompson] [1837-1912]

John Thomson, an early Spring Lake lumberman, was connected with Cutler & Savidge Lumber Company. He also had an interest in the Munroe, Thomson & Company Sawmill, formed in 1868 and located in Spring Lake at the foot of Jackson Street. He sold his share to Sherman Boyce in 1872. Born in 1837, John married Mary Ellen Lovell, who was born in Grand Haven about 1843. She was the daughter of George G. Lovell, whose homestead on Spring Lake became known as Lovell Park. Born in 1840, she died at Ionia on January 16, 1922, but was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with her husband, who died in 1912. The Thomsons were married in Ottawa County on July 27, 1864. [Tribune obituary, January 16, 1922.]

Conrad E. Thornquist [1906-1989]

Born on April 12, 1906 in Grand Rapids to Otto and Charlotte Thornquist, Conrad graduated from the University of Michigan in 1928 and Harvard University in 1931. He joined the firm of Warner, Norcross & Judd of Grand Rapids as a corporate lawyer and became a full partner in 1937. A veteran of WWII, he married Helen Moon Hopkins, the adopted daughter of Claude B. Hopkins, on July 2, 1949. Conrad was a member of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Michigan. He was director emeritus of Guardsman Products, Inc., Crampton Corp., AGM Industries, and Great Lakes Oil and Chemical Corp. He was on the boards of Gerber, Inc. and JSJ Corp. He was also director and secretary of Michigan Bumper Corp., which became Gulf and Western Industries. Conrad was a member of the University Club, Peninsular Club, Kent Country Club, Chicago Club, and St. John's Episcopal Church. He passed away on January 3, 1989 at Pineycrest, his home on Spring Lake [7437 South Walker Road, Fruitport Township]. He was interred at Spring Lake Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, March 5, 1989.]

Helen Moon Hopkins Thornquist [1898-1986]

Helen was born in Chicago on December 26, 1898 to Samuel and Harriet Moon. Upon her father's death, her mother married Claude B. Hopkins on July 14, 1914. Hopkins adopted Helen when she was fifteen. Harriet was born November 29, 1870 in Prairie City, Illinois. Helen was a secretary for the House of Representatives in Washington, D.C. She married Conrad Thornquist on July 2, 1936 and lived in the family home [Pineycrest] on Spring Lake until her death July 1, 1986. Pineycrest was located at 7437 South Walker Road, Fruitport Township. She was a member of the St. Elizabeth Guild and St. John's Episcopal Church, and she was president of Junior League. The King of England during World War II decorated her for assisting in the British War Relief. She was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, July 1, 1986.]

John H. Thornton [1845-1922]

In 1869 John Thornton was foreman of the "Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company" in Grand Haven. A native of Geneva, New York, where he was born in 1845, John enlisted as private with Company H of the 33rd New York Infantry on December 28, 1861. Discharged on June 2, 1863, he immediately reenlisted in the 4th New York Heavy Artillery and served until the end of the war. In 1866 he came to Grand Haven and was a carpenter and builder from 1870 on. On November 7, 1887 he applied for an invalid's Civil War pension. He married Mary [Marietta] Mink in Grand Haven on March 3, 1868. She was born in Russia and lived from 1847 to 1912. Their son Willy was born in Michigan around 1870. John died in 1922 and was buried at Oakwood Cemetery in Muskegon.

Henry B. Thorp [Thorpe] [1827-1905]

Born in Connecticut in June 1827, Henry Thorp farmed 31 acres in Section 10 of Spring Lake Township [approximately 18450 West Spring Lake Road]. Henry died about March 17, 1905. After his death, his wife, Adelaide L., ran Beechwood Resort on the eleven acres remaining after selling 20 acres to Gerrit B. Teunis, who already farmed 133 acres in Section 3, just to the north. Adelaide, also from Connecticut, was born in December 1842. Henry and Adelaide had a son, Fred E., who was born in Michigan around 1876.

Nathan Throop [Troop] [1798-1850]

Nathan Throop was born on July 1, 1798 in Barnard, Vermont [Ontario, Canada]. He and his family were early settlers in Grand Haven, arriving by canoe from Canada in 1835. A carpenter by trade, he built his house at the northwest corner of Franklin and First Streets, and he constructed Louis Campau's warehouse near Government Pond, then called the Lower Diggings. At an undetermined date, he built Timothy Eastman's residence in Eastmanville. Nathan purchased the steam sawmill built by William Butts and William Hathaway in Grand Haven in 1836, which he subsequently sold to Francis and Thomas Gilbert. The first meeting of the County Board of supervisors was held at Nathan's house on April 11, 1838. In 1839 Nathan became proprietor of the first public tavern in Grand Haven, located at 33 Franklin Street. On November 10, 1841, Nathan purchased almost 250 acres in Section 3 of Allendale Township. Nine years later he bought 40 acres in Muskegon County. He was included in the Federal Censuses of 1840 and 1850 as a resident of Ottawa Township [which included the town of Grand Haven and is now Grand Haven Township].

On January 20, 1830 Nathan married Mary E. Munshaw in Ontario, Canada. Nathan's and Mary's had at least one child, Caroline Elizabeth Throop, who was born about 1831 in Ontario. She married Francis Gilbert who, in partnership with his brother Thomas Gilbert, bought a sawmill from Nathan. Nathan died in Grand Haven on August 23, 1850. Mary, who was born in 1811, passed away on June 27, 1876. Both were buried at Fulton Street Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

Hugo Thum was born in Detroit on December 22, 1853. His father, Karl Wilhelm "William" Thum, was born in Württemberg, Germany on April 12, 1824 and died in Grand Rapids on March 11, 1883. William became a druggist in Grand Rapids, where he owned a drug store in association with Hugo and three other sons: Ferdinand Thum [1855-1920], Otto Thum [1865-1943], and William Thum II [1861-1941]. Their mother was Christina [Christiane] Griner [Greiner], whom William married in Grand Rapids on September 28, 1850. She was born on December 28, 1825 and died in Grand Rapids on December 29, 1909. She and William were buried at Valley City Cemetery. Shortly after their marriage, the Thums moved to Detroit, where William was in the drugstore business for the next 16 years before returning to Grand Rapids. About the time of their father's death in Grand Rapids, Ferdinand was developing an adhesive for flypaper much easier to work with and longer lasting than the typical product.

The brothers in 1885 formed the Thum Company and two years later started production of their broadly accepted innovation, which soon had world-wide distribution. In 1887 Hugo patented a holder for "Labels, Checks, and the Like," among other inventions he patented. The four brothers sold their business in 1909 and moved to Southern California. In 1911 Hugo was elected mayor of Pasadena. Fourteen years later new owners changed the trade name to the Tanglefoot Flypaper Company [also known as the "Sticky Flypaper Co."]. Ferdinand died in Pasadena, California in 1920 at the age of 65. Apparently he never married. By 1900 the Thums owned a 40-acre summer estate, called Exmoor, on the west shore of Spring Lake [17500 West Spring Lake Road]. At different times, Ferdinand, Hugo, and Otto were each shown as owners of Exmoor. Otto was born in Grand Rapids on January 5, 1865 and died in Los Angeles, California on November 10, 1943. William lived from December 21, 1861 to May 10, 1941 and died in Los Angeles. On May 11, 1916 the Tribune reported that Hugo had donated Exmoor to the Village of Spring Lake to be used as a park. The gift included the yacht Lorna Doone and other property along the Grand River at the south end of School Street. Overall, the gift had a value of $50,000 at that time. In 1931 the Spring Lake Yacht Club negotiated with the Village for a long-term lease on the property and soon moved there. The Yacht Club had been formed in 1897 with 23 charter members. Hugo's wife, Louisa, was born in Ohio about 1854 and married Hugo in 1878. Hugo passed away in San Diego, California, on August 9, 1923.

Edmund Tickner [1905-1970]

In 1946 the Tickner Company moved from Grand Rapids to Grand Haven with Edmund Tickner as general manager. The firm produced radio cabinets. In 1952 he started Lakeview Manufacturing, which produced portable iceboats. Edmund resided at 16932 De Witt in Spring Lake. He lived from October 14, 1905 to November 1970.

Wilhelm "William" Tietz [1857-1933]

William was born in Grand Haven on October 10, 1857, soon after his parents, August John and Augusta Kant Tietz, arrived in the United States from Prussia. On April 28, 1884, William married Anna Ladewig in Grand Haven on April 28, 1884. She was born on December 4, 1863. Anna, the daughter of Charles "Carl" and Wilhelmina Behm Ladewig, died on November 1, 1927. The Tietzes made their home at 118 Elliott Street in Grand Haven.

William also owned a 30-acre farm in the neighborhood bounded by Orchard Street north to Taylor and Ferry Street west to Wallace [Beacon]. His granddaughter, Dorothy Elizabeth "Bette" McGill and her husband, Norman Anderson, built their home on Ferry Street on two acres of the former Tietz farm [1209 South Ferry]. William and Anna had 14 children: Emily, who was born in October 1884 and married Harry McGill and were Bette's parents; Hannah T., born in October 1885; Mathilda, born November 1886; William, born in July 1888; Marian, born in October 1889; Henrietta Willeminia, born in June 1890; Emma Louise, who born in September 1892; Elizabeth, born in December 1893; Julia, born in July 1895; Otto, born in May 1897; Martha, who was born in August 1898 and married Chester Brockway; Benjamin; Dorothy, who became the wife of Jack Bramer of Ferrysburg; and Isabel, who married Jay Poel. After his wife's death in 1927, William built a home at 1509 Sheldon Road, where he lived with several of his daughters until he died at home on August 21, 1933.

Born on September 1, 1913 in Kearny, New Jersey, Jack Thomas Tighe was manager of the Detroit Tigers in 1957 and 1958. He continued to work for the Tigers until he was fired in 1990. Tighe was a minor league catcher with Charleston, West Virginia in 1936. From 1940-41, he was a player-manager for the Muskegon Clippers of the Michigan State League. He coached other minor league teams, such as the Toledo Mud Hens. The Sporting News recognized him as minor league Coach of the Year in 1968, when the Mud Hens won the league championship. Jack was inducted into the Muskegon Area Sports Hall of Fame in 1988. Jack married Beverly Yeager in Detroit on September 25, 1940. For a short time in the early 1960s, the Jack Tighe Hardware and Sporting Goods Store opened at 116 West Savidge in Spring Lake. In 1983 they sold their home in Spring Lake and moved to Florida permanently. She lived from April 11, 1920 to March 28, 1990 and died in Pompano Beach, Florida. Jack died in the same community on August 2, 2002. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Their son John died in Grand Haven Grand Haven in 2017 at the age of 73. On July 12, 1912 in Buffalo, New York, he married Kate Duieks [Drienko/Drinko], who lived from August 9, 1886 to December 27, 1977. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Steven emigrated from Germany to Chicago in 1909 and Kate arrived the next year. The couple moved to Grand Haven in 1932, first owning a farm on Beechtree Street in Section 27 of Grand Haven Township and then settling on 156 acres in Section 29 of Robinson Township [11184 136th Avenue]. Frank Tiles, born on September 4, 1918, was one of their children. Their other children were Annie, Elsie, John, Walter “Wally,” Albert, Bill, and Betty.

Roelof “Ralph” Hendricks Timmerman I [1839-1928]

Roelof Timmerman was born in Drenthe, The Netherlands, on July 1, 1839 [October 17, 1836] and arrived in this area in 1882. He was the son of Hendrick Eilerds and Henderkien Alting Timmerman. Roelof's 100-acre farm was located in Section 12 of Olive Township. He also raised livestock. While still in The Netherlands, he married Jentjen [Jantje] “Jenny” Musche, who was born in The Netherlands on August 10, 1835. They had at least two sons: John, who was born in The Netherlands about 1874, and Roelof II, who was born in Michigan around 1897. Jenny passed away on October 8, 1925, and Ralph died on March 23, 1928 in Olive Township. Both were buried at Borculo Cemetery.

Gerald John Tinholt [1897-1958]

Gerald Tinholt owned a Conoco Service Station at the junction of Pine and Ridge Streets in Ferrysburg Carl. In 1936 he and Carl “Swede” Erickson formed a partnership and started the Tri-City Oil Company at this location. The station initially offered D-X gasoline [now Sunoco], but before long the owners changed to Cities Service [now Citgo] gasoline. Gerald was born in Graafschaap, Allegan County, on August 31, 1897 and married Johanna “Nan” Dobbin [Dobben] in Holland on June 24, 1923. She was born on February 24, 1899 and died on March 3, 1982 in Grand Haven. Gerald passed away in Ferrysburg on April 29, 1958. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They had two daughters: Shirley, who was born on April 20, 1924 and married Sidney Shaver, and Mary Ella, [Ellen] who was born on May 6, 1933, married Hollis Heemstra, and died in Hudsonville on June 17, 2001; she was buried at Georgetown Township Cemetery. Gerald worked as a machinist and tool maker at a local foundry.

Denver John Todd I [1913-1986]

Born in Kaleva, Manistee County on February 21, 1913, Denver Todd settled in Grand Haven around 1944 and was agent operator for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, with which his whole family was associated. He later became purchasing and job costing accountant for Grand Haven Harbor Industries. Denver was one of the founders of the Tri-Cities Historical Society and many times its president. On March 30, 1940, Denver married Ruth Eleanora Breckenridge in Bangor, Van Buren County. They resided at 520 Pennoyer in Grand Haven. He died on December 29, 1986. Ruth lived from August 19, 1918 to September 3, 2009. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their children included Darla Todd, who was born about 1943, and Denver Todd II, who was born in June 1946.

William D. Tolford [Talford] [1825-1915]

Born in New York State in 1825, William Tolford by 1850 was working as a clerk in Hudson, Lenawee County, and ten years later he was employed as a mercantile agent living in Grand Rapids. By 1870, still in Grand Rapids, he owned a candle manufacturing business and owned real estate valued at $33,000, while his personal estate amounted to $4,000. Two years after that, William was noted as the treasurer of Phoenix Furniture Company in Grand Rapids. In 1880 he was listed in the Federal Census of that year as a real estate agent. His wife Cordelia died in 1893, not quite 70 years old, and was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery. William, who passed away in 1915, was buried near her.

Although William never resided in the Grand Haven area, he did have business interest there. In 1871 he purchased Edward Cole's interest in the Haire & Cole Sawmill on Grand River in Spring Lake. The mill's name was then changed to Haire & Tolford. The disastrous fire of 1871 destroyed the mill and much of the village. Tolford Street in Spring Lake Village was named for William, and the Haire Tolford Hancock Addition to the village similarly continued his name.

Ira Gale Tompkins [1831-1900]

In the early 1870s, Ira Tompkins had a photography studio in Spring Lake, although he apparently resided in Grand Rapids, where he also worked as a photographer. He opened his studio in Grand Rapids in the spring of 1860 with his brother, Joseph Howard Tompkins. Born in Wyoming County, New York in 1831, Ira married Demaris C. Ide in Grand Rapids on October 25, 1861. Desmaris, a native of the Empire State, was born on July 6, 1844. She and Ira had at least five children, all born in Michigan: William S., who was born in 1862 and died in 1917; Edmund Gale, born in 1864; George Ide, who lived from 1869 to 1952; Lillian Mabel, who was born in 1873 and died in 1967; and John Joseph, born in 1875. By 1880 the family was living in Wisconsin. Ira died in Chicago on March 16, 1900 and was buried at Graceland Cemetery. Desmaris passed away in 1917 in California and was buried at Valhalla Cemetery in Bel-Nor, Missouri in the same crypt as her brother-in-law, Joseph Tompkins [1825-1936].

Nathan R. Tompkins [1825-1864]

While a resident of Spring Lake, Nathan Tompkins on February 9, 1863 enlisted as private in Company B of the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters. He was taken prisoner at the Siege of Petersburg on June 17, 1864, died in Anderson Prison the following August 24, and was buried there. Nathan was born in New York about 1825. Just prior to the war, Nathan was a resident of Spring Lake, working as a carpenter. His wife Celestia was born in New York in 1831. Their daughter, Louisa L., was born in Michigan about 1852.

Franklin Pratt [E.] Torrance [1841-1895]

A native of Tarrytown, New York, where he was born on July 13, 1841, Frank Torrance moved to Ottawa County before the Civil War. He enlisted as private in Company C of the 2nd Michigan Cavalry on September 7, 1861, and served until the end of the Civil War, when he was mustered out on August 17, 1865, in Georgia with the rank of Ferrier [horse shoer]. In the military he also may have been listed as Torrance Franklin. In 1867 Frank came to Grand Haven from Georgia. He was with the Cutler & Savidge Lumber Company until 1881, when he joined the Grand Haven Lumber Company as engineer at the Fourth Ward mill. On February 3, 1872 he married Clara E. Hudson in Spring Lake. Clara was born in Grand Haven on October 4, 1854. Their son, Franklin Harvey Torrance, was born in the Village on April 30, 1873, and subsequently lived in Shiawassee, Wayne, and Macomb Counties. Franklin and Clara also had a daughter, Susan Maude, who was born on August 1, 1877 and died in Piqua, Ohio on August 22, 1943. At the time of her death, she was known as Maude Susan Smith. In 1880, Frank, Clara, Franklin, and Maude were living in Ferrysburg, where the father was an engineer. After Franklin's death in Ely, Minnesota on September 14, 1895, Clara married Fred L. Souter, a widower, on June 11, 1904 in Saginaw. Clara died on June 3, 1908 in Piqua, Ohio, where her daughter Maude lived.

August [Augustus] Torrey [1850-1902]

August Torrey died in Detroit as the result of a train accident on August 20, 1902. At the time, he was Civil Engineer for Michigan Central Railroad. He was a friend of the Dunbar family in Grand Haven and may have lived for a short time in the city. The son of Augustus and Deborah Cox Torrey, August was born in Beverly, Massachusetts on November 21, 1850. On June 18, 1878, he married Letitia Estella Durant in Burlington, Vermont. Their daughter, Letitia Torrey, was born in Burlington on June 7, 1879 and died in 1963. Letitia the mother, who was born in Waterbury, Vermont on June 26, 1854, died of childbirth complications on June 20, 1879. On December 10, 1885 in Detroit, August married Charlotte Austin Foote. Charlotte, a native of Burlington, Vermont, was born on August 1, 1865. August and Charlotte had three children, all born in Detroit: Dana Hungerford Torrey, born on August 3, 1887; Helen Cutler Torrey, born on August 12, 1888, and Charlotte Foote Torrey, born on August 17, 1896. Charlotte the mother died on March 11, 1917. George Torrey was August's uncle.

George Torrey [Torrey] [1801-1854]

Captain George Torrey in 1849 was appointed the third keeper of the Grand Haven lighthouse [900 Harbor] when it was located at the bottom of the bluff. He replaced William Haucland. George tended the beacon from 1849 until it was destroyed by a storm on December 17, 1852. He was replaced the next year by Peter vanden Berg. George was born in Salem, Massachusetts in 1801. He had a son, Charles C., who was born in Massachusetts about 1828, two other sons, and a daughter. In his short life, George had a variety of careers: first as farmer, then as a dry goods merchant, editor of the Kalamazoo Telegraph, and lumbering. He died in Chicago in January 1854 of an undisclosed illness and was buried at Mountain Home Cemetery. His wife, Eunice, died in 1839 and was buried at Yorkville Cemetery in Kalamazoo County. August Torrey was his nephew.

Asher Tourison I [1916-2004]

Asher, the son of George Bartle and Hazel Lambert Tourison, was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on September 13, 1916. He married Jane Lee Stokes in New Jersey on December 6, 1947. Asher, an inventor who held several patents, worked as mechanical engineer and manufacturing manager with various companies. In 1965 he became plant manager at a Muskegon tool-making company. Three years later he started a charter fishing business with his son Bruce. In 1970 Asher became director of Buildings and Grounds for North Ottawa Community Hospital. He was a member of the Grand Haven Presbyterian Church and served as president of several associations. Asher's and Jane's children included Joan L. Tourison of Grand Haven; Susan, who married Dan Day of East Grand Rapids; Mary, who married Jim Dana of Grand Haven; Margaret, who married Kellen Berndt of Grand Haven; Bruce S. Tourison of Grand Rapids; and Asher Tourison II of Zeeland. Asher the elder died in Grand Haven on November 20, 2004 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Jane lived from November 12, 1923 to March 17, 1997. She passed away in Grand Haven and also was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, November 22, 2004.]

Avis Ella Towers [1895-1981]

The daughter of Lewis [1868-1952] and Emma [1871-1963] Towers, Avis was born in Michigan on July 24, 1895. In 1920 she was living with her parents in Converse, Wyoming and teaching in the public schools there. Six years later she moved to Grand Haven and taught home economics at Grand Haven High School. She resided at 514 Franklin Street in a two-unit apartment building owned by Agnes Louise Stark, also a teacher. Agnes willed the property to the First Presbyterian Church. After retirement, Avis became lunchroom supervisor at the high school. She died in Grand Haven on April 26, 1981 and was buried at Maple Grove Cemetery in Mattawan, Van Buren County.

Alfred A. Tracey [1828-1895]

Alfred Tracey born in Ohio on September 11, 1828, arrived in Ottawa County in 1847. He was elected county clerk of Ottawa County in 1868 and held that position for twelve years, until replaced by George D. Turner in 1881. Alfred married Orpha Emeroy Sumner in Ottawa County on March 28, 1855. Orpha, who came from Vermont, was born about 1838. Alfred and Orpha had at least two children, both born in Michigan: Anje S., born about 1861, and Williette, born around 1863. Alfred passed away in Milwaukee on December 12, 1895 and was scheduled to be buried at an unidentified cemetery Grand Rapids.

Levi Tracey [Tracy] [1807-1882]

Levi was born in Orange County, Vermont [New London, Connecticut], on August 6, 1807, the son of Perez and Olive Flint Tracey. He studied law and became a justice of the peace. In 1852 he went to Wisconsin to work as a carpenter and wagon maker, and in 1867 he settled in Section 34 of Grand Haven Township. He served as school commissioner for a while. In May 1840, he married Anna [Ann] Ford. She was born January 8, 1820, also in Orange County, the daughter of Elisha and Asenath Spear Ford. Levi and Anna had two children. Levi died in Grand Haven on January 15, 1882.

Hosea H. [1825-1865] and Nathan O. Tracy [Tracey] [1845-1864]

By 1860 the Hosea Tracy family was situated on an 80-acre farm in Section 10 of Crockery Township. On May 13, 1861 Hosea and his son Nathan traveled to Grand Rapids to enlist in Company I of the 3rd Michigan Infantry. Hosea, who was born in New York about 1823 [1826], was discharged for disability on November 4, 1862 and applied for a disability pension on March 2, 1863. Nathan also was discharged for disability, but not until January 5, 1864. He applied for an invalid's Civil War pension the following August 6. Hosea married Jane A. Custer, who was born in Connecticut in 1828. Nathan O. was born in Ohio on January 9, 1845 [1840]. Another son of Hosea's, Austin E., was born in Illinois around 1853, and a daughter, Betsy J., was born in Michigan around 1857. Nathan and Hosea died at home in Crockery Township, Nathan on December 13, 1864 and Hosea on December 17, 1865. Both men have undated monuments at Ottawa Center Cemetery, where Jane also was buried. She died on March 1, 1898.

Thomas Traill was born in the Orkney Islands in Scotland on November 10, 1856 to a family with a long history of salt-water sailing. He was the son of Peter and Catherine Millar Traill. Thomas was encouraged to come to Grand Haven by a fellow Scotsman, Captain George Robertson. He arrived in Grand Haven in 1880 and married Janet Mainland in Grand Haven on December 13, 1883. Janet, also a native of the Orkney Islands, was born on October 15, 1862. They had two sons, Thomas William Traill, born on October 16, 1884, and Hugh Maisland Traill, born on November 11, 1886. The Traills also had one daughter, Catherine Janet Traill, born on November 26, 1890. All three children were born in Grand Haven. Thomas William Traill married Helen L. Waggoner in Cleveland, Ohio on December 19, 1908. Helen was born in Ohio about 1884. She and her husband lived in Northville, Wayne County in 1930. Thomas passed away in Chagrin Falls, Ohio, on April 25, 1962. Thomas and Helen had a daughter, Mary Janet, who was born in Toronto, Canada on December 27, 1909 and died on December 27, 2005 in Macedonia, Ohio. The Traills lost their daughter, Catherine Janet, to the influenza epidemic on November 18, 1918. Catherine had married William J. Martin in Grand Haven on January 27, 1917 and was living in Salvadore, Saskatchewan, Canada at the time of her death. William died the next year and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Hugh Traill died on April 11, 1919, a victim of the same epidemic. He also was buried at Lake Forest.

Captain Traill and his family initially lived in the 200 block of Lafayette Street. In 1898 Captain Thomas Traill and his wife bought part of the former Ferry property on Lafayette Street [514 Lafayette] from the heirs of John Furlong. Thomas was a sea captain, and he commanded some of the largest ships steaming out of Grand Haven harbor, including the passenger and freight steamer Naomi, a Crosby line freight and passenger steamer, the car ferries Grand Haven and Milwaukee. Those who sailed with Captain Traill considered him a "square shooter." On May 21, 1907 the Naomi caught fire in mid-Lake, as the vessel was traveling between Grand Haven and Milwaukee, with the loss of five lives. The burned-out hulk was towed back to Grand Haven.

Thomas died on January 22, 1930 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Janet remained in the house at 514 Lafayette until her death on March 10, 1941. She also was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, January 23, 1930.]

Born on November 3, 1873, Calla was the daughter of James and Marcia Travis of Grand Rapids. Calla began teaching dance in 1890 in people's homes. In 1891 she furthered her dance skills by taking private lessons in Chicago. In 1893 she enrolled at the Akleley Institute for Girls in Grand Haven. Calla graduated from Akeley in 1895 but continued there as a teacher of dance. By 1896 she was back in Grand Rapids, teaching dance at the YWCA before opening her own studio. Calla wrote original dance instruction pamphlets that were popular in the United States and overseas. She ended her career in 1948 after 58 years of teaching dance. Calla died on February 2, 1955 in La Jolla, California. Her brother, Charles C. Travis, also of Grand Rapids, owned a cottage at the Wilderness, a second home community a few miles south of Grand Haven, and either he or James Travis, their father, bought Braeside, a cottage in Highland Park. Calla is credited with bringing to Highland Park from China the silver dollar bushes that have spread throughout the landscape. Marcia Travis Pilling of Grand Haven was her niece.

Bastian Trimpe I [1852-1944]

Bastian Trimpe, who settled on 80 acres in Section 24 of Olive Township in 1894, also raised livestock. He was still on his farm in 1908. Bastian was a native of The Netherlands, where he was born in July 1852. His wife, Carrie, was born in The Netherlands on July 23, 1852. Their children were James, born in February 1883; Carrie, born in July 1885; Johanna J., born in February 1888; and Bastian II, born in August 1895. By 1930 Bastian was residing in Georgetown Township. Bastian was born locally. The other children immigrated with their parents to the United States from The Netherlands in 1889. Bastian died on November 3, 1944 in Grandville.

Ernest Henry Tripp [1912-1996]

Born in Grand Haven on January 12, 1913, Ernest was the son of Henry and Ida Brunnsma Tripp. He married Anna Yonker at July 22, 1937 in Grand Haven. In 1940 they resided at 944 Pennoyer. Later Ernest became an inspector at Keller Tool Company, and he and Anna resided at 1028 Grant Street in a house they built. Anna was born July 24, 1916 and died in Grand Haven on November 12, 2009. Ernest had passed away on February 16, 1996 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They had two sons, David Tripp and Gary Tripp.

Henry Albert Tripp [1871-1939]

The son of Samuel and Amelia Owen Tripp, Henry was born in Robinson Township on May 1, 1871. Henry served with the 32nd Michigan Infantry during the Spanish American War. He married Ida Brunnsma in Grand Haven on June 14, 1906. In their early married years, the Tripps resided at 509 Madison Street and Henry worked at Story & Clark Piano Company. Later, Henry became a celery farmer and owned property at 1000 Wallace Street [Beacon Boulevard], which they sold in 1945 to Ralph De Young. Henry and Ida moved to 809 Wallace Street, where they continued to raise celery. Henry died on March 21, 1939 and was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. One of their children, Ernest Henry Tripp, was born on January 12, 1913.

Jesse Gilbert Tripp [1866-1952]

Jesse Gilbert Tripp, the son of Samuel and Amelia Owen Tripp, was born on June 21, 1866 in Kalamazoo County. On December 4, 1895, he married Ida Adell Cooper in Allendale. In 1900, Jesse was a farmer in Robinson Township. He and Ida had five children: Florence Tripp [1897-1898]; Earl Arthur Tripp [1899-1972]; Gilbert Tripp [1900-1960]; Clarence Samuel Tripp [1906-1969]; and Dorothy Mae Tripp [1912-1978]. Jesse died on September 23, 1952, and was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. Ida lived from 1878 to 1964 and also was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery.

Samuel Gilbert Tripp [1836-1912]

A native of Massachusetts, where he was born on April 28, 1836, Samuel Tripp enlisted in Company G of the New York Marine Artillery during the Civil War. In 1860 he was single and living in Kalamazoo, working as a cooper. He married Amelia Owen in Plymouth, Massachusetts. By 1871 they were living in Robinson Township. Amelia was born in New York in 1840 and died in 1917. Samuel passed away on November 2 five years later. They were buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. Their surviving children were Jesse Gilbert Tripp [1866-1952]; Theodore Tripp [1868-1954]; Henry Albert Tripp [1873-1939]; Myron Owen Tripp [1874-1955]; and Myrta Tripp [1879-1901]. Jesse and Theodore were born in Kalamazoo, the others were born in Robinson Township. Jesse married Ida A. Cooper in Allendale on December 4, 1895, and Theodore married Anna Robinson on April 27, 1892 in Grand Haven. Anna, the daughter of George and Mary Noantay Robinson, was born on November 4, 1872. Mary's mother was the daughter of Isadore and Joset Noantay, both of whom had Native American ancestors.

Theodore Tripp [1868-1954]

On April 27, 1892 in Grand Haven, Theodore Tripp married Anna [Susanna, Annie, Hannah] Robinson. The daughter of George and Mary Noantay Robinson, Anna was born on November 4, 1872 in Robinson Township. Anna's mother, Mary, was part Ottawa. Theodore, the son of Samuel and Amelia Owen Tripp, was born in Kalamazoo County on September 28, 1868 and had moved to Robinson Township with his parents by 1871. He worked as a raftsmen for the Basket Factory, bringing logs down the Grand River for milling.

Anna's and Theodore's children were Claude Owen Tripp, who was born on February 4, 1895 in Robinson Township, married Gertrude Venema in Grand Haven on April 24, 1913, and died in Grand Haven in September 1968; Laura [Anna Laura] Tripp, who was born on October 4, 1906 [1905], married Walter Kahnke [Kuhnke/Kohnke] of Grand Haven, and died on September 20, 1988 in Grand Haven; and Velda Tripp, who was born on May 31, 1908 and died in Kalamazoo on January 5, 1959 under the name Valda Fern Holman, the wife of Jacob Holman. Living with the Tripps at 613 Monroe Street in 1920 was Walter [Walther] Robinson, the son of Frank and Anna Valincourt Robinson of Grand Haven Township and Anna's nephew. Also in the Tripp household in 1920 was Anna's grandmother, Mary Robinson. All were considered White by the census taker.

Anna, Claude, and Laura were cited in the 1908 Durant Roll as members of the Grand River Bands of Ottawa Indians, and all were residents of Grand Haven. By 1930 the Tripps were residing at 305 De Spelder in Grand Haven, and Theodore was working at the Dake Machinery Company, as he had been since at least 1920. Living with them was their son Claude Tripp, his wife Gertrude, and their two children: Marian Tripp, 14 years old, and Robert Tripp, six years old. All family members in that census were noted as being White. Ten years later, Theodore and Anna were still living on De Spelder, but Clarence and his family had moved out. Theodore was employed as a vault maker in a local funeral home. He passed away in Grand Haven on December 15, 1954, and Anna died on May 10, 1955 in Kalamazoo and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband. Anna attended the Seventh Day Adventist Church. [Tribune obituaries, December 15, 1954 and May 10, 1955.]

Clinton Trotter, born on March 30, 1896 in Spring Lake, was William and Mary Trotter's son and Leroy D. Heath's grandson. The Heaths raised their grandson after both his parents died when he was a boy. After graduating from high school, Clinton moved to Chicago, where he was enumerated in the 1920 and 1930 censuses. In 1930 he worked as a clerk in an insurance office. Clinton remained in Chicago until he retired and returned to Spring Lake. He resided at 736 East Savidge, next door to the family home at 746. He was a veteran of World War I. Clinton died in Grand Rapids on March 28, 1991.

Richard Trotter I [1843-1925]

A native of Ontario, Canada, Richard Trotter came to Spring Lake in 1881, and worked at several sawmills. Richard married Eliza Jane Bolton, also from Canada, where she was born in July 1850. They built a home at 746 East Savidge, which remained in the family for decades. The Trotters' children were Thomas, born in Canada in June 1872; William H., who was born on November 18, 1878 and died on August 13, 1897; Ida E., who was born in January 1879 and married Floyd H. Lee; Richard II, who lived from August 24, 1877 to August 20, 1897; Monford B., who was born February 15, 1881 and died July 27, 1898; and Esma, a son, born in June 1884. All the children except Thomas were born in Spring Lake. Thomas, a carpenter, built a cottage in Section 2 of Spring Lake Township [15735 Littlefield Lane] in the fall of 1897. Richard I, a native of Canada, lived from February 12, 1843 to July 21, 1925 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with other family members.

William H. Trotter [1873-1897]

The son of Richard Trotter, William was born in Ontario, Canada on November 18, 1873. On January 14, 1896 in Spring Lake, he married Mary Agnes Heath, the daughter of Leroy and Susanna Heath of Spring Lake. Agnes was born on May 8, 1877 and passed away on April 27, 1890. They had one son, Clinton, who was born on March 30, 1896. After his parents' deaths, Clinton was raised by the Heaths. William died on August 13, 1897, and his wife passed away on April 27, 1900. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. After the deaths of his parents, Clinton was raised by the Heaths.

Ira Trowbridge [1951-2016]

Artist and photographer Ira Trowbridge, who was born in Charlotte, Eaton County on May 5, 1951, moved to Muskegon in 2007 after living for a number of years in Grand Rapids where he worked as an automotive technician for the Toyota Company. He also found joy in repairing electric wheelchairs as a volunteer for Alternatives in Motion. His wife Ann also was an artist, and both were members of the Gallery Uptown. Ira also had his works displayed at Gallery 800 in Grand Rapids.

In his artist's statement, Ira noted that he "uses a field camera to produce traditional black and white medium format silver gelatin prints. In his darkroom, Ira continued, "with the use of toners and hand coloring, he creates images which have personality and create a mood." He entered a variety of juried shows, ranging from the Regional Exhibition sponsored by the Muskegon Museum of Art [now called the Contemporary Art Show] to the Grand Rapids Festival of Arts to Holland Friends of Art and Grand Haven's Winterfest, all between the years 1999 and 2006. He had solo exhibitions at 10 Weston in 2003, First United Methodist Church in Grand Rapids in 2005, the Gallery Uptown in 2004 and 2005, the Huntington Gallery in 2004 and 2005, and the Lowell Chamber of Commerce in 2005.

Ira passed away on January 25, 2016.

A St. Joseph boat builder had a strong presence at the Columbian Exposition, held in Chicago in 1893. The Truscott Boat Company manufactured the gondolas and small steam launches that moved many of the Exposition's millions of visitors between the various sights. The company in 1904 supplied thirty-foot electric boats to sail the lagoons of the St. Louis Exhibition, and the company's boats were used at the 1933-34 World's Fair in Chicago, as well. The Truscott Boat Company was St. Joseph's largest employer in the early twentieth century. Seven hundred Truscott craftsmen built 600 wooden boats a year, from simple rowboats to 85-foot yachts. By the early 1900s, Truscott had offices as far apart as Chicago and China. The company was sold to Thomas Temple of Chicago, who kept it going through WW II and up to 1950.

The founder of the company, Thomas H. Truscott, was born in Falmouth, England on August 11, 1826. In England, he married Mary E. Dorkes. They had at least four children, all born in England: John, born about 1866, Harry, born in December 1867, James, born about 1869, and Edward E., who was born in 1870 and died in 1939. Apparently Mary died before Thomas and his sons immigrated to America in 1870. By 1876 they were settled in Grand Rapids, where Thomas started the Truscott Boat Company. They produced small wooden steam launches, sailboats, and rowboats. The company moved to St. Joseph in 1872. Prior to 1880 he married Elizabeth L. Smith in Ottawa County, apparently his second marriage. According to newspaper reports, they resided in Ottawa County for a while before relocating to St. Joseph. Elizabeth was born in Wales around 1831 and died in Georgia in early January 1896. By 1900 Thomas was living with his son, Harry and Harry's family in St. Joseph. Harry was foreman of the Truscott Boat Company. Thomas died in 1905 and was buried at City Cemetery in St. Joseph.

Milo A. Tubbs [1861-1887]

The son of Ozias and Hellen [Ellen] Eastway Tubbs of Olive Township, Milo was born on March 13, 1861. On April 1, 1883 in Olive Township, he married Emma Kirkland. Emma, born in Greenville, Montcalm County about 1868, was adopted by Samuel and Martha Purchase of Olive Township. Milo and Emma had at least one child, Wilder D., who was born in Olive Township on April 6, 1884. Milo died on October 16, 1887 and was buried at Olive Township Cemetery.

Newton Isaac Tubbs II [Tubb] [1855-1930]

The son of Newton Isaac I [1825-1874] and Lucinda Goldsmith [1830-1904] Tubbs, both originally of New York State, Isaac was born in Charlotte, Eaton County on August 25, 1855 and was in Shiawassee County at the time of the 1880 Federal Census. He came to Grand Haven in 1893 to start a photography business, specializing in fine photographs, view work, and flash pictures. His Cottage Studio of Photography was located at 217 Washington Street. Prior to that he was a farmer and proprietor of a grocery store. On December 2, 1879 in Shiawassee County, he married Ella M. Lewis. She also was a photographer and assisted him in his new business. She was born in Michigan in August 1853 and died on August 28, 1938. A daughter, Ruth, was born in November 1895. Newton also was justice of the peace, an elected position, but one that did not require a legal education. He and his wife lived on Third Street around 1900, but by 1910 were located at 534 Lake Avenue. His mother Lucinda was born about 1828 and died on August 16, 1904. Newton died of cerebral apoplexy on November 16, 1930 and was buried at Maple Grove Cemetery in Charlotte. Ella was buried in the same cemetery.

Ozias [Ozians] Tubbs [1830-1904]

Ozias Tubbs was born on November 23, 1830. On July 30, 1856 in Grand Haven, he married Hellen [Ellen], the daughter of James and Patty Dale Eastway. Ozias had a 40-acre farm in Section 3 and another 80 acres in Section 10 of Olive Township. Hellen was born on August 28, 1840 and died February 15, 1904. A son, Milo, was born March 13, 1861 and died October 16, 1887. Another son, George, was born in 1864. Ozias died on June 7, 1904 and was buried with his wife and other family members at Olive Township Cemetery.

William Thomas Tuer [1878-1969]

In the early 1900s William Tuer and his partner Emmet L. Wightman owned the Grand Haven Boat Company. Their business was located at the "foot of Clinton" and Harbor Drive. One of the company's advertisements said they were "Manufacturers of Boats and Launches and dealers in Boat and Engine Supplies, Stationary and Marine Engines, Boat Repairing and Boat Storage." On December 27, 1901 William married Katherine [Catherie] Annette Grant in Roseburg, Sanilac County. They soon moved to Grand Haven and resided at 123 Columbus. By 1910, William was an accountant for one of the railroad companies. He was born in Canada on May 15, 1878. Katherine was a native of Sanilac County, where she was born on June 10, 1880. Their children, all born in Michigan, were Ralph Grant Tuer [1904-1975]; Raymond Waldo Tuer [1908-1983]; Lowell E. Tuer [1910-1944]; and Margaret Annette Tuer [1918-1994]. The Tuers moved from Columbus Street to 534 Lake Avenue. By 1920 the family had moved to Port Huron, and ten years later they were living in East Grand Rapids. Katherine died on August 15, 1948 in Wayne County. When William passed away in November 1969, he was residing in Wayne County. He was born on May 15, 1878 in Plympton, Ontario, Canada. Both were buried at Elmwood Cemetery in Wayne County.

William Henry Tuggle I [1910-1978]

With Charles Anderson as his partner, William Tuggle in 1962 started ATCO Rubber Products at 14261 172nd Avenue in Grand Haven Township. Later the business name was changed to Atco Flex. After William's death on October 16, 1978 the company closed. He was born on January 12, 1910. He and his wife, Muerila [Helen], lived at 17639 Dogwood Drive in Spring Lake Township. Helen lived from February 13, 1909 to December 16, 1994 and also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Their son, William H. Tuggle II, owned and operated Western Packaging Corporation at 14260 172nd.

Herbert H. Tullson [1877-1923]

Herbert Tullson was born in Knox County, Illinois on February 25, 1877 and arrived in Grand Haven on July 1, 1918 with the title of “meteorologist.” He was in charge of the weather bureau in Grand Haven until August 28, 1922. On January 17, 1901, he married Juna Harpman in Uintah, Utah; In Grand Haven they resided at 411 North Fourth Street. They had two sons and two daughters. One son, Waldo Tullson, was born on November 25, 1901 in South Dakota and died on September 14, 1977, and the other, Rex Tullson was born in the same state on June 19, 1907. The two daughters, both born in Texas, were Volney Tullson, born about 1914, and Roxane, born about 1916. Herbert died in Grand Haven on March 26, 1923. Juna was born on June 19, 1881, in Victoria, Illinois. On August 9, 1932, she married Charles Chester Adams [1881-1938] in Chataqua, New York. Juna passed away on September 4, 1954 in McCandless, Pennsylvania. [Tribune March 26, 1923.]

Rex Tullson [Tullsen] [1907-1991]

Rex Tullson was born in Pine Ridge, South Dakota on June 19, 1907. He moved to Grand Haven in 1918 with his parents, Herbert and Juna Harpman Tullson, and remained long enough to become manager of the Western Union office in 1928. His residence was at 308 Franklin Street. By 1930 he was living in Muskegon. Rex died on September 26, 1991.

Thomas Turnbull [1829-1871]

Thomas Turnbull started Turnbull’s Boiler Shop in Ferrysburg in 1859. The business failed, was abandoned in 1862, and later taken over by Johnston Boiler Works. Thomas was born in England on November 24, 1829. His wife Jane was born in New York in 1834 and died on March 3, 1876. They had two children. By 1870 Thomas and his family were located in Muskegon. Working with Thomas at the boiler works was his brother, Robert William Turnbull, a blacksmith. Robert was born on February 4, 1834 in Newcastle Upon Tyne, England and by 1870 was living in Manistee with his wife Julia and their three children. Thomas died on July 24, 1871. He and Jane were buried at Evergreen Cemetery in Muskegon.

Demetrius Turner [1815–1898]

The son of Elisha Turner and a native of Essex, Connecticut, where he was born on February 25, 1815, Demetrius was in Grand Rapids by 1835 and a landowner as early as 1839. About 1836 he became an engineer at the first sawmill in Grand Haven, where he remained for two years, and he was engineer on the vessel Owashtanong, launched in 1837. For the next ten years he was employed as an engineer on steamboats on the Grand River. Demetrius developed the first steam whistle to be used west of Detroit. In 1864, he built an engine for Captain Ganoe’s steamboat, the L. G. Mason. He returned to Grand Rapids and became chief engineer of the Grand Rapids waterworks, where he invented and built the necessary engines, for which he received a patent. He married Hannah Pickett in March 1837. Hannah was a Vermont native, where she was born in 1815. She passed away in Grand Rapids on January 2, 1892 and was buried at Greenwood Cemetery. Demetrius died on June 14, 1898 in Rochester, New York. [Tribune obituary, June 14, 1898 and Chapman’s History of Grand Rapids, pages 1148-1149.]

George D. Turner [1849-1936]

Born in June 1849 in Canton, New York, George came to Michigan in 1867 with his father, John W. A. Turner. Two uncles, Eliphalet and Isaac Turner, had preceded them by more than 30 years. In 1845 Eliphalet was instrumental in building the first bridge over the Grand River in Grand Rapids [Bridge Street Bridge] and took 40 acres of land in Berlin [Marne] for payment. Isaac built some of the early sawmills in Kent County. Both Eliphalet and Isaac remained in the Grand Rapids area. John Turner owned a farm in Section 1 of Tallmadge Township, where young George lived and taught school for a while. After taking a course at Grand Rapids Commercial College he was elected on the Republican ticket to the post of county clerk and held that position between 1881 and 1895. As early as 1892, George owned the Ottawa County Abstract Office, later known as Turner Abstract Office, with an office in the Ottawa County Court House. An advertisement in the 1892 Historical and Business Compendium claimed that Turner's office owned the "only set of abstract books in the county." In 1923 he sold the real estate title business to George Olsen and Orrie Sluiter. He was one of the organizers and a director of Peoples Savings Bank, formed in 1909; chairman and secretary of the Republican County Commission for four years; and deputy collector of customs until that position was abolished in 1913.

On September 14, 1873 in Grand Rapids, George married Lillian [Lilly] C. Marvin of Wright Township. In Grand Haven they resided at 411 Howard Street, where they raised two sons: Marvin Walter Turner, who was born on April 24, 1877, married Marian Stickney of Grand Haven, and died on July 4, 1935, and Lynn D. Turner, who was born on July 8, 1882 and died in Ann Arbor on March 20, 1901. George died on November 13, 1936. Lillian, who was born in Novi, Oakland County on October 12, 1853 [1852], passed away on November 28, 1924. George, Lillian, Marvin, and Marian were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other Turners. Marian lived from October 8, 1875 to September 5, 1919.

Jordan [Jorden, Jordon, Juda] "Dick" Turpin [Turpan] [@1810-1868]

Jordan Turpin [Turpan/Turpen] committed one of the earliest murders on record in Ottawa County. He was born in Kentucky about 1810 [1806], and his wife, Victoria was born in the same state about 1810. They were residing in Spring Lake by 1850, where Jordan worked as a laborer, undoubtedly on a farm. [He may be the Judson Terrapin listed in the 1840 census under "Free Colored Persons."] Two years later, he took a job as a cook on a vessel named Magic. Aboard that boat he became friends with William Vandenberg, a member of the crew. Also known as Nigger Dock [a variant of Doc], Jordan was tried for murder before Judge Flavius J. Littlejohn. Thomas B. Church was prosecuting attorney. William Vandenberg was one of those called to testify. After a four-day trial Jordan was found guilty on October 27, 1855 of killing William Haskins in Spring Lake, possibly the result of an argument between the two men over William's wife, Sarah. According to the Grand Haven Tribune of March 14 and 15, 1894, the murder took place on the north side of Spring Lake in a log cabin owned by Turpin, across from the Monroe & Boyce sawmill, early Saturday morning, May 26, 1855. The newspaper reported that Jordan overtook Haskins and stabbed him in the back, but other witnesses said that Turpin killed Haskins by thrusting a knife into his chest. Hezekiah Smith was credited with capturing Jordan, binding him, and conveying him to Grand Haven in a canoe. According to later testimony by Grand Haven resident and lumberman Andrew Emlaw, Haskins's widow married G.W. Fox five weeks after the murder. No record of the marriage nor the couple's whereabouts was uncovered, however. Jordan was sentenced to life in Jackson Prison, where he died in 1868.

Frederick August Tusch [1854–1911]

Frederick August Tusch was a Grand Rapids resident who maintained a cottage on Spring Lake in an area still known as Veit's Landing. Frederick Tusch and Jacob Veit were joint owners of the point. With his brother, Frederick started a small brewery in Grand Rapids, which later merged with the Grand Rapids Brewing Company. He held the office of secretary-treasurer when he died on October 23, 1911. He was born in Germany on April 16, 1854. His wife Caroline "Carrie" was born in Austria in 1859 and passed away on June 30, 1898. Both were buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

She was born in August 1880 and died on September 11, 1943. Lawrence and Clara lived at 415 Clinton. Lawrence was a charter member of the Grand Haven Stag Club. He died on September 28, 1943 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Clara.

Lendrick Vanden Berg [1808-1874]

An undated photograph identifies Lendrick Vanden Berg as Sexton of the Grand Haven cemetery when it was located at Central Park. According to the photograph, Lendrick was born on June 27, 1808 and died in June 1874. No additional records were found.

Louis [Lewis] Vanden Berg I [1809-1875]

Louis Vanden Berg was born in the Netherlands on August 9, 1809 and arrived in Grand Haven on August 20, 1847. In The Netherlands, he married Sarah Snikens, who was born on July 26, 1818. Among their children was William, who was born in 1837; John, who was born in 1838; Sarah, who was born on November 28, 1840 and married John Luikens of Grand Haven; Lucy, who was born in 1844, and was married twice, first to a Mr. De Keep [De Kiep] and then to Albert Kiel; Jane, who was born in 1846; Henry, who was born in 1852 and was classified as a sailor in 1880; Peter, who was born in 1857; and Louis II, who was born in 1859. The first five children were born in Zeeland, The Netherlands, and the others were born locally. In Grand Haven, Louis I worked as a butcher. He died on June 27, 1875 and Sarah, the mother, passed away on April 29, 1895. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Paul Francis vanden Berg [Vanden Berg] [1836-1901]

Born January 28, 1836 in Overisel, The Netherlands, Paul was the son of Peter and Dena Kamphorbeek vanden Berg who immigrated to America in 1847, settling first in Chicago, then going to Holland in 1849. Paul and his family remained residents of Holland until at least 1860. Paul was apprenticed to Mr. D'Ooge in the painters' trade. He did not like the painting business and followed sailing for many years before becoming a fisherman. In the 1880 census he was listed as a sailor. About 1888 Paul opened a fish smoking and wholesale business, which he was still operating at the time of his death. He was a member of the Grand Haven Masons and a Democrat. He served on the Grand Haven City Council in 1895 and 1896. His wife, Johanna, was born in The Netherlands around 1830 and died before 1880. Their children included Fred of Sherwood, Washington, Peter of Ogdensburg, New York, and Essel, who was born in 1874 and remained in Grand Haven. Paul's wife in 1900 was Alice, who was born in Canada in January 1852. Alice had previously been married to a Mr. Roland and had a daughter, Claretta, who was born in Michigan in November 1876. Paul died of "grip and a complication of causes" on April 21, 1901. [Tribune obituaries, April 22 and 25, 1901.]

Peter vanden Berg I [1812-1866]

Born in The Netherlands on May 31, 1812, Peter vanden Berg was reputed to be a man of position and influence in his native country. He moved to America in 1847 with his family, residing in Chicago for two years, then moving to Holland, Michigan, and finally settling in Grand Haven in 1853. Peter received the first regular government appointment by President Pierce as lighthouse keeper at Grand Haven Harbor and was the first to tend the light that was built in 1855 on the bluff overlooking today's State Park [900 Harbor Drive]. He served for six years. Peter also was Register of Deeds and justice of the peace for many years. He married Berendiena "Dena" Kamphorbeek [Kamferbeek], who was born April 26, 1803 in The Netherlands and died in Grand Haven on May 1, 1864. Their children, all born in The Netherlands, included Paul F., who was born on January 28, 1836; Albert G. I, born on May 7, 1838; Martin, born about 1841; and Peter II, born about 1847. Peter I died in Zeeland on August 30, 1866 [1867], two years after his wife. Both Peter and Dena were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, October 14, 1913.]

Peter Martin vanden Berg [1867-1921]

Born in 1867 in Grand Haven, Peter was the son of Albert G. and Johanna vanden Berg. Peter graduated from the University of Michigan School of Medicine in 1894. He located in Chicago and later in Graafschap, Allegan County. About 1910 he came to Grand Haven, where he served as Health Officer. He was a Democrat. On January 1, 1897 Peter married Grace Vander Werp in Grand Rapids. She was born on December 5, 1871. Their children included Albert, who was born on March 9, 1900, and Ruth. Peter died at his home at the northwest corner of Fifth and Lafayette Streets [219 South Fifth] on March 2, 1921 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Grace passed away on August 8, 1950. [Tribune obituaries March 3, 1921 and August 9, 1950.]

William Van Den Berg [Van Der Berg and other variations] [1836-1904]

William Vandenberg [Vanderberg] married Mary Sophia Duvernay in Grand Haven on November 30, 1865. William and Mary had a daughter, Minnie Nellie [Nelli], born about 1867. She was considered part Ottawa. On May 5, 1883 Nellie married Robert McClellan in Grand Rapids.

William Vandenberg was born on July 26, 1836 in Zeeland, The Netherlands, and arrived in Holland, Michigan with his parents and other members of the Van Raalte colony in 1847. He married his first wife, Mary, in Grand Haven on November 30, 1865. They had a daughter, Minnie Nellie [Nelli], who was born about 1867. Two years after Mary died around 1873 in Grand Haven, William married Mary [Marie/Maria] Parrisien [Duvernay]. The daughter of Pierre and Julia Duvernay of Grand Haven, Mary was born in Grand Haven in February 1843 [1850/1858]. For unknown reason she was adopted or taken in by Jean Baptiste and Madeline McGulpin Parrisien, also of Grand Haven. Mary was one-half Indian because her mother, Julia, was the daughter of a Chippewa chief and an unknown Indian woman.

William and his second wife had a daughter, Madeline, who was born in Grand Haven on March 19, 1880. She married Henry [Harry] F. Gardner of Grand Haven. The other Vandenberg children were Louis, who was born in Grand Haven on June 1, 1878 and died on July 29, 1888, and William II, born in Grand Haven on June 11, 1888. In the 1880 census Mary was listed as Indian, but her children were noted as being White.

They resided on Monroe Street. In 1900 William, Mary, and William II were living at 619 Monroe Street, and William the father was working as a painter. Mary, William, and Madeline were included in the Durant Roll of 1908, and were then residing in Grand Haven. [Madeline appeared under the name Vandenburg, the others as Vanderburg.] Mary's age was given as 45. Also on the list was Nellie, William's child by his first wife, shown as Nelli Vanderburgh. All five were considered members of the Grand River Bands of Ottawa Indians. William was listed in the Durant Roll as William Vanderberg and again as William McClellan. In the same Roll, a 25-year-old Eva Vanderberg, born in Michigan, was listed as the wife of Edward Bieneman, of White descent. The couple resided in Kenosha, Wisconsin and had two sons: James, age 4, and Jack, age 2. An Eva Vanderberg, the daughter of Edward and Maggie Vanderberg, was born in Spring Lake on August 7, 1883. She was a member of the Grand River Bands of Ottawas.

On May 5, 1883 William's daughter Nellie married Robert McClellan in Grand Rapids.

In 1908 in Grand Haven, Mary received about $21.18 as her share of the Indian annuity allotted that year. In the Federal Census of 1910 William II was listed as Mary Vandenberg's foster son under the name Willie McLellen. They were residing at 619 Monroe Street, possibly in the same house cited in the 1880 census.

Before the Civil War, William I was a sailor on the Great Lakes. In 1863 he enlisted as private with Company K of the 1st Michigan Engineers and Mechanics, but soon was transferred to the Navy to serve as Seaman aboard Red Rover, a Confederate steamship that was captured by the Union and converted to a hospital vessel. Following discharge, William resumed his life as a sailor, this time on ocean vessels. On one occasion he was shipwrecked in the tropics, picked up by a passing ship, and carried to Haiti. In 1891 William applied for an invalid's pension, based on his Civil War service. After his death on August 16, 1904, Mary applied for a widow's pension. In 1908 Mary was still residing at 619 Monroe Street. With her was her son, William II. Ten years later she was at the same address, where her other son, Louis also lived. Mary passed away on May 9, 1928 and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, August 16, 1904.]

Born on November 10, 1879 in Michigan, Andrew Vanden Bosch in September 1906 [1905] married Minnie [Willimina/Wilhelmina] Osterhoff. Born on July 27, 1878 in Michigan [The Netherlands], she was the daughter of Hessel and Willemetje Osterhoff of Spring Lake. The Vanden Bosches were Spring Lake residents and lived at 213 West Mason, where they raised their children: Thomas, born on July 8, 1906; Winifred, born about 1909; and Ruth Mildred, who was born on January 12, 1916 and died on November 22, 1994. Minnie had previously been married to Jacob Le Febre of Grand Haven Township and had a son, James Le Febre, born about 1902. James resided with the Vanden Bosches in Spring Lake. Jacob lived from October 16, 1875 to April 16, 1902 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his parents. Andrew passed away on February 12, 1949, and Minnie died on January 30, 1969. They were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Charles H. Vanden Bosch [1877-1942]

The son of Hendrik and Johanna Smit Vanden Bosch, Charles was born in Holland, Michigan on April 7, 1877. He married Hilda [Hattie] Kieft, who was born on July 8, 1879. Hilda was the daughter of Fred and Anna Kieft of Grand Haven. Charles worked with other Vanden Bosches at the Vanden Bosch Store located at 100 North Third Street. He and Hilda lived on the second floor of the building at first, but later moved to 519 Slayton. Charles died on December 4, 1942 in Grand Haven and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Hilda passed away on April 29, 1947 and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest.

Gerardus "Gerrit" Vanden Bosch [1851-1911]

Born September 3, 1851 in The Netherlands, Gerrit was the son of Koene and Maijge Rook Vanden Bosch. Gerrit came to Grand Haven with his parents in 1856, and about 1875 he opened a grocery and dry goods business. The store was located at the northeast corner of Third and Columbus Streets [100 North Third] in Grand Haven. It was known as Vanden Bosch & Company and later as the Big Store. In 1884 a clothing department was added under the management of Gerrit's brothers, Thomas and Henry. Thomas died in September 1894, and Martin retired in 1897. About that time Martin's and Thomas's sons, Charles, Conrad, and Bert, joined the firm, and it became known as G. Vanden Bosch & Sons. By 1908 at least six Vanden Bosches were associated with the business, and several others were part of Enterprise Clothing Company at 106-108 Washington. Gerrit also was treasurer of Grand Haven Furniture, which operated between 1890 and 1895.

Gerrit and his wife Neska "Nancy" in their early years resided above the retail establishment and later at 218 South Fifth Street. Nancy, also a native of The Netherlands, was born about 1850. Their children, all born in Grand Haven, included Mary, born in 1873; Johanna, born in 1876; Conrad, who was born in 1878 and died November 25, 1952 and whose wife, Daisy, died on January 3, 1965; Martin G. Henry, who was born on March 28, 1883 and died in Grand Rapids on May 3, 1966; Henry, who was born December 20, 1887; Geraldine, born about 1895; Hermina, who died Oct 1, 1937; Thomas; and Josephine, who married Herman J. Schram of Mason City, Iowa. Gerrit died on April 2, 1911 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Nancy lived from 1850 to 1930, at least part of the time in Grand Rapids. [Tribune obituaries October 28, 1899 and April 5, 1911.]

Hendrik "Henry" K. Vanden Bosch [1844-1928]

Born in The Netherlands in January 1844, the son of Koene and Maijge Rook Vanden Bosch, Henry came to Holland, Michigan with his parents in 1856 aboard the ship Fairfield. Henry later engaged in farming. In 1883 he moved to Grand Haven, and the next year he and his brother Thomas joined another brother Gerrit to open the Vanden Bosch Store at 100 North Third Street, later known as the Big Store. Henry and Thomas supervised the clothing part of the business.

Henry and his wife, Johanna Smit, lived at 509 Lafayette. Johanna, who was born in 1845, died at the State Hospital at Kalamazoo at age 67 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their children, all born locally, included Mary, who was born in June 1865, married Harry Bos, and died in 1938; Tena, born in January 1867; Geesje "Anna," who was born on April 20, 1873, married Jacob Achterhof, and died February 21, 1943; Cora, who was born about 1874 and married Harry Zeldenrust of Grand Haven; Grietje "Gertrude," who was born on May 20, 1875 and married Jan "John" Dirkse; Koene "Charles," born on April 7, 1877; Gysbert, who was born in August 1879, married Jacoba Van Zanten, and died in 1943; Harriet, who was born in September 1882 and died on September 25, 1951; Thomas Cornell, born in January 1885; and Albert. Henry died on November 6, 1928 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, November 6, 1912.]

Koene Vanden Bosch [van den Bosch] [1818-1897]

Born in Friesland, The Netherlands on February 20, 1818, Koene Vanden Bosch was educated in theology at schools in Overisel and Drenthe. In 1846 he was ordained pastor in a church at Gelderland, The Netherlands and later at Noordeloos and Appeldoorn in South Holland. In the spring of 1856, he came to America and took charge of a church in Noordeloos, a new colony in southern Ottawa County. Not long after his arrival, the reverend joined a debate that was dividing church membership. On April 8, 1857, in a letter to the official meeting of Classis Holland that gathered in a Zeeland Church, he wrote, "By this [letter] I declare myself no longer to belong to you." He continued, "I hope that your eyes may yet be opened to see your extreme wickedness, to take it to heart, and to be converted therefrom."

Under Vanden Bosch's leadership, 19 members of his church joined 250 like-minded worshipers from Graafschap, Coopersville, and Grand Rapids to organize what at first was called the Reformed Church. Reverend Vanden Bosch was the only pastor to serve these four churches for seven years. He rode in a wagon pulled by a team of oxen, and carried a shovel and ax in case he became stuck in the mud or to clear fallen trees and other debris from the road. He later was pastor of Christian Reformed Churches at Zeeland, Vriesland, Grand Rapids, Polkton, Milwaukee, and Grand Haven. In 1883 he retired.

Koene married Maijge [Moje] Rook on December 26, 1840 in The Netherlands, where she was born about 1817. Their children were Tamme “Thomas,” who was born in 1841; Henry, who was born in January 1844; Marinus “Martin,” who was born in 1848; and Gerardus “Gerrit,” who was born in 1851; Henrietta, who was born in February 1853 and married Otse “Otto” Visser of Olive Township; and Grietje “Margaret,” who was born in 1859 and married John Van Dame of Grand Haven and later of Grand Rapids. The children were all born in The Netherlands except Margaret, who was born in Grand Haven. Maijge died in Grand Haven on May 11, 1887. Koene died on November 12, 1897 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, November 13, 1897. [Thanks to Bob Van Hees for adding to this entry.]

Koene Tamme Vanden Bosch [1864-1956]

Born on December 21, 1864 on a farm in Holland Township, Koene was the son of Tamme Vanden Bosch. He moved to Grand Haven with his parents at 19. He was employed by his father and his uncle Henry as a clerk at the Big Store. Later he became bookkeeper for his uncle Gerrit, and later with his brother, John, he organized the Enterprise Clothing Company in the 200 block of Washington Street. He was an original director of the Grand Haven State Bank when it was organized in October 1901 and served on the Board until 1914. In 1916 and 1917 he was City treasurer and from 1918 to May 1931 he was city clerk and had an office in City Hall. Koene served as deputy city clerk until his retirement in 1947. During his tenure as city clerk, he augmented his salary by working at Story & Clark. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

On May 19, 1897, Koene married Cora Howe in Grand Haven. Born on November 6, 1866 in Kalamazoo, Cora died on March 24, 1910. Their son, Ernest D., was born in Grand Haven on May 1, 1898. He served with Company F in France during WWI and was wounded at the Battle of Chateau Thierry. Ernest married Frances Mills and after the war became a Presbyterian minister. On October 22, 1925 Koene married Marguerite “Maggie” Groendal in Grand Haven. Born on July 17, 1868, she died on September 29 1960. Their children included Herbert of Grandville, Franklin of Dearborn, Kenneth of Silver City, New Mexico, Jeanette Benton of Denver, Colorado, and Emma, who married Duncan Poland of Muskegon. Koene died on February 7, 1956 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, February 7, 1956.]

Martin, the son of Koene and Maijge Rook Vanden Bosch, was born in The Netherlands in 1848 and came to Holland with his parents in 1856. He took up the carpentry trade. His first wife Hubertje was born on October 29, 1845, died on September 6, 1901, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Martin then married Katie Douma in Holland on November 27, 1901. They lived at 732 Franklin Street in Grand Haven. Martin died on December 30, 1916 and was buried at Lake Forest.

Martin Van Den Bosch [Vandenbosch] [1876-1931]

Martin Van Den Bosch raised livestock on his 170-acre farm in Section 15 of Olive Township. Born in Michigan in 1876, he and his family came to the area in 1906. On July 1, 1898 in Olive, he married Jennie Kieskamp, who was born in Michigan in 1879. They had two sons and a daughter, all born locally: Cornie, born about 1899; Herman, born in 1901; and Annie, born about 1904. Martin died in 1931, and Jennie passed away in 1965. Both were buried at Borculo Cemetery.

Tamme “Thomas” Vanden Bosch [1841-1894]

Born in The Netherlands in 1841, Tamme was the son of Koene and Maijge Rook Vanden Bosch. Tamme came to Holland with his parents in 1856 and first went into farming. On February 15, 1865 he enlisted in Company I of the 25th Michigan Infantry and four months later transferred to Company A of the 28th Michigan Infantry. He was mustered out on February 21, 1866. In 1883 he came to Grand Haven and in 1884 he and his brother Henry joined their other brother Gerrit to expand the Vanden Bosch store, also known as the Big Store, at 100 North Third Street.

Thomas married Cornelia J. Duiser in Ottawa County in 1863. She lived from October 7, 1846 to June 19, 1923. Thomas and Cornelia had 14 children, including: Koene T., born on December 21, 1864 in Holland Township; Mary, who was born about 1868 and married Alle Ekkens of Grand Rapids; Martin, who was born about 1880 and moved to Grand Rapids; Thomas H., who was born in January 1882 and moved to Detroit; Cornelia, born in August 1883; Nellie, who was born in October 27, 1885 and married Cornelius Pippel of Grand Haven; Jacoba, born in August 1887; Bertha, who was born in October 1891 and married William Fox of Grand Haven; John; Henry of Grand Rapids; Gerrit; Cora, who married Dick Kieft; and Kate, who married D. Peterson of Redlands, California. The Vanden Bosches resided at 427 Columbus Street. Thomas died of typhoid malaria [sic] on September 2, 1894 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, September 4, 1894 and June 28, 1923.]

Thomas Cornell Vanden Bosch [1885-1961]

Born in January 1885, Thomas was the son of Henry K. and Johanna Vanden Bosch. He studied at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston and at Harvard, Columbia, Wisconsin, abroad, and at the Interlochen National Music Camp. He actively participated in the birth of the Interlochen Music camp in 1928 while studying at Columbia University in New York. In 1929 he was appointed piano technician at Interlochen. He was active as music director in private schools and military academies and in New York and abroad. Thomas presented Interlochen with his own composition, the “Nu-Mu-Chi” song. He also wrote “Bells of Interlochen,” “Three Ginger Snaps,” “Jumping Jack,” and “Hit That Ball! Oh! Boy!” which was written for Ted Williams, the famous baseball star. In 1935 he composed and played “Mackinac-Interlochen Suite” at the John Jacob Astor house on Mackinac Island. He rebuilt the antique musical instrument called “McKeogh,” built in Buffalo and brought to Michigan by boat in 1824. For part of his composition he used this instrument, which had once brought pleasure to the early Courier-Bois and French Indian fur trappers. Thomas also wrote the March of Dimes song, “Our Presidents on Parade” for President Franklin D. Roosevelt’s polio balls held in major cities. In 1948 he wrote the coronation song “Juliana” for Queen Juliana of The Netherlands.

Thomas married Katherine Cook Kieft, who was born July 4, 1883, the daughter of Peter and Marjorie Sluiter Cook and the widow of Peter Kieft. Thomas died on March 1, 1961 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Katherine died in April 1981. [Tribune article, “Local Musician Honored at Camp,” August 4, 1960.]

Thomas H. Vanden Bosch [1906-1988]

Born in Spring Lake on July 8, 1906, Thomas was the son of Andrew and Minnie Osterhoff Vanden Bosch of Spring Lake. As a young man Thomas was a well-known sailor, but later he became a dentist with an office in Grand Rapids. Thomas died on March 25, 1988 and was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery in Grand Rapids. Arend Vander Veen [Vanderveen] [1840-1930]

Born in Amsterdam, The Netherlands on September 19, 1840, Arend was the brother of Christian, who became minister of the First Reformed Church in Grand Haven, and Jacob, who became a druggist, also in Grand Haven. In 1847 Arend and his family joined the second Van Raalte colony that settled on Black Lake [Macatawa Lake] near Holland. Arend studied for the ministry at Van Vleck Hall [Hope College] but did not become a preacher and began instead to study medicine under the tutelage of a local physician. On September 11, 1861, just months after the Civil War broke out, at age 18 he joined Company D of the 8th Michigan Infantry, called the “Wandering Regiment,” and became known as the “boy surgeon.” He was named assistant surgeon on February 26, 1863 and discharged in July 1865. Arend was on guard duty in Washington, D.C. after the war and was a witness to the court martial of the group that assassinated president Lincoln and the hanging of David Herold, Mary Surratt, George Atzerodt, and Lewis Payne in the Capitol Prison Courtyard.

Following his discharge, Arend attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City and returned to Grand Haven and began his practice of medicine in 1868. He did a special study of malarial diseases at the University of Alabama where he obtained his medical degree. Arend was said to have delivered over 4,200 infants during the 60 years of his professional career, and he was called to nearby cities for consultations. He had a gold-colored horse called “Ned” whom everyone loved and which he used even after the auto had been perfected. If the doctor was out on sick calls, his wife mounted the stairs to the tower in their home at 508 Washington Street, signaled him with a lantern to let him know there was an emergency call, and dispatched a man to tell the doctor where he was wanted. Arend was alderman for the First Ward on the first City Council in 1867, a member of the Board of Health, and a member of the Grand Haven Concert Band.

Arend married Kate Elizabeth Howard of Holland on September 14, 1869. Kate was born in Grand Haven in December 1850 [1849] and became a physician after studying at Sacred Heart Convent in Detroit. She learned to speak Dutch so that she could understand the medical needs of her local patients, many of them born in The Netherlands.

The Vander Veen's built a home on the hill at 508 Washington, across from the later City Hall. The couple had two daughters: Marian, who was born on July 12, 1870 and married Henry Dubee of Grand Haven; and Marguerite, who was born in August 1886, married Charles Floyd, and settled in Detroit. Dr. Vander Veen died on March 14, 1930 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Kate applied for a widow's Civil War pension after his death. She died January 26, 1935 and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, March 15, 1930, and Grand Rapids Press article, “Veteran Doctor of G. H. Lives Eventful Life,” June 15, 1929.]

Christian Vander Veen [1838-1896]

Born in Amsterdam, The Netherlands in 1838, Christian was the brother of Jacob and Dr. Arend Vander Veen. Like them, he came to Holland in 1847 with his parents. He attended Hope College and later went to Rutgers University in New Jersey, where he graduated with a degree in theology. From 1861 to 1868 he was the first minister of the First Reformed Church of Grand Haven, and between 1875 and 1879 he was minister at Drenthe Reformed Church. After various other pastorates he returned to Grand Haven to serve the Second Reformed church for five years. He held many important positions in his synod and was once president of the Reformed Synod of America. Christian was a Democratic candidate in the 1880s for regent of the University of Michigan. He retired in Grand Rapids, where he filled in for pastors in the area when his health permitted. His wife Maria was born in New York about 1838. Their children included Charlotte, born about December 1869; Richard, born about 1872; Christian, born about 1873; Maria L., born about 1875 in Colorado; Hugh M., born about 1877; Theodore, born about 1879; Frank; Agnes; Edward; James; and Louise. Jacob Vander Veen [1844-1938]

Born in January 1844 in The Netherlands, Jacob came to Holland, Michigan in 1847 with his parents as part of the Van Raalte group. The trip took 56 days to cross the Atlantic and an additional 25 days to get from New York City to Holland. His father, who was a coppersmith, died in 1849 and his mother started a hardware store in Holland at Eighth and Lake Avenue. In 1861 Jacob and his mother moved to a house in Grand Haven on the southeast corner of Fifth and Washington Streets [502 Washington], next door to the house his brother, Dr. Arend Vander Veen, later built. Jacob was a member of the first graduating class of 1861 at Hope College, where he got his degree as a registered pharmacist. He then worked in New York with several drug companies and came to Grand Haven, where he started the Vander Veen Drug Store at 136 Washington Street. He operated the store for 35 years until 1918 [1914] when he sold it to John W. Mulder. Jacob was City treasurer in 1920 and 1921 and again in 1923 and 1924. He also was chief of the Fire Department.

Around 1881 Jacob formed a company with John W. Cook and an unnamed "Grand Haven lumberman" to carry out lumbering operations in Wisconsin. The business was named Cook, Vanderveen & Company. In mid-September 1881, the company purchased the Monroe, Boyce & Company saw and shingle mill at Spring Lake, which they planned to move to Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, where they had extensive holdings in real estate and equipment. The Spring Lake mill was to be converted into a combination band and circular mill.

On February 14, 1876 in Grand Haven, Jacob married Adelaide [Adeline] Russell, Adelaide was born in Michigan January 1852. Their children included Claude F., who was born in September 1878 in Michigan; Kate R., who was born in August 1880 and married Edward Pippel; Arend, born in September 1885; and Maurice, who moved to Grand Rapids. The family attended St. John's Episcopal Church. Jacob died on May 17, 1938 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Arthur Leroy Van Pelt I [1879-1976]

In 1932 Arthur Van Pelt I started a business primarily for the manufacture of plywood boats. He started by leasing a section of Van Zylens Lumber Company in Grand Haven and later moved to Spring Lake, where Stanco Company was located. In 1935 Art erected a building at 612 West Savidge Street in Spring Lake, where the business remained. [The building was razed around 2020.] He designed the “crescent-type” sailboat, popular on small lakes. It had a V-shaped bottom and marconi rig. It was considered especially safe for children and inexperienced boaters. Art also made boats to be rigged with outboard motors and other flat-bottom boats. In 1936 he sold about 75 boats ranging in price from $75 to $175. After the elder Art’s death, his son, Arthur II, took over. The name was changed to AVPI [Art Van Pelt Industries]. The company discontinued producing boats in the mid-1960s.

Art first married Mary Adora Albring in Lucas, Ohio on October 16, 1902. She was born in Michigan on April 21, 1881. They resided in Monroe County, where they raised four sons: Leroy Van Pelt, born about 1904; Carleton Van Pelt, born about 1905; Vernal Van Pelt, born about 1909; and Elmer Van Pelt, born about 1919. He arrived in the United States in 1854. He was listed as a “retired laborer” in the 1893 Compendium. He married Tryntje Bakker in Grand Haven on October 28, 1867. Also from The Netherlands, Tryntje was born in March 1842 and died in 1912. She immigrated to the United States in 1867. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Govert Van Wynen [Van Der Wynen, Wynan] [1860-1935]

Born in The Netherlands on December 4, 1861, Govert Van Wynen owned a 120-acre farm in Section 36 of Olive Township later known as Port Sheldon Township. He came to the United States in 1893 and settled in Olive Township in 1908. He also raised livestock. His wife, Gysbertje [Gertrude/Grace J.], was born in The Netherlands about 1858. She came to the United States the year after Govert, bringing with her their sons Jacob Grover, born on February 7, 1887, and Peter Henry, born February 1, 1889. The Van Wynens had a third son, Gilbert Adrian, born September 10, 1895 in Michigan. The Van Wynens continued to own their Olive Township farm into the 1930s. Govert died on June 24, 1935 in Port Sheldon and was buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Holland. His wife had died three years earlier.

Charles Van Zanten I [1872-1903]

Charles, the son of Folgert and Alice Baar Van Zanten, was born in 1872. After graduating from Grand Haven High School, he married Sena Powell, daughter of John Powell of Grand Haven, on May 11, 1898. Sena was born in 1874. Charles became assistant postmaster in Grand Haven. He and Sena had a daughter, Alice, who was born in Grand Haven on May 10, 1899 and married Henry Veld, and a son, Charles II, who was born locally on July 29, 1901. Charles the father died of smallpox on January 20, 1903. Four years later Sena married Teunis W. Muilenberg, pastor of the First Reformed Church in Grand Haven.

Cornelius [Corneil] Van Zanten [1838-1920]

Cornelius Van Zanten I was born in Groningen, The Netherlands on January 27, 1838. He and his wife, Friecka [Freerkjite] “Frances” Wierenga, whom he had married in Uithuizen, The Netherlands on May 14, 1864, crossed the Atlantic aboard the Germania. Frances was born in The Netherlands on September 30, 1837 and died in Grand Haven on July 26, 1902. They left Rotterdam on June 4, spent a brief time in New York, and arrived in Grand Haven on August 11 that year. Cornelius intended to go on to Muskegon, but a delay in Ferrysburg led to the young couple staying in the Grand Haven area. He found work loading vessels with lumber and later was employed at the Albee Tannery during the winter months. In 1869, in company with John Ball, Henry Fase, and Johannes Fisher, he invested in a small fishing sailboat that they purchased from the three Van Weelden brothers. In 1872 they bought the steam tug Pearl to use in fishing, with Captain Adrian O’Beck as master. Duncan Robertson built the tug at his shipyard, Montague Ferry built the engine at the Ferrysburg shops, and the boiler was constructed at the Johnston shop, also in Ferrysburg. Cornelius secured engineer’s papers and continued to engage in fishing the rest of his life.

The Van Zantens' children, all born locally, included Jan "Jane," who was born on November 15, 1865 and married Edward P. Kinkema of Grand Haven; Katie, who was born about 1867 and married Albert De Jonge; Dena [Dina/Wieberdina], who was born on January 13, 1869 and married John J. Bolt of Grand Haven; Cora, who was born about 1871 and married Jacob Dykema; Jennie, who was born about 1874 and married John Lang of Coopersville; Geertje "Gertrude," who was born in 1875, married William S. Gruys and moved to Riverside, Berrien County; Cobia [Jacoba], who was born in 1878 and married Bert Vanden Bosch of Grand Haven; and Cornelia, who was born in 1880, married Bernard [Barend] K. Kuiper, and moved to Grand Rapids. The Van Zanten family attended the Christian Reformed Church of Grand Haven, which Cornelius helped organize in 1882. On November 5, 1891, Cornelius purchased the Johannes Golberg's 40-acre farm in Section 26 of Grand Haven Township [Peach Plains] for $1,200. After Frances's death, Cornelius married Cornelia Veltkamp in 1905. She was born in The Netherlands on August 30, 1839, died on September 26, 1914, and was buried at Lake Forest. Cornelius died on December 13, 1920 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Frances. Folgert Van Zanten was Cornelius's brother. Corneil "Neil" Van Zanten II [1879-1949]

In the early 1900s Corneil Van Zanten II was part owner of a general store at 222 North Seventh. His partner was Charles Fisher. They carried primarily groceries, but also patent medicines, fabrics, and other items. On August 26, 1909 in Grand Haven, Neil married Henrietta "Etta" Cook. Etta, who was born in Grand Haven on December 30, 1882, the daughter of John M. and Maggie Cook, died May 6, 1910 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Neil built and lived in the home at 620 Lafayette. Born on May 26, 1879, he was the son of Folgert and Alice Baar Van Zanten of Grand Haven. He died in 1949 and also was buried at Lake Forest.

Folgert [Folkert] Van Zanten [1849-1931]

Born in Groningen, The Netherlands on March 14, 1849, Folgert Van Zanten came to America alone at the age of 14 to join his older brother Cornelius, who was a commercial fisherman in Grand Haven. He worked in the sawmills and advanced to head sawyer. In 1892 Folgert went into partnership with Tyl Groenendal and started a coal and wood yard at 520 Elliott Street in Grand Haven, which they named Groenendal & Van Zanten. A little later Folgert bought out his partner and renamed the business Van Zanten & Son. He also bought out an ice firm and made that industry a branch of his business, which he advertised as "The Coal and Ice Men." He was a member of the Board of Education and of the First Reformed Church.

On October 7, 1870 Folgert married Aaltje "Alice" Baar, who was born in May 1852 in The Netherlands, the daughter of Simon and Helena Yonker Baar of Grand Haven. The Van Zantens lived at 520 Elliott, the same location as the business. Their nine children, all born in Michigan, included Charles, who was born in 1872; Simon, who was born in 1877, moved to Kenosha, Wisconsin, and died on February 9, 1967; Corneil [Cornelius], who was born in May 1879; Lena, born in October 1881; Jacob, who was born in August 1884, worked at the post office for many years, and died on December 20, 1954; Helena, who was born about 1882, worked for many years at the Addison Baltz store in downtown Grand Haven, and died on October 18, 1967; Kate, who was born in November 1886, became a milliner, and married Martin Van Doorne II of Grand Haven, who died in 1921, and then Anthony Hoebeke, also of Grand Haven; Alice, who was born in November 1889, and married Myron Rose of Grand Haven; and Jennie, who was born in May 1897 and married Louis Loetz. Alice died of "a weakened condition and smallpox" on February 23, 1903, about a month after her son. In 1918 Folgert married the widow Gertrude Stevens of Grand Haven. Gertrude lived from 1864 to 1938. Folgert died at his home on Elliott Street on December 17, 1931 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituaries, February 23, 1903 and December 17, 1931.]

Govert Van Zantwick [Van Zantwyk] I [1836-1917]

Govert Van Zantwick and Henrietta Bartels were married in Grand Haven on July 3, 1861. They both were natives of The Netherlands, where Govert was born on July 25, 1836 and passed away on March 4, 1917. Henrietta lived from 1845 to around December 16, 1912. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They had a daughter, Henrietta, who was born in Grand Haven on August 14, 1867, and two sons, Herman [Harmon], born in September 1869, and Dirk, who was born on August 23, 1873. Govert was a laborer. He and his family were residing at 625 Columbus as early as 1880, where they remained into the early 1900s. Govert Van Zantwick II was their grandson.

Govert Van Zantwick II [1893-1944]

After working at the Story & Clark Piano Company, Dake Engine Company, and John Boer & Sons, Furniture and Undertakers on Washington Street in Grand Haven, Govert Van Zantwick opened Ottawa County's first funeral home at 208 Franklin Street in 1926. Two years later the business was located at 620 Washington, property they purchased from the George D. Sanford estate. In May 1926, Van Zantwick conducted his first funeral. The funeral home on Washington, which also served as their residence, later became known as Van Zantwick, Bartels, and Kammeraad, operating in both Grand Haven and Spring Lake. The business remained at 620 Washington into the 21st century.

On December 11, 1916 Govert married Winifred De Witt. The daughter of Johanes and Jennie De Witt of Grand Haven, Winifred was born October 25, 1893. The Van Zantwick children included Herman L., who was born on September 27, 1917. Other children were Joan Katherine, born about 1921, and Allen M., born around 1925. Govert, the grandson of Govert and Henrietta Bartels Van Zantwick, was born in Grand Haven on December 3, 1893, died on September 4, 1944, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His parents were Herman and Alice Van Zantwick. Govert's widow, who married Jacob Cook in 1961, died on February 27, 1982.

Herman [Harmon] Van Zantwick [1869-1931]

The son of Govert and Henrietta Bartels Van Zantwick, Herman was born in Grand Haven on September 3, 1869 [1870]. On March 6, 1890 in Grand Haven, he married Alice "Allie" Cook. She was born on August 27, 1873. They had a daughter Maude, who born in March 1892 and died in 1919, and a son Govert, born on December 3, 1893. Herman was a cook in the early 1890s, but later worked at Challenge. He died on August 19, 1931 in Grand Haven. Alice passed away on April 10, 1943. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. The family resided at 325 North Fifth Street.

Herman L. Van Zantwick [1917-1983]

Born in Grand Haven on September 27, 1917, Herman was the son of Govert and Winifred De Witt Van Zantwick. After graduating from Cincinnati College of Embalming in Cincinnati, Ohio, Herman was licensed as an embalmer in 1939. He then joined his father in the funeral home business. He served in the Navy during WWII as a hospital corpsman at Treasure Island and Fleet Receiving Hospital in California. After the war Herman assumed management of the business in place of his father, who had died two years earlier. In 1946 Charles M. Ayers joined Herman as part owner. In 1963 Herman contracted tuberculosis and was hospitalized for six months. He went into semi-retirement in May 1981. He enjoyed golf and was a caddy master and assistant pro who shot in the 70s at Spring Lake Country Club in 1937 under Denny Allen.

On April 4, 1941 Herman married Geneva Jane Palmer of Muskegon, who died in Spring Lake of congestive heart failure at the age of 70 on January 29, 1990. Their children included Kay, who married Geoffrey Bernd, became a nurse, and lived in Clinton, Lenawee County; Jane, who married Danny Miller of Spring Lake; and Dale Van Zantwick, who married Susan and took an active role in management of the funeral home. The family resided at 620 Washington, the site of the funeral home. Herman died on September 24, 1983 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Caleb Ver Duin [Verduin] [1875-1964]

Born in Grand Haven on September 19, 1875, Caleb was the son of Captain John and Geziena Ver Duin. Caleb’s brothers were Peter, Louis, and William. Captain Caleb Ver Duin became a commercial fisherman working out of Grand Haven. In 1898 Caleb had the first all-steel tug, C. J. Bos, built at Johnston Brothers Shipyard and father and three sons started their commercial fishing business the next year. The tug was named for Cornelius J. Bos, William’s father-in-law and Grand Haven businessman, who helped finance the boat. Three years later the Ver Duin family had the 72-foot fishing tug H. J. Dornbos built, also at Johnston Brothers. This one was named for Henry J. Dornbos, a principal figure in the Grand Haven fishing business with that name. Their fish houses, which were located in Muir at the base of Dewey Hill, burned down in October 1922. When the brothers sold their tugs, Caleb continued for a few years as a fisherman, using his own boat, and then went to work for Construction Aggregates running a tug to the gravel pits up the Grand River. Both Caleb and William had captain’s licenses.

Caleb married Hilda Bolthouse on October 31, 1901. They lived at 327 Clinton and later at 431 Leggat. Their surviving children included John, born January 26, 1902; Claude, born on June 19, 1908; and George S., born March 22, 1912. Hilda, who was born in Michigan around 1882, died in late December 1958. Caleb died on June 1, 1964 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Hilda. Both Caleb and William had captain’s licenses. [Tribune obituary, September 5, 1957 and personal correspondence from Robert Ver Duin.]

Claude Ver Duin [1908-1990]

Born in Grand Haven on June 19, 1908, Claude was the son of Caleb and Hilda Ver Duin. He was a commercial fisherman and later opened a fish market and lunch stand called The Fishery at 19 South Water Street [Harbor Drive], in a building he shared with John Pippel’s printing business, whose address was 25 South Water. In 1931 he published The Fisherman, a trade magazine for Great Lakes commercial fishermen that continued publication under the Ver Duin name until 1991. That year he sold the publication to the Great Lakes Fisheries Development Foundation. He and his wife, along with John Pippel, began operating a printing business from their home and also published a weekly newspaper, the Grand Haven Searchlight. Claude moved the printing business to the 100 block of North Third before relocating to 623 Washington in 1961. Claude also ran a Fire Protection Service from his home at 406 Howard and, in the 1960s, from 623 Washington.

After WWII Claude lobbied for seven years for construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway, was secretary for the Great Lakes Harbor Association, and was a member of Michigan Municipal Utilities. Claude was deputy Coordinator of Fisheries for the Great Lakes Region during WWII. He teamed up with Glenn Eaton and Chuck Bugielski to help organize and manage the Coast Guard Festival from 1946 to 1981. In 1948 he served on the Grand Haven City Council. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church; Elks; Eagles; Masons; Salvation Army board; Eastern Star; and he was active in the Boy Scouts. He served as mayor of Grand Haven from 1952 to 1956, and at the same time he was director of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce. In 1956 President Eisenhower appointed him one of the original members of the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, a post he held for 32 years.

In Grand Haven on May 23, 1934 Claude married Fern Gylleck. The daughter of Olaf T. and Dora Scheer Gylleck of Grand Haven, she was born on July 12, 1909 in Dixon, Illinois. Her father was advertising manager for the Challenge Machinery Company, and later owned Advertising Specialties, a business located at 623 Washington. Claude eventually joined his father-in-law in the business. Fern was a member of the Eastern Star for more than 70 years. Claude and Fern's children included Robert C., whose wife's name was Sandra. Bob ran the Fire Protection Service business for a while and later ran the Ver Duin printing business. Ruth McMahon, an attorney in West Palm Beach and Sarasota, Florida, was their daughter. The Ver Duins resided at 311 South Fourth Street, then at 406 Howard, and finally at 111 Prospect. Claude died on November 9, 1990 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Fern passed away on December 27, 2001 and was buried near her husband at Lake Forest. She and the captain were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

William [Willem] Ver Duin [1872-1987]

William, the son of Captain John and Geziena Ver Duin, was born in Grand Haven in October 1872. He and his three brothers, Louis, Caleb, and Peter, continued in the fishing business after the death of their father. Lou was the engineer and Peter worked with the shore crew. William began sailing at age 12, and at 17 he received his captain’s papers and became skipper of the sailboat Fleetwing. He and his mother went into partnership and purchased the 52-foot tug John A. Miller, a steam-powered boat. In 1898 he had a charcoal iron hull tug built at the Johnston Boiler Works in Ferrysburg and named it C. J. Bos for his father-in-law, Cornelius Bos. The C. J. Bos had an open deck with a hand-operated lifter used to pull nets in by hand. He also had a turtle deck installed over the open forward deck to protect the crew working in the lake in all kinds of weather. In 1901 he ordered the H. J. Dornbos, a 72-foot tug, and his brother Caleb was captain. The tug was sold to Caleb and Lou shortly after it was built. The government bought the boat during WWI and took it out of the Great Lakes. Captain Ver Duin installed one of the first steam lifters made at the Dake Engine factory. He was the first local fisherman to set nets on the Wisconsin side of the lake. The C. J. Bos kept the harbor open in the winter for the car ferries and also opened Grand River in the spring for the gravel tugs. William served on the City Council and was mayor of Grand Haven in 1931 and 1932.

On May 27, 1896 in Grand Haven William married Cornelia, the daughter of Cornelius and Maria Van Doorne Bos. Cornelia was born in Grand Haven in October 1874. Their children included Geziene, who was born in December 1898 and married Adrian Kooiman of Grand Haven; Mary V., who was born on March 21, 1902, and married Evan Van Lopik, originally of Grand Haven but later of Grand Rapids; John William, who was born on March 20, 1904 and became a physician with an office in Grand Haven; Willene, who was born about 1909; and Cornelius B., who was born on April 19, 1911 and died January 12, 2001 in Chagrin Falls, Ohio. The Ver Duin family resided at 928 Washington. William died on April 30, 1987, and Cornelia passed away about November 19, 1952. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune article, "Capt. Ver Duin Started Lake Career," May 2, 1987.]

Born in Grand Haven in May 1865, James Verhoeks received his education in the public schools. He learned the trade of cabinetmaker and later became foreman of one of the departments of the Challenge Corn Planter Works. He was a member of the Republican County Committee and Company F. Verhoeks represented the Third Ward on the City Council from 1894 to 1898. His wife, Jennie, was born in January 1866 and died on August 2, 1949. They lived at 16 South Eighth Street. That house was advertised for sale in the May 8, 1912 edition of the Grand Haven Tribune, but there was no evidence that it sold then. James died on November 1, 1946 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Two of their children were Tillie, born in April 1887, and James J., who was born on September 27, 1894 and died in Grand Rapids on July 12, 1972.

Johannes “John” W. Verhoeks [1861-1940]

Johannes, the son of William and Teuntje Vander Zalm Verhoeks, was born in Grand Haven on July 29, 1861. In 1880 John was working at the shingle mill. Three years later, with the backing of Henry Fase, he established John W. Verhoeks & Company at 222 North Seventh Street. It offered “Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Medicines, Etc.” After more than 20 years of business, he sold out and in 1905 opened a store on Seventh Street that sold wagons, carriages, and farm machinery, including McCormick Harvesters and J. I. Case threshing machines. Also for six years he and Albert Juistema owned and operated the Juistema & Verhoeks Shoe Store at 222 Washington.

John married Janna “Jennie,” Henry’s Fase’s daughter, on December 28, 1882. Jennie was born in The Netherlands on January 30, 1863 and passed away on September 4, 1945. John and Jennie had two sons, Henry J. Verhoeks, who was born on October 28, 1886, became Auditor at Grand Haven State Bank, and died in Grand Haven on May 17, 1980; and William T., who was born in October 1890 and moved his medical practice from Detroit to San Antonio, Texas. John died on May 6, 1940 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Jennie. At the time of his death, John resided at 521 Howard. The family attended the First Reformed Church.

He married Mary Douker, a native of the same country, who was born about 1834 and died on October 8, 1903. In Grand Haven, Solomon worked as a butcher. Their children, all born locally, were Lena, born in 1859; John, born in 1861; Joanna, born in 1863; Henry, born in 1865; Anne, born in 1867; Nellie H., born in 1869; and Mary [Marie] J., who was born in 1875 and on May 13, 1903 in Ludington married Peter Madison.

William Verhoeks [1835-1924]

Born in The Netherlands on September 20, 1835, William Verhoeks came to this country aboard the South Carolina, arriving in Grand Haven on June 4, 1855. In 1859 he married Teuntje “Tillie” Vander Zalm, who was born December 29, 1841 in Gelderland, The Netherlands. She died in Grand Haven on March 15, 1884. Their children included Johannes [John] W., who was born in Grand Haven on July 29, 1861; Jacobus [James], who lived from 1865 to 1946; Neiltje, born in 1872; Sendert, born on October 12, 1876; Lyntje [Lena], who was born about 1879 and died August 28, 1915; and Minnie. All the children lived in Grand Haven. William’s second wife died on August 7, 1905. He died February 18, 1924 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Verhoeks Street in Grand Haven was named for the family. [Tribune obituary, August 8, 1905.]

John Ver Kuyl [Verkuyl, Verkuil] [1849-1918]

Born in The Netherlands in February 1849, John Ver Kuyl arrived in Grand Haven when he was 25. He learned the baker’s trade in his home country, but for ten years was steward at the Cutler House in Grand Haven. In 1895 he opened his own business with his wife, operating “the Domestic bakery and ladies’ and gentlemen’s dining parlors.” Jacob Braak worked for him in 1902, before opening his own bakery in Spring Lake. John’s first wife, Jane, was born in 1862 and died on February 23, 1892. On June 14, 1893 in Grand Haven, he married Lulu Ellen Nace Carpenter. Ellen, was born in Ohio in March 1853. Ellen had a son, William, from a previous marriage, whom John adopted. William was born in Ohio in April 1887. The family resided at 248 Fourth Street. By 1908 John was out of the bakery business and working as a timekeeper. Apparently single, he boarded at 217 Washington. John died on April 18, 1918 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his first wife.

Lee, the son of John and Marie Van Zee Vermeer, was born in Pella, Iowa, on April 10, 1927. He served in the Navy during WWII and married Margaret “Peggy” Holzinger of Grand Haven on October 9, 1954. Lee’s stepfather, Dr. Gerrit Menning of Hope Reformed Church, officiated. Peggy was a 1950 graduate of Grand Haven High School. The Vermeers’ children included Dale Vermeer of Kailua, Hawaii, and Diana Vermeer, who married Ken Ward. The Vermeers resided at 13427 Lakeshore Drive in Grand Haven Township. They belonged to the Second Reformed Church in Grand Haven.

Lee worked for the Ottawa County Road Commission for 25 years, holding the posts of office manager and deputy county clerk. In the late 1970s he joined Construction Aggregates and finished his career with Carter Manufacturing. Lee was elected township treasurer in 1988 and was re-elected in 1992 and 1996. Through his leadership, the growing township established the position of financial director. On November 1, 1999 Lee died of complications following a heart-bypass operation. Peggy retired from Old Kent Bank [now Fifth Third in 1997. She passed away on August 1, 2022. [Tribune obituary, November 2, 1999.]

They had another son, John W. In 1880 Cornelius worked for the United States Life Saving Service in Grand Haven. He changed the spelling of the family name from Ver Meulen to Ver Murlen in 1891, although he continued to use the old spelling in the 1900 Federal Census. At that time they were living on North First Street, but a few years later Cornelius, a widower, had relocated to a boarding house at 334 Columbus Street.

Joos Verplank [Ver Plank, Ver Planke] [1844-1943]

Born on April 2, 1844 in Biervliet, The Netherlands, Joos was one of five children of Abram Jansen Verplank who was a cobbler [shoemaker]. Joos came to this country with his parents when he was five years old. His mother died of cholera near Albany, New York, while the family was making its way to Michigan. Arriving at his destination, Abram Verplank made a home for his children with the Van Raalte colony at Holland. Joos learned the trade of shoemaking from his skilled father. Being somewhat rebellious, his dislike for being a cobbler led him to become a cook on ships that sailed Lake Michigan. On August 14, 1862 he enlisted as private with Company I of the 25th Michigan Infantry and accompanied Sherman on his famous “March to the Sea.” Joos also saw action at Tip’s Bend in Knoxville. He was mustered out on June 24, 1865. After the war he became a member of the Weatherwax Post of Civil War veterans [G.A.R.] in Grand Haven. After serving as Marshal in Holland, Michigan until 1876, he moved to Grand Haven and lived on Fourth Street. After two terms as Republican sheriff of Ottawa County, he was re-elected to the position in 1878 on the “Greenback” ticket. Joos bought a section of timberland in Crockery Township and worked it as a farm between 1881 and 1909. After retiring he moved to Spring Lake and became known as “Ottawa County’s Grand Ole’ Soldier.” He was always a figure at the Memorial Day ceremonies and looked forward to spending that day with William Hatton, his good friend. A devout Christian, he advised his sons “not to wait until you’re 55 to confess Christ.”

Joos married Grietje Brower, who was born in May 1848 in The Netherlands and died on October 16, 1923. They raised nine sons, all born in Michigan, including Abram [Abraham], born in August 1867; Gerrit, born in 1870; Teunis, who was born in 1872 and died five years later; Joseph J., who was born in 1875 and became a builder in Santa Monica, California; Tony, who was born on August 10, 1877 and operated a coal and ice company locally; Cornelius, who was born in December 1879, married a daughter of Teunis Dykema of Spring Lake, and became a masonry contractor in Chesterton, Indiana; John, who was born in October 1882 and moved to Hobart, Indiana, where he was employed by a steel company; George, who was born in May 1885 and owned Calumet Paving Corporation in Indianapolis; Grover, who was born in December 1887 and became a physician in Gary, Indiana; and Albert, who was born in May 1890, served as sergeant with the Engineering Corps at Camp Taylor, Kentucky, during WWI, and went into business at Hobart, Indiana. Joos died on December 22, 1943 at the age of 99. He and his wife were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune article, “Another Pioneer To Be Honored,” August 31, 1990.]

The son of Arend and Florence Seifert Vyn, young Arend became a dentist with an office on the second floor of the Ball Building [201 Washington] and later at 223 Washington. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and Spring Lake Country Club. Arend later moved his practice to Grand Rapids. He married Edith E. "Boots," the daughter of John F. and Marie Johnston of Grand Haven. She was born on December 30, 1917. Born on September 19, 1912, Arend died on July 29, 1993 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Boots passed away on January 17 [19], 1998, and also was buried at Lake Forest. Arend held the rank of lieutenant junior grade with the Coast Guard [Reserve] during WWII. Arend and Boots had at least two sons, Franklin J. of Grand Rapids and Frederick A. of Hamilton, Massachusetts.

Clarence Vyn [1892-1983]

Clarence was born October 25, 1892 in Grand Haven to Lambert and Johanna Vyn. He attended Columbus Street School through the fourth grade and graduated from Central High School, where he played football. Clarence received a degree from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry in 1914. He opened his practice in Detroit in 1916 and retired about 1958. He was a life member of the Michigan Dental Association and president of the Detroit Lions Club.

In 1913 Clarence married Barbara Adrian [Ada] Baker, who was born about 1893 in Michigan and died in Florida on April 9, 1967. She was the daughter of William and Dora Vogel Baker. The Vyns' children included William Louis Vyn, who was born in Grand Haven on May 5, 1916, and Elizabeth "Betty" Hatton Meier, who was born on July 4, 1919, the first baby born in the new Elizabeth Hatton Memorial Hospital [114 South Fifth Street]. Both William and Betty remained in the Grand Haven area. Barbara died in April

1967, and Clarence passed away in Grand Haven on January 23, 1983. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, January 24, 1983.]

Clarissa Dorothy Vyn [1896-1981]

Clarissa was born October 9, 1896 and died in Grosse Pointe on December 19, 1981. She was the daughter of John Vyn and the granddaughter of Dirk Vyn. Clarissa was valedictorian of the 1914 graduating class of Grand Haven High School and graduated from the University of Michigan four years later, with a major in mathematics. She went on to teach at Detroit's Northwestern High School, where she retired in 1961. Clarissa served on the Board of the University of Michigan Alumni Association and was the first woman to be elected president of the group.

Dirk [Derk] Vyn [Vijn] [1831-1911]

Dirk was born on January 15, 1831 [1830] in the small village of Twisk in north Netherlands. He was the son of Nicholas and Trijnte Spijker Vijn, Klaus's second wife, who died three days after Dirk's birth. The Vyns left The Netherlands and arrived in Baltimore on June 12, 1847, after a six-week crossing. They stopped first at Detroit, then settled in Drenthe, Ottawa County, in 1847. Dirk's father drove the Grand Haven-to-Holland stagecoach, and Dirk drove a coach between Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, before moving to Grand Haven about 1849 and working in the sawmills. He drove the mail between Grand Haven and Zeeland, making two to three round trips a week, sometimes selling butter and eggs along the way. Soon he was able to buy two tugboats, Bill Brandon and Captain Tom's Cabin, which carted freight on the Grand. Dirk was described as a "handsome" man, over six feet tall and weighing 215 pounds.

By 1857 [1858] Dirk had saved enough money to go into business for himself. The drayage business begun by the young Vyn grew rapidly when the Chicago & South Shore Railway [Pere Marquette] came into Grand Haven and necessitated the transfer of freight to the ferry boats headed for Milwaukee and points west, a service Dirk was able to provide. The company had five drays and eight horses in the 1860s and 1870s. It then was known as D. Vyn and Sons. Dirk and his sons also owned 155 acres in Section 5 of Grand Haven Township, near Rosy Mound, for timbering purposes. In 1881 Geert Vyn, Derk's brother, started a sawmill on the northwest side of Harbor Island. In addition to his own business, Dirk was first vice president of the Grand Haven Leather Company, which incorporated in 1885.

Dirk retired from his business in the 1880s and his five sons, Lambert, Martin, Nicholas, John, and Albert took over. Until 1910 the company was known as the "Five Brothers Express," and in that year it became Vyn Brothers, located on the northwest corner of Third and Fulton Streets. The company bought its first motorized vehicle in 1912. Martin moved west and Albert sold out his interest. After Lambert retired in 1927, the business was incorporated for $120,000 as the Vyn Company with Nat Robbins, president; Bernath P. Sherwood II, vice president; Hugh E. Lillie, secretary; and John A. Vyn, treasurer and general manager.

On December 1, 1852 Dirk married Klaastje "Clara" Trost, the daughter of Lambert Trost of Grand Haven. Born on December 13, 1833, Clara died September 25 [2], 1895. They had one daughter, Rosena, who was born in 1860 and married James Balhema in Grand Haven on October 4, 1882. They also had five sons: Nicholas, born on May 24, 1857; Albert, born in 1863; Lambert, born in May 1865; Martin, born in 1870; John, who was born on April 8, 1872 and married Etta Dykema of Grand Haven; and Garnie, born in December 1877. All the children were born in Grand Haven. John remarried on January 30, 1903, this time to Emma Fritz Stubman. All the children were born in Grand Haven. On November 9, 1896 in Grand Rapids, Dirk married Adriana Van Bree Souke. They resided at 221 Fulton. Dirk died at home on February 8, 1911 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

[Lambert] Dirk [Derk] Vyn [1925-2001]

The son of John "Bud" Vyn of Grand Haven, Lambert Dirk was born on October 20, 1925. He served in WWII, spending about two years in the Army Air Corps. He later wrote that he was discharged "at the convenience of the Government" after two years as an aviation cadet, "the longest in grade aviation cadet in U.S. military history.” Dirk married Jane Hoek on September 7, 1946. She was born in Grand Haven in 1925, the daughter of Elmore and Cathryn Boer Hoek. Dirk and Jane moved to California, living at Palo Alto and Napa. An architect, Dirk was principal designer of a number of buildings, including the Palo Alto City Hall, the Stanford University Lutheran Church, and homes throughout that area of California as well as in Grand Haven. He worked for a time with Frank Lloyd Wright at the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation in San Francisco. Dirk served as chair of the Architectural Review Board for Palo Alto, he was planning commissioner for Napa for four years, and he was president of the Northern California Chapter of American Registered Architects. He also was active in the Salvation Army and Rotary International in Palo Alto. The Vyns had three daughters: Leslie and Cindy of Palo Alto and Faeli of Napa. Dirk died on August 19, 2001 at his home in Napa.

Geert [Gerrit] Henrik Vyn [1837-1898]

Born in The Netherlands on June 4, 1837, Geert Vyn came to America with his parents, Nicholas and Maartje Stammes Vyn, in 1847 and settled in Drenthe, Zeeland Township. Geert joined his brother Dirk in the lumbering business in Grand Haven, and in 1881 he built a sawmill on Harbor Island for cutting hardwood. He married Johanna De Martie, who was born in The Netherlands in 1843. Johanna passed away in North Wilkesboro, North Carolina in 1896. Geert died in the same community on July 18, 1898.

John Alvin “Bud” Vyn [1899-1956]

The son of John and Etta Vyn and grandson of Dirk Vyn, John was born in Grand Haven on November 18, 1899. He enlisted as private in Company F of Grand Haven, which merged with Company L of the 126th Infantry during WWI. John was gassed during the Allied Chateau Thierry offensive on August 3, 1918. He also signed up for active service during the next World War, when he was commissioned major in the Transportation Corps and stationed in Liverpool, England, to prepare for the invasion of North Africa. After a few months in Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C., John was discharged from the military in 1945. Two of his sons, John Cameron and Lambert Dirk [Derk], also served in WWII, spending about two years in the Army Air Corps.

John married Joyce Cameron in Grand Rapids on September 20, 1921. They had a daughter, Prudence, born on May 31, 1938, and a third son, Stephen Compton, who lived from 1929 to 1978. After selling the Vyn Transfer and Storage Company, John Vyn and his family moved to Palo Alto, California, about 1946, where John managed the Hoyt Truck Division for the last two and a half years of his life. In Grand Haven, John was a member of the Elks and was president of Associated Truck Lines of Grand Rapids. He died on May 12, 1956 in San Mateo, California. Joyce lived from October 26, 1900 to May 11, 1990 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

John Cameron Vyn [1923-1982]

Like his brother Derk, John Vyn served in the military for two years during World War II. He was born in Grand Haven on June 17, 1923, the son of John A. and Joyce Cameron Vyn. On December 20, 1948 John married Patricia M. Hammontree in Steuben, Indiana. She was born in Toledo, Ohio in 1923, graduated from the University of Toledo in 1944 as valedictorian, moved to Washington D.C., where she worked for various federal agencies. Patricia returned to Toledo in 1948 as an employee of the Social Security Administration. She and John met in Toledo. In 1950 they lived in Flat Rock, Wayne County. John was a social studies teacher at the high school and coached basketball. The couple moved to Highland Park, Illinois where John became a teacher at Highland Park High School. She taught third grade at Wilmot Elementary School in Deerfield, Lenawee County, in 1961 and subsequently was named head of the Instructional Materials Center. They had at least one daughter, Kathleen Vyn, who was born in Ohio on August 25, 1949. John died in Santa Clara, California on November 21, 1982, and Patricia passed away on August 8, 2014.

John Derk Vyn [1872-1921]

John, the son of Dirk and Clara Vyn, was born in Grand Haven on April 8, 1872. He worked with his father and brothers in the Vyn trucking business. John was killed in an accident in Spring Lake on November 30, 1921 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Riding in a Vyn Reo truck, which was crossing the railroad tracks, John jumped, hoping to avoid being hit by an approaching Grand Trunk passenger train. The driver of the truck, Chester Brockway, stepped on the gas and was able to get out of the way of the train, but John evidently became entangled and was hit by the locomotive. He married his first wife, in Grand Haven on April 2, 1896. She lived from September 13, 1873 to November 13, 1901. Among their children, all born in Grand Haven, were Clarissa, who was born on October 9, 1896; John Alvin, born on November 18, 1899; and Helen Rose, who was born in April 1898. On January 20, 1903, again in Grand Haven, John married his second wife, Emma Fritz Stubman. She was born in Michigan about 1876. John and Emma had at least two sons, Arthur R., who was born on August 17, 1903 and died in Spring Lake on October 2, 1983, and Kenneth, who was born on November 2, 1908. The Vyns in 1920 resided at 221 Fulton. Emma's son from her first marriage, Louis, lived in Detroit.

Kenneth Laverne Vyn [1908-1996]

The son of John and Emma Stubman Vyn, Kenneth was born in Grand Haven on November 2, 1908. Kenneth married Winifred Louise Cornell on April 2, 1929. They had at least one daughter, Bonna K., who was born in January 1930. Winifred was born in Michigan on August 6, 1911, passed away in 1965, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. The three of them resided at 221 Fulton in 1930. Ken was a clerk in the family trucking business. He and Winifred were divorced in Grand Rapids on July 9, 1935. In 1942 he was working for Monark Motor Freight System in Cleveland, Ohio. Ken served in the army during WWII as a lieutenant. He was wounded in the Normandy invasion and later captured by the Germans. Kenneth was sent to an internment center in East Germany, where he was able to escape and get into Russia. After a series of adventures, Kenneth was sent home, but he never fully recovered from physical problems incurred during his capture and escape. However, he served two tours of duty in Korea and retired from active service in 1962 as a major. Kenneth then was employed for 12 years by Allied Van Lines in Chicago. On May 2, 1945, Kenneth married Viola Wilke. They had four children: Jon, Michelle, Valerie, and Kay. Kenneth died on April 27, 1996 and was buried at Fort Sheridan Post Cemetery in Illinois. Viola, who was born in Cleveland, Ohio, lived from December 15, 1915 to September 18, 2012 and was buried at the Post Cemetery.

Lambert Vyn [1865-1936]

A son of Dirk and Clara Troost Vyn, Lambert was born in Grand Haven in May 1865 and attended school there. Like his father, he was a large man, weighing nearly 200 pounds and standing over six feet tall. He married Johanna "Jennie" Dykhuis in Muskegon on December 28, 1885. Jennie, the daughter of Jurrien and Johanna Zuidema Dykhuis of Grand Haven, was born in May 1863 [1864]. The Vyns purchased a home at 16 North Second Street in Grand Haven, where they lived for the remainder of their lives. They had four sons: Derk, born on November 22, 1886; Richard, who was born on November 11, 1887 and married Esther Hollestelle in Grand Haven on August 22, 1912; Jay D., who was born on February 9, 1890, married E. Louise, the daughter of Charles and Louise Werkler Morton, in Grand Haven on November 1, 1913, and died in June 1984; and Clarence N., born on October 25, 1892. A daughter Clara was born on May 13, 1888, and another daughter, Florence, was born in Grand Haven on March 1, 1896 and married Max Reese in Grand Haven on June 14, 1920. Another daughter, Josie, died in infancy. After Dirk Vyn's death in 1911, the Vyn Trucking Company continued under the ownership of Lambert and his brothers, Nicholas and John. Jennie died in 1930 and Lambert in 1936. They were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Martin [Maarty] Vyn [1870-1941]

Martin, the son of Derk and Klaastje Vyn, died out west on October 16, 1941 at the age of 71. On November 20, 1893 in Grand Haven, he married Orpha J. Taylor. She was born in Dennison, Ottawa County, in 1874, died in 1908, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Martin then married Nellie, the widow of Harry Koopman, who had died in an accident in 1909. Nellie, the daughter of Gerrit G. and Jennie "Jane" Nordhuis Gringhuis, was born on June 30, 1880 in Grand Haven and died on December 13, 1912 in Seattle, Washington. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Nicholas [Nicholaus] “Klaus” Vyn [Vijn] [1802-1868]

Nicholas Vyn came from the small village of Twisk in north Netherlands. His second wife, Trijnte “Frankie” Spijker, lived from 1806 to 1831. Trijnte died three days after giving birth to Dirk, a future resident of Grand Haven, who was born on January 15, 1831 [1830]. Klaus’s third marriage was to Trijntje Klaver, who also soon died. He then married Maartje Stammes, who lived from 1811 to 1882. They brought their family to America on the three-master schooner Peter Floris, arriving at Baltimore on June 12, 1847, after a six-week crossing. As was so often the case, the spelling of the family name [Vijn] was changed by an immigration officer when the Vyns landed. [However, the name was spelled “Vijn” in the 1870 Federal Census.] The Vyns stopped first at Detroit, then settled in Drenthe, Ottawa County, in 1847, just after Rev. Van Raalte and his followers settled the nearby town of Holland. Nicholas was one of the original settlers of Zeeland and helped Rev Van Raalte develop Holland into a Lake Michigan port, and he drove the Grand Haven-to-Holland stagecoach. He was born on January 16, 1802 and died in Zeeland, Ottawa County, on December 28, 1868.

Nicholas D. Vyn [1857-1923]

Born on May 24, 1857 in Grand Haven, Nicholas was the son of Dirk and Clara Vyn, who had a dray and transfer business known as D. Vyn & Sons. Nicholas’s brothers included Lambert and Martin. Nicholas helped his father in this business, which later became known as the Five Brothers and later Vyn Brothers. He attended the First Reformed Church. On June 24, 1879 in Grand Haven, he married Annetje “An” [Nettie] Stuveling, who was born July 9, 1858. She was the daughter of Arend and Ann Stuveling of Grand Haven. The Vyns’ children included Clara, who was born August 1880 and married Lawrence H. vanden Berg; Arend Vyn, born on February 28, 1886; Dora, who was born on March 2, 1889 and died August 18, 1905; and Angie, who was born in Grand Haven in March 1892, married Roy Luz Dahlman on June 12, 1920, and moved to Minneapolis, Minnesota. Roy was born on April 22, 1892 and passed away in Minneapolis on May 29, 1959. Nicholas and Annetje resided at 111 South Fourth Street. After Annetje died on September 12, 1915, Nicholas married Marion Pellegrom in Grand Haven on October 25, 1921. Marian was the daughter of Gerrit and Maggie Pellegrom. Nicholas passed away on July 21, 1923 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, July 21, 1923.]

William, the son of Clarence and Barbara Baker Vyn, was born in Grand Haven on May 5, 1916. In 1941 he married Mary Frances Smith, who was born on March 12, 1917. After her death on June 6, 1988, he married Norma C. Van Schelven Wessel on May 26 the next year. Norma, the daughter of William and Lillian Ruch Van Schelven, was born on January 12, 1926 in Grand Haven. William graduated from Redford High School in Detroit and earned a Bachelor of Chemistry degree from Michigan State University. He lived and worked in Lansing before returning to Grand Haven. He was a member of the Spring Lake Country Club. He had a daughter Sally, who married Richard Savage and resided in Danville, California, and a son Tom of Northville, Wayne County. William died in Venice, Florida, on February 15, 2002 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his first wife, Mary, and other Vyns. Norma passed away on December 4, 2022. [Tribune obituary, February 19, 2002.]

Daniel C. Wachs [Wacks] [1846-1932]

Born on March 10, 1846 in Crestline, Ohio, Daniel Wachs moved to Grand Haven. He was a teacher at Ferrysburg, Peach Plains, and Beech Tree schools, and he organized the first night school. He served as City Recorder in 1885. In the 1890s he was proprietor of Wachs & Wachs Publishers in Grand Haven and issued the newspapers Courier and Express. In the early 1900s he became a justice of the peace for sixteen years, with an office on the second floor of 201-203 Washington. His first wife, Charlotte “Lotta S.,” was born in Ohio in October 1837 and died March 17, 1907. A daughter, Orilla [Arella] B., was born in Indiana in 1876 and died in Grand Haven on October 11, 1887 of typhoid. In Grand Haven the family lived at 519 North Seventh. On September 26, 1916 in Grand Rapids, Daniel married Mary Virginia Schuman. Daniel died on December 31, 1932 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his wife and daughter.

John [Johann] Wachter [1804-1868]

Born in Hannover, Germany in 1804, blacksmith John Wachter married Dora Ronne in Hannover in 1830. They came to Spring Lake in 1864 and John died four years later. Dora married Thomas Bell of Spring Lake sometime after 1880. Dora was born in 1814 in Hannover and died in Spring Lake in 1892. A daughter, Eliza, born in Hannover in 1831, married Henry Siems and settled in Crockery Township. The Wachters also had a son, William, who was born in Hannover on September 19, 1851. [Note: Most of this information comes from the Portrait & Biographical Record of Muskegon & Ottawa Counties, Michigan, which cited John's death year as 1868. However, he appeared in the 1870 census for Spring Lake, along with Dora and William, which makes the 1868 date questionable. By 1880 Dora was listed as a widow.]

Joseph F. Wachter [1910-1988]

Born in Crockery Township on October 27, 1910 to Louis and Catherine Wachter, Joseph was a life-long resident of the area. He owned the Mobil Gas Station and Wachter Motor Sales at 301 West Savidge in Spring Lake. He offered Fords at first and later added Mercuries and Lincolns, as well as auto repairs. He was the first Mercury dealer in the area and had a mobile mechanic service. Joseph taught adult education courses in auto maintenance and small engine repair in the Spring Lake Public Schools. Joseph was a member of the Spring Lake Presbyterian Church and Chancel Choir, president of the Optimist Club, and sponsored area bowling and baseball teams. He was an expert hunter and fisherman and an avid golfer. He married Carol J. Warber on September 28, 1933, and they had three daughters: Carol, Linda and Rita. The family resided at 15590 Pruin in Spring Lake. Joseph died on September 24, 1988. Carol lived from August 25, 1914 to January 1, 2002. She passed away in Bradenton, Florida.

Louis A. Wachter [1875-1939]

Born in the Village of Spring Lake on July 18, 1875, Louis Wachter became a farmer. He was the son of William and Clara Fiedler Wachter. At one time Louis was employed by the Interurban railway, which operated between Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, and Muskegon. Louis married Catherine N. Steinbach in Grand Haven on August 30, 1900. He died in 1939 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

William A. Wachter [1851-1930]

Born on September 19, 1851 in Hannover, Germany, William was the son of John and Dora Ronne Wachter. William was 13 when he moved with his family to Spring Lake. Although a blacksmith by trade, he also dealt in the sale of beer, liquor, and tobacco. On September 24, 1874 he married Clara, the daughter of John and Margaret Erhardt Feidler, also from Germany. Clara was born in September 1857 in Bavaria and passed away in 1928. She was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. The Wachters owned 80 acres in Section 19 of Crockery Township. They had nine children, all born in Michigan, including Louis, born on July 18, 1875; Margaret "Maggie," who was born in January 1882 and married Frank Spinner in Grand Rapids on November 10, 1910; Anna, who was born in October 1883 and on November 26, 1914 married Harley Erickson in Grand Haven; Augusta, born in August 1885; and George, who was born in October 1890 and on June 30, 1917 in Grand Haven Township married Dollie M. Cooke. William died in 1930.

John Wacker I [1865-1937]

John Wacker, who was born in Stuttgart, Germany on October 31, 1865, arrived in the United States in 1888. Five years later he married Anna Zacker, also a native of Germany, where she was born about 1874. Anna came to America in 1890. The Wackers owned a 50-acre farm in Section 33 of Grand Haven Township, near the township's north boundary. Among their six children was a daughter, Edith Ann, who was born on March 25, 1897 and married William Klempel, also of Grand Haven Township. William was the son of August and Amelia Fenner Klempel. Cecelia [Caecelia], another daughter, married Frank Ott of Grand Haven. Cecelia was born in Chicago on May 15, 1904. The Wackers' other children were George, born about 1894; John II, born about 1900; Matilda [Mathilda], who was born about 1901 and married Charles Hovey; and Emily, who was born about November 1908 and married Robert Ott of Grand Haven Township. Emily was born in Michigan, and the rest of the children were born in Illinois. John died on June 5, 1936 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Abram [Abraham] S. Wadsworth [1812-1871]

In 1834 Abram Wadsworth purchased substantial amounts of land in Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, and elsewhere in Michigan. The first platted addition to the City of Grand Haven carried the Wadsworth name. According to Lillie, the plat for Wadsworth's Addition was filed on August 6, 1837. The plat was a triangular piece that ran about 800 feet along the south bank of the Grand River to Lake Michigan and contained 148 small building sites, twenty along the river, the rest inland, without regard to dunes or bank erosion. The plat's south boundary included a boulevard 100 feet wide, running east and west and labeled "United States Road from Detroit to the Mouth of Grand River." If extended over the dunes, the road would have connected with Pennoyer Avenue and River Road. The Detroit road was never laid, but another street that bisected the plat was named Water Street and followed the route of today's Harbor Drive. Wadsworth's Addition later was vacated by the city.

Abram purchased land on May 1, 1839, in the Port Sheldon area. This land may have been part of the resort development that took place about that time, an endeavor that soon went bankrupt. Franklin Everett stated that by 1846 Abram "bankrupted himself in developing water-power." [Memorials of the Grand River Valley, p. 374.] However, in 1850 Abram was living in Michilimackinac [probably Traverse City] with his wife Martha and two children, both born in Michigan: James M., born in 1842, and Frances L., born in 1846. At that time Abram was a lumberman. In 1860 he was in Antrim County. Ten years later Abram was residing in Traverse City with Martha and a daughter, Ella. Abram and Martha Adeline Notham were married in Washtenaw County on May 20, 1835. Abram was born in Durham, Connecticut on November 8, 1812, the son of Wentworth and Content Scranton Wadsworth. Martha was born in Williamstown, Massachusetts on December 17, 1817, and Ella in Michigan about 1855. Abram's occupation in Traverse City was listed as surveyor, and in 1851 he was deputy surveyor for the Geodetic Survey. He died in Traverse City on June 28, 1871. Martha passed away on June 9, 1896, also in Traverse City.

Cornelis Wagenaar [Wagener, Wagner] [1810-1884]

Born in The Netherlands on October 4, 1810, Cornelis Wagenaar on June 7, 1835 married Cornelia De Jong, who was born the same year as he. With their eight children, they left their homeland in 1853 and came to Grand Haven via New York, Buffalo, and Chicago. Cornelis was employed at a sawmill on Black [Macatawa] Lake near Holland. He and Cornelia had twelve children. He died in Muskegon on November 30, 1884. Cornelia married Cornelius Veen and moved with her children to a farm in Drenthe. She died in 1893 in Muskegon. A grandson of the Wagenaars, John Cooper, was a physician in Grand Haven for a short time around 1902.

Cornelia Boer Wagener [1892-1993]

Cornelia was born in Grand Haven on February 26, 1892 to John J. and Jennie Bolt Boer. She was the sister of Ruth Boer Hoek of Spring Lake. Cornelia graduated from Mrs. Wheeler's Kindergarten Training School in Grand Rapids in 1911 and became the first kindergarten teacher for Spring Lake Public Schools. She also owned and operated Spring Haven Farm, at the northeast corner of Fruitport Road and M-104, where she bred Tennessee Walking Horses. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Haven, Spring Lake Country Club, Grand Haven Woman's Club, Garden Club, and Free Bed Guild. On August 17, 1927, she married Wayland Spencer Bickford in Grand Haven. Born on March 6, 1875 in Huntington, Vermont, Wayland died on December 16, 1930 in New Orleans, Louisiana and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Cornelia then married Carnot Roscoe Wagener on May 18, 1938, again in Grand Haven. He was born in Michigan on October 18, 1894 and in 1930 was a building inspector living in Cincinnati, Ohio. They resided at 335 North Lake Street in Spring Lake. Carnot passed away in 1943. Cornelia died on October 4, 1993 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, October 7, 1993.]

On April 18, 1934 in Muskegon, Henry Wagenmaker married Nellie De Ruiter. He was a celery farmer in Norton Township, Muskegon County. Much later the two of them owned and operated two motels in Grand Haven. First, they purchased Tarry Ho Motel at 1617 South Beacon Boulevard from the original owners, Hank and Minnie de Young. Second, they partnered with Arnold and Barbara Brondyke in ownership and management of the Anchor Motel at 1616 South Beacon Boulevard. Henry was born in Muskegon on September 12, 1914 and died in Muskegon on January 27, 1993. Nellie lived from 1914 to March 9, 1998. Both were buried at Mona View Cemetery.

Adam Wagner [1841-1912]

Born in Prussia on October 29, 1841, Adam Wagner came to Eastmanville in 1855 and worked at Galen Eastman's store. He ran the ferryboat and was postmaster in Eastmanville from 1868 to 1882. Also in 1868 he joined Edwin Thayer and Galen Eastman as general merchants. The name of the business was changed to Eastman Brothers & Wagner until 1871, when the Eastmans retired and John Wagner joined his brother Adam to form Wagner Bros. After 1879 Adam was the sole owner. In 1869 he married Eunice [Eugenia], Edwin Thayer's sister. Among Adam's and Eunice's nine children were two daughters: Netty, who was born on June 1, 1877 and 22 years later, and Florence, who was born in December 1884 and died in 1956. They also had two sons: George, who was born on September 13, 1881 and lived to 1944, and John, who was born on March 6, 1883 and died in 1970. The four children were born in Polkton Township. In 1889 Adam, Eunice, and at least five of their children had moved to Ionia County, where he was an insurance agent. Adam died in Belding, Ionia County, on August 2, 1912. Eunice lived from 1843 to 1905. They were buried at River Ridge Cemetery in Belding.

John Wagner I [1825-1905]

Born in Prussia on June 25, 1825, John Wagner came to Allendale in 1840. He joined his brother Adam, and they formed the company Wagner Bros., a continuation of Galen Eastman's general store. He sold out his interest to his brother and went into the wood, bark, and railroad tie business, and he also ran a planing mill. He later formed a partnership with a Mr. Wells and operated a general store. His son, John Wagner II, was born in 1854 in Allendale and was employed by Eastman Bros. & Wagner from 1871 to 1874, when he went into business for himself. The younger Wagner was the last postmaster of Eastmanville, beginning on July 1, 1893. John died on August 14, 1905. His wife Lucinda lived from December 11, 1824 to October 2, 1896. John and Lucinda were buried at Allendale Cemetery with an infant daughter, who died August 10, 1865, less than two months old.

Justin B. Wait [Waite] [1822-1888]

In 1872 Justin Wait came to Grand Haven from Wisconsin, where he had bought 80 acres in Jefferson County on March 1, 1850 and operated a rake factory. In Grand Haven he assumed ownership of Cornelius De Vlieger's planing mill. The Wait Manufacturing Company opened for business in 1873 with Justin as president and produced 30,000 hand rakes and 25 corn planters the first year. Thomas Stewart White was secretary and treasurer, and John M. Lockie was foreman and superintendent. The company became the Challenge Corn Planter Company when that business was incorporated in 1882.

Justin was born in Hampshire, Massachusetts in 1822. He married Deanna [Dianna] Miller in Medina, Ohio, on June 27, 1844. She was born in 1825 in New York. They had three children: Ellen M., born in Ohio about 1845; Alice, born in Wisconsin about 1847, and Cassius, born in Wisconsin about 1849. Deanna died in Grand Haven on February 8, 1873. Justin married Rebecca Munger Harris in Paw Paw, Van Buren County on November 16, 1873. The couple belonged to the Unitarian Church. Born in Ohio around 1833, Rebecca died in Grand Haven on March 18, 1874 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Justin moved to Buffalo

County, Nebraska in 1879, where he died on September 15, 1888. His body was returned to Grand Haven and buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Rebecca. Two of their children, both born in Wisconsin, were Eva M. born about 1864, and Milton S., born about 1867. Also living with Justin and Rebecca in Nebraska was a stepdaughter, Augusta Munger, who was born in Michigan around 1862.

Minard Walcott [1908-1974]

Minard Walcott opened a feed store at 1437 Washington Street in Grand Haven in the 1920s. He sold the business to Claude Mulder in the mid- to late 1940s. Claude named it Mulder's Feed Store. Minard was born on May 22, 1908 and died in Grand Haven on April 12, 1974. He and his wife, Mabel, resided at 516 South Seventh Street. Mabel lived from January 6, 1910 and passed away on January 23, 1998 in Grand Haven. She was buried near her husband at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Frederik Lafayette Walden [1821-1869]

In the mid-1840s Frederik Walden was Jail keeper in Grand Haven, and he was listed in the 1850 census for Ottawa County. On December 28, 1848 he married Frances Ann Day in Macomb County. They had two children, Martha, born about 1847, and Mary, born about 1849. Lettie Teeple, later the wife of Henry Pennoyer, kept house for the Waldens. Frederik was born in New York on January 13, 1821, and Frances came from Canada, where she born around 1827. Among their children, both born in Michigan, were Martha, born about 1847, and Harry, born about 1849. Frederik died in 1869 in Ottawa County.

John R. Walhout [1925-2003]

John Walhout served as mayor of Grand Haven from 1971 to 1979. He was born on March 3, 1925 in Muskegon, the son of Thomas and Ann Witt Walhout. He moved to Grand Haven in 1958, where he remained until relocating to Norton Shores in 1998. John married Beverly Jean Kroeze on October 22, 1948. They resided at 1505 Pineridge Drive. They had two children, Susan Beth, who married Robert Lass of Franklin Lakes, New Jersey, and Ross Walhout of Grand Haven.

John served with the Army Air Corps during WWII as Flight Engineer on B-17s. He graduated from Ferris State University with a Bachelor of Science Degree. He obtained a Bachelor of Law degree from La Salle University, and he also was an accredited CPA. John became vice president of Challenge Porcelain and Stamping Company. After retirement, he was a federal bankruptcy trustee for the Western Michigan District and for the Circuit Court as Receiver, representing large corporate bankruptcies. John served on the Grand Haven City Council from 1965 to 1971, before being elected mayor. He served two six-year terms on the Ottawa County Road Commission and was the Commission's chairman for ten years. He was president of the Grand Haven Christian School Board, the Tri-Cities United Way Board, and the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce Board. John also served on the first YMCA Board of Directors, organized in 1963. He died on May 9, 2003 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Beverly lived from August 2, 1927 to October 24, 2020. She, too, was buried at Lake Forest. [Tribune obituary, May 12, 2003.]

Henry Walker [1865-1939]

In the 1893 Compendium, Henry Walker was listed as a ship's carpenter. He was born in Michigan in 1865, died in 1939, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. In Grand Haven on August 16, 1888, he married Anna, the daughter of Derek and Swantje Groeneveld of Grand Haven. She lived from 1868 to 1904 and also was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. By the early 1900s Henry had become a tool maker. After his wife's death, Henry resided with his sister-in-law Lucy Leninga and her family at 216 Elliott Street.

John "Captain Jack" E. Walker [1821-1904]

Born in Hull, England in May 1821 [1811/1833], John Walker came to the United States in 1849 and to Grand Haven about 1854. As a boy he apprenticed aboard his uncle's ships, followed the sea, and had many experiences as he sailed around the globe. After coming to the Grand Haven area, he worked for Squier & White and Kirby & Furlong as master of their vessels, although in the 1870 and 1880 censuses he was still classified as a sailor. John became known locally as "Captain Jack," especially by the people living, as he did, in cottages in the Highland Park Resort. His home was on a large parcel of land on Lake Avenue, not far from the Khardomah Lodge. In 1895 Captain Jack, noticing that Grand Haven was becoming a popular resort, saw a way of making money and built the first bath house and refreshment stand on the beach, later the site of the Bil-Mar Restaurant. In 1897 he was the first to ring the fog bell and operate the foghorn at Grand Haven. Upon retiring in 1901, Captain Jack sold his business to August Boseker, also a Highland Park resident.

Captain Jack's wife Bridget was born near Dublin, Ireland, in 1826 [1827/1832]. They had four children: John II, born in Michigan about 1856; Kate [Katie/Catherine], born in Michigan in May 1861; Joseph, born in Michigan about 1862; and George, born in Illinois about 1864. Kate married James Riley of Grand Haven. John II became a ship's captain himself and died at the age of 58 on November 10, 1914, when his vessel foundered in a storm in Lake Superior. George moved to Marinette, Wisconsin, where John also lived for a while. Joseph evidently died before his father. In 1900 Jack was sharing his house on Lake Avenue with Kate and her two children. Bridget passed away on August 30, 1886, and Captain Jack died on May 6, 1904. The Walkers were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with their son John II. [Tribune article, "John E. Walker," February 19, 1897 and Tribune obituary, May 7, 1904.]

Walter S. Walker [1860-1922]

Walter Walker had one of the shortest professional sports careers on record. He joined the Detroit Wolverines Baseball Club, part of the National League, filling the position of catcher. He played his first game on May 8, 1884. Although he had one hit in four times at bat and scored a run, it was his only game. After this brief career he settled in Ionia as a lawyer. On November 15, 1887 he married Jennie V. Kimball in Ionia. By 1900 he was in the Eastern Michigan Asylum for the Insane in Pontiac, where he remained until his death in 1922. The son of Archibald and Mary Sinnott Walker, he was born in Berlin [Marne], Ottawa County in 1860. [Adapted from correspondence from Kevin Collier.]

William "Captain Billy" Walker [1868-1939]

Captain Billy Walker, born on Grand Haven in December 21, 1868, began his career as a surfman at the Grand Haven Life Station under Captain Lysaght in 1889. In 1902 he was promoted to keeper at a new life saving station at Sleeping Bear Point, where he served until 1910. He then became keeper of the Grand Haven Life Saving Station, a post he held until his retirement in 1922. Captain Billy died on March 19, 1939 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His father, John Walker, a Grand Haven tinsmith, was born in Germany about 1840 and apparently died when Bill was a boy. Bill's mother Elizabeth was born in Ohio in April 1842. After her husband's death she married William Keltie of Grand Haven. As a young man, Billy resided with the Kelties.

Wyllys [Wyllis] Seamans Walkley [1846-1917]

Born in Hillsdale County on January 17, 1846, Wyllys moved with his parents, Oliver and Parthenia Smith Walkley, to Casnovia Township in Muskegon County in 1853. On February 12, 1864 he enlisted as private in Company C of the 23rd Michigan Infantry. He was transferred to Company H of the 28th Michigan Infantry on June 15, 1865 and mustered out on June 5 the next year. He was assigned to a medical unit. After the war he tried farming, but decided he preferred the medical field. He left the farm and headed for Ann Arbor. There he graduated from the University of Michigan Medical Department in March 1879.

Wyllys opened his medical practice in Spring Lake the same year, 1879, with an office on the second floor of Perham's Drug Store. He promised that "Calls from the County [would be] promptly attended to." He moved to Lamont in 1883 and two years later relocated to Grand Haven. He and his wife resided at 114 South Fourth Street, where he also maintained a medical office. For many years Wyllys was Acting Assistant Surgeon and in 1887 he was appointed Surgeon of the Marine Hospital Service. He was a member of the Michigan State Medical Society. After the war he joined the Weatherwax Veterans of the G.A.R. [Grand Army of the Republic] in Grand Haven, as well as the International Order of Odd Fellows in Spring Lake.

In 1882 he was school inspector, and in the early 1900s he was Coroner for Ottawa County. He was one of the founders and original shareholders of the Highland Park Association, started in 1886.

In Muskegon on February 16, 1864, Wyllys married 15-year-old Ida Skinner, also of Casnovia Township. Two days later the groom left for Camp Nelson in Kentucky. Ida died in January 1873, about two years after giving birth to their third daughter, Carlotta. Not long after Ida's death, Wyllys asked Freeborn Bailey and his wife to be Carlotta's foster parents, a responsibility they gladly accepted. The Baileys had a farm in Paris Township, Kent County. The Walkley's other daughters were Emile, who was born in 1867 and married Peter J. Danhof II of Grand Haven, and Sarah Adeline, who was born on May 9, 1869, married Burt Hatch, and later settled in Muskegon.

On November 27, 1873 in Newaygo, Wyllys married Olive "Ollie" Eliza McDonald. Ollie, the daughter of Hugh [1816-1864] and Pauline [1818-1898] McDonald [MacDonald], was born in Vergennes, Vermont May 7, 1839, died on April 13, 1909, and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Grand Rapids. On March 30, 1910 Walkley married Louise Ann Lillie in Lowell. Louise, the daughter of Warren and Sarah E. Lillie of Wright Township, was born on September 2, 1871. Walkley and his third wife lived at 114 South Fourth Street, where Louise continued to reside after her husband's death but by 1930 had moved to Lansing. Walkley's and Ida's daughter Carlotta Walkley Bailey married Alvin Enoch Ewing, a Grand Rapids attorney. Carlotta and her husband owned and developed the lakeshore area known as the "Wilderness," a few miles south of Grand Haven. Wyllys died on August 30, 1917 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Louise died on March 26, 1963 in Kent County and was buried at Oakwood Cemetery in Lowell. [Tribune obituary, April 18, 1909.]

Alexander Wallace [1838-1864]

Born in Edinburgh, Scotland on July 5, 1838, Alexander Wallace arrived in the United States in 1854. On November 6, 1858, he married Harriet Ross in Grand Haven. By 1860 they were residing in Ferrysburg. Living with them was Harriet's 18-year-old brother, Charles W. Ross [1842-1920]. Harriet was born in New York State on September 21, 1840. Born in Toronto, Canada around 1839, Alexander was a fisherman. On November 27, 1861, Alexander and Harriet had a son, Charles Alexander Wallace. He died on January 14, 1940 in Oregon. The Alexanders had another son, William Ross Wallace, who lived from April 29, 1862 to February 7, 1956. Both sons were born in Grand Haven. On December 2, 1862 Alexander enlisted with the Federal forces as private. On April 14, 1863 he joined Company B of the First Michigan Sharpshooters as corporal. He was wounded at the Battle of Spottsylvania on May 12, 1864, died in Annapolis, Maryland on June 23, and was buried at Annapolis National Cemetery. Harriet died on January 26, 1915 in Chicago.

Boyd Wade Wallace [1889-1977]

Boyd Wallace was born in Bay City, Saginaw County on November 22, 1889. On December 20, 1923 in Bay City, he married Pearl Brown Ormes, then 57 years old and a native of East Liverpool, Ohio. Their marriage registration listed them both as Mulatto. They were divorced in Grand Rapids on September 15, 1925. In the 1930 Federal Census Boyd was working as a chauffeur for Olive Handley, a White widow living in Spring Lake. He was listed as a single man in that census. On September 16, 1937 Boyd married Virginia Jackson in Grand Rapids. She was born in 1911 in Virginia and died in Grand Rapids on July 26, 1964. Boyd passed away in Grand Rapids on October 10, 1977 and was buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Grand Rapids with Virginia.

William Wallace [1829-1905]

Born in Canada, near its boundary with New York, William Wallace moved west at age 17 and settled in the Ferrysburg area in 1847. He married Jane [Jennie] Esther Gray on November 7, 1854. Jane, born in New York in October 1834, was the daughter of Curtis W. and Emily Gray of Grand Haven. The Wallaces had a son, Walter C., who was born in Michigan in March 1858 [1860], and one daughter, Mary A. "Minnie," who was born in Michigan in April 1858 and taught piano. Minnie married George McKellys [McKillip]. The Wallace residence was at 108 South First Street, a home reportedly built and occupied by Grand Haven pioneer David Carver. Sharing the house with them was Almira Gray, who lived from 1830 to 1919 and was buried at Lake Forest.

William went to work for Colonel William M. Ferry and moved up rapidly in Ferry's establishment. Within two years he was put in charge of the big store belonging to Ferry & Son. William learned a lot about Indian character from the men who came to receive their government money from the store. Indian paths were followed by the store to make deliveries to customers who lived in isolated settlements and to the mills. In 1854 William left for a short time to work in Chicago but returned to Grand Haven and became a full partner in the firm of Ferry & Son.

In 1856, William embarked in the wholesale and retail grocery business. He owned a warehouse on Harbor Drive, built in 1836 by Stearns and later purchased by Clark B. Albee, and a dock on the corner of Franklin and Harbor. The store's sales extended up and down the shoreline and nearly every mill and settlement store was supplied from Wallace's establishment. Goods were packed through the woods, transported by riverboat, and shipped by schooner to outlying districts. The store was destroyed by the fire of 1865. He didn't rebuild on the original site, but moved his shop to 16 Washington, where his new store remained for several years.

In 1870 William worked for the Detroit & Grand Haven Railway, and in 1874 became stationmaster and express agent at the company's office. In 1877 he owned a saloon on Washington Street

In 1867 William was elected to represent the Second Ward in Grand Haven's first City Council.

Born in October 1829 [1828], William passed away on February 21, 1905 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. His wife and son continued to live at 108 South First until Jane died on May 12, 1912. Walter, who worked at Grand Haven Brass, died the next year and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his parents. [Tribune obituary February 21, 1905.]

Louis Wallenzin [Wallenzien, Wallzien] [1872-1924]

In the early 1900s Louis Wallenzin owned a creamery business in Agnew. Born in Wisconsin in 1871 or 1872, he came to the area in 1906. On December 4, 1904 in Milwaukee, he married Lillie Leininger, who was born in Pennsylvania about 1881. Louis passed away in Belvidere, Illinois on June 16, 1924.

Amos Walling [1860-1908]

On August 8, 1886 Amos Walling married Cleora [Clara] Ives in Coopersville. Amos, who was born in 1860, died in 1908 and was buried at Coopersville Cemetery. Five years later, on October 13 in Coopersville, Cleora married Ferdinand "Fred" Behm of Grand Haven Township. She was born about 1869 and died on November 6, 1921. In 1880 Amos was residing in Berlin [Marne], Ottawa County.

George Louis Walsh [1929-2014]

George was born in Grand Haven on October 24, 1929, the son of Louis and Ruby Bartow Walsh. He earned a bachelor degree in accounting from Western Michigan University in 1952 and was certified as a public accountant eight years later. He worked with such organizations as the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District, Michigan State University, and Lansing Country Club. After retirement he wrote a trilogy of Western novels and published them under the title Apache, My Son. When George died on July 18, 2014, he and his wife Patricia had been married 49 years. She was born on May 19, 1937. George was buried at East Lawn Memory Garden in Okemos, Ingham County, where he and Patricia had been living.

John Walsh I [1839-1912]

John Walsh, born in Ontario, Canada on October 17, 1839, operated a steam-powered pile driver, even though he was one-armed. John was credited with breaking the logjam in the Grand River in 1883, when 150,000,000 board feet of timber were cascading from Grand Rapids toward Lake Michigan. John, a marine engineer, conceived and carried out a plan to drive pilings, which created an obstacle that stopped the 37 million tons of logs and saved the timber, as well. Captain Walsh's employers gave him a gold watch for his bravery and his ability to work fast and efficiently enough to build the dam in time. By saving the timbers, he saved the company many thousands of dollars and kept a number of loggers employed. John was a long-term employee of the White & Friant Lumber Company. He married Evelyn [Evaline] Hanna, who lived from October 27, 1850 to September 7, 1933. They resided at 315 North Sixth Street in Grand Haven. They had nine children, including John II, who was born in Grand Haven in 1872, on January 14, 1895 married Gertrude Rienks [1873-1923], and died in 1957. John the father died on March 6, 1912 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was Evelyn.

Born in Ireland in November 1828 [1829], Martin Walsh came to America in 1849. After living for a while in New York State, he came down Grand River to Spring Lake aboard the steamer Olive Branch in November 1856. On October 4, 1861 Martin enlisted in Company F of the 14th Michigan Infantry as private. He was promoted to quartermaster sergeant on November 1 the following year, to second lieutenant of Company I on August 8, 1863, and to second lieutenant on March 14, 1865. He was mustered out on July 18 that year. Martin then returned to Spring Lake and operated a dry goods and grocery store located on the northeast corner of Jackson and Savidge Streets, and later relocated to the middle of the block on the south side of Savidge between Jackson and Division Streets. He had extensive plantings of fruit trees and grapevines on the 42 acres he owned between Lake Avenue and Lloyd's Bayou. He was postmaster of Spring Lake from 1893 to 1897. Martin assisted in framing the Village charter, was elected president of the Village in 1873, and served on the Spring Lake School Board. He retired to his farm on 148th Street.

In 1858 Martin married Elizabeth Lee, who was born in 1837 and came to Grand Rapids from Ireland with her brother, Patrick Lee, in 1854. The five Walsh children, all born in Michigan, were Winifred, born in 1860; John, born in 1862; Joseph M., born in 1869; Elizabeth, born in 1873; and William H., born in 1873. Elizabeth died on October 31, 1885. On January 10, 1888 in Grand Haven, Martin married Josephine Dixon Donald. The daughter of George and Mary Shannessy Dixon, Josephine was born in December 1854. Martin and Josephine had two children: Dion, born in March 1889, and Edward E., born in November 1890. Martin died on March 17, 1914. He and Elizabeth were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Born in Michigan on October 21, 1875, the son of Tys [Thys] and Eda Pauls Walsma, John became a marine engineer. During the 1910s John and Ralph Van Tol owned the tugboat Gunderson and towed aggregate from their gravel pit eleven miles up the Grand River. In 1922 they sold the gravel pit to Construction Aggregates, which had recently located in Ottawa County. On January 16, 1901, in Grand Haven, John married Hannah De Young, who was a teacher at Rosy Mound School as early as 1895. She was the daughter of Captain John and Trientje Meyer De Young of Grand Haven. John and Hannah lived at 119 South Third in the early 1900s, and then moved across the street to 120 South Third before 1918. After John died on November 11, 1936, Hannah continued to reside at 120 South Third until at least the mid-1960s. Hannah was born on February 20, 1876 and died in Grand Rapids on February 27, 1980 from pulmonary edema. She was buried near her husband and other Walsmas at Lake Forest Cemetery. John and Hannah had a son, John II, born about 1901.

Tys [Thys, Thijs] "John" M. Walsma [Walsema] [1843-1927]

Tys Walsma, listed as "laborer" in the 1893 Compendium, was born in The Netherlands in April 1843, came to Grand Haven with his wife in 1874, and died in Grand Haven in 1927. On March 29, 1873 in Cook County, Illinois, he married Eda [Ida] H. Pauls. She was born in Germany and lived from November 1842 [1843] to 1925. In the 1900 census, Tys was listed as captain, presumably of a lake or river boat. The Walsmas' children, all born in Michigan, were Mary, born in March 1874; John, born on October 21, 1875; Frederick, born in 1878; Edith, born on August 27, 1880; Emma, who was born on October 29, 1882 and married John Stokes, and died in Grand Haven on May 15, 1974; and Martin, born on July 20, 1885. By 1920 Tys and Eda lived at 120 South Third with their son John and his family. Tys and Eda were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members.

William Walsma [Walsama] [1875-1915]

In 1880 five-year-old William Walsma arrived in Grand Haven with his stepfather, Pieter, who lived from 1845 to 1931, and his mother, Itje [Ida, Eda] Helmer Valkema. Itje lived from 1849 to 1935 and married Pieter Valkema in Grand Haven on March 13, 1880. William moved to Muskegon about 1898 where he was employed by the Campbell, Wright, and Canon Foundry. He was a member of Lodge No. 91 of the Loyal Order of Moose. William had three sons: Frank, William, and Robert, and three daughters, Ida, Delilah, and Ordellia. William died on July 19, 1915 in Muskegon but was buried with other members of his family at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Chronicle obituary, July 19, 1915.]

Arthur G. Walter [1880-1959]

The son of William and Orsena [Oisena/Orcena/Arsena] Walter of Grand Haven, Arthur was born on October 1, 1880. [On his WWII draft registration form Arthur cited a birth date of July 31, 1883.] He resided in the family home at 219 South Fourth Street in 1928, where he sold radios. On August 24, 1915 he received Patent #1,150,981 for a "Draining System for Cargo of Sand-Boats." Apparently he never married. By 1930 Arthur ran a heating and ventilating business from 219 South Fourth Street and continued to live at the same address until at least 1940, when he owned a well-digging operation. In 1948 he was still drilling wells, but had moved to 412 Lake Avenue. He passed away in Riverside, California on January 15, 1959. Harry Walter was his brother.

Henry "Harry" Abraham Walter [Walters] [1875-1951]

Born in Pierson, Montcalm County on April 23, 1875, Harry Walter married Elizabeth "Lizzie" Minnit in Grand Haven on September 3, 1903. Elizabeth was born in Wisconsin [Chicago] on March 28, 1876. Sometime before 1920, Harry Walter and Elizabeth moved to 412 Lake Avenue from 121 North Second Street. Prior to that move they had resided at 1339 Washington. Harry had been a clerk at the Grand Haven Post Office since at least 1908. They remained at 412 Lake until about 1950. Elizabeth died on March 5, 1950, and Harry passed away on December 26 the next year. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Arthur G. Walter was his brother. Their parents were William and Orsena Walter.

Peter Walter [Walters] I [1826-1889]

On September 23, 1861, while living in Holland, Peter Walter enlisted in Company D of the 8th Michigan Infantry and served until May 26, 1865. By 1870 he was a commercial fisherman residing in Grand Haven. Peter, born in The Netherlands in 1826, died in 1889, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, but his monument showed no dates. On February 9, 1864 he married Maria [Mariah]: Punsele, also from The Netherlands, where she was born in November 1832. She had previously married Gerard Leopold Jacob Arnold Dijckmeester in Rotterdam, The Netherlands, on July 1, 1857. Gerard and Maria immigrated to America in 1857, and Gerard died in Grand Haven six years later. After Peter's death, Maria applied for a widow's Civil War pension on August 12, 1889. She resided at 206 Water Street [Harbor Drive]. Maria and Gerard Dijckmeester had at least one child: Mary, who was born on September 14, 1860 and married Peter Wilds of Grand Haven. Among Peter's and Maria's children were Dena, who was born on August 6, 1865 and married John J. Fisher of that city; William, born in October 1867; Jennie, born in April 1870; and Peter II, born in February 1873. All the children were born locally. Jennie married a Mr. Cooper and had three children; Harry, born in September 1895; Mary, in January 1898; and Harold, born in November 1899. Mr. Cooper does not appear in any of the censuses. Peter and Maria Walter had six children in all.

William Walter [Walters] [1835-1913]

Born in Sackett's Harbor, New York on October 6, 1835, William Walter while living in Fremont, Indiana on August 2, 1862, enlisted in Company B of the 6th Indiana Calvary and later was transferred to Company M of the 5th Indiana Calvary. He was captured by the Confederates and spent time in Southern prisons in Charlottesville and Salisbury. He escaped from the camp at Salisbury, returned to his unit, and was discharged with the rank of first lieutenant on August 3, 1865. [His capture and escape were not mentioned in his service records.] On November 21, 1876 he applied for an invalid's pension, and on November 25, 1913 Orsena applied for a widow's pension. Shortly after his discharge from the service, William came to Michigan to work in the lumbering business, first with a Mr. Pierson [possibly Harrison Pearson, a Grand Haven ship builder], then going to Robinson Township, where he owned an 80-acre farm. Sometime after 1908 he moved to Grand Haven. On May 19, 1867 in Ovid, Clinton County, he married Orsena [Oisena/Orcena/Arsena] D. Runyon. A native of Michigan, she lived from 1848 to about August 3, 1925 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their children included Harry [Henry] A., who was born about 1876 in Michigan and married Lizzie M. Minnit in Grand Haven on September 3, 1903, and Arthur G., who was born locally on October 1, 1880. The two sons remained in the Grand Haven area most of their lives. In the early 1900s William lived with the family of his sister-in-law Maria, the wife of Peter Walter, at 206 Water Street [Harbor Drive]. William died at his home, 219 South Fourth Street, on November 4, 1913 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, November 4, 1913.]

Benjamin Walters [Wolters] [1856-1931]

Born in December 1856 in The Netherlands, Benjamin Walters was a farmer who also raised livestock on his 40-acre farm located in Section 24 of Olive Township. He came to the area from the City of Holland in 1899. By 1910 Ben had returned to the City of Holland. In 1892 he married Leana [Lena] Tunring, who was born in Michigan in 1873 and died in 1948. They had a daughter Margaret, who was born in 1892. Benjamin died on March 12, 1931 in Grand Rapids. He and Lena were buried at Greenwood Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

David R. Waters [1839-1915]

David Waters was born in Lycoming County, Pennsylvania on December 3, 1836. He moved to Henderson County, Illinois, where he studied law, and in 1858 was admitted to the Bar. He enlisted on March 1, 1862 as lieutenant in Company G of the 10th Illinois Infantry and was promoted to captain that year. David resigned on March 30, 1864. He then resumed his law practice in Aleda, Illinois, but a serious eye disease forced him to give up law and he took up the newspaper business in Aleda as editor of Mercer County Press. In the spring of 1869 David purchased 85 acres of land in Section 2, formerly owned by Edward and Julia Soule Craw, and relocated permanently to Michigan. From 1872 to 1873 David edited the Spring Lake Independent. He was elected Assessor of Spring Lake Township in 1873 and 1874, and in 1875 he was elected supervisor.

David and his family then moved to Grand Rapids, where he joined the Grand Rapids Democrat, resigning his position on the newspaper in 1876. He later became editor of the Allegan County Democrat, where he remained until February 1881. He returned to Grand Rapids as editor of the Grand Rapids Evening Leader. Around February 1, 1883, David became Warden of the State House of Correction and Reformatory in Ionia.

In February 1885 he returned to the Leader and remained the editor of that paper until the spring of 1890. In the meantime he had been appointed United States Marshall for the Western District of Michigan. In 1890 David and others founded the Grand Rapids Morning Press, where he continued as editorial writer until December 1892. Upon the organization of the Grange at Spring Lake, he was elected secretary of the society. David was president of the Standard Bed Company in Grand Rapids. David and his wife were back on their fruit farm by the mid-1890s. In 1905 he wrote an article for the Supplement to The County Weekly, in which he praised the virtues of Spring Lake as a vacation spot, calling it “an unsurpassed paradise for children.” He also noted the high-quality fruit that was raised in orchards surrounding the lake. “The peaches, particularly,” he said, “are famous for their exquisite flavor and coloring because they are ripened on the trees to perfection and [are] not insipid as is the case with all peaches picked green thousands of miles away and ripened in packages, as every one knows is the case with fruit shipped from the far south or west.” The Waters farm, in Section 2 of Spring Lake Township, was called Oakmere.

On December 18, 1866 in Lycoming County, Pennsylvania, David married Alice Latcha. She lived from 1840 to 1902. David and Alice had a son Albert, who was born in Illinois on March 2, 1869 and died in 1921, six years after her husband. All three were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

By 1912 title to the property was in Ida's name. James married Ida Belle Hair in Chicago on October 29, 1884. James was born in Ohio on May 29, 1858, and Ida was born in Richmond, Indiana on July 24, 1864. James, a diabetic, passed away in Washington, D.C. on January 27, 1926. Ida died in Cook County, Illinois, on November 18, 1937.

Clarence E. "Poke" Westerhof [1903-1988]

Born on September 12, 1903 to Egbert and Gertie Westerhof, Clarence was a lifelong resident of Grand Haven. He played a major role in the area's independent baseball and basketball history during the 1920s and 1930s. Better known as "Poke," he was one of the most outstanding football runners ever to play for Grand Haven High School. He starred on the 1922 basketball team, which was coached by Gus V. Cohrs and won the Class B Championship. He continued to be involved in area sports after graduating. He married Myrtle Ruch on May 14, 1925. Poke worked for Keller Tool Company and Story & Clark Piano Company and was a driver for the Vyn Trucking Company. He died on July 1, 1988. Myrtle was born April 13, 1908 and died in Grand Haven on December 1, 1978. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, July 1, 1988.]

Egbert Westerhof [1872-1904]

Egbert Westerhof was born in Grand Haven on November 11, 1872 and died on June 24, 1904. He married Gertrude "Gertie" Fant in Grand Haven on July 7, 1899. Born in April 1878, Gertie was the daughter of John and Cornelie Lievense Fant of Grand Haven. Egbert and Gertie had at least three children, all born locally: Harold A., born in August 1899; Elmer J., born in 1902; and Clarence, born on September 12, 1903. Gertie was born in April 1878. Bert worked as a machinist. Buried near him and other Westerhofs at Lake Forest Cemetery was Clara, who lived from 1874 to about April 29, 1924. His widow married Joseph Correll in 1904.

Elmer John Westerhof I [1902-1992]

Elmer, born in Grand Haven in 1901 [1902], was the son of Egbert and Gertie Westerhof of Grand Haven. In 1917 Elmer began working for the Grand Trunk Railway Company on June 7, 1917 and was in their employ for fifty years. The company transported boxcars across the lake on the Milwaukee and other Grand Haven car ferries. The Grand Trunk Depot was then located at One North Harbor Drive, later the site of the Tri-Cities Museum. Elmer managed the Grand Haven City baseball league teams and the Grand Haven all-stars, "The Swampies," and also acted as umpire from time to time. Most of the home games were played at Ferry Field, located on the northwest corner of Ferry and Grant Streets. Elmer began playing baseball at the age of 14, when he was shortstop for the Challenge Machinery in the Factory League. He was still playing at the age of 62. On November 24, 1923 in Grand Haven, he married Margaret Salisbury. She was born in Michigan on May 27, 1896, died on October 20, 1957, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They had two sons, Elmer II and Carl. Elmer I remarried 11 years after Margaret's death around October 23, 1957. Elmer, who resided at 944 Franklin in Grand Haven, died in Tucson, Arizona, in 1992.

Born in 1864 in The Netherlands, Cornelius Westerhouse came to Ferrysburg in 1882. He worked a year and a half at the Cutler & Savidge Sawmill, where he lost his left hand in an industrial accident. He then attended Bennett Business College in Grand Rapids, where he was trained to be a bookkeeper. Upon returning to Ferrysburg in 1889, he became an itinerant peddler. Soon, with the help of a partner, he was able to open a small store in Spring Lake. He sold his interest in that enterprise and opened another store in Ferrysburg in 1892 on the northwest corner of Maple and Third Streets [Lot 1, Block 21]. He carried dry goods, groceries, and feed. He continued his itinerant salesman's route, as well. About 1905 he sold the store to Rolef Ruiter.

On June 9, 1892 in Spring Lake, Cornelius married Kathryn Yonker, who was born in Ferrysburg and lived from June 1872 to 1909. Their children, all born locally, were Albertha [Alice] born in June 1892; Maria [Mary], who was born in October 1894 and married Sybrant Olthoff of Ferrysburg; William, born in August 1896; and Grace, born in April 1898. Cornelius died from injuries sustained when he was struck by a Pere Marquette train in Ferrysburg on September 28, 1900. [Tribune obituary, September 29, 1900.]

Klaas [Claus] Westerhouse [Westerhuis] [1870-1952]

Klaas Westerhouse, born in The Netherlands in December 1870, arrived in the United States in 1882. A blacksmith by trade, he owned a dairy farm in Section 5 of Spring Lake Township. On December 19, 1894 in Ferrysburg, he married Geertje "Hattie" Klaver, who was born in Michigan on December 20, 1871. They had at least two children, both born locally: John, born in November 1896, and Fanny, born in October 1898. Klaas died about March 5, 1952. Hattie passed away in April 1950 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Petrus Johannes Westhoff [Westhof] [1855-1921]

Petrus Westhoff owned a 16-acre farm in Section 17 of Spring Lake Township. The farm bordered the Grand River near the later location of Ver Plank Coal and Dock. Petrus was born in The Netherlands on April 4, 1855. He died in Ferrysburg on March 8, 1921. On December 27, 1883 in Spring Lake, he married Fenna De Groot. She was born on June 28, 1855 in Groningen, The Netherlands and died on December 14, 1938 in Ferrysburg. She and Petrus were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Their children, all born in Ferrysburg, were Della, who was born on April 29, 1885 and married Cornelius Baldwin Boomgaard of Grand Haven; Thijs, who was born on July 9, 1887 and died on June 10, 1971; Christian John, who was born on September 9, 1890 and died in 1963; Richard, who was born on October 17, 1892 and died on June 22, 1971; Clara, who was born on August 29, 1895 and married John Paul Katt of Ferrysburg; and Minnie, who was born on July 17, 1897, married Bartlett Ruiter of Ferrysburg, and died on December 6, 1985. Bartlett lived from January 18, 1894 to September 21, 1955. All the Westhoff children except Della passed away in Ferrysburg.

William "Will" W. Weston [1867-1899]

Born on April 12, 1867 in Grand Rapids, Will Weston lost his parents at age 13 and came to Grand Haven to live at 418 Lafayette with his sister Minnie and her husband Daniel Gale. Will was employed at Gale's store at 114 Washington in downtown Grand Haven for many years. He was a member of Company F. On February 14, 1891 in Grand Rapids, he married, Henrietta "Nettie," the youngest daughter of George and Christiana Landreth Hubbard. The Westons had a son, George E. Weston, who was born in 1891, and a daughter, Edith Esther Weston, born in 1893. Both children were born in Grand Haven. Will died on March 16, 1899 of consumption and was buried at Lake Forest. Nettie lived from December 25, 1867 to 1914 and was buried at Lake Forest in the Hubbard plot. [Tribune obituary, March 18, 1899.]

Charles Weedon Westover [1934-1999]

"Congratulations, Chuck. It is unfortunate that your record is not better. You need to improve in the years to come." Those words, written by a teacher, were permanently emblazoned in Charles Westover's 1953 yearbook at Coopersville High School. The educator was referring to Chuck's reputation for chronic underachievement and misbehavior. The young hipster had purchased a used guitar for $5. The guitar, like an imaginary friend, would be ever-present to the annoyance of school staff who interpreted it as rebellious, attention-seeking nonsense. In 1953 there was far more concern for Chuck's future than appreciation for his potential, but rural Coopersville's identity as a community would one day focus on this most unlikely native son.

Charles eventually moved to Battle Creek, where he worked a series of dead-end jobs and moonlighted with his guitar at the Hi-Lo Club, a local tavern. Years of feeding his musical obsession had expanded Chuck's talents from guitarist to singer and lyricist. In 1960 Westover signed his first contract, promising him 2% royalties on domestic releases and 1% on European releases over five years. His talent agent suggested a name change, and in an instant a rock star was born. "Charles" became "Del" after the Coupe deVille Cadillac, and "Westover" was changed to "Shannon", for a bouncer at the Hi-Lo Club. The newly hailed "Del Shannon" released Runaway in February 1961. By April it was #1 on Billboard. Hats Off to Larry, Little Town Flirt, Handy Man, Do You Want to Dance and many more recordings soon followed. Shannon was a household name in the United States, but even more popular in Europe. He shared the bill with the up-and-coming Beatles at London's Royal Albert Hall in 1963.

As time passed, legal and personal problems emerged. By the 1970s Shannon's career had nose-dived, fueled by alcohol and painful memories woven into the lyrics of his greatest hits. On February 8, 1990 Charles Westover discharged a .22 caliber round into his head. Born in Grand Rapids on December 30, 1934, Del was 56 when he died. Today the small town of Coopersville hosts an annual festival, essential to its economy, to celebrate Del's music and classic cars of his era. Del Shannon was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. [Adapted from an article by Marjorie Viveen.]

Donna Hunter Westra [1945-2013]

Donna Hunter Westra passed away in Santa Fe, New Mexico in 2013 at the age of 68. Born in Grand Rapids, she graduated from Ottawa Hills High School and Michigan State University, where she earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree. Donna taught art at Grand Haven High School for 22 years. In addition to teaching, she was an active artist, specializing in water colors and later in acrylics. Her work combined symbolism with abstraction and often included found objects. The Westra Bye Memorial Art Foundation was funded in memory of Donna and her artist friend, Robin Bye.

Alvin W. Wettermann [1921-1995]

Alvin Wettermann started S & W Industries in 1954 to do metal painting, wood finishing, and bonderizing. It was located at 6262 Grand Haven Road. Alvin resided at 1803 Gladys in Grand Haven. He was born on March 14, 1921 and died in Minneapolis on September 10, 1995.

Maurice Schwab Wetzel [1895-1991]

Maurice Wetzel, born on March 6, 1895, lived as a boy in Grand Rapids, where he was a friend of Burke Ewing, whose boyhood home was at 347 Charles Avenue in Grand Rapids and later in Grand Haven. As boys in Grand Rapids, Maurice and Burke made a crystal-operated radio that reached Milwaukee. Maurice served with the United States Army during WWI. On August 27, 1919 in Grand Haven, he married Frances Lavender. She was born about 1897 in Texas. Around the same time Maurice opened Zenith Products in Spring Lake. The business evidently had a short life. Maurice and Frances were divorced, and on September 22, 1925 he married Olive Tuller [1903-1990] in Grand Rapids. They were divorced. On June 26, 1935 he married Constance Robertson [1911-1992] in New York City. They moved to Chicago, where a daughter, Noma Jean Wetzel, was born. She lived from 1937 to 1992. Maurice died in Chicago on December 21, 1991.

Arno V. Wheeler [1909-1988] and Arthur D. Wheeler [1907-1986]

Brothers Arno and Arthur Wheeler, both pharmacists, owned and operated Wheeler Drug Store at 216 Washington. They bought the business from Edward Ewald in 1946 and sold it in 1968 to Ken Wansten. The brothers were living with their parents in Muskegon in 1930. Arno was born in Presque Isle County on September 16, 1909 and died in Grand Haven on December 20, 1988. His wife Rosella lived from January 7, 1910 to March 14, 1988. Arno and Rosella resided at 1635 Slayton and later at 1718 Gladys. Arthur was born in Presque Isle on May 6, 1907. His wife Ethel was born on September 4, 1909 and died in Grand Haven on December 25, 1980. They lived at 1102 Hillcrest. Arthur died in Grand Haven on April 7, 1986.

Charles Delbert Wheeler [1872-1937]

Charles Wheeler married Anna Raison in Muskegon on August 1, 1896. She was born in Shiawassee County on May 15, 1877. They had a son, Halla Bertrand Wheeler, who was born in Muskegon on December 3, 1897 and died in Mecosta County on October 27, 1933. Another son, Roy Earl Wheeler, was born in Grand Rapids December 19, 1905. Charles and Anna were divorced on April 28, 1920 in Muskegon. Anna then married Somers McWilliams [1873-1949] on May 12, 1920 in Muskegon. She died on May 30, 1934 and was buried at Ravenna Cemetery.

Charles owned and operated a barber shop at 211 North Seventh Street. In 1930, his son Roy was working with him. Both were divorced. Roy died in 1969 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Prior to 1928, Charles lived in Grand Rapids and commuted to his Grand Haven shop. By 1940 La Verne De Witt ran the barber shop. Charles was born Watertown, New York on November 8, 1872. He died in Grand Haven on November 18, 1937 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Charles E. Wheeler [1848-1922]

Charles Wheeler resided in Grand Haven for eight years in the 1880s and later became chief engineer of the Wiley Water Works, which provided water to the city. He moved to Lansing, where he worked for the Ottawa Light Company. He was born in Ohio on November 16, 1848 and died in Lansing on September 17, 1922.

Charles W. Whipple [1805-1857]

Charles Whipple, born in Fort Wayne, Indiana in 1805 and a graduate of West Point, was the presiding judge at the first session of the Circuit Court, held at Grand Haven on May 28, 1839. Timothy Eastman and Jonathan Ford were associate judges. Charles also presided at a suit between William M. Ferry and Clark B. Albee in 1842. He was secretary of the Michigan Constitutional Convention in 1835, and from 1838 to 1852 he sat on the Michigan Supreme Court, the last four years as chief justice. He died in Detroit on October 25, 1857.

Jacob Earl Whitcomb [1883-1943]

From April 1, 1935 to May 1, 1940, Jacob Whitcomb was postmaster of Spring Lake. He had a dry goods and grocery store at 206 West Savidge, which was occupied by Spencer & Sons in 1935. Jacob's wife Lydia ran a confectionery in the Village in the early 1900s. Their residence was located at 326 East Savidge. Jacob was from Hogland, Indiana, where he was born on August 18, 1883. Lydia, a native of Michigan, was born on October 17, 1882. Their son, James C., was born on January 8, 1908 and died in Grayling, Crawford County on May 4, 1988. Jacob passed away on August 29, 1943, and Lydia died on January 26, 1977. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Amanda White [1797-1870]

Amanda White, born in Ashfield, Massachusetts on August 20, 1797, married Rev. William M. Ferry on Mackinac Island in 1823. She moved to Grand Haven with her family on November 2, 1834 and died there in 1870. Her parents were Thomas and Hannah Harwood White. For more detail, see Amanda White Ferry.

Andrew J. White [1860-1950]

Around 1900 Andrew White owned a grocery store in Bass River, Section 7, Allendale Township. He was born in New York on April 24, 1860, died in Jenison on May 3, 1950, and was buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. He married Anna [Annie] Idsinga. She was born on July 19, 1864, died on June 1, 1941, and also was buried at Robinson.

Douglas John White [1936-2002] and Judith Meany White [1947-2019]

Born in Davenport, Iowa on November 24, 1936, Doug White married Judith Elizabeth Meany on May 31, 1971 in Grand Haven. They lived at 601 Sheldon Road. Judy was born in Boston, Massachusetts on January 7, 1947. In Grand Haven, she worked for Re-Max Real Estate as a sales agent and broker. Doug was a sales representative. He died in Grand Haven on February 14, 2002 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. After his death, Judy continued to reside in Grand Haven. She passed away on October 12, 2019. Doug and Judy had two daughters, Gretchen White, who lived in San Francisco, California, and Heather, who married John Pitsch and moved to Wyoming, Kent County. They also had a son Greg, who lived in Deerfield, Illinois.

Francis H. White [1842-1893]

While in Ypsilanti, Frank White of Grand Haven enlisted as quartermaster sergeant with the 14th Michigan Infantry on February 5, 1862. He was promoted to second lieutenant on December 1 that year and simultaneously to first lieutenant and quartermaster. He was mustered out on March 14, 1865. Frank, the son of Nathan and Sarah Brittain White of Grand Haven, was born in April 1842 and died on January 10, 1893. He was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other family members.

Lucas A. White [1808-1858]

Originally from Ashfield, Massachusetts, where he was born on October 17, 1808, Luke White arrived in Grand Haven in 1835 with his sister, Mary. His parents were Thomas and Hannah Harwood White. Lucas was one of the organizers of the first Grand Haven Company, formed in 1835. Lucas married Clarissa J. Perkins in September 1836. Born November 30, 1818, she was the daughter of Jedidiah and Lucy Ingersoll Perkins of Norwich, Connecticut. The Whites' son, Thomas Perkins White, was born on June 3, 1844. The family home was located on the southeast corner of Franklin and Second Streets. Luke died in Grand Haven on October 15, 1858.

Mary Arms White [1813-1901]

Born on September 18, 1813 in Ashfield, Massachusetts, Mary White followed her sister Amanda to Grand Haven, where she arrived with her three brothers on June 10, 1835. Her parents were Thomas and Hannah Harwood White. From 1828 to 1830 Mary had studied under Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke College for Women in Massachusetts, at the Buckland School. In Grand Haven, Mary became the teacher of the day school as well as Sunday school. Her classes at first were held in the attic of the Ferry home. At the beginning she had six students: the three Ferry boys, William, Thomas, and Noah, and Peter, Francis, and Louise Duvernay, children of a French-Canadian father and a Native American mother. A bit later the Timothy Eastman family moved to Grand Haven from Maine, and their three sons, Mason, Galen, and George, joined Mary's school. Her adult classes, offered at night, included sailors, lumberjacks, and other laborers, who enrolled for short periods of time. It was the Great Lakes sailors who spread news of her teaching abilities. Students, or their parents, paid what they could to support the school.

Within a year of Mary's arrival in Grand Haven, a school building was erected at 16 South Second Street. The building also served as a church on weekends and as territorial court and meeting hall, when needed. She taught local girls sewing and handiwork on Saturday afternoons. Mary served as teacher until leaving Grand Haven in 1851 to teach science and mathematics at Rockford Female Seminary [Rockford University] in Rockford, Illinois, which was founded and directed by students of Mary Lyon. She was working as accountant at the college in 1863, the year she returned to Grand Haven.

In Grand Haven, Mary resumed her teaching role. Affectionately known to young and old as Aunt Mary, she was considered West Michigan's first teacher. Mary was engaged to Dr. Sydney Williams, but he died suddenly a week before their planned wedding. Toward the end of the nineteenth century, she maintained the home of her bachelor nephew, United States Senator Thomas White Ferry. Mary died on September 12, 1901 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Mary A. White Elementary School was named in her honor. [Tribune obituary, September 13, 1901.]

Murray R. White [1899-1979]

Murray White was born in New York State on February 16, 1899. Owner of a portrait and commercial photography business, his studio was located at 206 Washington Street. Their home was located at 449 Grant Street. Murray died in Grand Haven on November 3, 1979 and was buried at Lakeshore Cemetery. His wife Marjorie was born in Illinois on May 10, 1913, died on January 5, 1997, and also was buried at Lakeshore Cemetery. Their daughter Margaret was born about 1938 in West Virginia.

Nathan Harwood White [1811-1875]

Rev. William Ferry's brother-in-law Nathan White arrived in Grand Haven on November 2, 1834, after previously visiting the area with William. It was Nathan who hiked to Kalamazoo in the winter of 1835-36 to bring back supplies for the new arrivals, after the ship bearing food for the season was wrecked in Lake Michigan. In addition to 160 bushels of wheat and other foodstuffs, Nathan herded 100 hogs down the frozen Grand River to Grand Haven. Nathan, Ferry, and Robert Stuart were the founders of the first Grand Haven Company, whose purpose was to buy land, build sawmills, and produce lumber. Nathan managed the company's sawmill in Grandville. He reportedly enlisted in Captain Elmer Dicey's "Ottawa Wild Cats" regiment in 1863, then known as the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters. [Nathan's service records were not found. Elmer Dicey served as captain with Company B of the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters and as second lieutenant with Company C of the 5th Michigan Cavalry, Captain Noah Ferry's unit.] In partnership with A. M. Dickee, Nathan operated a hardware store at the northeast corner of Washington and Second Streets as early as 1871.

Nathan was born in Ashfield, Massachusetts on April 13, 1811. On June 28, 1840, he married Sarah M. Brittan [Brittain] in Grand Haven. She was born on December 17, 1822 in Batavia, New York but later moved to Grandville. Nathan and Sarah had six children, all born locally, including Francis, who was born in April 1842; Clara Virginia, who was born in 1844 and married Edward Payson Ferry; Nathan Banister, who was born around 1848 and married Melissa Moss in Grand Haven on September 7, 1871; Luke A., who was born about 1852 and died in Grand Haven on December 18, 1884; and Helen E., who was born about 1857. Melissa, the daughter of Chester and Phoebe Sweezy Moss, was born in Youngstown, New York in 1849 and taught school in Grand Haven. By 1880, she and Nathan Banister White had moved to Salt Lake City. At the time of the 1900 Federal Census, Sarah had returned to Grand Haven, sharing her home in the first block of North First Street with a granddaughter, Edith Ferry. Nathan died on May 13, 1875 of a liver ailment, and Sarah died on February 21, 1904. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Oren [Orin] Delos White [1844-1924]

In 1893 the Compendium listed Oren White as butcher living in the Village of Spring Lake. He married Delaphine [Delphine/Delaphene] Ralph, who was born in Galesburg, Kalamazoo County on October 28, 1850. Oren was born on May 5, 1844 in New York State. They moved to Spring Lake about 1885. In 1900 Oren was a trust agent. Living with him and Delaphine was a son, Oren A., who was born in Spring Lake on October 29, 1889. Another son, Clarence D., was born about 1876. He married Henrietta, daughter of Klaas and Alberdina Huizenga Pruim. Clarence died March 1, 1947 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. A third son, Hugh, died on July 10, 1885, just under 17 years old.

In 1910 Oren was doing odd jobs. A granddaughter, Helen W. White, was living with the Whites on Exchange Street in 1910. She was born in Michigan about 1899. Helen was with them ten years later, working as a teacher. On July 19, 1923 in Spring Lake Helen married Harlan D. Kimmey of Cleveland, Ohio. He was a year older than Helen. Delaphine was a widow, still living in Spring Lake when she died on May 20, 1930. She was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. Oren, who died on November 8, 1924, also was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. He served with Company E of the 25th Michigan Infantry during the Civil War and was wounded at the Battle of Gettysburg on July 4, 1863. The younger Oren on March 26, 1910 married Florence Chittenden in Spring Lake. Florence was born on April 19, 1889 and died on January 21, 1979. Her husband died on October 15, 1973 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, as was Florence. [Tribune obituaries November 10, 1924 and May 21, 1930.]

Robert E. White [1923-1976]

Robert White resided at 514 North Fifth in Grand Haven and worked for the railroad as section foreman for the Grand Trunk Railway. He also produced postcards. Clarence Poel wrote an article about Robert that appeared in the Grand Haven Tribune on January 12, 1956. Titled "Makes Picture Postcards," the article pointed to Robert's hobby of producing postcards for fun and profit. On the back of one of his advertising postcards Bob wrote, "It cost 25 cents for a negative for Personal Cards like this and 5 cents each for any number of cards from it." Bob had one daughter, Pearl. Born on December 27, 1923, Bob died on March 29, 1976 in Grand Haven and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Social Security records note he was a resident of Rockwell, Texas at the time of his death.

Stewart Edward White [1873-1946]

Stewart Edward White lived in Grand Haven in the Boyden House at 301 South Fifth Street for the first six or seven years of his life. He was born March 12, 1873, the son of Thomas and Mary Elizabeth [Eliza] Daniell White. His grandfather was Thomas W. White, and his great aunt was Mary A. White. The White family moved to Grand Rapids in the late 1870s, where Stewart began his formal education and later obtained bachelor and master degrees from the University of Michigan. He spent eight or ten years in lumber camps and on the rivers where he gained the background for his novels and became a well-known author of such works as Blazed Trails, The Riverman, Daniel Boone, and Wilderness Scout. Twelve of his novels and short stories were made into movies, mostly during the era of the silent films. A 1941 film, Wild Geese Calling, starred Henry Fonda. As a result of Edward's study of bird life, six or seven hundred bird skins were preserved in the Kent Scientific Museum [Grand Rapids Public Museum]. On April 28, 1904 in Newport, Rhode Island, Edward married Elizabeth Colvert [Calvert] Grant. The couple returned to California, where Stewart had lived since 1897. Stewart enlisted in the U.S. Army at the start of WWI and was given the rank of major of U.S. Field Artillery. Betty became a medium, and Edward wrote several books on the occult that focused on "channeling," or conversing with the dead through a medium, such as Betty. She was born in Panama around 1881 and died in California in 1939. Stewart died on September 18, 1946 in Hillsborough, California.

Thomas Gilbert White [1877-1939]

Thomas Gilbert White was born in Grand Haven on July 18, 1877. His parents were Thomas and Mary Daniell White. Thomas moved to Grand Rapids with his parents when still an infant, studied at Columbia University and the Art Students League of New York, and in 1898 traveled to Europe to further enhance his talents at the Académie Julien and the Académie des Beaux-Arts in Paris, where he studied with James McNeil Whistler. He served as an officer with the U.S. Army during WWI.

Thomas remained in Paris for 40 years. One of his paintings in 1902 was accepted for a Paris exhibit. Three years later his pictures were included for the first time in Exhibition of Michigan Artists held at the Detroit Museum of Art [now the Detroit Institute of Art]: "Portrait of George Barr Baker;" "Portrait of Mrs. Dudley Waters;" "Portrait of a Young Lady" [crayon]; and "June Days." [George Baker was from the Detroit area, and Florence Waters lived in Grand Rapids.]

Thomas is perhaps best remembered for his murals that decorate the state capitols of Oklahoma, Utah, and Kentucky, and the Agricultural Building in Washington D.C., and in 1913 he painted at least four large murals in the court house in New Haven, Connecticut. He also painted landscapes, portraits, and still lifes. White received many awards, including the Commander de la Legion d'Honneur, Officier de l'Académie Française and the Order of the Purple Heart. He died in Paris on February 1, 1939 and was buried at Neuilly-Sur-Seine in Paris. His brothers, Stewart Edward White and Roderick White, achieved fame as author and violinist, respectively.

Thomas Stewart White [1840-1915]

The son of Thomas Wait and Caroline Norton White, Thomas was born in Grand Haven on June 28, 1840. In 1859 Thomas became an employee of the bank of Ferry & Son, located near the southwest corner of Franklin and Harbor Streets, where he served as a teller for three years. In 1863 he accepted a position as shipping clerk with Gray, Phelps, & Company of Chicago, and then two years later returned to Ferry & Son as cashier. About the same time, he operated the Stevens Mills in Grand Rapids, which his father bought in 1865. In 1867 Thomas entered a partnership with Heber Squier as Squier & White, general contractors and ship builders and tugboat owners. They also advertised their company as “Wreckers & Contractors.” Thomas next developed a line for transporting freight between Chicago and ports on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan with the name Kirby, Furlong, & Company. In 1869 he joined with Thomas Friant and entered the lumber business by building a sawmill at Spring Lake on the site of the former Norton mill. It was called the White, Friant, & Company Mill. Also in 1869 Thomas helped start the Grand Haven fire department. In 1871 he was named director of the First National Bank of Grand Haven, and in 1873 he was appointed secretary and treasurer of the new Wait Manufacturing Company. He contracted with Charles Boyden to build the house at 301 South Fifth Street about 1872.

On April 20, 1870, Thomas married Mary Elizabeth Daniell of Milwaukee. She was born in Michigan on August 27, 1847. Stewart Edward White, born on March 12, 1873, was one of their sons. Another was well-known artist Thomas Gilbert White, who was born in 1877. One of his paintings in 1902 was accepted for a Paris exhibit. Gilbert moved to Paris, where he died in 1939. A third son, Norton Rugee White, was born in Grand Rapids on September 17, 1888 and died on October 24, 1976. Their fourth and last son, Roderick I. White, was born on February 26, 1890 in Grand Rapids and became a respected violinist. He died on February 28, 1945 in California, where he once played with the Los Angeles Symphony. Thomas and Mary moved to Grand Rapids in the late 1870s, and resided at 427 Fulton Street, later the site of the first Grand Rapids Furniture Museum. Thomas died on October 14, 1915 in Flint. Mary passed away on August 23, 1929. They were buried at Oakhill Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

Thomas Wait White [1805-1884]

A native of Ashfield, Massachusetts, where he was born in 1805, Thomas White was the son of Thomas and Hannah Harwood White and the brother of Amanda White Ferry. Young Thomas was an early Grand Haven settler. He arrived in the area in 1836 with Caroline Norton White, whom he had married on September 19 that year. Caroline was born about 1806 in St. Albans, Vermont. The newly-weds traveled to Detroit and walked along the Indian trails from there to Ionia, and then they rafted to the mouth of the Grand River. In Grand Haven Thomas built his house on Lot 95 on First Street, near the northeast corner of Columbus. In 1837 [1838] he became captain of the Owashtanong, a flat-bottomed boat used for freight. This river steamer was built in Grand Haven by the Grand Haven Steamboat Company, owned by Thomas, Rix Robinson, and Dr. Sydney Williams. It operated between Grand Haven and Grand Rapids. A blacksmith by trade, Thomas worked for William M. Ferry, and helped build the Butts and Hathaway Sawmill and the Throop Mill in 1855. He served in the Michigan Legislature in 1844. In 1845 Thomas and others were charged with the responsibility of laying out a road between Grandville and Grand Haven “on the most eligible and direct route.” He and Silas C. Hopkins platted the Village of Mill Point [Spring Lake] in late 1849. Thomas was credited with planting many of the maple shade trees throughout the Village and for building the first bridge across the Grand River at Grand Rapids. He bought Stevens Mill in Grand Rapids in 1865, about the same time the family moved to Grand Rapids. He operated the mill with his son Thomas S. White until his retirement in 1881. He died three years later. Thomas and Caroline had three children, all born in Grand Haven: Louisa H., born on February 11, 1838; Thomas S., born on June 28, 1840; and John B., born on June 14, 1843. Louisa married Charles Chandler [1838-1905] in Grand Rapids on Christmas Day 1865.

William S. White [1806-1884]

William White moved to Grand Haven with his family in 1867. He was born in Massachusetts on July 4, 1806, and his wife, Hannah D. Ames, was born in Vermont in 1815. William was a farm laborer. Their daughter Frances was born in Wadsworth, Vermont in 1851 and married David Fletcher Hunton of Grand Haven. Two other daughters were Martha, who was born on May 9, 1840 in New York, married Civilian Phelps, and died in Grand Rapids on May 18, 1916, and Mary, who was born in Vermont on August 1, 1845, married Amos May, and died in Wyoming, Kent County, on November 18, 1928. William passed away on December 14, 1884, and Hannah died in Grand Haven on October 31, 1886. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Bert H. Whitely [1861-1917]

Bert Whitely was born in Springfield, Ohio on March 14, 1861. He married Mary Elizabeth Painter, who was born about 1863. They were married in Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania on August 9, 1883. The Whitelys owned a home and 38 acres in Section 3 of Spring Lake Township, which included lake frontage. The home was called, appropriately, the "White House." Amos Junior Whitely, their son, was born January 5, 1885 in Muncie, Indiana. Burt died on March 21, 1917 in Muncie, and Mary passed away on June 6, 1920, also in Muncie.

Robert G. Whitesides [1927-2003]

After Bob Whitesides retired as vice president of sales at Dake Corporation in 1989, he spent ten years as a Realtor with the J. W. Oakes Agency. He was born on January 31, 1927, to William F. and Bertha Louthan Whitesides in Jefferson City, Missouri. He and Lesley Echlin were married in Ionia on June 1, 1947. After serving in the Navy as radioman during WWII, Bob graduated from Davenport College of Business in 1947. Bob and Lesley attended the United Methodist Church of the Dunes. He was active in the Stephens Ministry, and was a member and president of the Spring Lake Country Club, member of the Elks, North Ottawa Council on Aging, American Legion, Grand Haven Township Board, American Heart Association, and Stag Club. He also served on the Board of Goodwill. The family resided at 18295 Holcomb Road. Their children were Laura Host and Tom Whitesides. Bob passed away in Muskegon on March 27, 2003. [Tribune obituary, March 29, 2003.]

Gerald D. Whiting [1915-1971]

Gerald Whiting was born on June 26, 1915, died in Spring Lake on September 26, 1971, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. In 1960 he married Kathryn Jane Boon Boot, the daughter of Martin and Kate Yock Boon of Ferrysburg. Kathryn was the widow of E. Raymond Boot, whom she married in 1940. Boot died in 1943. Kathryn and Gerald resided at 718 Winter Street in Spring Lake. She was a graduate of Hope College and taught at the elementary school level in Grand Haven and Spring Lake for more than 30 years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Haven. Her daughter Kathleen married Jim Bolthouse, a Grand Haven Realtor. Another daughter, Judy, married Rick Tompke of Haslett. She also had two sons, David Whiting and Curt Whiting, both of Spring Lake. Kathryn died in Spring Lake on March 27, 2002.

Oliver A. Whitney [1830-1918]

Oliver Whitney, born on October 24, 1830 in Perry, Washington County, Maine, was an early settler in Robinson Township. His parents were Ezra and Sarah F. Slack Whitney. On March 1, 1856 Oliver acquired 40 acres in Section 25 of Robinson Township, which by 1864 had grown to an 80-acre farm. On August 14, 1862 he enlisted as blacksmith in Company B of the 5th Michigan Cavalry. He was promoted to sergeant on October 11 that year and to regimental quartermaster sergeant the following February 20. Oliver was mustered out on June 22, 1865 and returned to Robinson. From 1874 to 1879 he was township supervisor, and he owned a dry goods store in the Village of Robinson, which later was taken over by John Brady. Oliver and his wife, Julia, had two children, both born in Michigan: Ezra, born in 1860, and Arthur, born in 1861. Julia, a native of New York State, was born in 1830. Oliver moved to San Jose, California, where he died and was buried at Oakhill Memorial Cemetery. He applied for an invalid's Civil War pension on August 15, 1891, while living in California. He died on October 27, 1918 at a Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle, California.

William Whitters [Witters] [1829-1917]

William Whitters was born in Ireland on November 4, 1829 and came to America in 1850, eventually taking residence in Ottawa County. During the Civil War, recognized as an exceptionally accurate sharpshooter, he served as private in the 21st Michigan Infantry, but was not assigned to a company. At the time of his enlistment, he was living in Jackson. After the war, he returned to Ottawa County where he purchased a 40-acre parcel of land in north Blendon Township. William dug a sizable pit on his Blendon Township property and constructed a shack within it. Only the roof could be seen above ground. William lived mostly underground for the remainder of his life. He saw everyone as a potential trespasser and often guarded his property armed with a shotgun in hand. He rarely came into contact with his neighbors. It was said he knew Bible scripture better than any preacher and claimed to have visited “nearly every country on the face of the globe.” He farmed only a small section of his land and hunted in a small, wooded area on the property. He disavowed modern conveniences and never had electricity or running water.

In 1880 William was residing with his brother’s family in Georgetown Township. By 1900 he was a widower living in Blendon Township with his daughter Mara and Mara’s husband and their family. In 1905 he was jailed for arming himself behind a barricade on Taylor Street in Blendon Township, scaring off surveyors working on a street expansion project. On April 26, 1909 he applied for an invalid’s Civil War pension. The next year, at the age of 80 he had plans to move into a Soldier’s Home in Grand Rapids and an auction was held to sell off his farming implements. Concerned he was not getting a fair price, William outbid everyone and purchased back all of his own goods. He became angry when the two auctioneers presented him a bill for their commission on the sale of each item. Broke, he decided to remain on his property. In the 1910 census he was listed as a single man, living alone, and working as a farmer. On the morning of April 12, 1917 neighbors saw smoke rising from the Whitter property and raced over to see a smoldering fire pit. The old man had burned to death after his shack caught fire. The cause of the fire was unknown. William, six months from his 88th birthday, was buried at the Blendon Township Cemetery. The December 4, 1910 edition of the Detroit Free Press described Whitters in a newspaper headline as “The queerest man in Ottawa County.” [Adapted from an article by Kevin Collier.]

Louise Wachter Wickham [1907-2002]

Born on March 5, 1907 in Spring Lake, Louise Wachter spent 33 years as an elementary school teacher in her hometown and in Grand Haven. She graduated from Grand Haven High School and Western Teacher’s College [WMU] and first taught in a one-room rural school to complete her degree requirements. Her final years of teaching were at Ferry School, where she taught fifth and sixth grades. Louise married Ivan S. Wickham, who lived from May 25, 1909 to August 28, 1982. They resided at 11129 Lakeshore Drive in West Olive. Louise passed away on August 26, 2001 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [The Communicator, Summer, 2002.]

Eilko Wierenga [1864-1948]

Eilko Wierenga was born on December 27, 1864 in Groningen, The Netherlands. He and his wife, Reena [Rena], were married in The Netherlands, where they lived for four years before immigrating to Grand Rapids in 1893. Eilko learned to lay concrete at a time when that product was starting to replace wooden walks. In 1905 the couple moved to Grand Haven, and Eilko went into business with Louis Tysman for two years and then worked with Tom Ruiter for eight years, under the business name Wierenga & Ruiter. At that time he bought out Ruiter’s interest and continued on his own until 1932, when he retired. In retirement he worked a small farm on Wallace Street [Beacon Boulevard]. Eilko and Reena lived at 724 Clinton. He passed away on September 3, 1948 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with his wife, who was born on July 16, 1862 in Groningen and died on April 19, 1940 in Grand Haven.

Floris Wierenga [1907-1991]

Born August 13, 1907 in Spring Lake to Harry and Etta [Hattie] Wierenga, Floris was the brother of William Wierenga and Henrietta Medema. He retired as foreman at the Eagle Ottawa Leather Company. Floris was a member of the Spring Lake Baptist Church. He married Winifred N. Cook on September 2, 1933. She was born February 17, 1913 and died in Spring Lake on June 8, 1991. Their children included Janice, who married Cecil Hammond of Spring Lake; Joyce, who married Glenn Sjoerdsma of Simi Valley, California; and Donald Wierenga of Kentwood. The Wierengas lived at 15156 Echo Court in Spring Lake. Floris died on July 22, 1991 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with his wife. [Tribune obituary, July 23, 1991.]

Hendrick “Henry” Wierenga [1890-1978]

Henry Wierenga moved his Maytag store from 11 North Second Street to 131-133 Washington in 1935 and called it the Grand Haven Maytag Company. The name was changed again when it became known as the Appliance Center. Henry started the business in Grand Rapids and moved to Grand Haven in 1926. On June 2, 1920 in Grand Rapids, he married Cornelia Elizabeth Van Westenburgge. He and Cornelia resided at 1008 Sheldon Road. Cornelia lived from July 9, 1896 to June 7, 1968 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. He was born in Muskegon on September 11, 1890, died in Grand Haven on March 7, 1978, and also was buried at Lake Forest.

John J. Wierenga I [1861-1936]

John Wierenga was born in The Netherlands on February 27, 1861. On March 22, 1904 in Muskegon, he married Geertje, who was born in The Netherlands on August 3, 1873. John was a carpenter in Muskegon for 20 years before buying a farm and moving to Spring Lake in 1908. By 1920 he was a laborer in a foundry. Their children, all born in Michigan, were Jacob, who was born on July 24, 1905, died on September 14, 1985, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery; Miner [Meinert/Meinerd], who was born September 16, 1907; moved to Detroit, died on April 25, 1987, and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery; John J. II, who was born on June 28, 1909; owned and operated East End Grocery at 15400 Cleveland Street, and died on May 20, 1996; and Marinus, who was born on October 29, 1910 and died in Grand Haven on December 23, 2009. John the father died on November 27, 1936 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. John may be the gardener Edgar Lee Masters refers to in his autobiography, Across Spoon River. After John’s death, Geertje joined her sons John and Marinus as a partner in the Wierenga Construction Firm of Spring Lake. [Tribune obituaries, November 28, 1936 and July 3, 1958.]

Joseph Wierenga [1888-1964]

Joseph, the son of William and Mattie Van Loo Wierenga, was born in Grand Haven on October 3, 1888. He became a plumber and continued to live at his childhood home, 104 North Fifth Street, after his parents’ death. He married Margaret Geerling in Spring Lake on June 25, 1918. She lived from 1891 to 1967. Joseph died in February 1964. Both were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

William [Willem] Wierenga [1855-1891]

Born on February 26, 1855, William Wierenga and his wife Martha “Mattie” Van Loo resided at 104 North Fifth Street in Grand Haven. After William died on October 15, 1891, his widow remained in the Fifth Street house. Living with her were two of their children, Josiah [Joseph] Wierenga, born in October 1888, and Cornelia Wierenga. Cornelia, who married Henry Van Draght [1886-1950], was born on January 25, 1886 and died in 1966. Another daughter, Hannah Cornelia Wierenga, was born on March 9, 1874, married Cornelius Van Weelden [1871-1963], and died on March 3, 1934. Martha lived from October 4, 1854 to November 26, 1919. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with her husband.

Peter [Pieter] Wierenger [Wierenga] [1824-1865]

Peter Wierenger was born in Groningen, The Netherlands on May 17, 1824 and died in his homeland on February 15, 1865. His wife Aaltje “Alice” Ostma [Ostema] was born in Groningen on January 12, 1830 and died in Grand Haven on May 30, 1903. They arrived in the United States in 1850. Among their children, both born locally, were Jane Wierenger, who was born about 1856 and married Henry Vanderveere of Grand Haven, and Ruit Wierenger, who was born on April 21, 1859. The family was living in Grand Haven in 1860. Peter was classified as a “Laborer.” Aaltje was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, June 1, 1903.]

Peter R. Wierenger [1882-1948]

The son of Ruit and Sena Mouw Wierenger, Peter was born in Grand Haven on March 6, 1882. He attended Grand Haven High School and was a member of the 1896 Grand Haven football team. He worked most of his life at Dake Engine Company. Peter married Henrietta Nakken in 1909. She was the daughter of Harm

[1851-1934] and Reka [1852-1906] Nakken. The Wierengers resided at 449 Grant Street and later at 619 Sheldon Road in the house built by his father, Ruit Wierenger, around 1908. Peter had inherited the house in 1933, after his father's death, but the terms of Ruit's will allowed his wife Sena to continue living there for the remainder of her life. She passed away in 1939. Peter and Henrietta were then able to occupy the home. Peter was a member and president of the Eagles and a member of Maccabees. He also was city marshall for a short time, a fireman, and an active member of the North Ottawa Rod and Gun Club. He died in Grand Haven on February 29, 1948. Henrietta [Hendrika/Henrietta] was born in Grand Haven on December 2, 1882 and died on August 21, 1964. She and Peter were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. A daughter, Harriet Dolores Wierenger, was born in Grand Haven on June 25, 1910, married John Hopson Jackson [1907-1987], and died in Idaho on July 15, 2004. Their son, Robert Elmer Wierenger, was born on March 4, 1912 in Grand Haven. [Tribune obituary, March 1, 1948.]

Robert Wierenger served overseas as an officer with the U.S. Army during WWII. He was born in Grand Haven on March 4, 1912 and married Charlotte May Velders on February 22, 1946 in Grand Rapids. She was born in Grand Rapids on April 29, 1916 and had been previously been married to Thomas Slot [1914-1944]. While serving overseas during the war, Robert learned that Thomas Slot, Charlotte's husband, had been killed in action. He and Charlotte had dated prior to the war. On June 9, 1947, Robert died of a blood clot while a patient at North Ottawa Community Hospital and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Charlotte passed away in Spring Lake on January 10, 1995 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. She had one child by her first marriage, Marcia K. Slot [1940-2020].

Ruit [Ruet, Ruiet] Wierenger [1859-1933]

Ruit and Sena Wierenger raised their family at 619 Sheldon Road in a house Ruit built about 1908. Ruit worked at Eagle Ottawa Leather, at a freight house in Grand Haven, and in the Water Department of the City of Grand Haven. He also operated a meat market in Grand Haven, and was employed for ten years in Chippewa Lake, Ontonagon County, by the Wyman and Buswell Lumber Company. Ruit, who lived from April 21, 1859 to August 21, 1933, was the son of Peter and Aaltje Wierenger of Grand Haven. On April 28, 1881 in Muskegon, he married Sena Mouw. She was born on May 10, 1864 in The Netherlands and passed away in Grand Haven on December 14, 1939. Among the Wierengers' children were Peter R. Wierenger, who was born in Grand Haven on March 6, 1882; Alice R. Wierenger, who was born in Chippewa Lake, Mecosta County, in 1890, served as Grand Haven city clerk, and died in Greensboro, North Carolina on February 24, 1919; and Etta Wierenger, a telephone operator, who was born in 1885 and died in 1909. Ruit and Sena were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with their daughters. [Tribune obituaries, June 1, 1903, February 25, 1919 August 22, 1933, December 14, 1939, and March 1, 1948.]

Emmet [Emmit] Lowell Wightman [1877-1966]

Emmet was born in Kent County on November 10, 1877, the son of Oramil Emmet and Catherine Aurelia Davis Wightman. Emmet's father, a minister, was born in Herkimer, New York, on August 20, 1850, died February 4, 1909, and was buried at Pine Hill Cemetery in Kent County. In the early 1900s Emmet, with partner William T. Tuer, owned the Grand Haven Boat Company. Their business was located at the "foot of Clinton" and Harbor Drive. On June 29, 1890, Emmet married Clara L. Dennis in Grand Rapids. The couple lived at 120 Columbus. A business advertisement said they were "Manufacturers of Boats and Launches and dealers in Boat and Engine Supplies, Stationary and Marine Engines, Boat Repairing and Boat Storage." Emmet died in Kalamazoo in May 1966.

Erastus Wilcox was elected Chairman of the Board at the first meeting of the Ottawa County Board of supervisors, held at the house of Nathan Throop in Grand Haven on April 12, 1838. At that time Ottawa included Muskegon County, where Erastus settled in the late 1830s and built one of the first sawmills in the area with his brother-in-law, Theodore Newell, as partner. By 1870, Erastus was retired. At that time, he and his wife were living in Laketon Township of Muskegon County. Erastus, who was born in Massachusetts in 1799, married Jane [Jennie] Newell about 1824. He and his wife also ran a boarding house. Jane was born in 1808 in Connecticut. By 1880 they were living in Deerfield, Illinois. Erastus died on August 11, 1882 in Cook County, Illinois, about the same time as Jane. He and Jane were buried at Graceland Cemetery in Chicago. A son, Herbert, died in Chicago on May 5, 1911 at the age of 71.

Peter Wild [1835-1899]

Charles E. Wilde [1858-1912]

Charles, born on April 9, 1858, was the son of James and Susan Wilde. James, listed as a boilermaker in the 1893 Compendium, was born on February 11, 1829 and died March 5, 1902. Susan lived from July 11, 1831 to December 15, 1901. Charles, a drayman, became a partner with Andy Falls and helped manage the livery firm of Falls & Wilde, located on the northwest corner of Division and Savidge Streets [approximately 301 Savidge]. Later he had a boat livery at the foot of Jackson Street, on the Grand River. In the 1890s he married Edith A., the daughter of Ormond and Cynthia Messinger, who was born about 1866. Their children were Mandy I., born about 1891; May A., born about 1894; and Russell O., born about 1901. Charles died on February 5, 1912. The Wildes were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with Charles’s parents, but there were no dates on their graves.

Warren Willard Wilder [1814-1900]

By 1856 Warren Wilder was a grocer in Grand Haven. He was born on March 4, 1814 in Skaneateles, New York. He and his wife Olevia had at least four children: Anna, born about 1848 in Wisconsin; Alice, born about 1853 in Michigan; Frank, born about 1855 in Michigan; and Wallace, born about 1858 in Michigan. Olivia was born on November 23, 1823 in New Hampshire. By 1880 the family had moved to Whitehall, where Warren worked as a carpenter. Olivia was born on November 28, 1823 and died on September 20, 1898. In 1900 Warren was living with his son Frank in Whitehall. Warren died on September 29 that year. He and Olivia were buried at Oakhurst Cemetery in Whitehall.

James A. Wildey I [1836-1911]

Born in New York on October 8, 1836, James Wildey, while living in Lapeer, Lapeer County, enlisted in Company F of the 1st Michigan Cavalry on August 30, 1861 as private. He was promoted to first sergeant. On July 13, 1865 he was listed as a deserter. After the war, James settled on a 120-acre farm in Section 11 of Crockery Township. He married Margaret Ann Hollenbeck. About two months after James’s death on August 13, 1911, Margaret applied for a widow’s Civil War pension. Eventually she moved to Nunica. Margaret lived from July 4, 1852 to May 29, 1936. Both she and her husband were buried at Nunica Cemetery with other family members. Their children, all born locally, were William, who was born in 1870 and on June 20, 1893 in Nunica married Emma, the daughter of Frederick and Caroline Douck; Murray, who was born in 1872 and married Clara Ludlow in Nunica on April 23, 1898; Alfred, who was born in 1874 and married Rhoda Beebe in Nunica on February 2, 1896; James II, who born on November 28, 1875 and married

Nellie Demull in Coopersville on September 26, 1908; Torrant, who was born in November 1877 and married Lula Yager in Nunica on August 14, 1901; and Olive, who was born in December 1879 and on May 1, 1909 in Nunica married Albert White.

Lester William Wildey [William Lester Wildey] [1911-1971]

Lester Wildey was born in Nunica on June 28, 1911. In 1930 he was a valve grinder at a motor company and resided in Fruitport. On March 4, 1936 he married Beth Jessie Beulah Zimmer, who was born on October 12, 1916 in Michigan and died on April 17, 1948. They had one child. Edmond Wilds [1892-1948]

Edmond Wilds, born on June 13, 1892, was foreman for National Utilities Company, forerunner of Michigan Gas Utilities. He served as alderman beginning in 1943, the same year he was sworn in as mayor, a position he held until 1948, the year he died of a heart attack. The son of Peter and Mary Walters Wilds, Edmond married Jennie Sikkenga in Muskegon on April 9, 1914. Jennie, the daughter of Jacob and Anna Marie Krager Sikkenga, was born in Montague, Muskegon County on October 26, 1895. After her husband's death, Jennie moved to Howard Street, then to 215 South Third and finally to an adult foster care home in Fruitport. Edmond and Jennie were residing at 226 Lafayette as early as 1930. A son, Edward C., was born on May 28, 1915 and died on October 10, 1994. Another son, William A., was born on December 9, 1919, served in the Army during WWII, and died on April 26, 1989; he and his wife, Mary C., who died on June 12, 1993 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, lived at 631 Lake Avenue. The Wildses' other children were Evelyn Jane, who was born in 1918 and married Alfred Matzen [1915-1986], and Norma J., born in 1923. Edmond passed away on March 26, 1948 and Jennie died in Grand Haven on April 14, 1986. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Peter Wilds I [Wild, Wilde] [1835-1899]

Born in England on March 27, 1835 [August 11, 1834], Peter Wilds came to Grand Haven about 1854 after hunting buffalo on the western plains of Kansas. He met John Brown and became involved with Brown's band at Ossawatimie, Kansas just prior to the Civil War. While residing in Wright Township, Peter enlisted in Company H of the 6th Michigan Cavalry on November 20, 1862 and subsequently was severely wounded in the face. He was mustered out on November 24, 1865 as private. After his return to Grand Haven, he became a mason and plasterer. Peter married Effie [Aafke] Workman [Werkman] in Grand Haven on June 18, 1868. She was born in the Netherlands in 1852 and died of consumption on October 24, 1880. Their children, all born in Michigan, included Peter II, who was born on October 21, 1869 and drowned on May 17, 1880; Thomas, born about 1871; Cornelius, born on September 18, 1872; Alice, who was born December 18, 1874 and died on April 16, 1893; Maggie, born about 1876; and Charlie, born on July 14, 1879.

After Effie passed away, Peter married Mary Dijckmeester [Dykmeester/Dykmaster] in Grand Haven on May 14, 1881. Mary was born in Grand Haven on September 14, 1860. Peter and Mary lived at 214 Lafayette Street in Grand Haven. Peter's and Mary's children were William, who was born on November 1, 1880; Peter II, who was born in January 1887; and Edmond, who was born on June 13, 1892. Mary applied for a widow's Civil War pension on February 6 following her husband's death. In 1900, she and Edmond were living at 308 South Third Street. She passed away in Grand Rapids on June 8, 1948 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as was her husband, who had died on January 12, 1899, and Peter II. [Tribune obituary, January 13, 1899.]

Peter R. Wilds II [1887-1957]

The son of Peter and Mary Dijckmeester Wilds, Peter II was born on January 13, 1887. On January 18, 1905 he married Mildred Shimmel in Grand Haven. Mildred lived from May, 1888 to January 1, 1945. They had a son, Lawrence Albert Wilds, who was born in Grand Haven on August 30, 1906 and died in Los Angeles, California on June 30, 1964. Peter and Mildred were divorced in Kent County on September 17, 1914. Peter married Jeanette Connell Otterbein in Grand Rapids on September 18, 1920. Born about 1894 in Muskegon, she and her first husband, Charles Otterbein [1890-1974], were divorced in Kent County on January 15, 1920.

Known as a musician, Peter joined the Michigan 339th Infantry Regiment Band during WWI as drum player. The unit was sent to France, but he also saw duty as part of the Polar Bear Expedition in Russia in 1918 to 1919. He played locally, also, especially in Highland Park. On June 16, 1905 the Tribune noted that "Highland Park Opened" featuring W. Carle's local orchestra with Peter as a member of the band. On June 28, 1905 the newspaper wrote, "After Monday, July 3 Peter Wilds of this city will be a regular member of Carle's Highland Park orchestra," and then on November 27, 1905 the Tribune reported, "'My Southern Lillies,' a very pretty romantic ballad by Peter Wilds and Louis Carins [Robert Louis Cairns] of this city is being published by N. A. Goebel." In 1911 Peter wrote the words to a piece titled "The Bee," a tune played at the University of Michigan's J Hop, and in 1912 he composed another piece named "Sailing," which was played at the 1912 J Hop. The Tribune picked up the story again on June 1, 1914, noting that "Peter Wilds will be a member of the Highland Park orchestra again this season." On March 6, 1923 the Tribune announced "Wilds Orchestra to Play at Lake During Summer." His orchestra continued to play at Highland Park Pavilion in 1924 and 1925. On January 25, 1933, he played for the minstrel show at the Grand Haven Elks Club. Peter served in France with the United States Army during WWI. Bothered by bad health in later years, he was admitted to the hospital several times. Peter died at the Grand Rapids Soldiers' Home on January 25, 1957. [Thanks to David Matzen, Peter's descendant, for much of the detail in this entry.]

William, the son of Peter and Mary Wilds, was born on November 1, 1880. In the early 1900s he was an employee of the Grand Haven Gas Works. He worked as city clerk from 1911 to 1917 and as county clerk from 1926 to 1950. He served with the U.S. Army during WWI. On June 13, 1935 William married Esther Catherine Lott. She was born in Holt, Ingham County on June 27, 1896. From the 1930s and into the 1960s their home was located at 629 Lake Avenue. William died on January 27, 1973 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Esther passed away on January 2, 1991, and also was buried at Lake Forest.

John Wiles [1847-1898]

John Wiles was born in 1847 [1852]. On May 24, 1881 in Grand Haven, he married Eliza "Lizzie" Osgood. The daughter of George and Mary Sanford Osgood, Lizzie was born in Spring Lake and lived from April 1858 [1857] to February 3, 1892. John died on May 5, 1898. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with other members of the Wiles family. After John died Mary's parents raised the two orphaned daughters, Mary B. and Kate. Mary was born in Wisconsin in February 1883, and Kate was born in Michigan in March 1886. Kate married Charles Boyden II of Grand Haven.

James Edward Wilkinson [1857-1941]

Born in Lawrence, Massachusetts on February 9, 1857, James Wilkinson was educated in the east and graduated from Nashotah Theological seminary in Wisconsin. He continued his studies at Trinity College at Hartford, Connecticut and graduated from Harvard in 1884. He held pastorates at Plymouth, Massachusetts and Hamilton and Utica, New York. He came to Grand Haven in September 1888 to be pastor at St. John's Episcopal Parish. James helped establish and was superintendent of Akeley Institute, an Episcopal Girl's School located on the northeast corner of Washington and Fifth Streets. There he held the title of Rector, and his wife was principal. Rev. Wilkinson was pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church and Rector of Akeley Hall until 1901, when he left Grand Haven to preach in other churches, including Champaign, Illinois, South Haven, Ionia, Manistee, and Niles, where he retired and returned to Grand Haven in 1927.

James and his wife, Abbie E., were married in Rome, New York on January 21, 1886. She was born in Wisconsin around 1860 and died in Grand Haven on October 18, 1940. The couple resided at 415 Lake Avenue after their return to Grand Haven. Their children included Mary S., who was born in New York in November 1887 and became a librarian in Baltimore, Maryland, where she was in charge of 26 branch libraries; Elizabeth, who was born in Grand Haven in July 1890 and married Donald V. Gerking of New York City; Helen, who was born in Grand Haven in February 1894, married James F. Munson, and became assistant editor of the American Journal of Nursing in New York City; John E., who was born in Grand Haven in September 1897 [1896] and became pastor of St. Andrew's Church in Buffalo; and Lawrence Edgar, an architect with Frohman, Robbin, Little Company, who designed the Washington Cathedral at Washington, D.C. James died of a heart attack on July 29, 1941 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, July 29, 1941.]

William Follett Willard [1833-1907]

On March 27, 1861, William Willard and his partner E. E. Bolles, purchased the Pail Factory in Ferrysburg from Benjamin Eames. Two years later, on April 26, William and his brother, George Emerson Willard [1839-1923], bought out Bolles's interest and changed the name of the company to Willard & Brother. The new owners continued to manufacture wooden pails and tubs until the plant burned down in 1872. William was born in Keene, New Hampshire on June 2, 1833. On May 25, 1869 he married Frances Wright, who was born in New York about May 18, 1845. She died on December 7, 1882 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. They had a son Reuben, who was born in Michigan about 1861. William also raised fruit in Spring Lake, but by the time of the 1880 census he and Frances were residing in Ferrysburg, where he was a lumber dealer. After Frances's death, William married Mary Phillips, who was born on October 29, 1858. He passed away on November 4, 1907 and was buried at Lake Forest with Frances.

David E. [B.] Willet [Willet] [1853-1925]

Born in Indiana in August 1853 [1854], by 1893 David Willet worked for Grand Haven Gas Works. By the early 1900s he was a manufacturer of concrete blocks. His business was located at the corner of Third and Clinton, and he resided at 29 Howard, and later on Lafayette. On October 25, 1886 in Spring Lake, he married his first wife, Emma [Ellen] E. Ackley. Emma was born in La Porte, Indiana about November 7, 1862 and died on January 11, 1897. She was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Their daughter, Edna A., born in March 1888, also lived at the home on Howard. Another daughter, Leila [Lela], was born on October 5, 1889 and died on February 16, 1903. On July 23, 1898 in Grand Haven, David married Minnie, the daughter of Dick and Lina Verwy of Grand Haven. Minnie was born in Grand Haven in April 1876 [1875]. David and Minnie had one daughter, Della B., who was born in Grand Haven in June 1899, and another daughter, born in 1911. David passed away around November 4, 1925 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Leila and Emma.

Jesse Williams [1868- ?]

In Grand Haven on November 30, 1899 Lena, the daughter of Alfred and Isabella Graves, married Jesse [Jessie] Williams. Both were African Americans. Jesse, born in January 1868 in Virginia, was from Chicago, where he had been a wagon maker. Lena was born in Virginia in May 1866. On January 18, 1899 the Grand Haven Tribune reported that “Williams, the colored teamster, with his mules attracted considerable attention. When they were heavily laden and stuck fast, he would get under the wagon and with his shoulder lift the load out of the rut.” The newspaper added that Jesse worked for Frederick and Mary Mansfield, who resided at 107 South Second Street in Grand Haven. It probably was this Jesse Williams who, according to an article in the June 27, 1907 Tribune, gave a few cotton seeds to Susan Gaskins, a former slave. Mrs. Gaskins planted them. In 1908 Jesse and Lena resided at 208 North Sixth Street in Grand Haven. At some point Jesse and Lena lived in Chicago, where he worked as a “day laborer.” An African American with the same name was residing in Benton Harbor, listed as a widower in 1920 and working as a night watchman at a factory.

John E. Williams [@1850-1894]

Born in Chillicothe, Ohio about 1850 [1853], John Williams was a cook at the Cutler House when he died of pneumonia on August 31, 1894. On August 15, 1888 he married Nellie Burrill in Grand Haven. Nellie, the daughter of Robert Burrill, was born about 1868 in Springfield, Ohio, but moved to Kalamazoo. John and Nellie had an 18-month-old child when John died. They were an African American family. At a meeting at John’s house, he was one of several local Blacks elected as delegates to an Equal Rights convention held in Grand Rapids on April 10 and 11, 1894. For more on Nellie, see Fred Graves II and Richard Thompson.

John Nims Williams [1848-1920]

A native of Deerfield, Massachusetts, where he was born on June 24, 1848, John Williams came to Spring Lake in 1872 and went to work for the Cutler & Savidge Company. In 1879 he was made foreman of Mill #3. He started millwork in 1867. He married Henrietta Mary Rowe in Detroit on April 7, 1880. She was born in Canada around 1857. They were included in the 1880 Federal Census as residents of Spring Lake Village. John continued to work at the mill. By 1900 the couple had returned to Detroit. By then they had two children: Jessie Florence, born in Spring Lake on January 4, 1881, and a son, Ros or Roc, who was born about 1885. John died in 1920 in Canada. Henrietta passed away on May 15, 1940 in Highland Park, Wayne County.

Their children were Louis II, born in Ohio around 1914; Robert, born in Ohio about 1916; and William H., born in Michigan around 1911. Louis I passed away in Grand Haven about April 27, 1968. Lois had died on August 24, 1962. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Dr. Sydney Williams, who was educated in Europe, in 1835 came to Grand Haven from his home state of Massachusetts at the suggestion of Lucas White. The same year he became a partner with Lucas and Rix Robinson in forming a second Grand Haven Company, called, appropriately, Robinson, White, & Williams. Their store was at the foot of Franklin Street, on the banks of Grand River. Sydney later joined with Thomas White and Rix Robinson in organizing the Grand Haven Steamship Line, which ran boats between Grand Haven and Grand Rapids around 1840. Williams was one of the county’s first physicians. He and David Carver shared a residence at 225 Franklin [Lot 222] in Grand Haven, where he and his fiancée, Mary White, intended to live. On August 1, 1837 he bought the southeast quarter of Section 9 [160 acres] in Blendon Township, 240 acres in Section 14 of Grand Haven Township [North], and 80 acres in Section 13 [North], also in Grand Haven Township on October 10, 1839. He probably bought the land for its timber. Dr.

Williams died from malaria about 1840, a week prior to the wedding date. Mary was the sister of Lucas and Thomas White.

Frederick Willie [Willey] I [1850-1936]

Born in Prussia in January 1850, Frederick Willie immigrated to New York in 1868. He moved to Milwaukee, then to Manistee, and in 1871 back to Milwaukee. The next year he returned to the east shore of Lake Michigan and lived in Muskegon for a short time before going to work for the Ferrysburg Iron Works as a machinist. In 1879 he started working for Cutler & Savidge Lumber Company. On June 13, 1872 in Spring Lake, he married Abba "Abbie" Hudson of Ferrysburg. Abbie was born in Michigan on October 23, 1856. Her parents were Charles, born about 1832 in Ohio, and Susan, born about 1835 in New York. The Willies had four children: Fred C., who was born on February 8, 1874; Herbert, born in 1876; Nina, born in 1878; and Charles, born on March 29, 1879. Fred and Charles were born in Spring Lake. In 1880 the family was residing in Ferrysburg, where Frederick continued to work as a machinist. Abbie died in New Orleans on July 21, 1918. Frederick passed away in the same city on June 4, 1936.

Earl R. Willoughby [1906-1978]

The son of Roy [Leroy] and Versa McLean Willoughby, Earl was born on August 26, 1906 in Spring Lake. He and his parents lived at 212 Prospect. Earl worked for the Grand Haven Tribune before World War II, when he entered the military service. After the war he went to work for the Story & Clark Piano Company. He died in Spring Lake on May 14, 1978. His wife, Elsie, lived from October 16, 1912 to April 29, 1994. They resided at 408 East Exchange, where Earl had moved with his parents in 1912. Willoughby descendants continued to live in the house into the 21st century. Roy was born in Michigan about 1877 and Versa, also a Michigan native, was born about 1879. Their other son, Chester, was about two years older than Earl.

Their son William was born in Grand Haven in December 1899. The Wilthof home was at 607 South Fifth Street. Both parents were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Alexander Winchell [1824-1891]

Professor Alexander Winchell, a geologist from the University of Michigan, was the guest of Spring Lake resident and businessman Hunter Savidge early in 1870. Winchell believed that there were salt deposits under the entire state. With that thought, Aloys Bilz, Hunter Savidge, Allan Adsit [Adzit], and Robert Haire founded the Spring Lake Salt Company. Born in New York State on December 31, 1824, Alexander started at the University of Michigan in 1854, first as professor of physics and civil engineering, and later as professor of geology and paleontology. He was geologist for the State of Michigan from 1859 to 1863 and again from 1869 to 1871. He was appointed Chancellor of Syracuse University in 1872, left there six years later and taught at Vanderbilt University for a short time before returning to the University of Michigan in 1878. He died in Ann Arbor on February 19, 1891. He and his wife, Julia, had six children.

Charles Bertrand Winslow [1853-1927]

Born on April 7, 1853 in Pontiac, Charles was the son of Rollin B. and Delilah L. Winslow. Charles owned four shares of the Highland Park Association when it was organized in 1886. He became a partner with H. L. Chamberlain in the coal, lime, and cement business that Nathaniel Robbins purchased. Charles married Cynthia K. Coats in Benton Harbor on February 22, 1877. Cynthia, the daughter of Nathaniel and Hannah Nickerson Robbins IV, had married Henry H. Coats in Benton Harbor on October 18, 1871. She was born on November 10, 1849 in Massachusetts and died on November 16, 1919 in St. Joseph, Berrien County. In 1880 Charles and Cynthia were residing with Nathaniel IV and his family in St. Joseph Michigan. Charles was listed as a bookkeeper at that time. The couple remained in St. Joseph until at least 1900. Charles died on January 24, 1927 in Wilmette, Illinois and was buried at St. Joseph City Cemetery in St. Joseph, Berrien County with his wife.

Jacob W. Winsor [1816-1874]

Jacob Winsor was living in Ottawa County as early as 1835 but by 1860 had moved to Grand Rapids, where he was a dealer in dry goods. He married Harriet Peck, who was born in 1820. The brother of Zenas Winsor, an early Grand Haven settler, Jacob was born in New York on June 11, 1816. He died in Grand Rapids on December 27, 1874 and was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery in Grand Rapids. Jacob and Harriet had four children: Sarah, born about 1843; Mary, born about 1864; Charles, born about 1846; and Martha, born about 1849. Harriet lived from 1822 to 1899, and also was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery. Jacob's parents were Darius and Sally Winsor. Darius was born in Rhode Island on June 28, 1873, reached Grand Rapids in 1833, died in Grand Rapids on March 15, 1855, and was buried at Fulton Street Cemetery. Sally was born in New York in 1792, died in Grand Rapids on April 15, 1855, and was buried near her husband.

Zenas [Zenos] G. Winsor [Winzor] [1814-1890]

Born on December 14 [28], 1814 in Skaneateles, New York, Zenas, the oldest son of Darius and Sally Winsor, arrived at the mouth of Grand River before Grand Haven existed and saw it grow from a tiny trading post into a city. On May 23, 1833 he arrived in Ionia with 63 permanent settlers from his home state. He befriended Rix Robinson and served as a clerk at his Grand Haven trading post. He left the area and went to California, only to return in 1855 to operate the Grand River Steamboat line between Grand Haven and Grand Rapid. In 1871 he was agent for the Goodrich Transportation Company in Grand Haven. At the Semi-Centennial Anniversary of the founding of Grand Haven, Zenas delivered a retrospective of the early years on December 2, 1884. For more on Zenas's parents, see Jacob W. Winsor.

Zenas married Emily Hopkins of Grand Rapids in 1838, but she died only eight months after the wedding. Zenas then in 1840 married a widow, Hannah Tower, who died on September 28, 1869. Winsor married again, this time in 1874 to another widow, Anne [Annie] M. Kilgore. Zenas died in Chattanooga, Tennessee on August 23, 1890. A brother, Jacob, who also settled in this area, died in 1874.

Gerald Witherell I [1915-1960] and Izetta M. Decker "TuTu" Witherell [1918-2009]

Izetta was born in Galien, Berrien County on September 20, 1918. Her parents were Robert and Louisa Murdock Decker. Izetta married Gerald A. Witherell I in St. Joseph, Berrien County on September 26, 1936. They had two children: Mary Lou, who was born in 1918, married Alfred Matzen, and relocated to Newburgh, Cass County, and Gerald II of Grand Haven. From the mid-1960s to the time of her death, Izetta resided at 527 Butler in Grand Haven. The elder Gerald, the grandson of early Muskegon settler, Captain John Witherell, was born in Muskegon on May 18, 1915. Gerald was a Surfman with the Coast Guard and stationed in St. Joe at the time of his wedding. In 1937, he was transferred to the Coast Guard Station in Manistee. Gerry and his mates were called to provide lifesaving service in the Ohio floods of that year. In the course of carrying out his duties, Gerry injured his back. The injury ultimately led to his discharge from the Coast Guard. Izetta's father, Frank Decker, owned and operated Decker Bus Lines. Grand Haven was one of its stops. After his discharge from the Coast Guard, Gerry I was hired as a mechanic and driver for the firm, but later drove for Greyhound Bus lines. Gerry died of pancreatic cancer on May 9, 1960.

Izetta was a member of the United Methodist Church of the Dunes, the Tri-Cities Council of Churches, and the Eastern Star Chapter No. 132 of Grand Haven and Spring Lake, where she once was Matron. She held leadership positions with the North Ottawa Community Hospital Auxiliary, PTA, and Girl Scouts. She was named Woman of the Year in 1968. Izetta was manager and Buyer for Reichardt's in Grand Haven until her retirement in 1998. Izetta died on August 8, 2009 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Her nickname TuTu came from the Hawaiian word for grandmother. [Tribune obituary, August 11, 2009.]

Jack and Esther M. Witteveen owned a 160-acre farm in Section 10 of Grand Haven Township. There they operated a business called Evergreen Farm Nursery and sold Christmas trees wholesale and retail. The house address was 13894 168th Avenue. Prior to the nursery, Jack owned Grand Haven Heating Company, located at the same address. Jack married Della Brower in Holland on March 14, 1935. Born in 1911, Della passed away in 1940. On March 29, 1944 he married Esther Dykhouse in Grand Haven. Jack lived from August 14, 1908 to June 11, 1995. He was buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Holland with Della. Esther was born on May 3, 1913, passed away on October 2, 1993, and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. She was the daughter of Baldwin and Laura Saul Hery of Grand Haven Township.

Joseph Townsend Wixon [Wixon, Wixen] [1840-1907]

In June 1880 Joseph Wixon sold his photography studio, which he had opened in 1877, to Edwin P. Baker. The studio was located over the post office at the southeast corner of Washington and First Streets [100 Washington]. Joseph was born on May 29, 1840 in Steuben County, New York and came to Grand Haven from Iowa. On July 13, 1877 in Spring Lake, he married Julia Van Camp. She was born on July 4, 1852 in Sanilac County. The Wixons had four children: Chester Addison, born on February 27, 1872 in Iowa; Tina, born about 1875; Lilly, born about 1876; and Luella, born about 1878. The three older children were born in Michigan. The Wixon home was on Clinton Street. Joseph died in Rhinelander, Wisconsin on December 8, 1907. Julia passed away on January 3, 1922 in Valley Springs, California.

A native of Posen, Germany, where he was born on June 11, 1840, Adolph Wojahn moved to Grand Haven in 1909. He previously had lived in Chicago, where he settled with his parents from Germany in 1865. He died September 4, 1915 at the home of his son, Reinold [Reinhold], at 1250 Franklin Street. He had two other sons, Herman of Chicago and Carl [Charles] of Mobile, Alabama. Adolph's wife, Augusta, died the next year on December 13, also at Reinold's home. She had immigrated to the United States from Germany about 1896. Reinold had a son, Otto, who died at his father's home on April 27, 1918 at the age of 25, five months after his marriage. Otto was employed by the Keeler Brass Works in Grand Rapids. [Tribune obituaries, September 7, 1915 and April 27, 1918.]

Charles Edward Wolbrink [1875-1946], John Wolbrink [1842-1899], and John J. Wolbrink [1878-1955]

In 1894 John Wolbrink and his cousin, Charles E. Wolbrink, bought a general store in Allendale from Isaac John Quick. John Wolbrink, who was born in The Netherlands in 1842, was buried at Allendale Cemetery. On April 24, 1868 in Allendale, John married Harriet Ann Quick, Isaac's sister. Harriet was born in Michigan in 1852, passed away in 1935, and was buried near her husband at Allendale Cemetery. Harriet and John had a son, John J. Wolbrink, who was born in Allendale on February 3, 1878 and died in 1955. Around 1918 John J. bought out his cousin's interest and made his son Francis a partner. When the building burned down in 1920 it was replaced by a brick structure. Two more of John's sons joined the business and the name J. J. Wolbrink & Sons was adopted. John J. married Zodie Maud Brown on June 20, 1894. She was born in Allendale on June 17, 1872, died there on January 29, 1946, and was buried at Allendale Cemetery with her husband. Charles was born in the same community on September 29, 1875, died in Grant, Newaygo County on February 6, 1946, and was buried at Allendale Cemetery with other family members. He owned a grocery store in Grant. Charles married Artie L. Parish of Allendale on December 17, 1902. She was born in Allendale on January 4, 1882 and died in Cadillac on May 4, 1973. Like the others, she was buried at Allendale Cemetery with her husband. Charles and Artie had three children.

Sarah Wolcott [1822-1902]

After her husband's death, Sarah Wolcott managed the family's strawberry farm in Section 35 of Grand Haven Township. She was born in New York in April 1822 and died on April 23, 1902. Evidently her husband's name was Seth, also from New York. He died on August 7, 1892. Their son, Charles, was born in Illinois in November 1856.

Anthony Wolf [1909-1987]

Born in Chicago on July 19, 1909, Tony Wolf was a Robinson township supervisor and school board member. On September 19, 1933, he married Margaret Pearl, the daughter of John and Josephine Stark Holtrop. Margaret was born on March 6, 1912. The Wolfs, who had no children, resided at 12328 120th Avenue in Robinson. At age 59 Tony founded the West Indies Self-Help Mission on the island of La Gonave, Haiti, for the purpose of helping residents learn the art of agriculture. After his wife's death in October 1979, he constructed a library in her honor on the island. Hundreds of school children on La Gonave met their educational needs at the library. The library also devoted a section to pastoral use. Anthony and Margaret considered a Haitian orphan, Premire Verdieu, their daughter. Premire continued the mission and sewing school after the Wolfs' deaths. Tony died October 15, 1987. He and his wife were buried at Robinson Township Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, October 15, 1987.]

Eugene Morris [Marce] “Ducky” Wolfe [Wolf] [1898-1987]

Eugene Wolfe was born in New Orleans, Louisiana on July 6, 1898. In August 1925 he married Esther, Luella Pinto’s daughter. It was his second marriage. Esther was born in Arkansas about 1912. In 1930 Ducky and Esther were living with John and Luella Pinto at 1329 Franklin Street in Grand Haven. The Wolfes had two children: Charlene, who was born in Illinois about May 1927, graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1945, and was deceased by 2000; and Tyrie “Bubbles” Leevester Wolfe, who was born in Illinois [Michigan] on February 19, 1929. In 1949 he graduated from Grand Haven High School, where he played in the marching band and in a dance band. He also competed in football and baseball. After graduation Tyrie enlisted in the Army, served in Vietnam, and retired as SFC. He settled in Waynesville, Missouri where he died on June 30, 2000. He apparently had a son with the same name, who was born in Muskegon in December 1966. In 1948 the family resided at 321 Franklin. Eugene and Esther were divorced in Grand Haven on November 21, 1950. Eugene, who worked at a variety of jobs, died in Grand Haven on August 19, 1987. He was buried at Oakwood Cemetery in Muskegon. [Tribune obituary, August 21, 1987.]

William Martin Wolff [1884-1947]

In 1930 William Wolff was stationed in Grand Haven as Head Crewman for the 10th Coast Guard District. Born in Massachusetts on January 1, 1884, he married Edith Eugenia Northrup on November 11, 1912 in Manchester, Massachusetts. Edith was born in Canada on July 16, 1889. In 1930 she resided at 508 Slayton with her two children. William was included with his crew mates in the Federal Census of that year. William died on November 17, 1947 and was buried in Provincetown Cemetery, Massachusetts. Edith passed away on November 2, 1957 and was buried near her husband.

Phillip A. Woolley [1831-1912]

Phillip Woolley lived in Grand Haven long enough to build the Italianate-style residence at 514 Lafayette Street in 1870 and remain in it for four years. Phillip’s last child, born in Grand Haven in 1873, was named Kate Ferry Wooley. Edward Payson Ferry purchased the property the year after her birth. Phillip was born in Malone, New York on February 17, 1831. He married Catherine Ann Loucks in Ottawa, Canada, on January 23, 1859. The year of her birth varies from record to record, but the most reliable seems to be August 28, 1842. She was born in Osgoode, Ontario, Canada. Phillip made his fortune by turning timber into railroad ties. He and his family moved to Elgin, Illinois in 1874 and on to the State of Washington sometime after 1880. He founded the town of Wooley, Washington, in 1890. A dispute led to the town being renamed Sedro-Woolley. His and Catherine’s children were: Parazada “Sadie” Magadaline Woolley [1859-1953]; William A. Wooley [1862-1935]; Maud A. Wooley [1866-1883]; Phillip Lankford Woolley [1870-1934]; Langford L. Wooley [1872-?]; and Kate Ferry Woolley, 1873-1927]. The first three children were born in Canada, the last three in Grand Haven. Phillip died in Sedro-Wooley on July 17, 1912. Catherine passed away in the same community on March 28, 1924.

Arie Woltman I [Waltman] [1843-1892]

Born in The Netherlands in 1843, at age ten Arie Woltman, his brother Jurrien, and their father arrived at Staten Island, New York. The father passed away just days after arriving, so Arie did odd jobs to support himself. Around 1852 he settled in Holland, Michigan and became a cook’s assistant on numerous schooners. Arie and his brother Jurrien began business in Grand Haven in 1875 as partners with Jurrien Ball at a store called Woltman, Ball & Company, located at 201-203 Washington Street [Howlett Block]. On November 1, 1877 the business failed, but Jurrien Ball appealed to their creditors to let him carry on. He and a brother bought out the Woltmans and operated a dry goods and grocery business as the J. Ball Store.

Arie was elected sheriff of Ottawa County in 1876 and served four terms. In the mid-1880s he was probate judge, and at the end of that decade he moved back to Holland and opened a cigar store. In the summer months he commanded the steamer Lizzie Walsh. Arie was one of the original incorporators of the Highland Park Association in 1886. He passed away on March 9, 1892. His wife, Altje “Alice” Lubbers, died two years later on April 1. She was born in The Netherlands in 1845. The Woltmans’ children, all born in Michigan, were Herman, born about 1869; Jennie, born about 1871; Martin, born about 1873; Anna, born about 1878; and Arie II, born about 1884. Arie II married Ella Case in Zeeland on November 25, 1908. [Tribune obituary, March 10, 1892.]

Jurrien “Jerry” Woltman [Waltman] [1844-1916]

On September 5, 1916, Johanna Dipenhorst Woltman, Jurrien Woltman’s wife, applied for a widow’s Civil War pension. The application cited Jerry’s service in Company I of the 25th Michigan Infantry and Company K of the 28th Michigan Infantry. He enlisted in Grand Rapids at the age of 20 as private. Born in The Netherlands in November 1844, Jerry immigrated to America with his brother Arie and their father in 1851. A few days after arriving at Staten Island, New York the father passed away. Eventually he and Arie settled in Holland, Michigan. Jerry began business in Grand Haven in 1875 as partner with his brother and Jurrien Ball. They opened a store, called Woltman, Ball & Company, at 201-203 Washington Street [Howlett Block]. On November 1, 1877 the business failed, but Jerry appealed to his creditors to let him carry on. He and a brother bought out the Woltmans and operated the dry goods and grocery business as the J. Ball Store. Jerry was listed in the 1893 Compendium as “drummer,” or salesman, in Grand Haven.

Before Johanna became his wife, Jerry in 1867 married Guertje De Vries. She lived from 1844 to 1873. She and Jerry had a daughter, Antje “Anna,” who was born on March 9, 1868, and a son, John, who died in 1870 at the age of one. Jerry and Johanna also had children: Harry, who died in May 1891 at the age of 14, and two daughters, Anna and Maggie. Jerry died in Zeeland on July 15, 1916. He and Johanna were married in Noordeloos, Ottawa County, on November 2, 1875. Johanna was born in The Netherlands on January 17, 1850 and immigrated to the United States aboard the Jacob A. Westervelt on September 20, 1855. The Woltmans lived at 228 Columbus. Johanna died about January 18, 1926 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with Jurrien and other family members.

Alexander Wood [1838-1917]

Born in Scotland on April 28, 1838, Alexander Wood came to America by way of Canada with his parents about eleven years later. He worked on a farm in New York and started to learn the blacksmith trade. Prior to the Civil War he was agent for the Creek Indians. At the onset of the war, Alexander was taken prisoner by Confederate soldiers and kept at his trade of blacksmithing. When the war ended, he was sent by the U.S. Government to Fort Leavenworth, Arkansas for two years. He also served in Arizona and participated in several Indian battles. In 1870 he moved to Port Washington, Wisconsin. About 1872 he and his wife came to Spring Lake where he operated a blacksmith’s shop until 1916. It was located on the southwest corner of Park and Savidge Streets. During his time in Spring Lake Alexander served as village president in 1898, was a member of the Spring Lake School Board, and held other offices.

On April 4, 1871 Alexander married Ella Chamberlain. Ella was born in Port Washington, Wisconsin on March 4, 1847 to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Chamberlain. Ella was one of the organizers of the Hatton Memorial Hospital Board and the Spring Lake Cemetery Association, and she was a member of the Spring Lake Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star and Daughters of the American Revolution. She also was active with the Women’s Christian Temperance Union [WCTU] and helped collect money for the maintenance of a water fountain donated by Spring Lake businessman, Enno Pruim. The fountain, installed at the corner of Jackson and Savidge, encouraged passersby to slake their thirst there instead of at a saloon. Alexander and his wife moved to 114 East Savidge in Spring Lake after 1899, the year the previous owner, James Emery, passed away. The Woods’ son, Harry A., was born in Michigan around 1874, and they also had a daughter, Mary F., born in March 1882. Ella died on September 23, 1928 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery with her husband, who had died in 1917.

Horace Bowen Wood [1846-1939]

While living in Coventry, Rhode Island, Horace Wood enlisted with the Federal forces as private on February 19, 1862. He transferred from Company A of the 4th Rhode Island Infantry into Company G of the 7th Rhode Island Infantry on February 1, 1865 and was mustered out on July 13 that year. He applied for an invalid’s

Civil War pension on February 17, 1890 while residing in Crockery Township, where he was still residing in 1920. Horace, the son of David and Mary Wood, was born on October 30, 1846. He died on February 18, 1939 and was buried at Crockery Township Cemetery.

John Wood [1836-?]

John Wood was born in Detroit on April 14, 1836. On April 20, 1861 he enlisted as private in Company F of the 1st Michigan Infantry and was mustered out on August 7 of that year, evidently while serving in the quartermaster's office. After the Civil War he married a widow, Elizabeth Beard Sherman, in Illinois. They moved to Saginaw, where John worked for three years at a lumber business. He and Elizabeth then settled in Olive Township in 1870. He served as clerk, drain commissioner, and justice of the peace. Elizabeth was born in Seneca County, New York, in November 1837 and died on June 14, 1878. John was still farming in Olive Township in 1880.

Silas T. Wood [1816-1889]

After the first bridge over the South Channel opened in 1872, the City of Grand Haven paid Silas T. Wood $30 a month to serve as bridge tender. Silas was born in Massachusetts in 1817. His wife Elizabeth came from New York, where she was born about 1824. He was listed as single and residing in Grand Haven at the time of the 1870 and 1880 Federal Censuses. In the later census, he was working as a gardener. Prior to Grand Haven, Silas and Elizabeth lived in Wyoming, Kent Count. He passed away in Wyoming on July 13, 1889. They had at least three children: Frederick Woods, born about 1846; Emeline Wood, born about 1849; and Charles Wood, born about 1852.

Giles Woodbury [1816-1867]

Giles Woodbury was born in Perryville [Tomkins County] New York on November 11, 1816. He settled first in Muskegon, then moved to Grand Haven. A tanner by trade, Giles went into the tanning business when Clark Albee bought the Sheldon Tannery in Grand Haven in 1854. On November 14, 1860, he married Matilda Gardner Fox, a widow who had settled in Allendale Township in 1840. She was born in England around 1821, died in Allendale on March 9, 1891, and was buried at Allendale Township Cemetery. The Woodburys moved to Section 11 of Allendale Township in 1861, where Giles took up farming. The Woodburys' two children, both born in Michigan, were Jesse, born in 1861, and Warren, born about 1865. Matilda had two sons by her first marriage, Charles D. Fox, born in Michigan in 1840, and Frank J. Fox, born in Michigan on May 3, 1849. Giles died on August 16, 1867.

Jesse Giles Thomas Woodbury [1860-1912]

As sheriff of Ottawa County, Jesse Woodbury and his wife, Alice, lived at the building that housed the jail and sheriff's office on the northeast corner of Fourth and Franklin Streets in Grand Haven. A daughter, Eva, lived with them. Jesse, born in Grand Haven on August 6, 1860, was the son of Giles and Matilda Fox Woodbury of Allendale Township. On December 24, 1887 in Allendale Jesse married Alice Wolbrink. She was born in Georgetown Township about 1865. In 1892 Jesse gave up the family farm in Section 11 of Allendale Township and started a planing mill in partnership with Dennis Bennett. Jesse died in Grand Haven on April 16, 1912. Alice passed away about June 16, 1946. Both she and Jesse were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Joseph C. Woodford [1896-1979]

Arriving from Pennsylvania, Joseph Woodford in 1951 started Nidel Manufacturing in Spring Lake. Nidel produced brooms. Joseph and his wife, Dorothy H., resided at 205 North Buchanan in Spring Lake. He was born on October 31, 1896 and died in Spring Lake on May 1979. Dorothy lived from March 29, 1906 to November 1984. She passed away in Spring Lake. The company continued to operate at least until the time of Joseph's death.

James Henry Woods [Henry James Woods] [1887-1963]

James Woods, was born in Canada on August 13, 1887 and was listed as Negro in the 1930 Federal Census for Grand Haven. He was a laborer in a local coal yard. James married Esta Bracy on January 7, 1920 in Boyne City, Charlevoix County. Esta, also Black, was born on April 16, 1892 in Mecosta County. In Grand Haven, they resided at 515 North Seventh Street. Living with them was their daughter Harriet, who was born in Boyne City on April 5, 1922. The family of three appeared also in the 1940 Federal Census for Grand Rapids, and James and Esta appeared in the next decennial census for Grand Rapids. Esta died on March 23, 1953 and was buried at Woodlawn Cemetery in Grand Rapids. James passed away ten years later on June 25 and was buried at the same cemetery.

William E. Woodworth [1903-1963]

William Woodworth was born in Shelbyville, Indiana, on August 3, 1903. He became president of Kent Products, which was started in 1952 at 427 North Griffin. He married Kathleen Davison, also from Shelbyville, on July 15, 1936. William died in Grand Haven on March 8, 1963, after a lingering illness. Kathleen was born April 8, 1905 and died in Miami, Florida in April 1981.

Stephen Wooley [1829-1913]

Spring Lake resident Stephen Wooley was born in England in December 1829. His wife, Elizabeth M. [Mary], was born in Pennsylvania in November 1832. They had several children, all born in Michigan, including Henry A., who lived from July 1862 to 1911; Herbert, who lived from 1866 to 1882; Phoebe, who was born about 1868; and Bertie, who was born in 1871 and died in 1932. Stephen, who was classified as a "laborer" in the 1893 Compendium, passed away in 1913. Mary lived from 1834 to 1873. The family was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. They lived in a two-story, frame house on Savidge, later occupied by the Barrett family.

Anthony and Bibianna Worm were residents of Kent County as early as 1870. Their son Harold was born in Grand Rapids on June 8, 1899. Harold resided in Grand Rapids, where he was an artist, real estate developer, and architect. In 1927 Anthony constructed a log cabin near the future North Shore Drive, about a half-mile south of today's North Beach Park. All the construction materials were delivered by boat, since the road wasn't put in until the next year. The small, four-room log cabin remained in place until 1998, when it was dismantled in sections and moved. Also in 1927 Harold and his wife Jean built a more substantial two-story, Tudor-style home closer to the beach [18889 North Shore Drive]. Their daughter and son-in-law, Janet and William Grant, took title to the home and continued to live in it into the 21st century. By 1930 Harold and his partner, Lincoln Vercoe, also of Grand Rapids, owned a number of acres in the area, which they purchased from Orphie W. Gotto of Long Beach, Indiana. Harold and Lincoln opened an office and distributed a brochure called "Green Banks" in order to promote their North Shore development. The Depression slowed growth of the North Shore but did not stop it. In 1931 Harold started the Cabana Colony Club, a group of cabins with adjacent restaurant just south of today's North Beach Park. [Ottawa County purchased the property used for North Beach Park from Harold.] The Cabana Colony became a popular nightspot, which offered dancing and entertainment. During WWII the club shut down and never reopened. After the war James and Yvonne Farley purchased several of the cabanas, moved them to 17485 Fruitport Road and opened a resort business known as the Spring Lake Cabanas.

About this time, Harold and his son David formed the Michigan Development Company, with plans to extend North Shore Road northward into an area called North Shore Estates. In 1959 Dr. David and Dottie Seibold built a home at 18381 North Shore Estates Drive and became the first year-round residents of the area. Harold died in August 1969. His family purchased land for two tennis courts, which they built in his memory and donated to North Shore residents. In the early 1950s the family name was legally changed to Warm, but it was a few years before the new name was commonly accepted. David married Paula Gerber of the Gerber Baby Food family on February 23, 1957 using the name Warm. Born on July 9, 1924, he died on May 20, 1995 in Leelanau.

Charles Harold Worsfold [1877-1947]

Charles, the son of John and Hannah Renton Worsfold, was born on October 1, 1877 in Ontario, Canada and immigrated to the United States in 1892. On June 8, 1898 in Chicago he married Cordelia Elvira Duffy. She was born in Missouri on March 31, 1874 and passed away on July 6, 1943. Charles and Cordelia resided at 537 Lafayette. Their children were Katherine Worsfold, born in 1901; George Renton Worsfold, who lived from 1905 to 1993; Hannah Edgeworth Worsfold, who lived from 1908 to 1994; Dorothea Sue Worsfold, born in Illinois in 1912; and Charles R. Worsfold, born in Michigan about 1916. In 1930 they were still residing at 537 Lafayette. At that time Charles was custodian at the Elks Club on Second Street in Grand Haven. John died on June 24, 1940 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Cora passed away three years later on July 6 and was buried at Lake Forest. Charles died on March 23, 1947 and was buried at Lake Forest with other Worsfolds.

John Worsfold [1841-1940]

Born in London, England on November 18, 1841, John Worsfold lived in Ontario, Canada and Illinois before coming to Grand Haven in 1910 [1909]. He became known as “Grand Haven’s Honey Man,” and would walk with his heavy merchandise in pails suspended from a harness pole on his shoulders. He hiked many miles each day from Highland Park to Spring Lake, where he would sell his wares. John, along with Martha Rice, appeared in several Coast Guard Festival Parades as Grand Haven’s oldest citizens. John was one of the founding members of the Christian Science Church in Grand Haven. John married Hannah Renton, who was born in Ontario in 1846 and died on December 25, 1887 in Ontario. In 1930, John was residing with his son and daughter-in-law, Charles and Cordelia [Cora] Worsfold, at 537 Lafayette Street. John died on June 24, 1940 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Stanley L. Worthing [Worthy] [1890-1986]

Born on January 7, 1890 in Footsville, Wisconsin, Stanley Worthing married Eva Lex on June 26, 1910 in Spring Lake. At that time, he worked as a boiler maker at an unspecified factory. About the time of WWI, Stanley was a private in the Illinois National Guard. Stanley and Eva were living in Crockery Township in 1918, but had moved to Grand Rapids by 1920, where he worked as an engineer in a factory. Ten years later they were running a fruit farm in Crockery Township. Their next move was to Spring Lake Village. They remained in the Spring Lake area the rest of their lives. Stanley established himself as a self-employed artist. He attended Unity Church in Grand Rapids. Stanley died in Spring Lake on February 20, 1986. Eva, who resided in Crockery Township as a child, was born in Six Lakes on June 14, 1886. She passed away on March 12, 1970 and was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. At the time of her death, the couple resided at 13556 Cypress Avenue in Crockery Township.

John Wright [1815-1874]

John Wright owned an acre of land that he sold for $120 to the U.S. Government in 1838 as a site for the first lighthouse. He owned other parcels in the area. [This may be John Stephen Wright, born on July 16, 1815 in Sheffield, Massachusetts. He ran a manufacturing business in Chicago, where he died on September 26, 1874.]

John Sampson Wright [1820-1904]

Born in December 1820 in Ohio, John Wright was a physician in Indiana before coming to Crockery in 1875 to set up practice. He also had “Blooded Horses for Sale,” as advertised in the 1893 Business Compendium. His wife, Nancy, was born in New York about 1823, died on August 9, 1895 at the age of 73, and was buried at Nunica Cemetery. John died the week of February 19, 1904. The Wrights owned property in Section 15 of Crockery Township. Their daughter, Della, was born in Indiana on June 27, 1860 and married John Fremont Brown. She died on November 3, 1888 and was buried at Crockery. After Nancy’s death, John shared his home with his brother Henry, born in Ohio in December 1832.

Mell Wright [1896-1971]

Born on November 20, 1896, Mell Wright managed the Grand Haven Kroger Store before opening Wright's Grill in downtown Grand Haven [211 Washington] in the 1940s. He purchased Highland Park Hotel in 1947 and operated it until the building was destroyed by fire in December 1967. He also owned Highland Park Hotel Annex, which Mell's wife, Ruth E., continued to operate after his death, until she sold it. Mell died in Grand Haven on March 21, 1971 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. Ruth was born on May 6, 1898 and died in Ferrysburg on May 8, 1995.

Squire Austin Wright [1838-1862]

S. Austin Wright, a native of Grand Haven, was born on December 23, 1838. On October 31, 1861 he enlisted in Company C of the 55th Illinois Infantry as second lieutenant. He was wounded at the Battle of Shiloh on April 6, 1862 and died from his wounds in Quincy, Illinois on May 12. According to his headstone at Lake Forest Cemetery, he held the rank of captain, although that promotion was not recorded in his service records. Prior to entering the military, Austin was engaged to be married to Sarah Pennoyer, daughter of Henry and Harriet Pennoyer. Sarah was born in Muskegon on April 29, 1841.

George Heinrich [Henry] Wilhelm Wuennecke [Winicka] [1881-1964]

George Wuennecke was an employee of Variety Woodwork Company at 350-407 Davis in Grand Haven. The company was active from about 1932 to 1945. Prior to that, George was foreman at the Higman Basket Factory on Sixth Street. He was born in Eitzen, Minnesota on February 5, 1881 and on June 12, 1908 married Jennie Weavers. She was born in Grand Haven on March 5, 1881. Their children, all born locally, were William born about 1910; Wilhelmina, who lived from 1910 to 1923; Katherine, born about 1913; and Bertha, who lived from 1916 to 1995. The couple and their four children resided at 817 Madison. Jennie passed away on October 21, 1963, and George died on September 19, 1964. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Barth Willard Wurtz [1922-2000]

Born on November 6, 1922 in Muskegon, Barth Wurtz served in the Pacific as sergeant with the United States Army Engineer Corps during WWII. After the war, he played saxophone with the Frank Lockage Band of Muskegon as a hobby, but by the early 1970s he had opened a real estate office at 737 Columbus in Grand Haven and later at 721 West Savidge in Spring Lake. Barth married June Elaine Bearss in Muskegon on February 14, 1948. He died on November 13, 2000. She was born in Shelby on June 16, 1923 and passed away in Spring Lake on June 27, 2021. She and Barth were buried at Norton Cemetery in Norton Shores. They had two children, Jim Wurtz and Cheri Wurtz., who married Mark Heger. She and Jim remained in the Norton Shores area.

Charles E. Wyman [1826-1899]

Born in Schroon, Essex County, New York on February 10, 1826, Charles Wyman moved to Ohio when he was 20 and remained there for six years before coming to Michigan. His parents were John and Abigail Potter Wyman. In 1864 Charles built a sawmill in Blendon Township, which necessitated a six-mile lumber run to the river. In 1865 he sold the mill and went into the oil business in Oil Creek, Pennsylvania. Returning to Grand Haven in 1866, Charles formed a partnership with Henry W. Buswell. They bought the Ferry Mill at the foot of Columbus Street, and when that mill burned down in 1868, they erected a new mill a little farther up the river and also opened a mill on the Muskegon River at White Cloud. That mill employed about 35 men and produced approximately 50,000 board feet a day. In 1887 Charles was named director of the newly formed Dake Engine Company. He was one of the major shareholders of the company.

In 1851 Charles married Harriet Reynolds of Cuyahoga, Ohio. She was born about 1824 and died on March 8, 1895. The Wymans had four children: Harvey Platt Wyman., born in Ohio in 1852; Charles R. Wyman, born in Ohio on January 16, 1855; George R. Wyman, born on November 10, 1859 [May 1858]; and William Potter Wyman, who was born about 1862 and married Arminnie Lydia "Minnie" McKee on October 27, 1885 in Laingsburg, Shiawassee County. The Wyman home was at 308 Franklin Street. However, Charles died at another home near Nunica on May 11, 1899 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery, as were other family members. [Tribune obituary, May 11, 1899.]

Charles R. Wyman [1855-1899]

Charles, the son of Charles and Harriet Reynolds Wyman, was born in Ohio on January 16, 1855. He married May Perkins, a native of Michigan, where she was born on May 1, 1859. She was the daughter of Noah and Ellen Turner Perkins of Spring Lake. The Wymans' children included Alice Wyman, who attended Ypsilanti Normal College [Eastern Michigan University]; Edgar P. Wyman, who lived from November 11, 1888 to March 9, 1955; George L Wyman., born in October 1892; and Ruth, R. Wyman, born on August 16, 1898. In 1877 Charles and Daniel Garnsey operated the Garnsey & Wyman Insurance Company in the Cutler House. The Wyman family later resided in Crockery Township, where Charles was an insurance agent. He died on May 11, 1899. May passed away on July 21, 1913. Charles and May were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery, as was Ruth, who died on November 22, 1901. George and Harvey Wyman were his brothers.

George R. Wyman [1859-1905]

Born in Blendon Township on November 10, 1859, George was the son of Charles and Harriet Reynolds Wyman. His brother Harvey J. Wyman moved to Johnson City, Tennessee and another brother, William P. Wyman, relocated to Santa Barbara, California. George came to Grand Haven with his family about 1865. For some years he was engaged as a clerk in the lumbering business with his brother, but in 1895 he joined the Dake Engine Company. He was a member of the Board of Public Works, alderman from the Second Ward from 1897 to 1900, and member of the Masons, Knights Templars, and Modern Woodman Lodge. He died of Bright's Disease at his home on Franklin Street on August 7, 1905. Charles R. Wyman of Grand Haven was another of his brothers. [Tribune obituary, August 7, 1905.]

Harvey Platt Wyman [1852-1924]

When the Dake Engine Company was organized in 1887, Harvey Wyman was a major stockholder and from 1892 to 1895 served as its second president. Harvey also was secretary of the Chippewa Lumber Company in 1893. Born on August 5, 1852 in Ohio, he was the son of Charles and Harriet Reynolds Wyman. Harvey died on September 3, 1924 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. He married Ellen May Rumsey in Grand Rapids on March 4, 1875. She was born in Grand Rapids on January 25, 1854, died on September 10, 1940 in Arbor, was buried with Harvey at Lake Forest. Charles R. Wyman and George Wyman were Harvey's brothers.

Ida Madison Yaggie [1899-1982] and Henry John Yaggie [1892-1954]

While living in Section 3 of Olive Township, Ida Yaggie found a Clovis point, or arrowhead, indicating the presence of Native Americans in Northwest Ottawa County as early as 10,000 B.C. On July 1, 1922 Ida married Henry Joseph Yaggie in Muskegon. They relocated to Robinson Township, and around 1950 they moved to Grand Haven and resided at 1215 Beechtree Street. They had one son, Joseph. Ida, the daughter of Peter and Mary Madison of Robinson Township, was born on April 25, 1899 and passed away in Grand Haven on April 22, 1982. Henry was born in Pennsylvania in July 1892 and died of a heart attack on February 18, 1954. Both were buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Frank E. Yates [1842-1921]

Frank Yates on April 20, 1861 enlisted in New York City as first lieutenant in Company G of the New York 11th Infantry. He resigned on June 15 the same year, and on November 24, 1861 he enlisted again as first lieutenant, this time with Company D of the New York 73rd Infantry. He was discharged from this post on December 11, 1862. By 1870 he and his wife were residing in Grand Haven, where Frank was listed as a "commission merchant." In 1879 Frank organized Company F in Grand Haven and was elected its first captain. The unit was called Yates Light Infantry initially. He served one year. Company F eventually became part of the 126th Infantry. Frank was agent for the Goodrich and Grand River Transportation Companies. His wife Alice was born about 1847 in Michigan. A daughter, Florence, was born in Grand Haven in 1872 and died on September 5, 1875. On December 8 that year another daughter, Fritey, was born. [Fritey's mother was listed as Fannie.] Fritey died on April 7, 1880. On February 4, 1880, Frank married Ida M. Anderson in Grand Haven. By 1900 he was living in Chicago with a widowed cousin, Isabella Howard, working as a stockbroker, and listed as single. He and Isabella were still together in Chicago in the 1920 census. Frank was then working as a reporter for the Chicago Board of Trade. Frank, a native of Wisconsin, was born on May 18, 1842, died on July 28, 1921 in Chicago, and was buried at Oak Woods Cemetery. Isabella, also a native of Wisconsin, was ten years younger than Frank.

George Yates was born in Clermont County, Ohio, in April 1831 [April 19, 1837]. He moved with his father to Iroquois County, Illinois in 1844 and remained there until August 15, 1861, when he enlisted in Company D of the 10th Illinois Infantry as private. He was discharged on July 3, 1863, but his service record stated that he also saw service with the Mississippi Marine Brigade. By 1870 George was living in Olive Township and working as a laborer. His wife, Mary was born in Ohio around 1844. By 1882 they lived in Section 27, and George had entered the lumbering business. He was buried at the Spence Family Burial Ground in Iroquois County, Illinois, where his grave was marked by an undated monument. He was residing alone in Ashkum, Iroquois County, in 1900. He died there on October 23, 1902.

Robert M. Yelton [1913-1988]

Robert was born on November 15, 1913 and died on August 3, 1988. Bob and his wife Patricia L. resided at 910 South De Spelder in Grand Haven. Bob worked as a mechanic, and Patricia was office secretary at the State Police Crime Laboratory in Holland.

Mary Helen Yerkes [1859–1943]

Mary was born on October 3, 1859 in Livingston County, New York, the daughter of James Hill and Mary Norton Bristol Yerkes, who were married in Lima, New York on August 31, 1858. James Yerkes was born in Rochester, New York, on April 1, 1836, the same year and state as his wife. With her sister Susan, Mary was named co-principal of Akeley Hall when Rev. and Mrs. Wilkinson retired in 1901. The sisters held the position until Akeley closed in 1926, about the same time they bought Khardomah Lodge. The Yerkes sisters sold the lodge to Jenny Smith in 1937. The sisters also owned a cottage near the pier on the North Shore called Never-Never-Land. They were members of the Woman's Club of Grand Haven and the Tuesday Musicales.

They were educated in the East and spent several years in European study, particularly art and modern languages, in Munich, Paris, and Italy. Mary began teaching at Kemper Hall, a girls' boarding school, in Kenosha, Wisconsin, where for nine years she was head mistress and then vice principal, the first person at Kemper to be given that title. Meanwhile Susan began her career at a girls' school, St. Mary's in Faribault, Minnesota, which she left to become preceptress [teacher] of the Staten Island Academy in Richmond Borough, New York City, post she held for the next eleven years. This co-educational school served grades kindergarten through twelfth. The sisters worked together for the first time when Mary was named Associate principal of Knickerbocker Hall in Indianapolis, while Susan took the position of assistant principal. At Knickerbocker, yet another girls' boarding and day school, the attendance multiplied 13 times during their tenure. The sisters' success at Knickerbocker led them to their assignment at Akeley Institute when Rev. and Mrs. Wilkinson retired in 1901. Mary was named head mistress, and Susan became a Latin teacher at the Institute, although they were considered co-principals. In Grand Haven Mary and Susan hired a teaching force notable for culture and advanced education. It was under their direction that Akeley Hall, as the Institute came to be called, attained a unique place among institutions of its kind. The sisters retired in 1926, when the Hall closed its door to new admissions. The last class graduated in 1928.

Mary and Susan lived in a large home atop a wooded dune at 819 Lake Avenue in Grand Haven., built for them by August Boseker. Residing with them in 1920 were their parents, James and Mary Yerkes, who died on July 8, 1922 and September 29, 1920, respectively. By 1928 Mary had moved to 806 Sheldon Road, while Susan continued living in the Lake Avenue home. A few years later she moved in with her sister on Sheldon. Later, perhaps after her sister's death, Mary's home was on Sheldon Road. Mary died in Hartsdale, New York, on June 8, 1943. She was buried at Mount Hope Cemetery in Rochester, New York, with her parents and sister Susan. [Tribune obituary, June 21, 1943.]

Stephen Zawojski [1936-2021]

Stephen Zawojski was a philosophical potter. In a brochure describing his studio, known as Medusa Pottery, he wrote, “My pots are like people: each with a unique personality and look.” He added that his glazing technique produced “warm, rustic surfaces and colors which are often highlighted by flash marks and other interesting irregularities.” He added that his pottery was “made to be read.” Steve opened Medusa Pottery and Supply at 608 Lafayette Street in 1976. In an interview he told a reporter, “Making pots is almost a spiritual thing with me. It is a form of meditation.” Steve’s wife Alice managed Medusa. Medusa is the name of a Greek goddess. She was so entrancing that mortals were transformed to stone whenever they beheld her image.

He fired most of his vessels at an outdoor kiln he constructed on a ten-acre site near Nunica. In an interview with Clarence Poel of the Grand Haven Tribune, Steve explained that he fuses silica with his pottery at 2,400 degrees “for a more durable piece with color painted on the clay.” The 7,500 cubic foot furnace in the kiln consumed one-half to one full cord for every 12 to 18 hours of firing. In 1997 he told a reporter for the Grand Rapids Press, “The kiln is my paintbrush. When I open the kiln, it’s like Christmas morning” Steve bought clay from sources in Missouri, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, and England.

Steve relished demonstrating to elementary-age children the use of the potter’s wheel and the flights of imagination that engenders. Stephen’s work has been exhibited at the National Council on the Education of Ceramic Arts, the French embassy in New York [part of the U.S. State Department’s Art in the Embassies program], the Evansville, Indiana Museum of Science and Art, the Art Gallery in Lansing, Grand Valley

State College [now GVSU], the Muskegon, the Gallery Uptown in Grand Haven, and various private collections around the country.

While at Bowling Green seeking a Bachelor of Fine Arts, Steve in 1962 received several awards for his entries in the university's Eleventh Annual Student Art Exhibit, and three years later he won a gold medal at the Toledo Museum of Art Exhibit. Following graduation in 1964, he taught ceramics at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri, was a visiting artist at Goddard College in Vermont from 1972 to 1974, and an Assistant Professor of Art at Grand Valley State University for the following two years. He taught one summer session at Notre Dame.

Stephen was born in Toledo, Ohio on August 31, 1936. He served with the U.S. Navy from 1955 to 1959 as Hospital Corpsman. After graduating from Bowling Green University in 1963, he received a Master of Fine Arts degree from New York State College of Ceramics three years later. Following that, he and his wife moved to Grand Haven. Stephen married Alice Pauline Krawczyk on June 22, 1963 in Marion, Ohio. She was born on November 6, 1940. Their home and Steve's Medusa Pottery studio was located at 608 Lafayette Street from 1982 before moving to a house they built at 11388 Oak Grove Road in Grand Haven Township in 1999. They had two sons: Peter Zawojski, who was born about 1966 and moved to Okemos, and Edward Zawojski, who was born about 1967 and relocated to Kill Devil Hills, North Carolina. Their daughter Aliesa was born in November 1969, married Jerry Pruszyński, and moved to Granger, Indiana. Steven passed away in Grand Haven on August 6, 2021.

Joseph Zeimet I [1872-1964]

Born in Luxembourg [Germany] on November 24, 1872, Joseph Ziema came to America in 1895. Around 1898 he married Louise Nowak, who had emigrated from Germany seven years earlier. They were living in Milwaukee in 1905, where Joseph was a tanner. In 1911 the Zeimets moved to Grand Haven, and by 1920 they were living at 1227 Franklin Street in Grand Haven, where he worked at Eagle Ottawa as a shaver. Among their children were Maleta, who was born on October 6, 1898 and married John Van Schelven of Grand Haven; Selma, who was born about 1901 and married William Boomgaard of Glen Ellyn, Illinois; and Joseph II, who was born on October 23, 1903. The family in 1930 resided at 1212 Washington. Living with the Zeimats in 1930 was Louise's mother, Selma Nowak, who was born in Germany around 1844 and came to America with her daughter in 1891. Joseph I passed away about July 25, 1964 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery.

Joseph Zeimet II [1903-1955]

Born in Milwaukee on October 23, 1903, Joseph was the son of Joseph Zeimet I and the brother of Maleta, who married John Van Schelven of Grand Haven, and Selma, who married William Boomgaard of Glen Ellyn, Illinois. Joseph moved to Grand Haven at the age of eight, attended local schools, and graduated from Western Michigan College [WMU]. He won 25 tennis tournaments during 35 years of competition. During the offseason Joseph was employed at Arntz Sporting Goods Store in Muskegon. He was a member of the Elks, played the drums and guitar in the Jackie Band, and was a manual training instructor at Blissfield, Lenawee County, where he also coached tennis. Joseph was a partner in the Sport Shop that he and Hobart Bell established about 1935. He was the tennis pro at the Highland Park Tennis Club for seven years before poor health forced his retirement in 1953. Joseph died from a self-inflicted gunshot wound on March 23, 1955 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery. [Tribune obituary, March 23, 1955.]

The Zelenkas' children included Paul and

John, both of West Olive; Marilyn, who married Steve Tiles of Grand Haven; Ruth, who married Jim Novak, also of Grand Haven; and Jane Erickson of Vista, California. John died on December 12, 2005 and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery with Elizabeth. [Tribune obituary, December 19, 2005.]

Charles Samuel Zellar [1886-1954]

Charles Zellar was born in Whitehall on September 20, 1886. He and his wife, Gertrude Matilda Turns, were married in Montague on August 2, 1911. She was born on March 1, 1890. They moved to Grand Haven from Whitehall sometime between 1911 and 1920. They were members of the First Reformed Church of Grand Haven. Charles first worked for the Dake Foundry, then he and his brother Fred opened a grocery and dry goods store at 1320 Washington Street, where they also lived. Charles sold his share of the business to his brother in 1929 and moved to Anderson, Indiana. Charles died there on December 4, 1954 and his wife died in Bourbon, Kentucky on April 10, 1966.

Frederick James Zellar [1885-1959]

Born in Whitehall on January 31, 1885, Frederick was the son of Henrich Albert Zellar, a native of Germany. Frederick settled in Grand Haven sometime between 1911 and 1920 and with his brother, Charles, opened Zellar's Grocery store at 1320 Washington Street. After the grocery store was sold, he worked as an engineer for the Dake Corporation, where he retired in 1945. Frederick was also secretary for the Eagles Fraternal Club.

On June 29, 1904 in Grand Haven, Frederick married Mary Agnes Merz of Crockery Township. The daughter of John and Caroline Henley Merz, she lived from December 24, 1884 to November 1, 1938. The Zellar family lived at 1250 Franklin Street and later at 732 Columbus. A daughter, Dorothy Marie, was born on January 17, 1913 and married Joseph John Bessinger in 1934. She died the following January 17 at age 22. Another daughter, Caroline, was born in Grand Haven on April 12, 1906. She married Leroy Hommer of Muskegon on June 29, 1929 at St. Patrick's Church and died on November 12, 1930, following the birth of a daughter, Joyce Carol. The Zellars had a son, Louis James, who was born on May 20, 1910. Another son, John, followed four years later. Frederick died on October 18, 1959 at Eastmanville. Both Frederick and Mary were buried at Spring Lake Cemetery.

Born in Grand Haven on May 20, 1910, Louis Zellar attended area schools. His parents were Frederick and Mary Agnes Merz Zellar. Before World War II Louis was a deck hand on the dredge General Meade, and then received his officer's papers and was attached to the dredge Burton. After the Burton was scrapped, he was made third officer on the dredge Peter Conover Hains, which operated out of the Port of Grand Haven. On May 21, 1932 Louis married Emily Hall in Grand Haven. They were divorced on August 28, 1943. Apparently they remarried on November 29, 1946 and were again divorced, this time on October 12, 1948. They had two children, Kenneth Fred Zellar, who was born on November 3, 1933 and died in Nunica on September 10, 2009, and Paul Zellar, born on June 15, 1936. Louis also was superintendent for the City of Grand Haven Parks Department for ten years. He died in Grand Rapids on July 31, 1986. He was buried at Rosedale Memorial Park in Tallmadge Township.

Edward J. Zenko [1916-1987]

The son of Joseph and Mary Cech Zenko, Edward was born in Chicago on April 9, 1916. His mother died in 1918 and his father left the family farm in Grand Haven Township and returned to Chicago. At that time Edward was taken in by his grandparents, Frank and Josephine Cech of Grand Haven Township.

Edward owned Ace Manufacturing Corporation and Progressive Engineering Company, and he was a machinery dealer throughout the state. He helped many companies in the area get started. He invented the first baby bottle holder, helped develop the first automatic blueberry picker, and developed a fiberglass bike and a flying car. Edward studied at a college in Lake Forest, Illinois to learn how to make holograms. His first hologram was for the 50th Anniversary of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco. He was a member of the Eagles, Moose Lodge, Slovenian Farmers Club, and Duplicate Bridge Club.

Although the catwalk on the south pier was closed to the public, people still scaled the structure. Safety and liability concerns led to its scheduled demolition in early June 1987. Edward and his daughter Terry headed a volunteer group, called the Save the Catwalk Committee, that raised sufficient funds, $133,000, to remove the wooden planks which formed the walkway, to reinforce the steel supports, and to install lights the full length of the pier. Edward did much of the repair work himself. The lights were turned on for the first time on November 25, 1988 and became an attraction themselves each night thereafter. The lights were replicas of those used on the Coast Guard cutter Escanaba, which was sunk in the North Atlantic in June 1943. A total of $91,000 was spent on the improvements, and the remainder was invested to provide sufficient income to meet maintenance costs.

Edward's love of history and antiques led him to form and lead the committee that raised $22,000 to save the catwalk on the south pier from being torn down and to install lights on the pier.

On November 20, 1939 Ed married Margaret Louise Anderson in Grand Haven. The daughter of Louis and Stella Featherstone Anderson, Margaret was born in Sparta, Wisconsin on August 11, 1918. The Zenkos had two daughters, Terry and Holly, and a son, Jack Edward, who was born on November 17, 1948, died on April 7, 1988, and was buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery. After a visit to Andrew Jackson's home in Nashville, Tennessee, the Zenkos built a similar structure at 18710 168th Street in Spring Lake Township. Edward died on December 31, 1987. Margaret was buried near her husband at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery with other Zenkos. [Tribune obituaries, December 31, 1987 and January 26, 2005.]

Joseph Zenko [Zanko] [1882-1933]

Joseph, who was born in Austria in 1882, arrived in the United States in 1898. He married Mary, the daughter of Frank and Josephine Cech of Grand Haven Township. Mary was born in 1889 and died in 1918. The Zenkos owned an 80-acre farm in Section 27 of Grand Haven Township. After his wife's death, Joseph, who was born in Austria in 1882, went back to Chicago, where he was found in the Federal Censuses of 1920 and 1930, although he continued to own the farm in Grand Haven Township. In Chicago, Joseph worked as a tinsmith. The Zenkos' only son, Edward, who was born in Chicago on April 9, 1916, was then taken in by Mary's parents. Joseph and Mary were buried at Historic Grand Haven Township Cemetery.

George Thaddeus Zysk II [1916-2005]

George, the son of George and Sophia Garecki Zysk, was born in Grand Haven on June 20, 1916. He married Mary Lou Koats in Grand Haven on May 29, 1948. In 1942 George was living with his brother John Zysk at 219 Eastern Avenue in Grand Haven. George served with the Army during WWII. He was a member of the local American Legion Post, the VFW, and St. Mary's Catholic Church of Spring Lake. The Zysks had three children: Leslie, who married Thomas Franks and moved to Portage, Kalamazoo County; Craig Steven, who was born on December 18, 1949 and became a Grand Haven contractor; and Kathryn. The family resided at 606 Jackson. George became well known as the "sign man" of the neighborhood, a reference to the political statements and Bible verses he painted on the exterior of his house for about 20 years. A sister, Patricia, married Raymond Masko of Robinson Township. He retired from Oldberg Manufacturing [AP Parts] in 1981. George was buried at Spring Lake Cemetery. John Thomas Zysk was his brother. John Thomas Zysk [1924-1997]

John Zysk and Ottalie Hazel Kummer were married in Chicago on June 27, 1949. She was born on April 8, 1921 to Walter and Viola Meltzer Kummer in Maywood, Illinois. John, the son of George and Sophia Garecki Zysk of Grand Haven, lived from December 22, 1924 to April 11, 1997. In 1942 John was living with his brother George Zysk at 219 Eastern Avenue in Grand Haven and working for the Morse Tool Company. During WWII, John served as staff sergeant in the U.S. Army Air Corps. He and Ottalie moved to Grand Haven in 1951. After the war, he was a mail carrier for the postal system but by the mid-1950s was a leather worker at Eagle Ottawa. The Zysks moved to Grand Haven in 1951. Their home was at 15195 Mercury Drive. Ottalie had worked for Bell & Howell in Chicago, and locally she was employed by Fricano's Pizza. The Zysks were members of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Their children were Judith Zysk Neher-Foster, born about 1942 and Gale Zysk Clark, born about 1953. Ottalie passed away on September 1, 2002 and was buried at Lake Forest Cemetery with John. THREE WHEELS AND HOME MADE

A three-wheeled automobile which has been driven 50 miles an hour and is used in daily service has been built by N. E. Brown of Grand Haven, Michigan. The total cost of construction was $100. Brown has driven the machine over 5,000 miles. He can turn a corner almost at right angles and can thread any thoroughfare with ease. With but one wheel in the rear, the vehicle insures easy riding and all ordinarily disagreeable bumps are eliminated.
